Red Johansen scored twice for Warriors. Single scores from Ted Green, Dick Lamoureux, Redahl and Brisson. Max Melnyk, Thom Hodges, Al Johnson and Bruce Stanlskewicz scored for the Comets.

Gene Achtymichuk, Don Polle, Gord Labossiere and Murray Oliver were the Edmonton scorers, Gord Vejprava and Merv Kuryluk scored for Stampeders.

Volunteers Spill Louisiana 14-13

NEW YORK (AP)—Tennessee Volunteers spilled defending-national champion Louisiana State 14-13 and Wisconsin toppled hitherto apparent Northwestern 26-19 Saturday in a two-pronged upset of the No. 1 and No. 2 United States college football teams.*

Numbers three and four in the latest Associated Press account, Texas and Syracuse, nearly joined them — the Longhorns pushing over a fourth - period touchdown for a 13-12 squeaker over three-times-beaten Baylor and Orangemen rolling over only unbeaten Penn State 30-18.

Conversions — made, missed and gambled for—told the story in three of the games on a Saturday program that could cause a shuffling of the top 19 the likes of which hasn't been seen in many years.

Cotton Letzer's two placements provided the edge over LSU for once-beaten, once-tied Tennessee, which set weeks ago ended Alabama's 26-game unbeaten string.

Northwestern, which fell into a tie for Big Ten honors with the conference lead, whittled six points off the Badgers' 11-point lead in the fourth quarter, then drove to within five yards of a touchdown. There Tom Burton fumbled away the last chance.

ANOTHER FUMBLE COSTS

Texas, trailing Baylor 12-7, picked up a fumble and drove 28 yards for Jim Swink's touchdown and the road to the Cotton Bowl.

Syracuse, with Ted Yates converting after each of the seven mounted a 20-6 lead over seventh-ranked Penn State before the 1:00-per-minute Lion rally. Roger Kochman and a short plunge brought the Lions up to 20-18 with four minutes and 15 seconds left to play. Sixty yards Kochman for a two-point run to tie, but he was thrown back.

Fifth - ranked Mississippi took out last week's 7-3 loss to LSU on little Chattanooga, scoring a 28-0 romp. Biggest scoring splurge since 1944, and Auburn, No. 8, and Clemson, No. 19, kept rolling. Auburn crushed Mississippi State 21-0 and Clemson kept its Atlantic Coast Conference lead with its third straight shutout, 9-0 over Duke.

Southern California, ranked sixth nationally, won its seventh straight, 36-0 over Pacific Coast foe points to whip West Virginia 34-0.

Jocks Suspended For 10 Days

TORONTO (CP) —The Ontario Racing Commission announced Saturday 11 jocks that participated in a strike at New Woodbine Racetrack last Monday have received 10-day suspensions. The strike was immediately ended in turn to action Nov 16 and ride for the final three days of the season.

Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the commission, said the ruling applies to Charles Clark, Les Pong, Cliff Potts, Don Hain, Ron Turcotte, Bobby Ussery, Jim simmons, Jim Cangemie, Bob Wright, Alfonso Cruz, George Gobbins and Al Caseres.

The final three races on last Monday's program were cancelled when jockeys refused to ride, contending the track track was unsafe. There had been a total of horse spill in the second race. The steward at Woodbine management denied the track was unsafe.

Thursday, the three stewards—two appointed by the Ontario Racing Commission and the third by track management — suspended the 11 jockeys and referred their cases to the commission.

Commonwealth Golf Title to South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP)—South Africa won the Commonwealth golf championship Saturday, despite a 5-4 defeat in the final round by Australia. Canada finished last in the five-country tournament.

Africa, in control from the start of the competition had three wins against one defeat, to lead Australia robin series.

Britain had a chance to tie South Africa for the lead, but lost to New Zealand Saturday to finish in a three-way tie with Australia and New Zealand for second place.

Canada managed only one win in its tournament.

Victories over Canada — which finished last, Britain and New Zealand earlier in the week clinched the championship for the second time.

In the other Saturday match, New Zealand overwhelmed Britain 7½-1½ to do with the Chinese and Australia at two wins and three losers.

Canada scored only one victory in the tournament, topping New Zealand 7-2 Thursday. After winning the foursomes 2-1, Canada netted three more in the 5 singles.

The Canadian team — Ron Willey, Bert Titchmont and Mike Schaffer, Quebec; Doug Silverberg, Calgary; Gary Cowan, Kitchener, Ont., and Nick Weslock, Toronto, Ont. — played its last match Friday, losing 5-4 to Britain.

Hotspurs Lose To Wanderers

LONDON (Reuters) — The closest championship race in years in the English Soccer League took a new direction as a major shuffle among the challengers for the division leadership Saturday.

But Tottenham Hotspur was still in front, with 25 points, as the standing despite its first loss of the season, 2-0 at home defeat by Bolton Wanderers.

Tied one point behind Tottenham Hotspur, Manchester United and Preston North End but West Ham has the edge on goal average.

West Ham beat Manchester City 4-1 and Preston defeated 1-0 home victory over last season's cup winners, Nottingham Forest.

Defending champion Wolverhampton Wanderers, who had been in second place, were beaten 3-2 by Burnley.

In the Fourth Division, Mill-wall Rangers had won 19 games without a defeat, was edged 2-1 by Notts County, Millwall's string of 19 games was the most since 1925.

Liverpool ended a 14 - game winning streak for Aston Villa, beating 2-1. Aston Villa remained the leader of the Second Division on goal average over Liverpool, Sheffield Wednesday, two fewer games. Cardiff City remained in 3rd.

The highlight of the Scottish League's program was Glasgow Rangers' 6-0 defeat of Clyde. Jimmy Pillar scored three goals for the Rangers.

Rules Out Hawaiian Team

REGINA (CP)—Don McPherson, president of the Canadian Football League, Saturday ruled out the possibility of a Hawaiian team entering the Western International Football Union in 1960.

McPherson said in a statement a Honolulu club may play exhibition games with WIFU teams next year and that this was discussed with B. J. Bricker, owner of the Honolulu club.

"Mr. Bricker met me in Vancouver earlier this month and discussed the possibility of exhibition games and there was no question of them entering the WIFU at this stage," said the CFL president. "It is not a ready yet."

McPherson said several WIFU clubs, which he would not name, have approached him about playing exhibition games in Honolulu before the 1960 season begins.

Brendan in No Condition To Carry on Conversation

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — At one point during last evening's four-way Small World talk, Brendan Behan, in Dublin, shouted to Jackie Gleason in New York: "How am I coming through?"

"You're coming through 100 proof," replied Gleason.

"We're being killed by an Irish pooch," complained critic and lecturer John Mason Brown, blissfully.

Behan, the Irish playboy and playwright, was hardly in any condition to carry on exchange of ideas on the art of conversation. In fact he could hardly converse. When he wasn't breaking in with rambling, pointless stanzas of what was burbling to be interlistigate song.

After the middle commercial, however, he was seen no more. Small things were pretty dull after he disappeared.

It is interesting that the show was permitted air time by CBS. Behan was obviously loaded when the show was recorded and filmed almost a month ago — a state which Ed Murrow gave us to conformity with CBS' new "nothing up our sleeves" policy.

Sunday Showcase, NBC's weekly hour-long special, may not always ring a bell with its effort to provide something different, but it hit home on this only prime time network pro-

AT THE PARK — Keith Andes is starred with Susan Cabot in Allied Artists' "Surrender — Hell!", now at the Park Theatre. It's the true story of Lieut. Ronald Blackburn's secret army of beachcombers and jungle women in the Philippines campaign, and introduces Paramount's new star, Keith Andes, who signed to contract after Producer Walter added war thrills. "Battle Flame" co-starring Scott Brady, tells of one of the most daring actions that helped bring the U.N. forces victory in Korea.

Industrial Hockey League Results

Booth TV's and Chris' Drive-In won the opening games of the Belleville Industrial Hockey League schedule over the week-end.

Booth's registered a 3-1 decision over Williams' Brothers in one rough and tumble battle. Leo "Wiener" St. Denis got two of the winner's goals while Earl Connolly potted the other. Ray Faulkner saved Williams' Brothers from a shutout with his club's lone goal after Booth's had built up a 3-0 lead.

Both goalies, Jack Gilby of the winners and Bobby Green of the losers, turned in strong games between the pipes.

In the second contest Chris' Drive-In took a 4-3 victory over Ellis Printers, the fast-skating juvenile team. Chris' took a 4-0 lead before the losers came back with a pair to make it close. Names of the goal scorers were not available for this game.

AT THE PARK — "Battle Flame", in Cinemascope and Color, starring Scott Brady, Ola Hudson, Henry Brandon, Keith Andes, Susan Cabot, Lisa Montell, is now playing at the Park Theatre.

Astrological Forecast

BY CAROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, November 10

General tendencies: Not a very important day, save for winding up all sorts of plans already begun and for making sure that you do study new ways and means by which to round out the interests stated as important for you in your own sign following. Later, in evening, you can adopt new tactics for getting along with close companions.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — All secret dealings are fine today. Also a good day to put behind you much accumulated trivia. Don't neglect any philanthropic activities, either. P. M. will be a good time for close friends and discuss any important affairs on your mind.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Ideal day to get together with associates or intimates to complete whatever projects you have started. Bring them to a successful fruition. Don't neglect sociability, however, and making plans for a brighter future. Grow.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Be very careful not to have some busybody keep you from the important work you can do today, whether of a civic, business or artistic nature. You are capable of getting everything rolling nicely now. Accomplish with a will.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Much pertinent data can be had today, but you must make an effort to go after it with enthusiasm. Also, convince others not in your stratum of life that you are vitally interested in their welfare. Be more altruistic and grow proportionately.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Sit back and think constructively now concerning how you can make all your security and practicalities run successful. P.M. important: you give loved one absolute proof of your loyalty and affection, for you are greatly loved.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — A good opportunity is open to you now to know just what your relative position is with others by putting own cards on the table. Be sure in business affairs you read all contracts carefully, especially the fine print.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Good day to put behind you all those small chores which only you can handle. Plan your work and then labor methodically, enthusiastically. Others will be highly pleased with you and you will get backing.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Be sure you get yourself in good physical condition in early A.M. and dress with care. Then off to the activities or labors that most please. Do not waste a moment of this precious day. P. M. have fun, but not expensively.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) — A good opportunity is yours now to put abode in fine order and get important matters with kin nicely adjusted. P. M. be sure you buy little presents for members of family and get them in good humor. Spend a happy and quiet evening.

Capricorn (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20) — A good day for constructive activity. Shop, make your calls, correspond, etc. Particularly fine for coming to better understanding with others by being absolutely fair and just. P. M. think out better ways to do your work.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Concentrate on all fundamental and functional affairs today, so that you make your position in life more secure. Set up a better budget. Also, get into the habit of thinking big and you can acquire more of the good things of life.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — It is wise to analyze yourself and where you are going, as well as take a good look in the mirror now. Take accurate inventory, as it were, and you know how to better yourself and take steps in the right direction.

If your child is born today The dear child born today must early be taught the beauty of living a harmonious life with all about, and you must give courses in the spiritual truths at a tender age. Then concentrate on the scientific, the ethical. There is a very natural tendency toward the practical, so this chart is fine for the banker, real estate operator, lawyer — wherever big money can be made.

Dismiss Denyes Despite Letter Of Resignation

Moves to Fire Auditor And Solicitor Blocked

Acting without delay following the receipt of Judge A. R. Willmott's finding on the judicial inquiry into the city's finances, Belleville city council Monday night moved to dismiss suspended city manager and treasurer Percy S. Denyes.

In doing so council disregarded a letter of resignation from Mr. Denyes dated Nov. 9th and, by voting unanimously to dismiss Mr. Denyes from city positions, set the date of termination of his employment back to May 9th when, unexpectedly, the city's money was first revealed.

The motion to dismiss council declined introduction of a motion that would have dismissed with the services of City Solicitor R. A. Pringle at the year end, and also disallowed the reading of a motion calling for the firing of City auditor John D. Lewars by end of November 9th. Neither motion reached the debate stage when they failed to get the necessary two thirds majority for introduction.

PRINGLE MOTION LATTER

However, the motion to dismiss Mr. Pringle as city solicitor will be before council at its next regular meeting Nov. 23rd. Author of the motion calling for the firing of city auditor John D. Lewars is Deputy Reeve Arthur Meyers.

Under U. S. law they cannot be used except in event of attack and Canadian government permission also will be required, he said.

AT NORTH BAY

The Canadian Bomarc missile bases are now under construction near North Bay and Mont Laurier, Que. The missiles will be available in 1961 but there has been no firm indication when the bases will be operational.

Regarding arrangement to supply nuclear warheads to the Canadian forces in Europe, Mr. Pearkes said agreement have not been completed. At present the Canadian Brigade Group assigned to NATO has the capacity to deliver nuclear-armed missiles in an attack.

The ability to use nuclear warheads would not be available unless Canadian missiles were provided the brigade group. This wouldn't be until the end of next year or early in 1961, if Canada is satisfied with the Lacrosse's performance at cold weather trials next February and March.

WARHEAD STORAGE

Mr. Pearkes said the Canadian and United States authorities discussed in general and in detail the storage of nuclear warheads in this country during the Diefenbaker, David, Md., talks.

The missiles would be in the custody of United States officers —as required by U.S. law—at the Canadian missile bases. But before they could be used Ottawa as well as Washington would have to give permission.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated that the cabinet may have a long meeting today because of the report of the defence talks. He said ministers may meet again in the afternoon.

Union Official Charges Payoff By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—A union official Monday described President Eisenhower's use of the Hartley labor law injunction to end the steel strike as a "political payoff" to steel companies.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers Union, said steel company officials were among the biggest contributors to Eisenhower's 1956 campaign for re-election.

"I charge President Eisenhower with a political payoff to steel companies in using the Taft-Hartley injunction in return for financial contributions to his 1956 campaign," Mazey said in addressing the convention of the AFL-CIO industrial department.

INDIA MAY NOT ACCEPT BUFFER STRIP PROPOSAL

Oppose Acceptance Of Any Aggression

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — The leaders of India's ruling Congress party served notice on Communist China today that India "cannot tolerate" Chinese aggression in the Himalayan dividing the two countries.

The party's working committee, its high command, resolved at a meeting that "adequate steps should be taken for the preservation of border clashes, but such steps should not affect the integrity of India or involve any acceptance of aggression."

The committee met to consider India's response to a new Chinese proposal calling for talks and a demilitarized 25 - mile - wide belt along the frontier.

The government said Chinese actions on the frontier had "led to the general belief that the Chinese government have a deliberate policy of creating tension in the area caused "deep resentment" in India.

DRILL NEUTRAL

"The committee wishes to make it clear that they stand firmly by the policy that has the endorsement with the power blocs and the invitation to military alliances."

It called for the building up of industrial and economic strength, not only for prosperity, "but also to generate the necessary strength for any external threat to our security."

Prime Minister Nehru attended the committee session and announced the new Chinese proposals, issued Monday by Premier Chou En-lai in Peking.

Nehru also met the foreign affairs committee of parliament this morning to discuss the Chinese proposals. He had said Monday he welcomed the spirit of Chou's letter was "not bad," but that the proposed 12-mile mutual withdrawal of troops along the 2,500-mile border might be unacceptable to China, but not to India because of differences in topography.

The premier of Kashmir, Bakshi Ghulam Mohammed, has demanded Monday night that the Chinese quit the areas of Ladakh they have occupied. Nehru's policy, he said, should not be to permit any part of Indian territory to be occupied by another country—even if it came to fighting.

Canadian Wishes on Two Fronts Granted by U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States has agreed with Canadian wishes on, two fronts: To support greater consultation among the big and little North Atlantic powers, and to attempt to increase the flow of U.S. defence orders to Canadian plants.

State Secretary Herter announced after joint defence talks Monday that in addition to the NATO foreign ministers' conference in Paris Dec. 15-17, there would be a second gathering of the ministers immediately after the Big Four Western summit conference there Dec. 19.

Presumably this second gathering would provide the smaller powers of the Western alliance a chance to discuss Big Four proposals for a summit conference with Russia.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Howard Green, who urged the setting up of a permanent NATO council, nodded in approval as Herter made the announcement. Green's bloc is the Canada-Norway-Anacostia Air Station.

"We'll do what we think should be done," Green said at the brief news conference. But the Canadians switched from helicopters to an RCAF transport plane for the homeward flight after Monday's ministerial talks were held at President Eisenhower's farm in Maryland retreat 65 miles north of Washington. The change in transport carried the ministers to and from the closely guarded Camp David estate.

The two countries spoke of the mounting costs of new defence weapons but agreed there should be no relaxing in defence until East and West work out an effective system of controlled disarmament.

Along with Herter and Green were Defence Minister Pearkes, Finance Minister Fleming and Defence Production Minister O'Hurley from Canada; and Defence Secretary Neil McElroy and acting treasury secretary Fred Scribner from the U.S.

With them were their military chiefs of staff and other advisers.

This was the first annual meeting of the Canada - U.S. Ministerial Committee on Joint Defence set up by Eisenhower and Prime Minister Diefenbaker. The third session is to be held in Canada next summer.

Here are highlights reported:

1. There is no truth to reports that Canada will drop plans to acquire two squadrons of the U.S. Bomarc anti-aircraft missile. It expects to get the Bomarcs by 1961.

2. Canada would place a "limited" order for U.S. Army Lacrosse missiles for ground-based cold winter trials to take place at Fort Churchill, Man., prove Canadian.

3. The ministers discussed proposals for a separate "air" force of U.S. nuclear weapons, but he said that the time was not ripe at time when Canada would get such weapons.

4. Newspaper reporters at Ottawa Monday night asked Pearkes about reports that the U.S. was con-

Bob Crosby's Wife Admits Stabbing Husband in Ruckus

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'm no detective, I didn't lay a finger on my wife."

So says Bob Crosby, Bing's 45-year-old brother, who's been denying his wife's assertion that he beat her severely enough in 1957 that she stabbed him with a letter opener in self-defence.

Crosby pointed out he could shoulder. His wife June, 30, said poke her ribs was provoked in the quarrel.

The incident occurred only a few hours after Crosby's radio and TV personality had played golf with Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Crosby said Monday that his wife "was a little upset" when he asked her where their three boys were and the dishes. He said Mrs. Crosby told reporters her husband was in a "violent mood and wanted to fight with somebody."

Both agreed that the incident marked the end of their 7½-year marriage. Neither announced any plans for divorce, however.

Crosby cited a series of family crises led up to the ruckus. Crosby, 29, has been married to five children, is in a hospital suffering from what her mother calls a mental breakdown.

"We'd been to the hospital earlier in the day to Cathy's doctor about her illness," Crosby said. "We had been discussing like many parents have, with all our children. I'm afraid this

Five Ordered To Associate With Criminals

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP)—Five men who pleaded guilty to attacking a 28-year-old Canadian tourist and robbing him, were sentenced to jail Monday by a judge who said they must be given a chance to associate with criminals.

They pleaded guilty to the assault and robbery last June of Gerald Bernard Sexton, Toronto, who required hospital treatment.

The five, Lawrence Gordon, 21, Ronald Haight, 22, and Robert Waite, 21, all of Port Huron; David Hall, 22, of Cincinnati, and Michael Whalen, 22, of Dayton, Ohio.

Circuit court Judge Edward T. Conroy gave them five years' probation, with the first 60 days to be spent in the St. Clair County jail. He also fined $250 court costs and fees each and said they would not be permitted to own a car during their probation period, could not have alcoholic drinks without the judge's permission.

PAARL, South Africa (Reut-ment said.

The government ordered her to leave her husband and 15-year-old father-in-law behind, but said the two could join her later if she wished.

The banishment order sparked protests which erupted in rioting on Wednesday night.

Persons injured included five Negroes said to have been hit by police gunfire. Two German immigrants were hurt when crowds stormed automobiles driven by whites.

The troop stoned diners cars and dragged some of the occupants out.

The police chief said he had received no reports of any gunfire by police or rioters.

Cancer Contamination in Part Of Cranberry Crop Says Govt.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government warns that part of this year's Massachusetts cranberry crop has become contaminated by a weed killer that can cause cancer.

The warning, issued publicly Monday, brought a chorus of protests and denials from cranberry growers just as they were set for American Thanksgiving is coming up in a couple of weeks and with Christmas not far off they are filtering their biggest sales season.

It was learned in Ottawa that Canadian health authorities will carry out immediate tests to determine if the weed killer is dangerous.

Arthur S. Flemming, U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare, said a press conference Monday that parts of the Massachusetts crop were grown from Washington state and Oregon were found to be contaminated.

He did not say how much of it might be affected or where it may be on sale. No reason has been found to suspect current crops from eastern states, he said.

If the housewife can't determine where the berries come from and the year of the crop, Flemming said, "to be on the safe side she doesn't buy."

Food stores in British Columbia have been asked by Canadian federal authorities to discontinue

SMALL QUANTITY OF STEEL MOVING FROM FURNACES

Workers Recalled By the Thousands

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A small quantity of newly made steel trickled from the furnaces of some mills today as the American steel industry continued shaking off the effects of the 116 crippling strike-bound days.

The amount of new steel was relatively small, but it was a start toward the bigger production the United States government sought in obtaining an injunction from the Taft-Hartley labor law to end the strike and get it rolling.

Steel works across the country began reopening Saturday, a few hours after the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the injunction that will keep the mills running for the 80-day cooling-off period.

Only a handful of workers and maintenance workers — started work Saturday for the tedious job of preparing the mills. But by Monday, long-idle steelmen were back in numbers. Thousands as iron-making blast furnaces and steel-making open hearth furnaces were fired up.

25 PER CENT BACK

As more men were recalled to day, an estimated 25 per cent of the country's 500,000 basic steel workers reported for their jobs. But industry spokesmen say it will be weeks before production amounts to much.

Among plants turning out new steel by the end of the day were Steel's Buffalo plants, Bethlehem Steel's Lackawanna, Pa., plant, Jones and Laughlin's Cleveland works and Bethlehem's Steelton, Pa., plant.

With the reopening of mills, a number of the 12,000 employees who had been laid off in allied industries began returning to work. But the full recall of idle workers there was little prospect of a quick revival. Many are employed in industries that use steel, such as the auto industry and for these workers there will be no work until supplies are built up and become available.

On the Great Lakes, fleets of ore boats began iron ore loading essential to steel-making were preparing for a race against winter. The Lake Carriers' Assn. said 15 ships pile enough ore at Lower Lake ports to keep the steel industry going.

FIRST THROUGH 500

The Upper Lakes freighter Standard Portland Cement was headed for Cleveland today when it becomes the first ore freighter to pass down-bound through the Sault Ste. Marie locks since the start of the steel strike began.

The vessel carried a cargo of iron ore from Silver Bay, Minn. After unloading at Cleveland it will proceed to the ore port of Buffalo.

The second ore freighter, the James E. Davidson, was reported ready to enter the Soo locks early this morning.

Meanwhile, the issues that caused the strike remained unsettled. Joseph F. Finnegan, chief federal mediator, said he does not plan calling for a resumption of union-industry talks for about a week.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, called meetings of the union's executive board and wage policy committee for Tuesday in Pittsburgh. He said the meetings were called to "review the two groups a "situation report."

Trains Collide Near Edmonton, Four Are Killed

Three Burned to Death As Station Set Afire

CARBONDALE, Alta. (CP)—Four persons were killed and four others injured today when a passenger train and a freight collided head-on at this northern Alberta hamlet.

The collision occurred shortly after 8 a.m. MST (10 a.m. EST) when a southbound Northern Alberta Railways passenger struck a standing freight in the station yard. The crash tipped the diesel locomotive of the freight and flaming oil poured over the station, setting it afire.

RCMP said the four killed were the fireman and the engineer of the passenger train and a passenger in the southbound train. None was believed seriously hurt.

The station master was Arthur Ford, 50, who lived there with his wife, Alice, and their five-year-son, Richard.

The name of the dead fireman was not made known immediately.

Witnesses said the burned bodies of the two men were found "blown right through the station" when the diesel locomotive of the freight exploded.

The injured were taken to hospital in Edmonton, 18 miles away.

Fire - fighting units from the nearby Spruce Grove district fought the flames that engulfed the station and destroyed it in a matter of minutes. Only the station key was left.

The crash knocked over telegraph poles lining the right-of-way and telegraph service to Carbondale, Alta., and to Dawson Creek, B.C. The passenger train involved in the crash was No. 2 from Grande Prairie.

Khrushchev To Visit France Late in March

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle announced today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will begin his visit to France March 15. The Soviet premier will stay until the end of the month.

De Gaulle listed his talks with Khrushchev as one of three conditions for an East-West summit conference. He said the other two conditions are relaxation of international tensions and understanding in advance among the Western powers.

The French leader told crowded press conference that there were signs of a reduction in international tension on the Soviet side.

"At the present time," de Gaulle said, "the Soviet Union is abstaining from throwing oil on the fire. It has even suspended its pressure over Berlin while the United Nations assembly the Soviet proposal to put back to a certain degree not joined in the concert of malevolent attacks carried on by certain countries against France."

De Gaulle said he warmly welcomed the meeting of the leaders of the Big Four and spoke to take place here Dec. 19. He said that a preliminary talk in the spring would be necessary for these leaders to meet again.

Actress Nearly Loses Temper At Interview

TORONTO (CP) — Israeli actress Hya Harareet said a reporter asked her during an interview Phillips Monday and nearly lost her temper.

Miss Harareet, 26 years old and of striking dimensions, answered that her name means "an animal from the mountains."

"You must be a very expensive animal," said the mayor. Miss Harareet raised her eyebrows. The mayor hastily explained that his question didn't mean meant a more excessive animal than, say, a squirrel or mink.

Then the mayor complimented her on her excellent English.

"It's one at the reference in the British Commonwealth," retorted Miss Harareet, who recently starred at the Stratford Festival in the story of Israeli independence.

"The mandate has done Israel a lot of good," admonished the mayor. "It's not in your country is not a part of the British Commonwealth."

Miss Harareet, a native of Mount Carmel, Israel, is here on television her latest movie, Ben Hur.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Five Cove, were found shortly after hunters who were lost in the woods since Saturday in marshy woods 35 miles from here were found safe and well Saturday.

The men were found by a lone searcher Tuesday in a log cabin. They were huddled together in a makeshift shelter and were in only shelter they had been able to find since losing their way Saturday.

The men told rescuer Frank Shepard that they had been walking around in circles. The hunters were taken to a woods camp where they will rest before returning home.

The missing hunters were Fred Mitchell, a 15-year-old schoolboy; garage mechanic Mason Mitchell, 20; Clerk Cecil Miller, 25; Harold Hibbs, a 37-year-old carpenter who is married with five children, and Walter Churchill, described only as an elderly person.

One hundred volunteers were in the camp woods at dawn today.

Drizzle, fog and cold hampered ground parties Monday and also prevented an aerial survey by helicopter.

RCAF Arctic Base Closer To Moscow Than Trenton Rotary Club Members Told

A northern Arctic base maintained by the RCAF is closer to Moscow, than to Trenton, an RCAF commodore told the Belleville Rotary Club yesterday.

"Are the Russians aware of this too?" quipped a member.

Air Commodore F. S. Carpenter, AFC, CD, Air Officer Commanding, Air Transport Command was guest speaker at the Club's weekly meeting held in the Quinte Hotel.

The talk he unfolded, although not perhaps as exciting as that of a supersonic jets or guided missiles, is however, one of the most important — and world-wide — operations of the RCAF.

The speaker explained how ATC included besides transport, reconaisance, military and geographical aerial photography, survival training, joint air training and other miscellaneous tasks.

ATC operations include coast-to-coast flying in Canada, and anywhere else in the world that supplies or troops are needed.

Commodore Carpenter told members ATC planes and crews are on two-hour readiness standby; crews are permanently inoculated against plague, cholera, yellow fever and other virulent fevers.

Asked to whom he refers to by "customers," the Commodore told the group that he generally means one of the three armed forces, Army, Navy or Air Force, but also encompasses any government project where air transport is required, for example, ferrying Red Cross supplies to a trouble spot or disaster area.

In answer to another question he told the group the plane was a turbo-prop, and to another that it used two tons of fuel an hour.

From supplying or ferrying troops or RCAF units in the Arctic, Egypt, Jodo China or Europe, to training RCAF personnel in survival techniques, ATC includes a wide range of activities.

The speaker's address was a full up and to-the-minute version and the facts and figures taken from his long association with Transport Command and consistently amazed Rotarians.

Commodore Carpenter was thanked by President Fred Wilson and Ernest Hall, the club's meeting came from Toronto and Gananoque. The meeting opened with a two minutes silence in honor of Remembrance Day, which will be held Wednesday.

I. L. Moore Dies Suddenly At His Home

Irvine Leslie Moore, 54 Forin Street, and former owner of the Ontario Business College in this city for many years, died suddenly of a heart attack at his family home Sunday morning. He was born in Amherst, Nova Scotia, 71 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moore and had resided in this city for every. He is survived, where he has taken an active interest, in the business, church and social life of this community.

As far as was familiarly known to a wide circle of friends came to this city about 30 years ago to reside in the O.B.C. for five years before purchasing the school and until his retirement about two years ago, he conducted one of the finest business colleges in Eastern Canada; graduates of this splendid institution are scattered the length and breadth of Canada and reaching down into the West Indies and some students from that district came here to study. Mr. Moore was a thorough and successful teacher and his graduates hold high positions in many organizations. He not only was a teacher but a counsellor and friend to many boys who came to live as homeland.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and took an active and abiding interest in the church's welfare in the community. He took a great interest in the work of the Sunday School and for 18 years was superintendent and many residing in this city will have fond memories under his instruction. In the work of the congregation at large, he was an elder of the Kirk for 34 years and a member of the Board of Trustees. He was for 16 years a member of the Board of Management.

For relaxation he was an enthusiastic member of the Kiwanis Club and attended the club with its infancy and he found great enjoyment among his service club friends at luncheons and on inter-city visits. For his many fine contributions to the club he was made an honorary life member.

Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Liddicoat and one daughter Mrs. Douglas E. (Mabel) Maybee residing near Redners-ville.

Marmoraton Mining Workers Return to Their Jobs Today

MARMORA (CP) — Steelworkers at Marmoraton returned to work today following an agreement reached Monday night between Local 4854, United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and Marmoraton Mining (Lavino).

Union district representative William Power said the men will return under terms and conditions which were in effect June 30, 1958, and will continue to work under these terms until Jan. 15, 1960, unless a new agreement is negotiated in the interim.

Negotiations toward settlement of the basic contract dispute will continue throughout the 68 - day period. If company and union fail to reach an agreement by the middle of January the men can resume their strike.

The 250 men went on strike at the same time U.S. Steelworkers walked off the job. Canadian workers however, are not governed by the Taft-Hartley law which forced U.S. strikers back on the job. Marmoraton is a subsidiary of the U.S. Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

One Maritimer Pleads Guilty In Robbery Case

JAILED FOR POSSESSION

TORONTO (CP) — Marcel Timm, 34, was sentenced Monday to three years in penitentiary for possession of $45,000 in stamps and money orders, part of a $78,000 loot stolen last August from a sub post office at Chippawa, near Niagara Falls. Timm admitted paying $200 for the stamps and money orders but denied any part in the robbery.

The story of how a Marysville district service station attendant was stuck over the head with a coke bottle and robbed of $75 was told in city magistrate's court this morning, as one of four persons charged with the offence appeared in city magistrate's court.

Ontario Provincial Police Constable John Fullerton, in giving a summary of evidence, told the court that on a Sunday morning three weeks ago Roy Brown, 16, attendant at Crook's service station at the east end of 401 highway, had been struck from behind by a full coke bottle in the hands of a supposed customer as he was placing gasoline in an English model car. He was then forced into the service station office by his assailant, who took the cash from the till and ripped the telephone cord from the wall.

A car, described as a 1954 English model auto, was later stopped by police and a youth and girl were taken into custody. Later the officer said a second youth and girl were located at the Salmon River Motel and they had been taken into custody the next morning.

The girl was apprehended in the motel room while a short police search resulted in Laine being taken into custody after he was located up a tree about 50 yards from the motel.

Laine had attempted to elude police by escaping through the motel bathroom window.

The officer quoted Dr. D. C. McVicker of Marysville as saying that Brown, the service station attendant, had received a severe cut on the head and had the blow been three inches lower it might have broken his neck.

THEY ARE NOT FORGOTTEN— Remembrance services will be held all across the country on Wednesday, November 11 in memory of servicemen who lost their lives in wartime. Men who were killed in action were often buried where they fell, but these graves were looked after by the local inhabitants as they are in Canada. Here, Caen, France, at left, is going in 1944. Now all the Canadian dead are buried in well-kept cemeteries shown in this latest photograph of the Sai Wan Bay cemetery in Hong Kong. Propose Apartment Block For Senior Citizens, Want School Board to Give Land

TRENTON — A. Gordon Davis, welfare officer for the town of Trenton, appeared before the Board of Education last night to ask that the board give a certain portion of land, owned by the board, to the west of the playground at Dufferin Avenue Public School, to his apartments for the erection of an apartment block for senior citizens.

The federal government will meet 90 percent of the total cost of the building, covered by a 50-year mortgage, drawing interest at 2 percent. The local provincial government will give a grant of 5 percent of the total cost, leaving the welfare department to raise the remaining 5 percent. Mr. Davis explained that the mortgage would be paid by the rents of the 24 apartments, which would run from $23.75 to $28 for single apartments and $35 for apartments which would accommodate couples. The provincial government will refund a certain portion of this rent to the persons entitled.

Both governments stipulate that the location of the apartment block must be near churches and the downtown shopping area, and Mr. Davis stated that the Dufferin Avenue location seems to be the most suitable.

WOULD COST $100,000

The 15-apartment building would cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 and would be built facing McLellan Avenue. The heating system would be located in the basement portion of the building, so that an additional setup would not be made, the first building, and the heating system would suffice for both sections. Eventually the building would become the property of the town.

There was some discussion among the board members as to the possibility of this land being required at a future date for an addition to the school, but it was the general consensus that when additional school facilities were needed in that area a building to the west of the location.

Mr. Davis explained that only persons who were in financial need would be eligible to help those illiterates in India and other lands where the need is so great. Misses Ethel Dean and Ethel Ede, Toronto; W. S. Syre, Sarnia, and Mrs. D. Sern, Batawa, conducted devotional periods which were appropriate on the convention theme, "A New Approach to Literacy Literacy for All." A color film entitled "Dreams To Walk On," was presented.

decided that advertisements should be put in the local papers and also in one Toronto paper for teachers on a full time or part time basis.

In reference to the recent report issued to students at the Trenton High School, designating new marks in all subjects and also the average mark achieved by all the students in the class, Mr. Colin Crews stated that he would like to see the old method of designating the class standing of the individual student brought into effect. He suggested that the senior public school students be graded on their totals, and that the high school students be graded on their class standing in each subject. Mr. V. P. Carswell, superintendent of public schools, explained that the grading of students according to class standing had been done away with originally because the Department of Education had felt that this system created an inferiority complex in the individual and this to the parents of children with lower standings was not desired. He felt that the child should be judged on his individual merits, and not forced to enter into competition with students of superior mental ability.

Mr. Crews wanted to know what had happened to the children of a few years ago who had been subject to this system of grading, for was of the opinion that a competitive spirit was good for the students.

After a lengthy discussion as to the merits of both systems of grading the board passed a resolution to the effect that the class standings would appear on the next reports issued in the two schools.

Mr. Carswell informed the board that he had submitted a report to the Department of Education, outlining the expenditures for the year, and also the estimated budget for the year, by certain monies held in trust for the board, by the department had submitted a statement to the effect that because of the building of a new school money, the provincial grant for the next period would be some $6,175.86. No previous notice of this reduction in the grant had been given to the board. Mr. S. Ketcheson, chairman of the board, felt that the department was being unfair to penalize the board for earning a little more than was budgeted for. It was decided that Mr. Carswell write and ask for a copy of the department ruling covering the situation which had been cited in the communication.

Revision of Book of Common Prayer Theme of Talk to Churchmen

The annual banquet, Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen in the Deanery of Prince Edward was held in Christ Church Parish Hall, Trenton, on Monday night, 123 sat down to a turkey supper catered to by the ladies of Christ Church Parish Guild. All Parishes of the Prince Edward Deanery were represented including some visitors from Kingston in the Deanery of Frontenac.

Mr. Cecil Thornton, president the Prince Edward Deanery was chairman. Seated at the head table was the Very Rev. the E. Riley, M.A., D.D. Rector of St. James' Cathedral, Dean of Toronto, guest speaker of the evening. The Right Rev. Kenneth Evans, M.A. D.D., Lord Bishop of Ontario; The Venerable A. E. Creggan, B.A., LST. Archdeacon of Ontario, and rector of Christ Church; Rev. Canon A. S. McConnell, Rector of St. Thomas'; Rev. L. Arthur Pays, Rector of St. Margaret's, and Rural Dean of Prince Edward Deanery, and Rev. Henry Hill, Kingston.

Grace was offered by the Rev. Canon A. S. McConnell, followed by a toast to Her Majesty the Queen, proposed by president Orval Thornton, followed by the ladies Parish Guild were extended by Mr. Don Stewart. Mrs. F. Beeby, Mr. Les Lennox gave an interesting address on the aims of the Brotherhood of Anglican Laymen.

To W. G. Freestone fell the honor of introducing the guest speaker. The Very Rev. E. Riley, whose subject was "The Revision of the Book of Common Prayer." In his opening remarks he stated he had served his 50th anniversary in the ministry since his ordination. During the past 13 years much hard work and careful study had been given, more material had to be revised to conform to this fast changing world. It was emphasized that the Book of Common Prayer is a priceless possession of the church. By its historic associations it has endeared itself to generation after generation of devout Christians. None would desire or advocate any change which would impair or lessen this deep seated affection.

The original preface of this historic book was devised and established in the year 1548. From the year 1663 through the years 1892, 1922 to present time 1959, only minor revisions have been made and taken place in the life of the church and its outlook upon the world. It is expected the revised edition will be coming off the press early in the new year, 1960, but will not be placed into actual general use for possibly two years, when it will be known as "The Book of the Year."

Mr. Warner Purcell of Hillier expressed the thanks of the Deanery to the Very Rev. Dean Riley for his address, during the business part of the meeting a change was made in the election of officers whereby two men will be chosen from each parish, one of which parish in turn will elect a president and secretary.

The Lord Bishop of Ontario spoke briefly and closed the meeting with the Benediction.

Capacity Audience Enjoys Fine Performance by Ballet Company

Returning to the city for the fifth time in as many years, the National Ballet Company of Canada last night delighted a capacity audience at Bayview Collegiate auditorium with a colorful and varied program. It is indeed unfortunate that the small size of the stage forbids the presentation here of some of this versatile company's larger productions. For these we must travel to the larger performing centre such as Toronto, but we believe that Belleville is the smallest city to be visited with such regularity, and it is wonderful to have this artistry and talent brought to our very doorstep. It is no wonder that ballet lovers from as far afield as Kingston and Picton throng to Belleville for this event.

Those who have watched the development of the National Ballet Company from its rather shaky beginnings eight years ago have noted its growth with each successive visit, and last night's performance was no exception. The dancing of Lois Smith, David Adams, and now the company's two leading dancers, reached a new peak of perfection both in the solo and famous "Swan Lake" with which the program opened and in the "Aurora Pas de Deux" from "The Sleeping Beauty" which closed the performance. Sky's lovely music. Miss Smith, with her grace and superb technique, and Mr. Adams, with his virility and mighty leaps, would be at home in any company in the world.

Throughout the program, the corps de ballet danced well with grace and accuracy, as shown by the ensemble development is by no means restricted to its soloists. Principals, though it must be admitted that we have seen the Cygnets in "Swan Lake" dance with more precision! Canada is indeed fortunate in having a company that is rapidly reaching such a high standard of artistry, making comparison with the greatest and most famous companies in the world.

The company visited Belleville close to the start of an intensive tour which will take them to many centres both in Canada and the United States before they return to their Toronto base next February for a month-long engagement at the Royal Alexandra Theatre there.

Belleville's Problem—Steps To Take

We now have Judge A. R. Willmott's report on Belleville's financial problems—probable cost $35,000 (page 38 of the report), probable value dependent on the use to which we put it, recrimination or recuperation.

Judge Willmott was concerned primarily with facts with what had happened and how. His report, however, does contain some recommendations, some suggestions as to what should happen now, and why.

It is to these recommendations that we should now turn, our attention.

"Belleville very urgently needs a treasurer in fact as well as in name with sufficient seniority and authority to streamline the treasurer's office in accordance with modern business practice"—page 45, Willmott report.

"It would appear prudent that the Council should appoint a firm of auditors with adequate staff to give a complete audit within a reasonable period after the end of the year and so that they will not be operating in the dark in making their annual budget prior to striking the city's tax rate."—page 29, Willmott report.

The city's present deficit, estimated at $611,500 by the end of the year (page 38 of the report), has arisen from a variety of causes, but a major one has been the fact that councils did not levy sufficient taxes—in other words we have received services for which we have made no provision to pay. Yet, if there is an efficient treasurer's department, an early report by the auditor ought to be no more than a safeguard, a double check on the accuracy of the treasurer's figures. There ought to be no further recurrence of a difference of $51,000 between the treasurer's and the auditor's figures for the deficit on a year's operations (page 34, Willmott report).

"It is part of the duties of a municipal solicitor, who is not a full time official, to sit down with council members on occasion and point out the municipal facts of life"—page 46, Willmott report.

To this we might add that if any future councils, like councils in the past, ignore such warnings, we think it behooves the municipal solicitor to place these same facts of municipal life before the ratepayers as a whole and the pages of this newspaper will always be open to the city solicitor who desires to follow this course.

Here, though, there exists a strong case for some alteration in the existing facts of municipal life. Any person who knows anything about municipal affairs knows that many of the controls entrusted to the Ontario Municipal Board, while perhaps theoretically desirable, in practice are often frustrating in the extreme. It frequently takes so long to get the busy Board's approval for a project that the delay defeats the intention. Under circumstances like these, it is not surprising that some councils, in minor questions, ignore the letter of the law. It is much too easy to succeed from the ignoring of a rule to the flouting of sound principles. The Ontario Government might consider the advisability of doing one of two things—amending the Municipal Act so as to abolish Municipal Board control in certain fields, or decentralizing and creating one over-worked Board so that it can give quick decisions.

There is also another field in which legislation is needed. "If there is any doubt that the operation by the city of what was in effect a professional hockey league is ultra vires the legislature should make it abundantly clear that no municipality may operate ancillary powers" to the power conveyed under the Municipal Act to operate an arena—(page 48, Willmott report.)

But while there thus appears to be two fields in which the Ontario Legislature should take action, the major work of solving the problem must be done here in Belleville. In the final analysis, the responsibility to see that this work is done rests on the ratepayers as a whole. It is nonsense to say, as the Toronto Star did in an editorial Saturday, that "an alert electorate could not have permitted such conditions to continue for three years." If no member of council knew hockey players were on the city-payroll until May 9 this year, the city auditor on May 9 should estimate "the amount required to reach a break-even point" as $255,000 (page 40, Willmott report) when it was later found to be $611,500, how could the average ratepayer be expected to have adequate knowledge of the prevailing conditions? But he knows these conditions now the responsibility rests on him to see that after the coming municipal election the city has a mayor and council that will bring "about the gradual and orderly solution of the city's financial difficulties and make a clean break from the present disastrous policy of political expedience"—(page 46, Willmott report.)

Tomorrow we will discuss some of the guide-posts we believe should be followed in selecting such a council.

Prostituted Scholarship

Peterborough Examiner

It is immensely disheartening—sickening to the point of nausea—to read the last testimony of Charles Van Doren about how he was persuaded to be partner to a crooked TV quiz program, selling his honor as a gentleman and a scholar, and disgracing all his distinguished family, for $129,000. It was not a momentary failure of moral strength: it was the calculated betrayal of over a year's months. Van Doren says he pondered with the producer of the show, a man named Albert Freedman, to be allowed to appear as an honest contestant, and Freedman said that it was merely entertainment, and apparently, for some way, Van Doren made the hair-raising mistakes of supposing that entertainment is outside the range of ordinary honesty, or was the money, from which he could help his family in disgrace; he took a $50,000 a year job with NBC and bought his uncle is Carl Van Doren, also a professor at Columbia and literary editor of the New York Herald, men are highly regarded as teachers and persons of superior quality.

"The world ahead of us in American education should be able to expect about twice as much from our young men and women as we have been getting in the relatively easy, lazy days of isolation to expect either from us abroad or from ourselves." Who wrote it this? Charles Van Doren wrote it in 1943. This good old man did not, we may be sure, expect moral latitude from his nephew.

Wit is the only well dividing line 'twixt Day and Dark.

So said Mark Van Doren, unable to foresee that wit would not preserve him and his family from fatally mean kind of disgrace — the betrayal of the very precious essence of his life and environment should have told Charles Van Doren that what he was doing was wrong. "A cultivated intellect, because it is a good intellect, brings with it a power and a grace by every work and occupation which it undertakes." Charles Van Doren undoubtedly knew the words, knew the virtues of university education. Charles Van Doren undoubtedly knew Emerson, knew that quotation is a favorite with his father. He knew, but he did not heed.

Why so much indignation, some readers may ask, because Van Doren made money on a TV quiz, which was supposed by its viewers to be honest. Why pick on Van Doren, who did nothing that scores of others did not do?

Because Van Doren should have known better. If in some simple man or woman, unable to resist easy money, it is tempted to do a shabby thing in order to get a hundred dollars, we cannot blame them too greatly — though we greatly blame socialled entertainers who use debauch our whole concept of morality, of honor, of such money. But when a favored member of the academy, a scholar and the son of a scholar falls for such fool's gold, he disgraces more than himself: he brings the words scholar, professor, learning and university into disrepute on this continent where, God knows, they are little enough esteemed as it is. If we cannot trust a Van Doren to be honest in a matter of scholarship, whom can we trust?

If our learned men desert us we are lost indeed. When learning and science cease to be true we are no better than Gadarene swine, headlong and unreasoning into the abyss. Pity is, now being drummed up for Charles Van Doren. Pity is a noble and frank, full and manly in confession of his guilt.

But it is too late! He should have been frank, and manly and resolute when the temptation was offered crooking money to bring disgrace on his family, himself and scholar. Not all the wealth of all the big programs in the whole boostered world of television can wash him clean now.

Strictly Personal

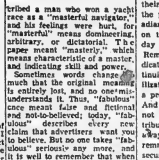
Why We Must Be 'Fussy' About Words

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A student at the University of Wisconsin wants to know why I "fuss" about the correct and incorrect uses of words. "What difference does it make," he asks, "whether the word is 'reverend' or 'revered,' as long as we understand each other?"

Well, let's look at that question when words are not used with precision, then we do not understand each other. Sometimes catastrophe follows from this. The misunderstanding of the Light Brigade was caused by a single word; the order was (or was understood) order from the British commanding general.

Suppose a report of a trial describes the judge as "disinterested." Most persons take this to be "uninterested," namely, that the judge is indifferent about the outcome of the case.



Actually, "disinterested" means interested in an objective and impartial way, in which a wise judge should be. But this proper, and much needed, usage of the word has been nearly lost through misuse.

Recently, the front page of an advertisement in magazine proclaimed that a certain agency was "hilsome" in its praise of an important book, when all the story meant was "full of praise," or "laudatory." But what does "hilsome" really means is exactly the opposite — offensive, insulting, or excessively insincere.

The same week I heard a radio announcer speak of the normality of the score" in a baseball game. He meant that one side had scored a large number of runs, and did not realize that "enormity" and "norm" are as "enormous," but implies a wicked or outrageous act or offense.

Likewise, we have blurred the historical distinction between "masterful" and "masterly." The local paper is the small town where I spend my summers described a man who won a yacht race as a "masterful navigator," and his feelings were hurt when "masterful" means domineering, arbitrary, or dictatorial. The paper meant "masterly," which means characterized by skill and indicating skill and power.

Sometimes words change, much that is the original meaning is entirely lost, and no one misunderstands it. Thus, "fabulous" once meant fake and fictional and noted-to-believe; today, "fabulous" describes every new claim that advertisers want you to believe. But as soon as "fabulous" seriously are more, and as long as we remember that what words lose their precision they lose their impact.

MOOSE JAW, SASK.

The origin of Moose Jaw is shrouded in a three-cornered controversy. One version is that an early settler suffered a breakdown of his wagon and repaired it with the jawbone of a moose; the second and slightly more logical version is that at the side of the site of the Moose Jaw river makes a bend which from the air resembles the shape of a moose's jaw. The third and least probable is that the early settlers, gazing across the valley to the southeast resembled a moose head, in say case, by the year 1883, it was known as Moose Jaw.

Hard on Bulls

The Prized Word

The theory of government by which more money is taken from citizens in order to give them more money brings to mind the Spanish fund-raising campaign by which money was collected for injured animals by holding a bull fight.

JUST FOLKS

SERVICE

By EDGAR A. GUEST

To the cause one man gave gold,
Then withdrew into his den
From the battle, the struggle and the fray
How he served his fellowmen.

When they came and begged for aid
Gladly from his purse he gave,
And he hoped that those he paid
Would continue being brave.

"To the cause," another said:
"I will give what I can give,
But I'll fight for it instead"
Just so long as I shall live."

Day by day and night by night
In the battle he gave his share,
In the thickest of the fight
Fought, and cheered his fellows there.

There are hundreds here to share
For a principle, their pelf;
But he better serves who'll dare
To a cause to give himself.

This world does not need your coin
Half so much as it needs you
What it wants is men to join
In the work it has to do.

Blood-red reminder of the Great War of a quarter of a century ago and the gallant sacrifices made by thousands of heroic Canadians will be brought to residents of the city on the 11th, when the annual Poppy Day appeal will be made by officials of the "remnants." The symbolism of the poppy takes on a deep significance each year. The Great War of 1914-18 is gradually passing into legend. On the famous Western Front the guns are silent. To those "to whom the torch was thrown," has been passed the care of "carrying on" in the new battle for which they gave their all in the dark days of the conflict. All Canadians should wear a Poppy on the eleventh. For that day is set aside as the Day of Remembrance, but a rededication of the work of continuing the structure of civilization where the workers of a previous generation left off. And by buying the Poppies you help to keep alive the memories of the progress-minded, whole boostered world of television can wash him clean now.

Invade Privacy of Home

Ottawa Journal

Best news of the week and indeed of many weeks is that the Post Office Department is going to take another look at the amount of advertising junk its "postage" are carrying into private homes.

Not a day nor hour but brings into the hall table or living room chair several advertising circulars that are carried by the Post Office on a very cheap rate and inserted into a tiny mailbox in such a way that proper first class personal mail is often damaged or even lost in the shuffle. Doorstep litter, especially in an apartment hall is mounting each year.

The average householder still likes to think his home is his castle, and the intimate part of a home should be its mail box. It is beside the point if the Post Office Department can make a profit each year on distributing unsolicited circulars. The Government could probably also make money if it carried advertisements on envelopes and stamps, or on the back of an income tax form or a Canada Savings Bond.

The Post Office Department abuses a privilege in delivering to the privacy of a home advertising material masquerading as personal mail. The advertiser who wants this kind of thi nghould be made to pay through the nose for it rather than encouraged to do it by the present low rates. If people want to get rid of their mail they say, if a householder doesn't want a newspaper "he doesn't need to take it; if he doesn't want to listen to radio advertising he can turn it off, or turn on his set. But in the mail box he is subjected to being assaulted into personal mail the householder has no effective means of refusal. He must deliberately comb the droppings — and the chances in an envelope are ten-to-one that an urgent letter is unnoticed for days or even thrown out with the stack of unwanted miscellany.

In addition to eliminating bulk delivery of unaddressed advertising the Post Office should consider trying to impose an added charge on stamped and addressed advertising of an unsolicited sort. This latter impost would be a nuisance to administer, but any degree of discrimination would produce a very worth while effect.

5,000 Islands

Fort William Times-Journal

How many islands in the British Isles? It is rather astonishing to learn from the Book of Knowledge that there are over 5,000. However, most of them are uninhabited and some are very small. The largest group is the Hebrides, with about 500 islands.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

FOR FUFFINESS AROUND THE EYES — GET THE CAUSE; THEN TREAT IT

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have had little cushions under my eyes for about two years. I had a severe attack of kidney trouble and have not been able to get rid of the puffs although the infection is pretty well cleared up. Can you do something I could do?—H.H."

Puffy eyelids (or "bags under the eyes") are the bane of many women and some men. Despite hackneyed remarks about "beauty sleep," (it can have its effect, of course), the majority of puffy eyes are from entirely different causes.

The skin of the eyelids (upper and lower) is thin and not as hard as the rest of the facial skin. It there is any tendency for the tissues to retain excess water, that's where it will first show. Many women tend to retain water in the body just prior to the menstrual period. In such cases the puffiness comes and goes in a few days.

Chronic infections (sinus could be one) can be responsible for such swelling and accumulation of water. It is obvious that if the swelling is of long duration, the skin and underlying tissues will become stretched. When this has grow, the more likely the stretching and loose puffiness.

Sneezing, coughing and crying can have a bearing on puffiness around the eyes. So can eye trouble sufferers in season, poor vision. Of course, allergic conditions can be involved, chronic kidney disease, miscellaneous allergies, and so on. And, of course, there is a characteristic sign of trichinosis.

With such a variety of causes, obviously there isn't any pat remedy. Get the cause and then treat it!

I'll add one other possibility which, while not very common, is a real one occasionally. That is a hernia, or break, in the fatty tissues underneath the skin, resulting in what is sometimes called a "beagle-eye look."

This is entirely different from the ordinary puffiness we've discussed, and combatting infection and Se in coin to cover handling.

Singing my grandchild to sleep the other night, this one emerged out of the long past and it called to mind the fact that the goose has declined almost to the vanishing point as the bird of celebration in Canada. The reason for the popularity of the goose would be raised around the barnyard and itself off the pasture; whereas turkeys had to be penned or else they wandered away in search of grasshoppers. A reason for the decline of goose was that it was fairly rich food for increasingly sedentary generations.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WHO OWES THE MOST?

A great deal is said on both sides of the question of who owes the most, the world or the man in the world.

Well, I — the man in the world owes the most — always! I owe it, and all those like it, it is an inheritance given over to each man. Some, it seems, owe it to the world more than others. To them go the large responsibilities and gratitudes.

But believe this: that life is what you make it. You are accountable to yourself, first of all, for the good or ill you do in this world.

The ordinary person, I think, exaggerates his petty mistakes and overlooks the servicings he does the world is set back. The fact that the world is well put says little. Think of all it has given you.

Almost every day I discover people who are giving this world some wonderful old words a lot of surprises. Because they believe that life is what you make it.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE KIND THAT DEVOUR LIFE

The average reader of the New Testament can pass over without the slightest shock the words of Jesus that speak of the sin against the Holy Ghost as the one unforgivable sin. Yet the sin against the Holy Ghost is the sin of which everyone is guilty. It is the sin of which the world as a good citizen. Jesus said that these spiritual sins would be worse than all man's heart and eat out the core of his soul. It is such a mercy's fashion that he is brought to spiritual disaster almost before he knows it.

Everyone knows that murder, adultery, murder, theft are sins. Jesus wanted to time talking about sins which everyone admitted were evil. But he tried to every conceivable means to shock his generation into the realization that they were doing nothing about the little, subtle, spiritual sins, and that their secret hatreds, envies, as a consequence, being devoured. Such sins are hard to detect, harder still to confess, and hardest of all to withstand.

Many Projects Under Way To Make Provincial Parks In Area More Attractive

Anyone visiting a provincial park in this area at this time of the year might expect to find little pretty quiet now that the summer's season has departed but, as Gershwin wrote, "ain't necessarily so." In fact there is quite a lot of work going on in preparation for next year's crowd which is expected to reach a new high as more and more Ontario residents and visitors become acquainted with the magnificent parks system which the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests is creating.

The coming of the winter months may incline people to stay at home near a blazing hearth but with the men responsible for the upkeep of Ontario's parks, winter means a lot of work. Throughout the Tweed District of Lands and Forests numerous building, maintenance, and preparation projects are under way. At Black Lake Park a new park office building is being constructed in conjunction with this a well is being sunk. With the special acquisition of adjacent land an initial survey of the new area prior to approval for the opening up of this land for the use and enjoyment of visitors. More camp sites in the old area have also been made.

NEW BUILDINGS

At Outlet Beach Park another major piece of construction of the winter works program of the department has been started. A new building is being built to provide a park canteen. New facilities, three bathing decks, more picnic tables and a new type of steps for the sand dunes are being prepared for next summer.

There is also the maintenance of present equipment to be carried out as well. Picnic benches are slashed and, where needed, refinished. Grates are removed from the campfires and stored. Refuse cans are collected and painted as are sundry other items. Most of this work will be achieved within the new future with the exception of Outlet Beach, where a permanent park staff is maintained to handle the enormous amount of work connected with this park, one of the most heavily-attended provincial parks in eastern Ontario.

Many more things are involved in making a park more attractive other than modern conveniences and comforts however. Much is done in the way of landscaping and land care. At Outlet Beach, for instance, shifting sand poses a major problem. Many trees have been planted and an effort at grassing the sand dunes is being made to help stabilize their features. Around many of the camp sites grass has been planted, sod laid, and mulch applied.

Careful watch is kept over the individual camp sites to ensure that none become worn out. If such a condition is noticed to be developing the site is put into "retirement" until such time as its natural features have regained their proper state. Many of the sites are enhanced by appreciative users during the course of the summer although campers are known to make use of the parks up to Thanksgiving week-end.

Some sites will be observed with decorative stone boundary lines or with low pole fences or other embellishments and camping extras which previous users have constructed for their own and other use. Certainly the care which the park's staffs have shown towards the appearance and condition of the provincial parks has rubbed off on many of the campers and park visitors.

Playgrounds are also under construction for the use of younger children visiting the parks. At Outlet Park quite a large playground area is available with its usual assortment of teeter-totters, slides, etc. which the small fry find so fascinating. The playground equipment is made by the parks staff. The construction of a similar project is on the agenda for the Black Lake Park this winter.

All in all the person who picks a park for pleasure next year will find quite a few changes made by the Lands and Forests people for his enjoyment.

Hammarskjold Leaves Today To Visit Laos

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold was scheduled to hit the road for troubled Laos late today despite a suggestion from Russia that he stay home here at his diplomatic work-bench.

Hammarskjold's mission arises from charges by the Southeast Asian kingdom that it is the target of aggression by Communist North Viet Nam, but the Soviet Union contends the United Nations has no business in the controversy.

Russian Ambassador Arkady Sobolev hammered anew on this theme Monday in a bitter letter to Hammarskjold, claiming that the UN is being used by "certain powers" with results that might "entail dangerous consequences for peace."

Hammarskjold, however, was expected to go ahead with his plans to start his jet aircraft trip to Laos on schedule at the invitation of the government of the Indochinese country.

IN A LETTER

The UN's chief permanent official first announced this intention Saturday in a letter to the 11 members of the Security Council, saying he was taking under consideration "all the information regarding the difficulties facing Laos."

But Hammarskjold said his decision had "no implications as regards the internal situation in Laos, the external relations of that country, or the arrangements agreed upon in Geneva in 1954."

Russia has repeatedly said the Laos situation should be handled by the international truce commission—Canada, Poland and India—established in 1954 by the Geneva conference that ended the Indochinese war.

Hammarskjold's action follows a report last week by a UN Security Council subcommittee that in an on-the-spot study it was unable to find proof of Communist aggression in Laos, although there was evidence of Communist arms in the hands of rebels.

Real Estate Head Urges Plan To Stimulate Govt. Economy

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — A program to stimulate economy by government rent was urged today by James M. Udall of Los Angeles, Calif., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, an American organization meeting here.

Mr. Udall suggested in an address that the association adopt such a program at its present annual convention — one that could be carried out in co-operation with other trade and professional associations.

"As I visualize it," said Mr. Udall, "it would take the form of citizen groups to work with each level of government . . . for the realization of at least a five - per - cent - per - capita reduction in expenditures during the next two years."

His comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

CITIES DANGER

There is danger, Mr. Udall said, that excessive government spending will drain away the productive strength of the people of the United States "in programs that serve no necessary public purpose, or have grown beyond bounds at which that service may be most efficiently rendered. One example is subsidized government housing." Mr. Udall also stated:

"Since the early days of the Marshall plan, our foreign aid programs has been allowed to develop along haphazard lines. . . . The result has been that the government — all too often in the course of our foreign aid programs — wasted our money. By excessive adherence to the idea of out - of - hand grants, it has tended to destroy much of the initiative and self - respect of other peoples.

"The policy of grants should be discarded in favor of the more realistic and much more productive policy of helping foreign nations to create incentives for the investment in those countries of both their own and American capital."

Looking forward to the 1960s in the United States, Mr. Udall criticized the following:

"For every two new homes you have seen springing up on the edges of your community since 1950, you may expect to see three more before the end of the 1960s. . . ."

EFFECT OF STRIKE

Miss L. Coe, consulting housing economist, Washington, commenting on the immediate future, said the steel strike "has hurt" and the upsurge in the economy will be delayed.

Consumer income had been hurt. Some inventory lines would be deferred, partly for seasonal reasons, because the season was now too far advanced to make it worth while to fill them.

There would be a tendency, too, for many construction or equipment projects to wait not only until next spring but until they were sure the flow of steel would not be interrupted.

Above may be seen one of the major winter construction projects being carried on in the provincial parks. It is the new Lands and Forests park office at Black Lake Park. There is also a new refreshment building under construction at Outlet Beach Park.

Under these circumstances he saw a good prospect for some easing of the stringent money situation for at least the first quarter of 1959 and probably extending into the second quarter.

CANADIAN VIEW

A. D. Wilson, supervisor of the Ontario region, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said the range of lending institutions in Canada don't have the depth of those in the United States, particularly in the savings and loan field.

While housing starts in Canada had been greater per 1,000 of population than in the United States, they were less in relation to the percentage increase in population.

"Accordingly," he added, "new housing output in the United States has been going further to raise housing standards than in Canada."

Minimum down payments in the U.S. were lower than in Canada. A $16,000 house in Canada could possibly be bought with a down payment of $3,200 whereas the minimum figure in the U.S. was as low as $650.

Brendan Behan Allowed Self To Deteriorate

NEW YORK (AP) — A CBS spokesman said Monday Irish playwright Brendan Behan started his Small World interview sober, but allowed his condition to deteriorate somewhere along the line.

The show, filmed and taped last Oct. 11, was shown Sunday. CBS said it since had received about 150 telephone calls, about half of them complaining about Behan's chatterbox manner.

A CBS spokesman said Behan started out "sober as a judge."

"But the unexpected—and unavoidable—happened later on," this source continued. "During delays in the filming, for reloading cameras and the like, Mr. Behan secured blended and made several trips to another room. His condition became progressively worse each time he returned to the camera."

Eventually moderator Edward R. Murrow in London cut Behan off from any connection to Dublin and the rest of the interview was carried out without him. Others taking part were comedian Jackie Gleason and critic John Mason Brown.

Fred Friendly, co - producer with Murrow of the show, said no thought was given to eliminating the chew although the tape and film was available for scrutiny three weeks in advance.

Friendly said there was nothing obscene in Behan's remarks, and that his performance was in line with his usually publicized erratic character. The co-producer added:

"If you censored him because you didn't like his actions, later you might find yourself censoring someone because you didn't like what he had to say."

Did Not Know Rates Increased For Children

A one hundred and fifty per cent increase in the cost of children's public skating at the Belleville Memorial Arena came up for discussion at last night's meeting of city council.

The question was raised by Alderman Leslie Dixby who asked the reason for the sharp increase.

"If subsidization of the arena is required why do we have to start with the kids?" he asked. He noted the charge for public skating had been raised from 10c to 25c.

"It is absolutely news to me," returned Alderman Claude D. Tice, chairman of the arena commission. "I did not know that the skating fee had been increased."

"Then who sets the fees?" asked Ald. Digby.

Ald. Tice said he would inquire as to why the rate had been increased.

Formal Request Made to Council For Two Schools

Tentative approval by Belleville city council for the issuing of debentures to cover the cost of construction for two new public schools, one in Parkdale and the other in East Belleville, was asked last night by members of the Belleville Public School Board.

A delegation of school board members, headed by Mr. G. H. Tvill, and L. A. Kells, appeared before council Monday evening with the formal request which will be dealt with at a later meeting of council. Board members will also attend this meeting.

Mr. Tvill noted that a survey had indicated the present overload in city public schools was approximately 300 pupils and when the two proposed schools were completed by the expected date of September, 1960, the buildings would be sufficient only for the estimated enrolment at that time.

One of the new schools, a senior school building with seven classrooms would be built on the Ellis property in East Belleville and would have special rooms for home economics, industrial arts, and would have an auditorium. The other school would be of five rooms and would be constructed in the Parkdale area. Both buildings would be designed to allow for future expansion.

Board members noted that the need for the 12 new classrooms had been established with the Ontario Department of Education. Some details of design were yet to be completed but verbal assurance has been given that all facilities proposed will be eligible for legislative grants.

Estimated cost of the two new buildings is $400,000, although a more accurate estimate would have to await further work on the part of the architects.

Five Received Into Fellowship At Stockdale

FRANKFORD — Stockdale United Church, newly painted and decorated, inside and out, was well filled on Sunday morning, and after a brief Memorial Service, introduced by Kipling's poignant hymn, "Lest We Forget," and a special choir number under direction of Mrs. F. Hubble, organist, a service of baptism, conducted by the Sunday School Superintendent, Mr. George, Plumpton and the minister, Rev. C. R. Judd, received into the fellowship of the Christian Church, Shelley Lorraine Chapman, Donald Arthur Wall, Marty Aaron MacDonald, Donald Paul Terry, and Steven Gordon MacDonald.

Some Zion people worshipped at Stockdale and some at Frankford as the Zion Sanctuary is being re-decorated. Next Sunday visiting preacher Rev. Mr. R. M. McMullin from Scott's Church will conduct the service at Stockdale.

Y.P.U. Holds Lively Church Discussion

FRANKFORD — Frankford United Church Young Peoples Union met on Saturday evening. After a lively sing-song led by Anna Judd with Ruth Elsworth as pianist, Vlosta Rabe conducted a well co-ordinated worship theme.

President Bill Dafoe steered the business period through a maze of detail, accepting an invitation to help with the Kinsmen Club program on Friday the 13th at Stockdale, inviting the Campbellford Young Peoples to the December 5th meeting, discussing a proposed worship service in the church and signing up new members.

The highlight of the evening emerged during the program period when a rather animated fact discussion on the relationship of the Y.P.U. to the local Church suddenly struck dynamite on the matter of church discipline and moderator Carl Richards had his hands full keeping order.

Can a church member be disciplined? Can you defize sin? Is it immoral to fix a television show? Can a minister be fired? Everybody wanted to talk at once and the recreation period was robbed of about 10 minutes which was too bad because Carol Abbott's well planned fun session had everybody in convulsions. The meeting closed with taps just about on time and everybody went home in high spirits.

W.I. Members Hear Report Of Area Meet

STIRLING — Mrs. John Kane presided for the November meeting of River Valley Women's Institute on Thursday with 17 ladies in attendence.

The president's table was centred with a small white cross with red poppies to commemorate Armistice Day, November 11th. A period of silence followed the opening of the meeting, and Mrs. Alden McDonell read a message on that theme.

Mrs. Vernon Harry read the motto entitled, "That Helping Hand," which stressed that "the good Lord is forever sending helping hands to carry on His work of bettering the world." Farmers, for example, welcome the opportunity of lending a helping hand to friends in the community.

The convener read an interesting story dealing with "The Importance of a Kitchen," and she also conducted a safety quiz.

Mrs. Roy Tucker was in charge of the meeting with Mrs. Percy Ulman as pianist. Mrs. George Hubble reported proceeds from the pie social amounted to $36. She read several "thank-you messages" and items of business. It was decided to give a donation of $5 to the C.N.I.B. fund, and $3 to the veterans' poppy fund.

The letter from Mrs. James Haggerty regarding the F.W.I.C. project in which the "World Refugee Year" will be dealt with at the January meeting, and a donation will be sent to help these needy people.

The delegates' expenses and transportation to the area convention were authorized to be paid.

The card parties will resume on Friday, November 6th.

Mrs. Roy Bush synopsized the article which is in the last issue of "The Countrywomen." This told of the Women's Institutes in Scotland, the future of the A.C.W.W., and an item on the new president, Mrs. F. J. Van Beekhoff of the Netherlands.

The friendship link secretary asked each lady to sign a Christmas card for Abbots' Leigh W.I. in England, and she gives a brief message.

Mrs. Vernon Harry reported nine members in the dressmaking class. The Sigmuary Day will be held December 1st in the Community Hall, Stirling.

The president thanked all who assisted in any way with the pie social.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a twenty minute report of the highlights of the Trent Valley Area Convention held at the Club Caravan, Belleville. The guest speaker was Miss Ethel Chapman, editor of "Home and Country", and her theme was "Advenuring in New Friendships and Service". She gave many helpful ideas for promoting healthie work and stressed that members must always remember that the Women's Institute is an educational organization.

The four Morrow Sisters from River Valley sang at that gathering. Mrs. Roy Bush of River Valley also gave a splendid report on "Historical Research and Current Events". Those attending the area convention gleaned many helpful ideas for next year's programs.

The November roll call consisted of a banner item and to excee. 50 cents. Over $10 was realized from the sale of home cookies, which included eggs, jelly, chilli sauce, aprons, pot holders, and homemade candy.

The Christmas meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh and the roll call will be "a gift for the Kitchen" valued at 35 cents, and there will be a Christmas program for the members.

The hostess and lunch convener served the dentist, too. The monotonous monologue tends to reduce tensions in the dentist and make him much more accessible to the patient, said Dr. E. E. Aston of West New York, N.J., speaking Friday to a seminar.

GIRL GUIDE and BROWNIE NEWS

A meeting was held last week in the Kiwanis Centre for the Lone Companions and Guiders and Brown Owls of the Belleville South District of the Girl Guide Association. The District Commissioner, Mrs. H. Floyd, was in the chair.

After welcoming all those present, Mrs. Floyd gave a short account of the activities of all the Brownie Packs and Guide companies in her district. Mrs. C. Lusk reported that 331 badges had been earned by Guides and seven badges had been earned by Brownies in the district since last April. Three all-round Cords, which are the second highest award a Guide can receive, had been earned by three Guides, and congratulated all those Guides and Brownies who had worked so hard to obtain badges.

Mrs. Floyd informed the Guiders that the St. John Ambulance was starting courses in first aid, home nursing and child care shortly, and Guides would be able to attend these to help them in the work for badges.

She also announced that the Canadian Girl Guide Association was planning to hold a Guide headquarters in Toronto next year, and it is hoped that Guides, Brownie and Lone Local Association member in Canada would be able to earn and contribute to the Association a small amount towards the cost of the building. It is estimated at one and a half million dollars, and it is felt if everyone connected with Guiding could do her share, it would not be necessary to go to the public for donations.

In order to raise funds for the new building, the Local Association of the Belleville district decided to have a Christmas bake sale in the market in November, and it was hoped that each mother of Guides and Brownies in the district would be able to contribute a small amount of Christmas home cooking.

Mrs. Floyd reported on the financial returns made by the Girl Guide Association to celebrate Jubilee Year in Canada last year which commemorated 50 years of Guiding in Canada. Three quarters of a million gold tulip bulbs have been planted across Canada, in Belleville they will be seen at the Memorial Park, St. Joseph's School, Elmwood Centre, St. Thomas' Church, the Belleville Hospital, and in several other places and each one will be a "thank you" to the public for their support and encouragement of the Girl Guide Movement.

Cookie Day next spring will also emphasize Jubilee year with a specially decorated box of cookies and there will be a special Jubilee Year Church service for Guides and Brownies in May. Special Jubilee dinners will also be held, the first one in Ottawa, then throughout the provinces, areas and divisions.

Plans are under way for the Belleville one, at which all Guiders, and all past commissioners will take part. Jubilee Girl Guides camps will be held in all the provinces in Canada, and it is planned that Guides from one province will be able to go to camp in any one of the other provinces. All in all, the Jubilee Year will be an important and memorable one in the history of Guiding in Canada.

HUGH MacLENNAN ASKS: ARE WE GIVING YOUTH A CHANCE?

Everyone seems to be condemning youth. But if they're going wrong, who is to blame? Hugh MacLennan discusses this immense problem in this week's Star Weekly.

Where Should Poor Man Dwell? Question of Social Worker

OTTAWA (CP)—"Where shall the poor man dwell" the question put to city planning and social worker Ada Gressehill.

She wonders whether people in comfortable homes "can realize or even be sensitive to the loneliness and heartache of parents of low income, who must bring up their children in sub-standard dwellings."

Persons who believe in the traditional values of homes and family life should support low-cost housing projects so that no man need be ashamed of his home," Miss Gressehill writes in a Canadian Welfare Council bulletin. She is the supervisor of Catholic Family Services in Ottawa.

"Otherwise, city planners will go on with slum clearance, superhighways, great buildings and the havoc of progress (except the important one)—where shall the poor man dwell?"

In Concerning Families and Children, the bulletin of the council's family and child welfare division, Miss Gressehill describes the housing of a typical family of seven families, described as the Browns:

"They and their four children live in the upper part of a converted house. The rent is one of four miserable rooms and a bathroom shared with the family downstairs—and have a child allowance and a rent of $70.

"The converted upstairs kitchen has no sink, and cold water—there is no hot water—must be brought from the bathroom."

After the Browns moved in they found the house was "bug - infested."

Eight Children Baptized at United Church

FRANKFORD — Everybody loves a baby and the sacrament of infant baptism at Frankford United Church on Sunday evening attracted a capacity congregation.

It was a nice service. The choir sang an appropriate anthem with Neal Rooke taking the solo part and the primary Sunday School superintendent, Mrs. J. Beach, with the minister the Rev. C. R. Judd, received eight little ones into the fellowship of the Christian Church. The parents promised, with God's help, to nurture them in the knowledge and love of God and the congregation were charged to support the promise with constant affection and wholesome example and faithful prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. F. deSelan, formerly of Stockdale, were welcomed by Mr. W. Morrow, on behalf of the Session, into the Frankford congregation. The following children were baptized, Debbie Ruth Wickens; William John Gow; Lori Ann Aileen Woodcox; Donna Marie Smith; William Francis Cecil Payne; John Richard Ferris deSelan; Cheryl Lois Lehman; Jim Glen Miller and Carman Donald Courtyea from Wellington.

QUESTION BOX

Question: This is a question, not of who ordinarily whom, but of which outranks which, the tea or the coffee? When prominent guests are asked by their turn pouring tea and coffee at an afternoon affair, does the most important woman pour the tea, and the less important one, the coffee? Or is it the other way round?

Answer: Deciding which is the greater honor, to pour the tea or the coffee, isn't as silly as it sounds. The way the answer is arrived at is interesting. After afternoon tea for social outcasts coffee, as it is said that tea was discovered in China about 2,000 B.C. Coffee is believed to have originated in Ethiopia, but was really popularized by the Arabs at the beginning of the fifteenth century. So from the standpoint of age, tea would "outrank" coffee. In our country today, however, coffee is by far the most popular drink. So it follows that when tea is served at one end of a table and coffee at the other, the crowd will gather at the coffee end. Therefore deference is shown the most important woman by asking her to serve at the end of the table where the majority of the guests will gather — around the coffee urn.

Question: Should teenagers, when attending a school dance, make a point of going up and speaking to the chaperones?

Answer: Yes. If they are standing in a receiving line as you enter, be sure to offer your greeting. If there is no receiving line, make a point during the evening of singling out the chaperones and express to them your pleasure at being at the party. It's also, but not absolutely necessary, to hunt them up and say goodnight when you leave. If they are standing by the door, wall-to-wall and goodnight, never skip out without doing so.

Question: Is it permissible to send newcomers to your community, whom you have met only casually in church, for example, to have dinner in your home without making a call at their home first?

Answer: No. Such an abrupt invitation is in bad taste. Much better to call upon the newcomers at their home, even if it is but down the block, and express your pleasure that they are new neighbors. After the courteous approach, extend an invitation to your home when you wish.

Question: When a bachelor receives a formal invitation to a dinner, is it correct that his secretary reply on the typewriter, using his business stationery?

Answer: Absolutely not On both counts. To begin with, it is extremely poor taste ever to resort to the use of the typewriter when acknowledging an invitation of any kind, formal or informal. It should always be handwritten and only on personal stationery, never a business letterhead.

W.M.S. Elects New Slate Of Officers

MELROSE — The regular monthly meeting of Melrose W.M.S. was held Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. C. Osborne, with nine members present.

The president, Mrs. J. Milligan, conducted the worship service on the theme, "The Coming of the Kingdom". Bible readings were given by Mrs. E. Embury, Mrs. C. Hagerman, and Mrs. C. Osborne. Prayers were offered by Mrs. R. MacFarlane and Mrs. J. Milligan. Mrs. J. Milligan read a very beautiful Advertising Day poem.

The group leader, Miss Margaret Bailey, then took charge of the meeting. Her topic was "Women in Changing Africa", Mrs. Roy Badgley read an article "In a Land of Contrasts", and Mrs. R. MacFarlane read "Inside Angola".

Miss Bailey said in part that Africa was very much in the news at present, and we, as women, were interested in learning what the women of Africa were doing at this time.

African women are taking part in many activities. Some had organized vocational training centres, others had a radio program; one woman was collecting folklore and fables, pictures peculiar to her country of Ghana.

The women of Africa are concerned with modern problems of marriage and home relationship and the place and influence of women in society, she said.

In the old days the family lived under tribal law; but now one of the disturbing factors of African life is the upheaval of people. Thousands have left the bush, kraals, farms, forests, and small villages to new locations, where the routine of life is entirely different.

In South Africa Apartheidist is the political policy. It means enforced physical separation of people on the basis of color. This causes much suffering.

Dr. Dahmai who is teaching in the American Southern Baptist Seminary at Oboomoali, Nigeria, has this to say: "The African family has changed greatly. The old family was a blood and marriage community but this solidarity has replaced it. The Christian Church could be that family, but that is not a western pattern and Christianity has come to Africa with a western bias".

Throughout Africa the feeling is clear that Jesus' own concept and practice of Christian community would seem more desirable than this Christianity that comes with western national culture and racial and denominational patterns. The great hope is that the new generation of African leaders who have been educated in Christian schools, will build the new African family, church, society and nation, most needed in Africa. Then Africa's human and spiritual potentialities will be a source of strength to the whole world, she stated.

A short business session was held when plans for the bazaar to be held Wednesday, November 13, were discussed. The treasurer reported that $238.15 had been raised to date.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. S. Demille with Mrs. C. Osborne as group leader.

Nominations for the coming year were then voted on, with Mrs. Roy Badgley in the chair. The following slate of officers was elected by acclamation for 1969: president — Mrs. J. Milligan; 1st vice-president, — Mrs. C. Milligan; second vice-president — Mrs. E. Bailey; treasurer — Mrs. Roy Badgley; secretary — Mrs. E. E. Embury; missionary monthly secretary — Mrs. Roy Badgley; citizenship secretary — Mrs. E. E. Embury; stewardship secretary — Mrs. C. Bates, Sr.; supply secretary — Mrs. R. MacFarlane; Mission Band leader — Mrs. W. E. Embury; press secretary — Miss M. E. Bailey; literature secretary — Mrs. J. Milligan and pianist — Mrs. S. Demille.

The new woman's organization, that the United Church is planning, was discussed.

The hostess served refreshments and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Lieutenant and Mrs. William Macdonald Campbell are shown following their marriage in Athens United Church, Athens, Ontario. Willison, of Athens, and the bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell of Belleville. (Photo by Redman & Higgs, Brockville.)

CAMPBELL — WILLISON

Athens Baptist Church, Athens, Ontario, was beautifully adorned with white and yellow chrysanthemums on Saturday, October 31st, at 2.00 p.m. for the wedding ceremony performed when Muriel Margaret Willison, of RR 4, Athens, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Willison, became the bride of Lieutenant William Macdonald Campbell, of the Royal Canadian Electrical Mechanical Engineers, at Kingston, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell of Belleville.

The Reverend Frank Ward, assisted by Mr. Ben Richardson, officiated.

The wedding music was provided by Mrs. Earl Seabrooke, organist of Brockville Trinity, who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Barry Haggett, sister of the bride, who sang, the "Wedding Prayer" and "Calm as the Night."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white faille featuring a fitted bodice with long sleeves and portrait neckline accented with feather-stitch sequin trim. The floor-length skirt fell in graceful folds. She wore a seed pearl-studded crown headdress, finger-tip veil of nylon tulle, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses, mingled with French 'mums and ivy leaves. A single strand of pearls completed her nuptial costume.

Miss Belva C. Stanford of Brockville, Ontario, as maid of honor, was gowned in copper-toned peau de soie in street-length with "V"-shaped neckline. Complementing the gown was a peau de soie hat with matching tulle, studded with little seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of bronze and white 'mums.

The bridesmaids, Miss Patricia C. Linton, of Kingston, and Miss Jannifer B. Hoogstraten Prescott, were gowned alike in style similar to that of the maid of honor, and carried bouquets of yellow and bronze 'mums.

The bridegroom's attendant was Lieut. James P. Cousens, of Kingston, Ontario, attended the bridegroom, while the ushers were Mr. James Campbell, and Mr. Gordon Campbell, of Belleville, brothers of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception and buffet luncheon were held at the church, where the bride's parents, and the bridal attendants assisted in the receiving line. The bride's mother were green with black accessories, and yellow corsage, the bridegroom's mother, blue, with a corsage of peach-carnations matching her feather hat.

A guest of honor composed of Lieutenants D. R. Springett, Kingston; W. M. Argue, also of Kingston; P. Richard, Petawawa; G. W. Keays, R. D. Cook, both of Picton, and sub-lieutenant J. F. Cote of Montreal, and Sub-lieutenant D. K. Goodwin of Ottawa, paid tribute to the happy couple as they left the church.

Before leaving for Socst, West Germany, via M.S. "Italia," where the bridegroom will be stationed for the next three years, they will visit Ottawa. The bride chose for travelling a dark avocado green wool dress with matching accessories, and corsage of champagne-hue carnations.

Guests were present from Montreal, Oakville, St. Catharines, Belleville, Windsor, Ottawa, Clarkson and Claremont.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two barristers. Each week it is summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Geraldine R. — My family shuns me.

June S. — I'm too old to worry about her.

Geraldine R. — What should an unmarried woman in her 60's do when her own family shuns her?

I have been lonely all my life. My sister and brother could have done something to alleviate that loneliness. But they never took that much interest. I don't know what I ever did to offend either of them.

In any case, I always felt that at bottom they really cared for me. I realize now that I was mistaken. I am left to retire on a small pension, will have trouble making ends meet. I hinted to my sister and brother that I'd like to live with one of them. They both have grown married children and extra room in their homes. My sister finally told me point blank that I'd be better off with strangers.

June S. — I didn't mean to hurt Gerry's feelings. In spite of what she now thinks, I've always had feeling for her as a sister. But frankly, I just don't want to live with her and neither does her husband, Ted, my wife.

The problem is that Gerry has always been a moody person. She flies off the handle at the slightest criticism, but she is very sharp in her criticism of others. I wouldn't feel free in my home if she were there.

My brother and I have done our best to take Gerry in on our social life, but somehow it never worked out. I know she bears a grudge against us for not having helped her meet eligible men, but she was always so hard to please. It seemed like a hopeless task. It may sound selfish, but I am too old to worry about her.

The Council: Geraldine's plight is unfortunate, but unless she realizes the part she herself has created it, she can't do much to improve her future.

She is entirely mistaken in the belief that her family has failed her. The mere fact that she felt close enough to them to suggest that she board with one of them indicates that there has been a good relationship throughout the years. If her brother and sister also invited her to some of their social gatherings, they again indicated their interest and good intentions.

Geraldine's beef against her family indicates that she stands in a very childish relationship to them. She apparently expected them to provide for her in the way parents provide for a child. A child receives much and is not expected to give of himself in return, but an adult must give out something in order to get a return.

Geraldine's moodiness also indicates a childish annoyance with life in general for having failed her. But she should ask herself how she has contributed to life.

Even in her 60's, Geraldine is not too old to find greater happiness through activities in which she gives something to others. She should find some form of work or social activities that will keep her in contact with others. This is of far greater importance to her happiness than the question of where to live.

You will not be able to resist m when I tell you of a delicious dish of scallops.

At least ten fish courses were served to us at a luncheon sponsored by the Fish Distributors Association of Toronto and by Chef Gourbeault of the Westbury Hotel in Toronto.

While one course would have been enough, all were top class, including those made with common cod and haddock.

But what stood out for me was the scallop course, and on Friday night I served scallops to my family but adapted a recipe I thought would interest a greater number of you — for the coquille version we had calls for wine.

Canadian restaurants have gotten into the rut of serving breaded scallops now and the stores are selling breaded scallops. You have to fight to get them from breaded boiler, and flour and stir until well blended. Cook 1 minute. Slowly add liquid in which scallops were cooked and stir until thickened. Cook 2 minutes. Add salt and scallops with salt and he told me he had just flown home from the Yukon and was so homesick for raw scallops he knew — he would just step over to Digby on his way to Yarmouth, with the hope the scallopers would be in harbor.

Raw scallops are delectable as many a Maritimer knows.

So go along with an old scalloper and try

Saskatchewan's Falconry Club

Training a falcon requires great patience, care, and countless hours of gentle training. Brian Davis, above, checks bell strap on his prairie falcon.

Club members receive instruction in "imping"—the repair or replacement of feathers broken or lost in the hunt. Falcons must be maintained in top condition for full efficiency.

Falconry, one of the world's oldest sports, was practiced in China 2,000 years B.C., reached its popularity peak during the middle ages when it was known as "the sport of Kings". Still very popular in Asia, where some of the best trained birds can be found, falconry has a growing number of followers in Canada. Both Saskatchewan and Alberta have organized falconry associations. Above, Peregine falcon sits on gloved fist of its owner.

A falcon swoops down on its prey in a swift 200 mile an hour dive. Enthusiasts claim that the sight of these majestic birds in full swoop after a fast shifting crow is a never-to-be-forgotten thrill.

Richard Fyfe, president of the Saskatchewan Falconry Association, delivers a lecture on families of birds of prey to new members of the club.

The prairie falcon is the bird which members of the Saskatchewan association will concentrate upon. It nests in almost inaccessible places in the badlands country of the province and in the South Saskatchewan River valley. Fifteen nesting places of the prairie falcon have been investigated to date. Manitoba Farmer Believes 300-Acre Flax Crop Will Not Be Worth Harvesting

SANFORD, Man. (CP)—"Almost good for nothing" is how Farmer Ralph Junkin stood in a water-soaked field of unharvested flaxseed on his farm near here and spoke of looking for work in Winnipeg this winter to help make ends meet.

The 42-year-old Mr. Junkin's situation was typical of that faced by most farmers in southern Manitoba, hard hit by early snow storms and heavy rain.

Unless clear cold weather settled on the area for about eight days—to freeze the ground solid enough to support heavy harvest machinery—his 300-acre flax crop will be a complete loss.'

1,400-ACRE FARM

Even if some of the grain is harvested, the yield and quality are so likely will be poor, he said in an interview at the 1,400-acre farm he operates with his brother about 25 miles southwest of Winnipeg.

The southern part of the province is estimated to contain about 75 per cent of Manitoba's flax—considered a good cash crop under normal circumstances. About 65 per cent of the province's expected production of 4,200,000 bushels is still unharvested.

Similar conditions exist in many Prairie areas. About 60 per cent of Saskatchewan's 8,000,000 bushels of flax was unharvested at mid-October and 28 per cent of Alberta's 6,500,000 bushels still was in the fields.

Other grain crops also were heavily hit.

FORTUNATE IN ONE RESPECT

Mr. Junkin said he was more fortunate than many of his neighbors in one respect — during a relatively good stretch of weather last month he managed to harvest his 300 acres of wheat.

However, 25 per cent of the wheat had been destroyed by hail in August and the remainder, combined after rain and now, was of poor quality.

"We should have averaged not less than 25 bushels to the acre on that land," he said. "We got about 15 bushels."

A neighbor, Pat Erb, drew a handful of wheat from the hopper of his combine. It felt wet and heavy.

gor, city treasurer and city tax collector, was one of the first items on last night's council agenda.

His letter of resignation indicated that this "is the price which I must have to pay for helping a hockey team to win the Allan Cup for Belleville in 1958, and the world championship for Belleville and Canada in 1959."

RESIGNATION DATE

There was considerable discussion with respect to the city's liability for back salary if Mr. Denyes' resignation dated November 9th was accepted. Mr. Denyes declined to date his resignation as of May 9th and despite the fact City Solicitor R. A. Pringle stated in his opinion the city had no liability, council voted to approve firing rather than for acceptance of the resignation.

With the introduction of Alderman Ellis' motion calling for the firing of Mr. Denyes, Alderman R. Graham moved an amendment for the resignation to be accepted.

The formal letter of resignation was then read, following which Mr. Graham asked Mr. Denyes if he would change the effective date from Nov. 9th to May 9th.

"I have no intention of doing so," returned Mr. Denyes.

"Then I withdraw my amendment," said Mr. Graham.

"Surely we are not going to vote to fire a man who already has tendered his resignation unless there is a salary question," asked Ald. William Argue.

The city solicitor was asked his opinion of the matter and replied that any salary arrangement between council and Mr. Denyes would be in the nature of a gratuity as Mr. Denyes had been under suspension since May 9th.

"I don't think the date matters" he said. "If Mr. Denyes used the city I don't think he would be able to recover."

DEFEAT MOTION

With this Alderman W. Argue and R. Temple moved that Mr. Denyes' resignation be accepted as presented but the motion was defeated by an 11-3 vote.

Voting for the amendment were Aldermen Argue, Temple and Collins, with Mayor Gerald B. Hyde and Aldermen Digby, Elliott, Ellis, Forrester, Graham, Grandame, Ireland, McCabe, Tice and Wishart opposing.

Alderman Ellis' original motion to fire Mr. Denyes as of May 9th was then presented and carried unanimously.

Two weeks ago at the special meeting of council called to consider motions for the firing of Mr. Denyes and city auditor John D. Lewers, both Mayor Hyde and Alderman Ellis had presented similar motions, the main difference being that the Mayor's recommendations called for immediate action.

Last night Mayor Hyde said he was withdrawing his motions as due to the time limit involved they could no longer be carried out.

"They do not apply now; what I had in mind could not now be accomplished," he said.

Before council voted on placing of advertisements for a new city manager, Alderman Argue suggested that the matter of qualifications should be considered. He noted that when the city's first city manager was hired several councillors felt the successful applicant should have an engineering degree as one of his qualifications.

Just what the position of the city would be if council voted to dispense with the services of its auditor was a question asked by both Aldermen Graham and Ellis.

This question was raised after council had blocked the introduction of the motion calling for termination of the city solicitor's employment.

"I suppose I am still working for the city?" remarked Mr. Pringle as he rose to answer the question regarding the auditor. "However, I may not be working much longer."

The solicitor went on to say that he did not think it made much difference whether the city was without the services of an auditor for a short time providing the city audit was completed by March or so of the next year.

"When presents the audit if we do not have a city auditor?" asked Ald. Ellis.

"Someone who is capable as an auditor," was the reply.

department. The offer of the assistance had been given to Mayor Hyde late last week by Municipal Affairs Minister Hon. W. K. Warder.

The firing of Mr. Denyes and also of the city auditor were discussed at a special meeting of council held immediately following the close of the judicial inquiry two weeks ago. Action at this time was deferred pending the receipt of Judge Willmott's report which was released late last week.

During the 15-day long inquiry evidence was to the effect that Belleville's deficit was between $600,000 and $900,000, of which about $145,000 was attributed to the operation of the Belleville McFarlands Hockey Team and the Belleville Memorial Arena.

Last Thursday night Gordie Howe scored his 1,000th point in the National Hockey League's scoring players. It didn't surprise statistically-minded fans, but it brought the sharp pencil out how close the great Detroit Red Wing player is to the mark established by the game's all-time high scorer, Rocket Richard of Montreal Canadiens.

The 31-year-old Howe reached the milestone as he collected a goal and an assist when the Wings were clobbered 8-3 by Boston Bruins. The same night the Rocket got an assist as Canadiens cooled out New York Rangers 5-2.

The 32-year-old Rocket's assist brought his point - total to 1,052, just 52 more than Howe, over all, Howe scored 15 in 18th season.- This is Howe's 14th big-league year.

The question again arises: will Howe surpass the fabulous Rocket in goal-scoring and point-getting?

HOWE MIGHT DO IT

Some observers believe the stout Howe, a native of Floral, Sask./can do it before he hangs up his skates. They point to seven years younger than Richard, that he isn't showing the wear and tear of 13 full seasons in the majors, whereas the Rocket, plagued by injuries the last few seasons, may be hitting the end of the trail.

If Howe can remain healthy, these observers say, he can go on to surpass the Rocket's marks.

General Manager Jack Adams of the Wings, naturally enough, is Howe's greatest booster. "He is the greatest player of all time."

Adams has insisted for years, and each time he makes this statement supporters of Richard rush to point out their idol's goal-scoring ability.

In the first 14 games this season—up to last Thursday — the Rocket was doing okay for an old-timer. He had four goals and six assists.

Howe's output was better. He had played 12 games and was piling along at a point-a-game clip with six goals and six assists.

BEVEN'S ANSWERS

The late Dick Irvin, coach of Canadiens, had a pat answer whenever the Howe - vs - Richard subject came up. It was: "When Howe scores as many goals as Richard has, then start to compare them."

Statistics can be boring, but here's how the two players stood on the NHL record books when Howe reached his 1,000th point last week. Figures include Stanley Cup playoffs:

	Richard	Howe
Seasons	13	14
Games	1,086	947
Goals	610	460
Assists	452	540
Points	1,062	1,000

NO TV FOR BOUT

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC said Monday it is still negotiating for broadcast rights to the Nov. 17 Canadian heavyweight title fight here between Yvon Durelle and George Chuvalo. A spokesman said it appeared unlikely the fight would be carried on television but there was a good possibility it would be on the national radio network.

STUDY STADIUM SITES

TORONTO (CP) — A fact-finding group to be formed by the city's parks and exhibitions committee will study possible sites and means of financing for a major league baseball stadium, it was decided Tuesday night by city council. Faloney, Bright Are Football's Top Players

TORONTO (CP) — Quarterback Bernie Faloney of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, Big Four star and fullback Johnny Bright of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have been named the outstanding players in the East and West, it was announced today.

Football writers and broadcasters in the Big Four and WIFU cities made their choices in a poll conducted by a dilly.

Western voters, balloting only for players in the WIFU, chose Bright, five-year veteran with Eskimos from Drake University. Eastern selectors, who voted only for Big Four players, picked Faloney, 27, signal - caller from the University of Maryland who led the Tiger-Cats to the Grey Cup final the last two years.

A ballot, open to selectors East and West, will be held later this month to name either Faloney or Bright as the outstanding player in the country.

Voters also will decide two other awards — the outstanding Canadian player in pro football and the outstanding lineman. Quarter Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders and quarter Sam Etty of the Eskimos are the Canadians chosen best in their leagues and John Barrow of the Tiger-Cats and Roger Nelson of the Eskimos were the linemen chosen in preliminary ballots.

OPPOSES SECOND TEAM

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Horace Stoneham, owner of San Francisco Giants, let the proposed Continental League know Monday he's opposed to bringing another baseball team to San Francisco.

Fullowing reports that Frank Moreland, Los Angeles advertising executive, was interested in establishing a Continental team here, Stoneham said in a statement to the press:

"I am sure that Mr. Moreland is aware that the Giants in moving to San Francisco have had to assume heavy financial obligations that involve territorial equities as well as the obligation imposed by their acceptance of the new Candlestick Park."

Says Player Turned in Fine Performance

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach Don Clark of the University of Southern California says his aggressive guard, Mike McKeever, "played under a magnificent glass" against West Virginia Saturday and turned in a fine performance.

Clark admitted he had a few words with McKeever "about his problems" before the game.

Mike was accused of using dirty football tactics after California halfback Ted Bates was injured in the previous Saturday's game. Movies showed McKeever fell on him out of bounds, and some Cal spokesmen accused the guard of elbowing Bates in the face.

Clark told a luncheon meeting Monday "I didn't mention to him that he use his elbows. I simply asked him to be careful." Mike and the whole team—believe I tell the officials might be over-critical."

He said the officiating was highly competent and Mike did a solid job. USC won 36-0.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Perhaps some local Shakespearean addict who takes the bard of Avon figuratively, can concoct a Mcbethian witch's brew that will dispense with the "double-double, toil and trouble" jinx that has haunted the McFarlands since the second game of this nine-tilt schedule.

The Sax, or gremlins, call it what you will, have been riding shoe-heels on the blaze, and while the goaltending of the freemen has been exceptionally good, it is no affair to state that when the breaks have been dished out, the Hildebrandters have been sadly neglected.

That tickle stick, Dame Fortune, too, has been stashing a merry connivance the Maroc way and if there is such a thing as good luck in a hockey game, which we're beginning to doubt, none of it has been coming the way of the McFarlands.

While the team has been "down" in some of the games, the reverse applies to others. They should have won at least three of their "defeats" on merit, but again it was those intangible "things" and make or break, a hockey game occasionally that defeated them.

Take the case of Cesare Maniago, the new goalie the Maes secured on loan from the Kitchener Dutchmen. The bad luck cats tossed their collective ill-will at the chilik this night for a practice jinx ahead of the youngster in the mouth before an official whistle tooted to start the game.

But they fired another barrage with minutes to go when "Wiener" Brown unwittingly "dropped" the puck near his own goal-mouth and Bryan Cullen figured he had no trouble in driving the rubber behind a surprised goalie.

Surely it cannot go on forever. Perhaps tonight will see the fortunes of luck and the breaks change for the better when the Macs host the Chatham Maroocs. Game starts 8.30.

FOOTBALL

Jack Sisson's big, hard-charging Quinte Secondary COSSA senior "A" football squad meets a stern test here tomorrow afternoon when it clashes with the Peterborough Collegiate team in a sudden-death semi-finals playoff.

The game is scheduled for the Quinte field starting two o'clock and both Sisson and Peterborough coach Bev Goulding are looking forward to a thriller. The winner meets the Georgian Bay champions for the COSSA senior "A" championship on Saturday.

"We're looking forward to a tough battle," Sisson said this morning. "The Peterborough team took out Whitby 26-0 last Saturday and they looked good doing it. They are a big, tough team but not much bigger than our boys. They will know they have been in a football game before the final whistle blows."

The respective coaches are no strangers to each other. Ironically, if one can call it that, it will be a case of pupil meeting the "old master." Goulding is one of the most respected coaches in Quinte secondary school football and none knows it better than Jack Sisson.

In fact Jack played for Goulding in Peterborough and has never forgotten the lessons he learned at the hands of the "maestro." He followed this experience by playing under Frank Tyrrell of Queen's, who Sisson believes, is one of the best mentors in the Intercollegiate set-up."

Sisson has gained much through the experience. He whipped together fine teams in his first year as coach at Quinte and he has followed this with fine squads in successive years.

New Jack puts his coaching experience on the line against that of his former tutor. He scouted the Peterborough-Whitby game and while he does not "go out on a limb" believes tomorrow's game will be a nerve-tingler.

Football fans of the city would do well to take in this battle of the high school grid giants.

'Peahead' Not Likely to Take Another Job With Alouettes

Day Lead nineties bet

MONTREAL (CP)—The longest term of coaching service in the Big Four Football Union in recent years ended Monday.

Montreal Alouettes fired Doug-las Clyde (Peahead) Walker from his head coaching job and offered him another job within the organization, a job he isn't expected to accept.

Walker joined the Alouettes in 1952 and took them to the Big Four playoffs every year since 1953. Three times the Als won the Big Four championship and went to the Grey Cup, only to be defeated every time by Edmonton Eskimos.

Walker's three - year contract still had a year to go when Alouettes president Ted Workman announced the 38-year-old Alabaman was being relieved of his coaching job. Walker said the management has agreed to buy up the final year of the contract if he rejects the offer of a new job supervising development of Canadian players.

Of the new job Walker said: "I haven't rejected it entirely . . . I may be a position I wouldn't ac-. . . cept."

. . . he wasn't vindicative, . . . was grateful to Montreal fans and backers for the consideration they showed him during his eight seasons.

On Saturday, the Alouettes wound up one of their worst seasons ever when Ottawa Rough Riders battered them 43-0 to eliminate them from the Big Four semi-finals.

In his eight regular seasons, Walker's teams won 58 games and lost 48.

Workman's announcement said the moves was made "in an effort to improve the Alouette organization and at the same time to take advantage of coach Walker's ability, experience and contacts."

RUMORS REVIEWED

Before coming to Montreal, Walker was head coach at Wake Forest and later assistant coach under Herman Hickman.

Removal of Walker revived rumors that general manager Gorman Kennedy also would be bounced and that end Red O'Quinn, who has said he intends to retire, will get a front-office job. Workman declined to comment.

He also declined to comment on reports that Perry Moss, coach at Florida State, would be

Boston Bronco Has Tallied Fifteen Goals in 14 Games; Has 56 Games to Score 35

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League schedule isn't even one-fourth finished and already a question is being asked that hasn't been thought of since 1953.

Is this the year Maurice (Rocket) Richard's record of 50 goals in one season will be erased?

The subject of speculation this time is Bronco Horvath, white-shot centre of Bolton—Rocket's rampaging like like who in flicking in goals at a rate of slightly more than one a game.

Montreal's Rocket, now 38 and nearing the end of one of hockey's most illustrious careers, scored 50 goals in 50 games in the 1944-45 season when Horvath was 15 years old and just learning to play hockey.

HAS 15 GOALS

League statistics released today show Horvath with 15 goals in 14 games, plus eight assists for 23 points. He leads the NHL in goals and total points.

In his record season, Richard scored nine goals in his first 14 games. Horvath has 10 for his first 14.

Horvath doesn't even have to keep up his goal-a-game pace, since the schedule now is 70 games. He has 56 games in which to score 35 goals to tie Richard. There is also the possibility of a fantastic 70-goal season.

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, who is fast approaching another 100-point season, came the closest to the Rocket's one-season mark when he scored 49 goals in 1953-53.

HELD SCORELESS

In that tense season, Howe had 46 goals with one more game to play and that game was against Montreal Canadiens. Bert Olmstead, now of Toronto but then the left wing on Richard's line, played one of the greatest checking games to hold Howe scoreless.

Sunday night, Howe earned an assist for his 1,001st point in his NHL career, counting regular seasons and playoffs. Richard has 1,063.

Howe is tied with four other players in the 13-point bracket this year with Richard has 11.

Montreal's Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion is second with 10 goals and 10 assists. Behind him are Vic Stasiuk of Boston, Horvath's right wing, and Johnny Bucyk, Horvath's left wing. Stasiuk has nine goals and 10 assists for 17 points and Bucyk six goals and 10 assists.

New York Rangers' Andy Bathgate, leading the league with 12 assists, has a feeble three goals for 15 points and fifth place. Boston's Jerry Toppazzini and Montreal's Jean Beliveau each have 14.

GOALERS RACE CLOSE

Among goalers, Montreal's Jacques Plante is slowly overtaking Detroit's Terry Sawchuk, who kept up a steady one-goal-against per game average for the first few weeks of the schedule but has been slipping.

Sawchuk still leads with two shutouts and 28 goals against in 14 games for an average of two.

Plante has no shutouts and has allowed 33 goals in 15 games for a 2.20 average, while Toronto's Johnny Bower has one shutout and 27 goals in 12 games for a 2.25 average.

Walker's successor. He denied that Moss had already been signed.

At Atlanta, where he was to speak at a football fans' club meeting, Moss declined comment on the Montreal report. He is in the first year of a three - year contract at Florida State.

Power Winning Will Feature College Final

TORONTO (CP)—The forecast for Saturday's first East - West college football final is power against power.

Western rules will be in force when University of British Columbia Thunderbirds face University of Western Ontario Mustangs in Varsity Stadium here, which means unlimited blocking on all plays by the linemen and quarterbacks.

In the East, only two privileged players are allowed unlimited blocking on running plays and screen passes.

The switch in rules doesn't bother Mustangs coach John Metras, who says he plans no offensive changes. Blocking or not, his west team is 22 yards Saturday in sewing up the eastern title with a 35-13 victory over Queen's at Golden Gaels.

In addition, the Mustangs will have Meco Fabbro on their backfield, returning to action. He sat out the Queen's game with a fractured hip.

Even if Polizani isn't ready for a full tour of duty, Metras has a good replacement in Roger Stewart who switched from his defensive spot Saturday to rack up 148 yards in 29 carries.

CHANGES MIND

CALGARY (CP) — Eddie LaRoche has withdrawn his resignation as president of the Calgary Stampeders football club. LaRoche had resigned last week, but after a weekend meeting of the board of directors of the WIFU club an announcement was made that he had reconsidered.

Sports Editor Spare Goalie For Canadiens

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens Monday signed the 33-year-old sports editor of Montreal Matin as the National Hockey League team's emergency goalie on road trips.

Jacques Beauchamp, hefty, good natured and fluently bilingual, will be prepared to hop from his typewriter into the nets in any of the five foreign rinks should Jacques Plante become incapacitated.

Beauchamp doesn't lack experience. He played school hockey as a youngster, moved into junior ranks and was a spare goalie in senior amateur company. For several seasons he worked out with Canadiens in practice.

He is a regular goalie, and has been for eight years, in Montreal's famous Depression League. The teams are made up of former pros and amateurs—some of them once big names in hockey. They not only play for the fun of it but pay as well.

The money goes for upkeep of the league. What is left over, plus what is received in passing the hat, goes to charity. Canadiens coach Toe Blake played in the Depression League until he took over his job with Canadiens in 1955.

The management signed Beauchamp because it feels the standby goalies in other cities aren't quite as far from adequate.

NHL regulations call for each club to have on hand a standby goalie—who is not the club's regular spare goalie — for cases of emergency.

Following the signing, Blake told Beauchamp to lose weight if the goaler—newspaper man expects to "make the team."

"I'd like to see the story he'll write about himself if he ever does play for us."

Rough Riders Are Confident They Can Defeat Tiger Cats

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders, steadfastly building up confidence with each successive win, hit the practice field late today to start preparations for their Big Four football final against Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

From coach Frank Clair on down to the water boy, Riders say they are confident they can beat Hamilton in the two-game, total points series which starts here next Saturday and continues in Hamilton Nov. 21. Both games will start at 1 p.m. EST and will be televised nationally, with local areas blacked out.

The winner meets the West in the Grey Cup final at Toronto, Nov. 28, and Clair says he thinks Edmonton Eskimos have a good chance to topping the favored Winnipeg Blue Bombers if Eskstar Jackie Parker is not injured.

DISCUSSES HOT PLAY

Before running through films of Ottawa-Hamilton games with his players Monday night, Clair took time out to discuss what reporters are calling a "hot potato play" but which the team refers to as a triple-reverse pass.

It has also been called the criss-cross flipper-dipper, the old Argo razzle-dazzle, the Clair special, and by Hamilton coach Jim Trimble, an alumni play — "It's the kind of play an alumnus is apt to think up."

Riders used it successfully twice as they eliminated Montreal Alouettes 43-0 in the sudden-death semi-final.

Clair said he picked up the play—the name comes from the appearance that the ball is lost to hold at players; toss it one to another—back in 1949 when he was assistant coach at University of Cincinnati.

START WORKOUTS

Riders' film show Monday night was in the nature of a skull session, but starting today they will have heavy workouts daily until Thursday. Friday they'll have a light drill.

Meanwhile, backfield coach and scout George Terlep has gone west to scout the Winnipeg-Edmonton series.

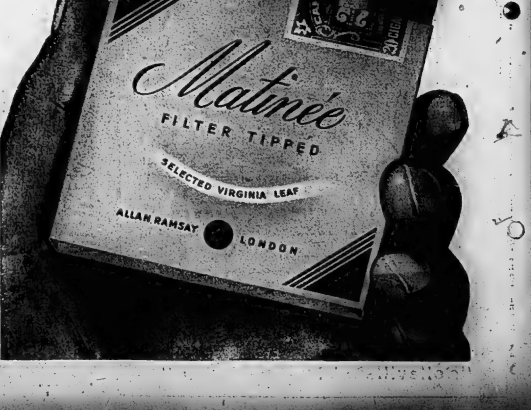
Carter Tops Eastern Pros

OTTAWA (CP)—Billy Carter, flashy centre with Hull - Ottawa Canadiens, continues his hot scoring lead in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

With 18 goals and 18 assists he has remained ahead of Cleland Morison of Sudbury Wolves by seven points—36 to 29. Morison leads the league in assists with 20. Carter's 18 goals are high in that department, three better than Bill Sutherland of Montreal Royals who with 17 points stands third in scoring statistics released today. Sam Bettio of Sudbury also has 27 points on 11 goals and 16 assists.

Charlie Hodge of Montreal Royals, who have had only 35 goals scored against them while scoring 34, has the best average for goalers—2.9 a game.



Sudbury is the most penalized team with 211 minutes, and Morison the most penalized player with 44 minutes.

As Saskatchewan Roughriders' head coach, is in line for the job of full-time general manager of the Ottawa club.

Bombers, Eskys No Strangers In Western Union Grid Final

WINNIPEG (CP) — Playoffs between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos are getting to be a habit.

When they meet in Edmonton on Wednesday in the first game of their Western Interprovincial Football Union final series it will mark the eighth time in 18 years they have tangled for the title.

Winnipeg has a 4 edge in the final series although in 1951 Eskimos eliminated the Bombers in a semi-final play. Only once was the best-of-three final series decided in two games — in 1935 when Edmonton beat Winnipeg.

Winnipeg knocked off the Eskimos in the final in 1930, 1933, 1937 and last year. Edmonton beat the Bombers in 1932, 1934 and 1935. Saskatchewan Roughriders defeated Edmonton two games to one in 1951.

Bombers are to leave by plane today for Edmonton. Wednesday's game starts at 4 p.m. EST and will be broadcast over the CBC's Western Canada network.

The second game will be here Saturday and a third, if needed, here Wednesday, Nov. 13. There, too, will be carried on the CBC's national TV network.

An en-gain off-again squabble concerning practice facilities resolved itself before the Bombers boarded west. Eskimos had intimated the Bombers would have no practice field in Edmonton because no facilities had been made available to them in Winnipeg last year.

However, the matter was straightened out and the visiting clubs now have been assured of a private practice field and facilities.

Both teams should be healthy for the game, expected to be played in 30-degree temperature on a dry, frozen field.

Gilbert Leads Junior 'A' Scoring Race

TORONTO (CP)—Gustph Bilsmore lost their first two games in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior 'A' schedule but scored a mere three goals.

But what a difference a week makes.

Since meeting Barrie Flyers 4 week ago, coach Eddy Bath's charges have scored 30 goals, picked up three wins in those four games and placed two players at the top of the OHA scoring parade. Bilsmore are currently tied for second place in the league standings.

Rod Gilbert leads the league with seven goals and seven assists for 14 points. Gagne has collected five goals and three assists and Bruce Kaur of each.

Larry Jeffery, last week's leader, missed Hamilton Tiger Cubs' last two games and is tied with four others with seven points for fifth position.

Jerry Cheevers, who blanked Toronto Marlboros 5-0 last Tuesday to earn his first shutout of the season, continues to lead the goaltending department with a 1.8 goals-against average. Mac Ner' Dye Bracelets, only other netminder with a shutout to his credit, is second having allowed an average of two goals a game.

Bill Mitchell Of Western U. Scoring Leader

TORONTO (CP) — Lineman BILL MITCHELL of the champion University of Western Ontario Mustangs, specialist in placement kicking, is the senior player-coach in the Canadian Intercollegiate Football League scoring standings for 1959.

Used at middle guard on defence and guard or tackle on offence, he wrapped up the title Saturday as the Mustangs whipped Sherbrooke Golden Gaels 35-13 in the final of the six-game schedule.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Mitchell with 25 points on 12 converts, four field goals and a single. He missed only seven converts in the season's-end game to break a first-place tie with Jean Beliveau of Sydarcvy who was held off the score-sheet.

The three-year musicians' veteran, chosen as the league's all-star guard for the second straight season, finished with seven points up on Wydarcvy, Mike Mac Intyre of Queen's and Dave Diversity of Toronto Blues and Lionel Conacher, Jr., of the Montreal Redmen. Each had 18 points.

Pete Porter of the Blues placed sixth with 16 points—seven converts and eight singles.

Will Operate New Starter

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Eddie Blind, starter for Wednesday's Washington International race, probably will have more trouble sleeping tonight than anyone else connected with the event.

All eyes will be on him and results of his handiwork last year. The horses walked up to a starting gate and filmed before Blind was satisfied with their alignment and let them go.

To avoid a repetition, a webbed starting barrier was imported from Newmarket, England, for Wednesday. Blind is all set up Monday.

The barrier is supposed to spring out and shove the horses upon release by Blind. He was introducing two of the International entries, Bald Eagle of the United States and Gladness of Canada, to Monday at Blind released the mechanism on the barrier, instead of springing up quickly crept up slowly and the jockeys had to duck their heads. Blind's explanation was that grease in the gadget had thickened from the weather.

Blind decided to take no chances and announced he would use a starter resembling a giant rubber band. He'll hold one end of the one-strand elastic and let that the horses will surely let go across the horses' bellies.

Finnish-Born CBC Actress Now Citizen

TORONTO (CP) — Aino Pirskanen, Finnish-born CBC actress, has been granted Canadian citizenship after a 16-year fight.

Miss Pirskanen, 36, will receive her papers here Tuesday.

During her struggle to gain citizenship, it has been suggested that Miss Pirskanen was being hurried unduly because of a possible association with a Communist-linged Finnish-Canadian organization. She said she was approached by RCMP officers several times and offered citizenship in return for spying on Finnish organizations in Sudbury.

Miss Pirskanen first applied for citizenship in 1943 at Sudbury. She was told two other citizens were not being granted during the Second World War and to try again later.

TOLD TO TRY AGAIN

In 1951, she tried again and her application and approval were confirmed. But after moving to Toronto, departmental inquiries she was rejected and told she could apply again in two years.

Miss Pirskanen applied again in December, 1953, and got an answer a year later saying the application was being held for six months for further consideration. It was July, 1957 before she got another rejection form telling her to try in two years.

The trip a preacher from the RCMP came in April of 1958, Miss Pirskanen said.

Her case received considerable newspaper publicity this year and was discussed in the House of Commons with Justice Minister Fulton refusing comment.

LATEST HEARING

Miss Pirskanen applied for citizenship again and had a hearing two weeks ago.

"They told me I'd hear two weeks if I'm among the lucky ones," she said Saturday. "You can imagine what a wonderful surprise it was when the phone rang and they told me I had been accepted. They said I had waited so long they thought I should know right away."

Miss Pirskanen started her acting career 10 years ago in Toronto in a Finnish-language amateur production. She has been a professional since 1956. Her most important role will be in the CBC hockey television play Second Home on Nov. 22.

Too Much Wine Dine, Travel Says Golfers

LONDON (AP) — Britain's defeated Ryder Cup golfers complained Monday they had to spend too much time travelling, dining and dancing with the captains before getting down to practice on the match courses.

They said that this, plus the Americans' superior putting and greater experience in big-money tournaments, beat them.

Joining in the press incquest on Britain's defeat by the United States at Palm Desert, Calif., were three members of the British team—Dave Thomas, Harry Weetman and Eric Brown.

Brown, the only Briton to win a singles match, said:

"We established tournament and no entertaining next time. We will tell the Americans. Please keep your parties till after the tournament, when we can celebrate our Ryder Cup victory."

Thomas said:

"We should fly straight to the Ryder Cup venue in future and practise on the spot instead of travelling our way across America. It's too tiring."

Weetman admitted that the Americans putted better than the British team.

"It is simply because they put for such big money over here, and they are doing it practically every week."

I, Don Quixote Emerges As Earnest, Windy Bore

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—An author worked hard and hard. The play was given an elaborate and obviously expensive production. The talented cast, headed by Lee J. Cobb, acted its collective head off.

But the sad fact remains that I, Don Quixote, emerged as a windy bore, a night as an earnest, windy bore. Cervantes' ridiculous hero, the knight of the woeful countenance, who was rejected and told he could apply again in two years.

Miss Pirskanen applied again in December, 1953, and got an answer a year later saying the application was being held for six months for further consideration. It was July, 1957 before she got another rejection form telling her to try in two years.

Horse Named 'Up, Coming' May Be Race's Ugly Duckling

By GEORGE BOWEN

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—A horse named Up and Coming from Texas by Coming Event out of Duckling in Wednesday's eighth running of the $100,000 Washington International.

When his United States trainer, Russell Reeves of Wilmington, Del., first saw him in September, Up and Coming was the ugliest looking horse I had ever seen.

He was in a state of nervous shock and dehydrated," said Reeves.

The Laurel sponsors of the International are betting Up and Coming against any racing on the track before the event. Up and Coming ran in a second to Bald Eagle, the four-year-old was on the road to recovery.

Last year when Sailor's Guide arrived for the International he was in poor condition, Downs Bond, his American trainer, said.

"He's ill, lying down and I don't think he's going to get up." Sailor's Guide not only got up but ran second and was awarded the international victory on a claim against Tudor Era.

Debbie Reynolds Not Seeking Romance at Present Time

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Now it's Debbie Reynolds, girl tycoon.

Recently she proved that she can make million - dollar takeoffs. That was the year she announced for her to do three TV specials in three years for ABC. They will be produced by her own company, Harman Productions, named after her mother's maiden name.

She also announced the purchase of a film property to be produced by her company, Debbie is president of the firm, as well as heading the Carrie Music Company, named for her daughter.

All this, plus conducting the busiest acting career of any Hollywood actress and being president of the Thalians, charity group of the young film colony. Significantly, I met her on the set of her new film, The Rat Race. I don't know the race she was running wouldn't result in ulcers.

NO ULCERS HERE

"Who me?" she laughed. "Not on your life. I don't get ulcers and I don't give them. I don't brood over anything.

Just that morning, there was a girl on the set who was fretting because she was getting "forgot." I told her, 'in three days, you will have forgotten all about it. And if she should push the (bomb) button, you won't remember anything about it.'"

Debbie admitted she was starting her own enterprises for the same reason other stars have done so: To ensure some artistic freedom and to play some parts loot for that day when her services are not so much in demand.

"I don't intend to be the girl producer," she said, "if will help work on properties and assist in planning, but I'll hire producers who know what they're doing.

"My company will produce pictures, not necessarily with me in them. I'll also work out partnership deals with other companies. The first one is Tony Curtis has done with pictures like The Perfect Furlough. I also have a deal with Perlberg - Seaton for pictures at a straight 10 per cent of the gross.

I remarked that I wasn't above asking impertinent questions and she told one at her: Does all this business activity take the fun out of love?

"Could be," she replied frankly. "I'm not thinking much of love right now—romantic love. I have the love of my children, of my family, of my close friends. But as far as looking for romance, it's not for me. I'm not ready for it yet."

DON'T BE FOOLED BY BARGAIN PRICED Aluminum Windows

ALWAYS LOOK FOR THESE FEATURES:

1—Do they have nylon brush cushions to prevent rattle and air leaks?

2—Can you remove the glass from the inside without the bother of first removing the side tracks?

3—Can you replace broken glass without taking the aluminum frame apart and probably having to call the factory?

4—Can you be sure of a good installation job and good service on your windows if required?

Our windows HAVE these four important features and the price is only a trifle per foot more — (Average window $25.00 installed).

Call us for a free estimate on your aluminum storm window and door requirements.

White's Church Observes 118th Anniversary

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Last Sunday White's Church, Bayside, observed its 118th anniversary with special music by the pianist, Mrs. Verna Waldron, and anthems by Junior and Senior choirs, namely "Jesus Loves Little Children" and "Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love".

The Rev. Eigle Joblin, M.A., B.D., assistant secretary of the Home Mission Board of the United Church, Toronto, was guest speaker choosing as his topic, "A Personal Matter". The Rev. Roy Rickard, B.A., assisted in the service and the Rev. A. E. Calhum, a former pastor, closed the service with prayer.

For the evening service the music choir rendered, "Walking in the Beautiful Light of God", and "The Old Rugged Cross". The topic for the evening service was "Servants of Christ", using as his text John 12:26, "If Any Man Serve Me Let Him Follow Me".

Mr. Joblin told of his work as a missionary at Norway House and on the Pacific where there are five mission fields. In describing the Thomas Crosby, on which he visited the natives and islands.

Mrs. James Palmer placed a lovely pot of white "Mums on the communion table in memory of her father, the late Ronald Wesley. Other flowers helped to make the service more beautiful.

Fleming told reporters Canada received undertakings that will assure a "reinvigoration" of the programs of production sharing. In this connection, he said, O'Hurley had remained in Washington to press ahead with production sharing arrangements.

Mighty Bersimis River Dam 'One of Wonders of World' Says Gen. A. C. McNaughton

By MARVEN MOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LABRIEVILLE, Que. (CP)—A storybook chapter in engineering has placed the mighty Bersimis River at the back and call of Quebec's ravenous electricity consumers.

The $365,000,000 development of the Quebec Hydro-Electric Commission in the northern lip of the St. Lawrence River ranks only moderately among world leaders in production potential.

But for sheer technological grit the two-phase project in the rugged wilderness 200 miles northeast of Quebec City, stands virtually without a rival.

ENGINEERING WONDER

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, was so impressed after touring the project that he called it "one of the wonders of the world."

It will ultimately provide 2,180,000 horsepower, enough to light a city the size of present day Montreal.

Engineers tapped the Bersimis River here along its twisting 85-mile dash to the St. Lawrence, wrestling the maximum hydraulic power from the white-capped water.

They built monster dams, a power station in a huge mountain cavern and tar underground, a 7½-mile water tunnel as wide as a city street.

When work started in 1952 they hacked roads through the tree-cloaked hills and erected the community for a labor force that totalled 5,000 at the peak construction period. Today fewer than 500 remain.

STARTED YEAR AGO

The project's first phase, Bersimis I, has been in operation for almost a year, with eight generating units each pumping out 150,000 horsepower. Bersimis II is scheduled for completion a year hence. It has only five generating units. But each will produce 180,000 horsepower.

Three multi - fingered lakes (Caron, Pipmuacan and Pamouscachiou) feed the river from the north, drawing on a drainage basin of some 3,000 square miles, more than twice the size of Prince Edward Island.

Two dams flanking a mountain hold back the lake water and create an enormous reservoir 1,350 feet above sea level. The dams are both 300 feet high and built of rock, sand and a sticky type of clay peculiar to the area.

A grizzled old Indian told the engineers of the clay's adhesive advantages. He said beaver used it to build their dams and lodges. Chemical tests showed the grey-brown substance ideal for bigger construction.

DEEP IN MOUNTAIN

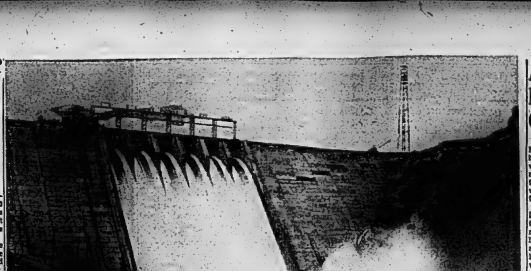
From the reservoir, the tunnel carries the water to the Bersimis 1 powerhouse, in the bowels of a steep, brown-rock mountain overlooking Labrieville.

The cement-lined tube provides a concentration of water that the raw sluggish and meandering at this point—would not otherwise afford.

Thirty-one feet in diameter, the tunnel runs more than 600 feet underground. Some 2,300,000 cubic yards of rock were blasted out to drop a sheer-sided path that sends water driving into the turbines at the rate of 9,000 cubic feet a second. The eight whirring units sit in a line below the generators.

Man combined with nature to produce the cavern housing the machinery, a hollow 385 feet long and 80 feet high, big enough to hold an ocean liner.

A tail race releases the water to join the river for rehearsing at Bersimis II, 20 miles further downstream. Here a cement 376-foot dam has created a second reservoir.



1956 TARGET DATE

But workmen have not finished installing the generating equipment at the powerhouse nearby and it is not expected that all five units would be in operation before late in 1956.

Meanwhile power from Bersimis I flows to provincial points including Montreal—400 miles to the southwest—on a network of transmission lines mounted on steel towers averaging 135 feet in height.

Those are spaced about 1,000 feet apart, but across the Saguenay River a mile separates one pair standing on the shore cliffs.

In addition to the overhead transmission lines, there are cables carrying power from the north to the south shores of the St. Lawrence. The 31-mile cables were laid on the St. Lawrence River bed mainly to supply power to Gaspe Peninsula where a shortage of industry was blamed on the lack of power resources.

RIVER HARNESSED — Tons of water pour through the gates of this dam on the Quebec Hydro-Electric Commission's power project on the Bersimis River near Labrieville, Quebec, 200 miles northeast of Quebec City. The 276-foot cement dam is part of Bersimis II, some 20 miles downstream from Bersimis I where two similar dams hold back lake water to provide a large reservoir 1,350 feet above sea level. Water is transported from the first power station to the second by a cement-lined tube. The two power stations will provide 2,100,000 horsepower when both are completed sometime in 1960. Bersimis I now is in operation. (CP Photo).

A. Freedman Defends Rigging Of Quiz Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Freedman, indicted for perjury because he denied that the television quiz show Twenty-One was rigged, says he wanted to "protect the private lives of the many wonderful people who were contestants on the show."

"I felt that I had the same relationship to them as the doctor to his patient or the newspaper man to his news source or the lawyer to his client," Freedman said in a statement given the New York Times in Mexico City, where he is working as a TV producer.

Freedman defended Twenty-One and quiz shows in general as "a breath of fresh air" compared with the murder and violence that "saturated" television.

"There were times when a certain amount of control was necessary to retain interest and suspense.

Betrothed Pair Book Town Hall For Final Fling

BALOESHWEN, England (AP) — Two bright but betrothed young things announced today they are planning one last fling with their former boy friends—more than 20 of them.

Freda Hill, 20, and Corina Baker, 19, said they are booking the town hall for a ball for the ex-escorts.

"We've had a lot of boy friends and a lot of fun over the past few years," said Freda. "We're grateful to them . . . and we thought it would be a nice gesture to hold a dance in their honor."

How about the two young men currently keen on sharing their futures with Freda and Corina?

Steel Mills Will Hit 60 PC Of Capacity Over Weekend

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel mills throughout the United States hummed with activity today as the giant industry gradually stepped up operations following a court-ordered interruption of the record-breaking 116 - day strike.

More than 50 per cent of the basic steel industry's 500,000 workers are back on the job, and the rest are expected to be back at work by the weekend.

Only five days after the U.S. Supreme Court upheld an 80-day cooling - off period under the Taft-Hartley labor law, the big U.S. Steel Corporation reported mills producing above 75 per cent of capacity. The firm said it may hit 90 per cent by the weekend.

Industry sources say it will be four to six weeks before the mills can produce at the normal rate of about 90 per cent.

Still hard-hit by the effects of the strike are the approximately 325,000 workers made idle in other fields because their jobs depend on a going steel industry. General Motors announced it would close the last of its passenger car assembly lines today, laying off 7,100 more workers. Chrysler Corporation said it has enough steel for only two more weeks.

Although the steel workers went back to work when called, Wheeling Steel employees showed their resentment at being ordered back to work. Hundreds at Wheeling's Yorkville, Ohio, plant were armbands that said "Thet's Slaves."

In Washington, White House spokesman James C. Hagerty called labor union leader Earl Mazey a demagogue for saying in a speech Tuesday that President Eisenhower pald off a political debt by getting a court order that halted the steel strike.

Mazey, secretary - treasurer of the United Auto Workers, shot back that Hagerty is "a mouthpiece of the steel companies . . . a lackey of big business."

Canada Opposes French Test Of H-Bomb in Sahara Desert

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Britain and Italy today each completed hasty but secret tests of their proposal that the United Nations urge France to join say an agreement that may be brought at Geneva on banning tests of nuclear weapons.

Today, meanwhile, reassured in the 82 - member UN political committee where some 15 countries were still to be heard on the question of banning bombs after first nuclear bomb in the Sahara Desert.

The mildly worded British-Italia a resolution introduced Monday does not directly call on France to change its plan for exploding the bomb, merely stating that the French take full account of views expressed in the UN debate.

Twenty-two Afro-Asian members are co-sponsoring a stronger demand that the UN express grave concern over the projected test and call on France to refrain from holding it.

Canada, President de Gaulle reiterated Tuesday that France was so along with Italy in the experiment banning nuclear weapons, but his words left little or any hope that the test won't be held.

Prime Minister Macmillan, speaking to the House of Commons in London, said health hazards from the explosion "appeared to be very, very small indeed."

Contested, Macmillan refused to state directly whether he favored the French decision to push ahead.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green told the Canadian House of Commons Tuesday night that Canada's position is largely one of "opposition to the continuation of tests."

Canada has not spoken in the prolonged debate but Green, who returned to the UN session last night

Pressure Needed In Uranium Deal Says Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said Tuesday night that Defence Minister Diefenbaker and Trade Minister Churchill should have gone to Washington in an effort to persuade the United States to buy Canadian uranium after present contracts expire in 1962 and 1963.

Interviewed on the television program Press Conference, he said that if the Liberals had been in power "friendly pressure" would have been brought to bear on the Americans to continue buying uranium in Canada.

He was commenting on an announcement Friday by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission that it will not buy any more Canadian uranium after the expiration of the present contracts.

Mr. Pearson said that Mr. Diefenbaker had said on several occasions that a policy of cooperation between Canada and the United States "means nothing" must be integration of defence industries.

The U.S. cannot do things like this, Mr. Pearson said, "and expect 100-per-cent cooperation in other defence matters."

Commenting on Liberal party organization, Mr. Pearson said he would have something to announce before the end of the year. He was far more confident than a year ago and the grass roots organization was growing stronger.

MUST FIND WAY TO PROVIDE DECENT HOUSING

U.S. Democrat Speaks to Realtors

TORONTO (CP)—Decent housing for Canadians is a problem of housing by government measures but decent housing by some means, was the proposition put before the National Association of Real Estate Boards today by Sen. John Sparkman, chairman of the United States Senate's subcommittee on housing.

Sparkman, Democrat from Alabama, said new ways must be found to provide sufficient capital for investment in decent housing at low rates that if adopted by people do not voluntarily reduce the consumption of capital in items less essential than housing. The result will create our people and to demand action by the federal government.

Senator Sparkman's comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

PUBLIC ACCEPTANCE

Sparkman told the association its long-standing opposition to public housing. Sen. Sparkman said public acceptance and support for, the U.S. low - rent housing program is now substantial that both major political parties endorse it.

Sen. Sparkman said current interest rates and terms on available funds are discouraging to more families out of the market and are contributing to the financial result of monetary and fiscal policies designed to restrict economic activity through credit controls and a balance in the federal budget.

The most important new factor in the North American scene is the re-entry of European investment, John C. Tyson, New York, vice-president of the Chase American chapter of the international Banking Corporation told a press conference Tuesday.

SWING LIKE CANADA

Tyson, the Canadian scene, Mr. Tyson said:

"I am tremendously bullish about it. Recently I spent two months in Europe and talked with 1,000 leading Swiss bankers and all said:

"We are interested in any real estate investment in Canada—but not in the United States. Canada is where you were 50 years ago. We like, too, the same with people inside it. That is Canada. In the United States you create difficulties which are more trouble than they are worth."

Mr. Tyson was one of a panel of five men who surveyed the real estate scene at the press conference.

They, and speakers at Tuesday's luncheon, pointed to population growth to sustain the real estate market.

ANGLO-FRENCH RELATIONS NOT GETTING BETTER

Lloyd Will Visit Paris for Talks

LONDON (CP)—Once upon a time, it says in the fable, a Frenchman arrived at Waterloo Station on his first visit to Britain and spotted an alarming headline:

"Exhibition pronounced success."

Deterred by what he interpreted as final proof of impenetrable British linguistics, the traveller (so the story goes) took the next train back to Paris.

Since then, Anglo-French relations have been marked by odd moments of amity and frequent bouts of exasperation, ranging from minor Gallic irritation over the proprietary arrogance of the term English Channel—why not French Channel? — to the longstanding dispute over whether melon, or cantaloup, should be served as appetizer or dessert.

ENDED GOOD TO FAREWELL

Today with relations again cool, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd flies from London to Paris for heart - to - heart talks with President De Gaulle, whose recent acts have caused injured feelings in Downing Street.

The two main misunderstandings concern rival views of Europe and of the timing of a summit conference.

Britain fears the six - nation Common Market, spearheaded by France and Germany, will tend to freeze the United Kingdom out of Europe.

De Gaulle, primarily concerned with the political implications of Europe's economic integration, seems to see the France-German rapprochement as the first step in making Europe a third force in world politics.

To those who ask where Britain's place is in this picture, the French reply that it had its chance several years ago and muffed it, preferring to stay aloof from European integration movements on the ground that these would incommitments.

SEAT AT MACMILLAN

De Gaulle's reluctance to accept an early summit meeting with Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan, who has been pressing for such a meeting since the international thunder. Macmillan has just tried to clear his impatience for summit talks.

Britain's reply to what some consider French intransigence is that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has already had a truly great and strong conference, but Khrushchev has failed in his puffy schoolboy statements about disarmament.

Macmillan is known to be irked by the disfavor French stand on Berlin, but he is a realistic man and Selwyn Lloyd is not going to upset the apple by facts. His aim will be to persuade, not lecture.

Loses Control

ATHERLEY, Ont. (CP)—Donald Neil MacDonald, 20, was killed instantly when he lost control of his car on a sharp curve about two miles north of here and struck a hydro pole.

MacDonald, a highways department employee, was on his way from work to the home of his wife's parents in Orillia, about 10 miles north of Orillia.

Canada Prays At War Memorial For 100,000 Dead

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada prayed today before the National War Memorial.

Her representatives came again to the foot of the massive memorial to remember the 100,000 who never again could look into a pale blue sky on a warm autumn day.

Leaning on his cane, Governor-General Vanier walked slowly to the base of the memorial to place the first wreath of red poppies and golden maple leaves. He lost his right leg above the knee in the First World War.

Wearing a general's uniform with blue cloak, Gen. Vanier threw back his head to gaze to the very top of the granite column, then saluted in the magnificent tradition of the Van Doos.

PLAY O CANADA

At one minute to 11, the ceremony began with the playing of O Canada by the massed bands. When the signal gun marked 11 a.m., oblivious children were still shouting at their play on the slope of Parliament Hill.

For the only time in the year, the giant clock in the Peace Tower did not strike the hour. Even B, too, was part of the two-minute silence.

The bugler sounded The Last Post and then the band began playing the hymn Abide With Me as Gen. Vanier went forward with the wreath for all of Canada in memory of her 100,000 war dead.

The second wreath was placed by Mrs. W. B. Anderson of Craigmyle, Alta., a brave little figure in black, for the bereaved mothers of Canada.

She bowed gravely before the wreath after placing it and walked firmly back to her place between Gen. Vanier and Maj.-Dave Burgess, president of the Canadian Legion.

She looked straight ahead without a visible tear as Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Maj. Burgess placed their wreaths.

LOST HER SONS

Mrs. Anderson, 65, lost all three of her sons in air combat in the Second World War. They were Billy and Jimmy, 20 - year - old twins, and Jack, 22.

The band played the hymns Lead Kindly Light and O God Our Help In Ages Past during the placing of the wreaths.

Then, one by one, officials of the armed forces placed the service wreaths. The bugler sounded Last Post and the colorful flags were raised again. The band played Land of Hope and Glory as the two-minute ceremony was over.

Gen. Vanier stepped to speak to Mrs. Anderson and she mustered a smile for him.

MOTHERS' MEETING

In turn, Air Marshal Hugh Campbell, chief of air staff, Lt.-Gen. Finlay Clark, chief of the general staff, and Vice-Admiral Herbert Rayner, chief of naval staff, bowed to Mrs. Anderson. They conferred briefly.

Then Gen. Vanier left quietly with her as they walked through silver wreath - covered snow banks toward the foot of the memorial.

Gen. Vanier proceeded to the Memorial Chamber in the Peace Tower where he placed a wreath at the foot of the altar. He signed the First World War Book of Remembrance.

Then he took the salute at a parade of war veterans and servicemen on the mall entrance to Parliament Hill.

Air Defence Command Nerve Centre Will Be Inside Colorado Mountain

WASHINGTON (CP)—NORAD is being buried alive.

The United States Air Force says the operational nerve centre of the North American Air Defence Command is being placed inside a mountain near the present headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Brush has been cleared and a road built to the leading edge of a side of the Cheyenne Mountain chosen for the site is to be completed by mid-1961.

Then tenders will be called and the job let to high bidders after below the granite surface to serve as the headquarters of manned and a deep base for a three-storey steel building.

The job will take more than two years to complete at a cost of about $30,000,000. It will provide protection against atomic attack for the combat nerve centre of the heart of continental air defence covering both Canada and the U.S.

In this subterranean centre will be the NORAD commander, General Laurence Kuter of the U.S. and Air Marshal C. Roy Slemon of Canada, the deputy commander. This also will be the key spot in the gigantic SAGE (the semi-automatic ground environment electronic gear to record warning of approaching aircraft and craft and to send interceptors or guided missiles back.

Though both the U.S. and Canada are building networks of radar chain of missiles rather than planes, NORAD still has under its wing a vast fleet of squadrons of interceptors, including nine in Canada under the RCAF.

The 16 Bomarc missile squadrons planned for the U.S. and two planned for Canada also will be centrally controlled through SAGE and NORAD. The first SAGE centre—made up of huge, long - range radar units and huge electronic computers—already is in operation in New Jersey.

Queen Elizabeth Fund to Finance Disease Study

OTTAWA (CP) — Trustees of the Queen Elizabeth Fund Tuesday set in motion an ambitious plan to reduce the heavy toll of children's diseases in Canada.

Basically, the plan is to tackle problems through research. Grants worth up to $180,000 annually will be awarded to qualified doctors for this purpose.

The fund was established by the federal government as a gift to the Queen on her tour of Canada last year. The government kicked in $1,000,000 to start it off.

Tuesday's meeting of the seven-member board followed a ceremony in the Parliament Buildings at which Prime Minister Diefenbaker presented certificates to the trustees. The certificates are signed by the Queen.

Dr. John F. McCreary, chairman of the board and dean of medicine at the University of Saskatchewan, held a press conference following the closed meeting and outlined the major policy decisions.

He said the program of research grants, which begins next year, will ultimately require $3,000,000 a year, with the money coming from the income from $3,000,000.

Available at present are the $1,000,000 from the government, plus private contributions totalling $2,940,000. These contributions include $1,000 from the City of Brockville.

He expressed hope that the nearly $6,000,000 still needed can be raised through donations and further private contributions. The government has asked the department for advice on how to publicize and plan a fund raising campaign. Mr. McCreary said there would be general support of such a proposal.

Claims Russian Atomic Subs Twice as Fast

CAIRO (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev was quoted Tuesday as saying the Soviet Union has atomic submarines twice as fast as those of the United States. He was said to have told the President Eisenhower on his visit to the United States.

This is the first time any Russian has said the Soviet Union has an atomic submarine. There have been speculation in Western naval quarters, however, that the Russians were building and probably had completed atomic-powered underwater craft.

There was no immediate comment in Washington.

MAY ELIMINATE MEALS

CHICAGO (AP) — Frequent nibbling on food may one day replace the conventional meal times for humans, says a Harvard Medical School research scientist. Eating three square meals a day may be harder on a person's heart and arteries than changing the same amount of food in frequent feedings, Dr. Clarence Cohn said in a report to the council on arteriosclerosis of the American Heart Association.

Judge Gives Poachers Hint On Their Art

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP) — A helpful judge Tuesday offered three poachers a few hints on how to make a better job of it next time.

"Take my advice," said the judge, Sir Wintringham Stable. "If you must poach, wait until things have gone up and poach in the daylight, not at night."

The three men admitted poaching at night in what their counsel described as an expedition carried out with great ingenuity. They fired four shots which did no more than attract the attention of a farmer who called the police. Their sole bag was a hare that ran in front of their car.

The judge, who admitted to being "rather a keen shot" himself, told the men they were lucky they hadn't hit the gamekeeper. Then he gave them a condition discharge.

WOULD SUPPORT FARMERS

Wants Hotel Service Put Ahead of Liquor

TORONTO (CP) — Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Supreme Court of Ontario suggested Tuesday that Ontario hotels selling alcoholic beverages pay more attention to the comfort of travellers.

The suggestion was made during the trial of Canadian Breweries Limited on a combination charge, after the associate crown counsel had read a number of sections of the Manitoba Liquor Control Act.

The chief justice then called attention to one section which said "the sale of beer in hotel rooms shall be subservient to the comfort of the travelling public making use of the hotel in which beer parlor is situated.

The chief justice said a similar provision should be inserted in Ontario's liquor legislation, if it is already there, he said, it is not well enforced.

French Veterans Boycott Service At Which de Gaulle Honors Dead

PARIS (AP)—War veterans today boycotted the solemn armistice ceremony at which President Charles de Gaulle as commander - in - chief, honored France's war dead.

The reserved places for veterans were conspicuously vacant as de Gaulle stood in the shadow of the Arc de Triomphe and silently placed a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

However, a solemn mass of citizens was banked around the famed monument and gave the 68-year-old Second World War leader a hand-clapping ovation as he appeared in the uniform of a brigadier-general — the tunic in which he led the Free French. After that, the crowd stood in an impressive moment of silence.

In a press conference Tuesday de Gaulle refused to back down on his earlier decision to trim down veterans pensions — a move which prompted today's boycott.

In Algeria, Armistice Day ceremonies also ran into unpleasantness. Crowds of veterans lining the street shouted extremist slogans at troops marched past. The veterans yelled slogans backing an unbending stand toward the nationalist rebellion now in its sixth year.

250 Employees Of N. E. Co. Donate Blood

A Belleville firm yesterday gave a large number of its employees over an hour off so they could dispel them with cookies and soft drinks while they relaxed.

Utopia? Not exactly.

You see, the firm, Northern Electric, operates a large plant, and valuable time, but the benefits and contributions came from the workers themselves, blood.

Blood for the local Red Cross Blood Donors' Clinic.

It was the third time the plant had demonstrated its community spirit in this way. Previous clinics were held in their property in 1950 and 1952.

More than 40 Red Cross workers both local and from Toronto, St. John Ambulance workers and the plant's own medical staff converged on, 1,500 square feet of assembly area and their medical equipment yesterday morning.

It was only a break for lunch the clinic did a brisk business through to four p.m. in the afternoon. By then 250 employees had given blood.

There are 500 male and female employees at the plant, and both sexes gave freely in the spirit of the occasion. They went through in batches of 25-30, and each man or woman gave his particular job for about an hour.

A plant spokesman said the firm was willing to underwrite the loss, putting it down to "community spirit."

He said there is a possibility that activities of this nature may be held in the future.

A motion was made to start immediate work on the ball diamond on the east side of the river. This park is used during the summer months by the baseball area by the Recreation Commission. The grading will consist of be dicsed, large stones removed, fill added and levelled off for seeding in the spring.

REPORT PREPARED

Miss Baker read a report prepared by the secretary concerning the activities of the Parks' Board during the past year, which will be submitted to town council.

There was some discussion as to the advisability of suggesting the appointment of Mayor A. C. Georgeson, for appointment to the board. This would be a matter for council.

Miss Baker reported that the Women's Institute had been granted in all the parks, and that C. K. Mr. Corke managed a large department store in Geraldton, a small town in the Lakehead district. He lived in Ont. city for 18 years and was active in church work.

Apart from a chuckle, Mr. Corke did not comment on the Belleville administration or the findings of the Board of Inquiry.

He said he had been thinking about running for municipal office for some time, and was not especially prompted by the findings of the Royal Commission.

There has been enough criticism, he explained, and added, "It is the easiest thing in the world to criticize an administration. It is time now to have confidence restored and establish a more efficient council."

Although members of the business community have made their position known, the two announcements today are the first from non-council members.

With nominations Nov. 23 and with voting Dec. 7, there is nothing out for others who may wish to run for office.

Trenton Man Dies Suddenly Of Heart Attack

TRENTON — Seconds after he had carried a small baby up two flights of steps, Constable William John Smith, 46, of 238 Dundas Street East, Trenton, suffered a fatal heart attack and died within minutes.

Provincial police in Belleville who investigated the sudden death, said Mr. Smith had eaten his supper at his home and later had taken his sister, Mrs. Leonel Mitchell to a party and had returned home. At 11.30 he carried the baby upstairs to bed, then came downstairs, walked to second bedroom and fell to the floor.

Coroner Dr. J. W. Farley of Trenton said death was due to coronary thrombosis. There will be no inquest.

Plan to Review Chicago Water Diversion Issue

CHICAGO (AP) — The hotly disputed issue of Chicago's diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois waterway is to be reviewed by the United States Great Lakes Commission early next year.

The commission, meeting in Chicago Tuesday, scheduled a meeting of its executive committee in Milwaukee Jan. 6 to plan for a review and study of the controversial case.

Chicago now is diverting 1,500 cubic feet of water a second from the lake over the protests of other Great Lakes areas.

HELPFUL NOTE

With bowed heads members of the Armed Forces, veterans' organizations and Belleville citizens paid tribute this morning to the fallen dead of two wars at Remembrance Day services at the Belleville Cenotaph. Above, Sea Cadets with reversed arms, act as honor guard at the Cenotaph as Canon A. S. McConnell, and Rev. R. D. MacLean conduct the service. At the right are members of the color party who headed the parade from the Armouries to the Cenotaph.

Bernard Beckett, William Dafoe To Contest Seat

Two boys, Bernard Beckett, Brewden pastoral charge, and William Dafoe, Frankford pastoral charge will contest the seat for South Hastings in the Ontario Legislature which will meet December 26-31 at Waterloo University. The election will be held in the Presbyterian Church, in Stirling, November 28.

They must be members of a church organized group that has registered with the Ontario Boys' Work Board and sent its voters list to the district returning officer or they must be members of a Sunday School or the attender of a church, where there is no Sunday school or boys' organization that has sent its voters list to the district returning officer and a duplicate list to the Ontario Boys' Work Board.

The voters' list must reach the district returning officer not later than Nov. 22.

For 41st Time Belleville Honors War Dead On First Great War Armistice Anniversary

Belleville, in conjunction with the rest of the nation, paused today in traditional tribute to those honored dead of two wars.

War veterans' organizations, their ranks swelled by unofficial "old soldiers," merged with other city and civic associations and individuals in a "Remembrance Day" parade and memorial service at the city cenotaph on Station St.

Led by parade marshal Alderman Les Digby, the parade moved from the Bridge St. armouries at 10.30 sharp in ideal typical Indian Summer weather. It swung from Bridge, to Front, to Station St., to the cenotaph, returning by the same route in reverse.

Four Sea Cadets, with arms reversed, stood silently at the four corners of the monument. Officiating at the service was former Major A. S. McConnell, ex-padre of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, and Rev. R. D. MacLean, president of the city Ministerial Association.

The parade lined up "four-square" around the cenotaph, with a large number of residents crowding the area to join in the service. Music for the hymns was supplied by the Salvation Army Band.

At the conclusion of the service the foot of the monument was covered with wreaths laid there by government, military, ex-veterans and other organizations, and private individuals.

Color parties headed the parade as it swung from the armouries to Bridge St. on the first leg of the march. Then came representatives of the Dominion, Provincial and municipal governments, followed by the smart band of No. 6 Repair Depot, RCAF Trenton.

MANY SEE PARADE

Following were Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment headed by its band; sea cadets; army cadets; air cadets; Quinte Pipe Band; ANAF Veterans; Naval Veterans; Belleville Municipal and Kinsmen Band; RCAF Association; the Canadian Legion and its Women's Auxiliary; the Salvation Army Band; wreath bearers and other civilian organizations and the police and fire departments of the city.

Many people including school children on holiday witnessed the colorful parade as it swung along the route of march.

Grey-thatched veterans of a World War One raised with the "younger old sweats" of the second great conflict, with medals glittering on blue blazers or other apparel. Many were taken to the cenotaph by cars.

Representatives of the government of Canada laid the first wreath followed by those of the province and the city. Then in order came the Royal Canadian Navy (sea cadets); the Army (The Hasty Pees); the Royal Canadian Air Force; ANAF veterans; Naval Veterans; RCAF Association; the Canadian Legion and other city organizations and individuals.

The wreath of the Canadian government was placed by Lee Grille, M. P. That of the city was deposited by Mayor Gerald Hyde and that of the province of Ontario by Mrs. Dave Bradford, a city councillor. Mrs. Bradford was escorted by Branch No. 99 Canadian Legion past presidents Bill Bailey and Bill Heasman.

Wreaths not carried by wreath-bearers were taken to the cenotaph by a conveyance and were placed at the foot of the monument immediately after the service.

REPRESENT FORCES

Representing the Royal Canadian Navy in the Remembrance ceremonies was Lieut. A. Claire, Captain Alex Cunningham, who escorted the Canadian Army and Lieut. R. H. Hobbs, the Royal Canadian Air Force.

A reverent hush fell over the gathering as a Royal Canadian Air Force Trumpeter sounded "Last Post," as the cenotaph dipped in salute and "Reveille".

In his brief remarks Canon McConnell said: "We have gathered here to do honor to those men who gave their lives for bright fields and those who since have died. We remember them for what they were and what they did in it 41 years since the 1st service of this kind was held for others it is not so long".

He said it was by means they for Belleville, recalling the number of men who gave their lives in both wars.

Canon McConnell said "we still need the armed services to keep the peace and not to prepare for war. We appreciate those who were and are now in the armed forces".

"And let us remember them who died and place on record our heartfelt appreciation of their devotion to duty. Lest we forget".

Mr. MacLean read the scripture lesson and pronounced the benediction.

War veteran organizations will end their Remembrance Day observances with banquets and guest speakers. Quinte Branch No. 99 Canadian Legion will hear an address by the Rev. John L. Dunsmore of Ottawa, former padre of the Manitoba Dragoons, while the members of Branch 351 Army, Navy Air Force Veterans in Canada, will be addressed by Archdeacon J. R. Cresgrau, rector of Christ Church here.

Hold Avondale Ratepayers' Assoc. Meeting

Last night a meeting of the Avondale District Ratepayers' Association was held in the King George Public School. The chairman reported on the activities of the Belleville Voters' Committee, with particular reference to the selection of candidates for election to civic office. The next sitting campaign was briefly discussed, the need for funds to support activities emphasized. Any would-be donors can contact Mr. Bunnett, chairman of special finance committee, phone 3-5000.

The meeting was informed that plans for a telephone campaign and transportation arrangements on polling day had been made, and anyone wishing help were asked to contact the secretary, Mr. J. Williamson, phone 2-5215.

Some discussion of current city council activities took place and a motion was passed urging city council not to end the radio broadcasting of meetings so long as Radio Station CJBQ was willing to continue this public service at no cost to the public."

The next meeting of the Avondale Ratepayers' Association will take place on Nov. 17 at the Ontario School for the Deaf (new building) at 7.30 p.m.

Better Place Said Needed For Service

Canon the Rev. A. S. McConnell, MBE, in his remarks at the Remembrance Day memorial service at the Cenotaph this morning, suggested that the city secure a "better place to hold such services as this."

"A service of this nature deserves the best place in the city, not the second best," he said.

He called on the mayor and city council to "clean up the place. As I look down I see an old flower-bed covered with garbage that has been trampled by careless schoolchildren."

"We cannot begin to do honor to the fallen as we should under conditions like this. I hope the mayor and council will forgive me for being personal. It is very personal to me," he said.

Council Freed Of Necessity To Make Decision

At least one controversial matter which already has been before council on two occasions will have to be decided by the city fathers.

That is whether or not Belleville will retain a new firm of auditors to look after the city's affairs as it has been engaged by at least two aldermen since the inquiry into Belleville's finances was concluded two weeks ago.

Yesterday Hon. W. K. Warrender, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs, said the Ontario government had completed its study of John D. Leware city auditor, noting that the inquiry had shown Mr. Leware had been negligent in the carrying out of his duties.

The result will be that Belleville automatically will have to look for a new city auditor.

Mr. Lewars is slad the municipal auditor for the county of Hastings and the townships of Sidney and Thurlow. There was no possibility of a conflict with Mr. Lewars at some future date might be able to make application to have his auditor's licence restored.

Yesterday afternoon Mayor Gerald R. Hyde told the Ontario Intelligencer that he had received a letter from Mr. Lewars announcing the resignation of Mr. Warrender.

At the same time Mayor Hyde said he reported that two men from Toronto would arrive in the city Thursday to give assistance to the city treasury department. Coming to Belleville will be Mr. A. E. Boydreau and Mr. F. J. Hill, supervisors in the municipal administration branch of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

One of their duties will be to see that a proper audit of the city's financial situation is made. They will arrange for short-term and long-term financing. Both will remain in Belleville until the administration is functioning properly again.

Above: may be seen something new in the construction of boat houses. Being built on the harbor just north of the Sea Cadet barracks is a double boathouse using precast concrete footings. These were designed and produced by the Wilson Concrete Products firm for White Lumber, the contractor for the new boathouse for Messrs. Milt Davidson and Ernest Colebourne.

Three concrete footings were made. They were then lowered into the water and levelled up by the divers seen above guiding the first footing into place. It is anticipated that the design of the footings will eliminate the problems of both movement and erosion of footings common to most other boathouse designs after a period of years.

The new boathouse will be 35 by 40 feet in size.

2—Belleville's Problem—Selecting a New Council

Yesterday we discussed several recommendations in Judge A. R. Willmott's report on Belleville's financial difficulties and concluded with the statement that the responsibility now rested on ratepayers to elect a council which would in Judge Willmott's words, bring "about the gradual and orderly solution of the city's financial difficulties."

Can this be done? "There is no reason why this city, by the efforts of its own council and its municipal officers, cannot overcome its present financial difficulties. Its per capita levy of $74.83 is the lowest...in a group of seven cities with populations between 20,000 and 50,000. Belleville's debenture debt issued and assumed is the second lowest in this same group. Its tax arrears are, however, second highest...at $9.33 per capita, being exceeded only by the city of Cornwall in this regard. The general wealth of the city is excellent and the taxpayers of this city may well feel that this has been an expensive lesson for them but they have it in their control to elect a mayor and aldermen who will set the 1960 tax rate on the basis of their auditor's report and not on any grounds of political expediency"—page 43, Willmott report.

Does this solve our problem? Of course not. Problems are solved by giving authority to men and women of principles, experience and energy. These we must induce to seek election to the Council and then elect. They must be people who abide by the law while seeking to have it changed where needed and who, above all, bring to their tasks some special knowledge and much willingness to learn and work. Mr. Kenneth Ross, in a letter published on this page a few days ago, suggested that all members of the present council be re-elected by acclamation. That, it seems to us, is an extreme view—but equally extreme would be the view that a council devoid of any members with municipal experience could be expected to grapple successfully with our problems.

Each individual candidate needs to be judged as an individual—by individuals. We do not think that the best interests of the community at large would be served by the presentation of full slates of candidates from any one organization, unless we are prepared to change our whole outlook on municipal government. Let it be noted that there is a reasonable alternative to the system to which we are accustomed. In Britain, for example, local councils are elected on party lines, for organizations do present full slates of candidates. But there the party system of local government ends. National government...It is argued that this enables the voter to choose between alternative programs, and that it is much easier to judge programs than it is to judge men. There is something to be said for this argument—but we prefer our Canadian system of voting for an individual of ability and character. Here in Belleville, though, we are sometimes in danger of getting the worst of both systems. Here, in contrast to most Ontario municipalities, party politics are often linked with municipal affairs in the conversation of citizens. Thus we are in danger of getting all the disadvantages of selecting a candidate by reason of his party, rather than by reason of his character and ability, and at the same time we get none of the benefits of voting for a known and stable party policy. Let us have none of this.

What Belleville ratepayers want, we feel sure, is a chance to pick the best representatives from every walk of life, so that all segments of the community may be adequately represented on the council. Who, indeed, would consider acceptable a council made up entirely of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, or of the Labor Council, or of a ratepayers' association? All these bodies have capable members. Let them submit the names of the best candidates they can induce to offer themselves for election and then let the ratepayers give these lists careful consideration and select from them the individuals they feel best qualified to serve the whole community.

The best Council we can get will be a Council on which there is experience and new viewpoints, one which is familiar with the law, executives familiar with finance, businessmen who are used to making a profit, working men who know the difficulty of balancing a household budget, men—or women—familiar with all phases of social work and the problems of the needy, labor men who can handle machines and men who are at home with people. In other words we need men and women of as many walks of life and as many interests and outlooks as possible, but having in common four things—some experience of life, more energy, even higher native ability and the highest principles.

That is the ideal council. Of course we shall never get it. But, as Judge Willmott has intimated, there is no reason why we cannot get a council equal to the task before it.

There is one thing about it—we know we have room for improvement.

Strange Laws in Britain

St. John Telegraph-Journal

New regulations seem to be drawn up at a much faster rate than old and obsolete laws are repealed. As an illustration of what the average man has to try to keep in mind today, as compared with grandfather's day, think of all the rules that have grown up about motor travel — about licensing and registering, compulsory automobile equipment, and speeds, and traffic behavior. There are literally hundreds of different regulations he can fall foul of if he doesn't know the Motor Vehicle Act, and local ordinances.

Fortunately, to ease the strain on human memory, every country and local area periodically overhauls its laws to weed out the useless antiquated ones. For instance in England there have been moves afoot to relax a number of one restriction on taxi drivers. The motorcab league has to hold a piece of string in his hand while he drives. Not many men need it, any, knew about this law anyway — but it was the law.

In 1709, it appears, a law was adopted that hansom-cab drivers must always have the end of a piece of string; the passenger held the other end. It was hoped on it in case of emergency. In due course the rule was automatically applied to taxi drivers. But this year they were officially relieved of their obligation.

However, it looks as if Britain's taxi drivers still stand a bit of culling. A recent survey showed these provisions still in effect.

You are not allowed to stand on your windowsill to clean or to clean your windows. But you may sit on the sill.

You are not allowed to clean your car in the street.

You are not allowed to leave drop on your neighbors — because it is illegal for a dog under walls to frame mischievous tales."

You are not allowed to follow your wife in the street.

You are not allowed to watch a policeman who is watching someone else.

You are not allowed to take a long look at a courting couple.

You are not allowed to appear in public—and if you do, you must be dressed "as any other soldier, as much as a common soldier, sailor or laborer" if you are a commissioned officer.

You are not allowed to write to a girl asking for a date.

You are not allowed, when in the street to tell your fiancee (or any other girl) that she is beautiful.

You are still be press-ganged into the navy.

And you are still be placed in stocks in the village square. this is still a legal punishment.

No Room to Talk

London Daily Mirror

Five-year-old Julian Leslie is allowed to do whatever he pleases. He smokes, goes to bed at midnight and rarely takes a bath. His father, an educator, explains: "No man who is a member of a generation that could pile up E-bombs is in a position to give lessons on morality and correct living to anybody."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BRANDS

A friend of mine recently sent me an automobile ornament embodying the reproduction of a goose or more brands used by herdsmen of the West to identify their cattle and the cattle of others. The thought then came to me that all men and women brand themselves in their face. They cannot help it. We do so every plane and the stamping of thoughts there. We are all branded. Darrow was a lifetime. He proclaimed: "I don't want these pictures." I worked a lifetime to get all the lines and planes of the face there, and you have wiped them out. You have dismissed my character. Put those lines back!"

FOR VETERANS ALL

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I do not glorify the gun
With which the soldier took his toll,
But I would let my praises run
To the soldier's splendid soul.

I sing of the warrior unafraid
To stand to death for what was true,
Who when the soldier took his gun
Against the wrong that hate would do.

His was a malady of soul
To fight with joy the Master's foe,
For others he pursued his goal
For others he went forth to die!...

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 11, 1939

"Twenty-one years ago, on November 11th, the Great War ended with the armistice. Today there will be services with demonstrations throughout the Allied world and accepted silently by the defeated foe. Since then the day quickly took on a different aspect, with the memory of the dead paramount, and with plans to carry on the peace movement until war should cease to be a possibility. Then in time came the breakdown of the League and Nations, and a few years ago reanimated the hatreds again, the fear of men. For some years the world has been trembling, but now another war come and wondered how long peace could last.

Today that other war has come; how long away that second armistice will be, no one can tell. In the hope and prayer of the vast millions of the population of the earth that the Allied arms will triumph and end the disturber of peace and enslaver of people and territories of Poland and Germany, and set on a footing which will insure justice and security to others and to herself.

The past and the present mingle very poignantly at this time as young Canadians and young men of other parts of the Empire, prepare and dedicate themselves to the grim task of holding back with their bodies and with their engines of war, the evil forces crushing the ambitions and aspirations of the foe to dominate the earth.

These young men are ready to give all as the men of 1914-1918 were ready to do and as many did. The year just Armistice would have celebrated the opening of a new era, but the German Nazis would not have it so. Now the Allied world will fight to the finish, and in observe the two-minute silence in honor of the fallen, and think of the present task, vowing and dedicating all its ability and energy for the world's liberation.

Harris' Three Great Laws Of Logic

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Aristotle began the whole thing with his famous three Laws of Logic — the Law of Identity, the Law of Contradiction, and a third one which I could never remember but.

In our own day, we have had much upstarts as Pavlovian (whose law has to do with the relation between the number of people and the amount of work on a given job), and Gumperson (whose Law of Inverse Probability states, in essence, that the battery is most likely to go dead while the car is crossing a railroad track).

In my effort to achieve a modicum of immortality, I have long proposed a private convention for the establishment of Harris' Three Laws, which I am now prepared to offer to a breathless public.

These Laws are the essence of clarity, simplicity, and (to a slight degree) originality. Harris' Ist Law 1: There is never enough time. Law 2: There is never enough time. Law 3: There is never enough room.

If you can grasp and accept these three cosmic laws, in all their implications, you will have no need of Zen or any other escapist discipline to steer you through the troubled times.

The first Law merely needs to be stated to be understood. Everyone knows there is never enough money, and millionaires know it as well as paupers. Everyone knows is that, as our income goes up in arithmetical progression (1,2,3,4,5,etc.), our expenses go up in geometrical progression (1,2,4,8,16,etc.) Everyone knows the frustration and unease of the man with the family who is trying to buy a house at a crucial deal requiring $5 million.

The second Law, that there is never enough time, is nearly as well-known. Commencement is always behind, the laundry needs to be picked up, the lawn has not been cut, the lecture is hastily scribbled on route to the podium, the brief case is bulging with night work that, when completed, will still leave you up to your ears.

Law No. 3 can be most readily grasped by the beginning mind. That there is never enough room is patently obvious to any person who has moved from a 3-bedroom apartment to a 4-bedroom apartment, and who recently has discovers that the family is pushing out the walls.

There is something essentially malevolent in the nature of space that never crumples a man, or matter how commodious we sit down, to think our cosmic size.

So why struggle, friends? Simply accept the fact that we are forces of nature, and realize yourself gracefully to the notion that money, time, and space are merely figments of the feverish imagination of man.

Canadian PLACE NAMES

DUNNVILLE, ONT.

Two sources are considered for the origin of this name. The one is that it was named for Hon. Thomas Dunn, Inspector General, member of Executive Council, 1847, 1848, 1851. It is, however, is that it took its name from Hon. John Henry Dunn, Receiver General of Canada in 1824, who owned a large part of the township of Moulton and was one of the trustees for Indian lands upon which Dunnville was founded.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The fundamental principle of human society is the exploitation of man by man. The Soviet Union is no longer a Communist state because her husband was a television addict surely helped by less divorce seen.

The communists denounce capitalism on the grounds that it permits the few to exploit the many for gain. But capitalists who do the denouncing have more power of life and death over their fellow citizens than any billionaire could have in capitalist countries. What do you want with money if you can exploit your fellow citizens politically? What is money but a convenient form of power? What the communist bosses and their henchmen have is far more rat- ified, to get up.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

EXTENDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS ARE USUALLY HARMLESS

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please, would you explain the difference between a 'retarded' child and a 'dement child'. I am asking care of my dead sister's son who is retarded.

"He can read, write, tell time, count to ten, but does not work. He is 17 years old. I recently purchased a small home. The people who sold it to me left a dog which I found out that their baby had suffocated in its crib, and that the father was going to study to be a preacher.

Well, before I moved in, these people told all the neighbors that they had sold the house to a women with a demented son. The neighbors went up in arms. When we moved in, no one would talk to us. I spoke to one neighbor and she told me the neighbors were all talking about their child's drug and were getting up a fund to buy me out. Evidently I am to go, but do not demented. These help me.—Mrs. E.D.J."

This is one of oddest letters I have seen in months.

I will forbear comment on the person who pretends to be a preacher, except to say this: — Ministers and priests, the good, helpful, intelligent ones, are providing some of the best leaders in the mental health movement. And let me add that I include in the group some rabbis who have been and are truly consistent but outstanding.

Now I say that this one misguided, ignorant family needs help. Let's learn more about two things: Mental health and human kindness.

First, the difference between "retarded" and "demented." It's a shame to "label" such unfortunates as the expression "possessed of devils" is old - fashioned, cruel, ignorant.

A "retarded" child is one whose brain (instead of his leg or arms or muscles) did not develop. There are all degrees between "idi" and cripples".

But I don't like the word "demented." It is a term now used by laymen

Remembrance Day Should Be One to Pray for World Peace Subject of Talk at Kiwanis

What is the meaning of Remembrance Day in times like these?

To Canon A. S. McDonnell who enlisted during the First World War and served overseas as a padre, during the second, it should mean a day set aside to remember not only our war dead of two World Wars and the Korean War, but also those of the former enemy, and to pray for world peace.

"The day of anger must be gone . . . and we must pray for the peace of the world," he said in an address to local Kiwanians Tuesday.

The Padre spoke to the club on the theme, "The Meaning of Remembrance," as part of a special Remembrance Day program.

Chairman for the interesting and inspiring program was Lt.-Col. E. S. Fairman.

Reminiscing on how he observed "Armistice Day" in 1918 and 1945 (the latter attending the funeral of a Baptist padre), he said he was "sorry Remembrance Day has been made a public holiday."

REASONS FOR STATEMENT

"For school children it is probably a day to sleep in in the morning and go to the show in the afternoon, and for men off work it is a good opportunity to go duck hunting," he stated in urging that November 11th should be devoted to the perpetuity of the memory of those who gave their lives in three wars.

Remembrance Day is a day to remember "blood, sweat and tears" — the blood of young men who gave their lives, sweat of soldiers facing death and destruction, and the tears of those who lost loved ones in three wars," he said.

Three other Kiwanians, veterans of World Wars I and II, each gave brief addresses.

Frank Creegan, who was a sergeant in the First World War, received the original Armistice Day celebration in the city of Gloucester when news was received that the armistice had been signed. A patient in a military hospital there along with 35 other Canadian soldiers, he described the celebration as "bedlam," when the entire population gathered in the square, in the centre of the city, tying up traffic and filling the city.

MANAGED ESCAPE

Don Hickson, a Flying Officer with the RCAF but attached to the RAF during World War II, told briefly of his experience as a German prisoner-of-war. Interned in several P.O.W. camps in Germany after his plane was shot down, he managed to escape from a Nazi camp at Luneberg, Germany.

He said today he can remember only vaguely the privations of the winter of 1944-45 and the rigors and hardships of the march across Germany, the dysentry, frozen feet, lice, wet and cold, "as a dream, misty in unreality."

"I recall with glee the time I was smart enough to steal the German rations, the day I traded an old wool sweater, full of lice, for a wonderful loaf of white bread . . . but the day when the superior intellect of the enemy allowed me to escape," he said, "during other escapes I encountered on his escape — hiding in a straw stack, holding a small thatched hut in a wood lot to cook potatoes stolen from the farmer's cellar, and the wonderful sight of our tanks sitting on the road as the enemy retreated" — he said he "gives thanks for the human faculty to forget those things of squalid torture and man's inhumanity to man . . . and to remember those things of beauty, of love, and of peace."

IN SLIT TRENCH

Ralph Greaves, a lieutenant in the second world war, described his feelings on learning the war was over. He was in a slit trench on the battlefield.

"I remember thinking it's all over and we made it — but I also thought of all those who didn't make it," he stated. He said he felt that that was the reaction of all the troops on learning the hostilities were finally over.

At the conclusion of the speeches, Mr. George Wardle played "Last Post," followed by the observance of one minute's silence, and "Reveille".

The song leader was Mark Vanzer, a world war one veteran, who led his fellow Kiwanians in singing several nostalgic army songs.

Prior to the special program, J. C. R. Punchard, chairman of the election committee announced the new slate of officers for 1960. They are as follows; president, George Tripp; vice-president, Dr. Robert Brain. Directors are R. O. Dulmage, M. Floyd, L. G. Foxard, R. W. G. Forstner, G. Hume, R. C. Macfie, W. T. Simpson, and J. Trafford.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of club president Gerry Wishart, who announced the annual Ladies' Night will be held November 30th.

High School Activities

By STEVIE DAHL

The first week of school has been very wearing on our students. From riding a high crest of excitement due to commencement and football, we have been smacked against the realization of something even more nerve-shattering . . . Exams! . . . bringing with it a straw stack, holding a small thatched hut in a wood lot to cook potatoes stolen from the farmer's cellar, and the wonderful sight of our tanks sitting on the road as the enemy retreated" — he said he "gives thanks for the human faculty to forget those things of squalid torture and man's inhumanity to man . . . and to remember those things of beauty, of love, and of peace."

are trying to get our form news written in time for the November 20 deadline. Every year some unfortunate creature from each class writes a clever (?) little statement about his or her classmates to be printed in the school yearbook the "Elevator." These form news representatives are supposed to rack their brains trying to think of clever, flattering things to say about their fellow students (and at times this can be very hard!) and then generally, on every class, and I have strict orders 'too!' to use the following: sparingly, no sarcasm, or usual old corn; for example, O.U.R.A.Q.T. I am to keep the form news funny, interesting, and original. What do they expect . . . Hemingway, perhaps!

The Friday night dance this week was presented by Mora Secondary School (which is gaining an awesome reputation for very successful dances) and it was held in our gym. The newly-formed Keyette Club of M.S.S. sponsored the dance, and the highlight of the evening was a performance by a popular new combo, the "Dolphins" — which reminds us of the "Haircuts!" Only one note of criticism about the dance from a few third grade class — too much fast music. Everybody must have jived or twisted, ragged at our swinging "Grad Ball" and feet are still tender! Slow numbers don't hurt as much, I guess.

In case any reader thinks life at R.C.I.V.S. is just one big round of fun, they are wrong, too. The boys are all fighting for positions on the basketball team. Tryouts have been good and we should have an excellent team again this season. Russian football is roaring along with the junior boys playing fiercely and well. Does the sneaky coach have an ulterior motive — like maybe some experienced boys to tryout for Junior football next year?

The girls are not one to let the boys surpass them in sports. Girls' volleyball has been played well this year, and we were proud of our teams at the volleyball jamboree at G.S.D. By the way, has anybody congratulated the cheerleaders for their outstanding support at the football games? They never missed a game and the players all agreed that they encouraged them when they needed it, and helped them to win. We all know that we have the best cheerleaders; they are full of enthusiasm, are talented, and come up with new cheers and songs all the time. They deserve a great deal of credit, and a cheer. Now, as I sign off the sports for today, I remind you all: To play sports, you must go to practices".

Our four "do-gooders" clubs (Keep Boys' Busy, Girls' Hi-Y and Keyette) have been busily running around being of service. Last week several lbs. of pop cans were collected across for the United Appeal, and helped with the Christmas seal campaign. This club will be selling school Christmas cards again and the card chosen is simple and beautiful. The Key and Keyette clubs have continued a successful car wash into its second week.

On Friday, November 4, most of the grade eleven students went to Toronto to visit the Royal Ontario Museum. This trip was planned by the history department as an aid to understanding the grade eleven course in ancient and medieval history. Everybody enjoyed the trip immensely, and the students of other grades are green with envy.

'Home Social Life' Topic at Alpha Lambda

On Monday evening the regular meeting of Alpha Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Mrs. G. Thompson Stanley Park Drive.

Mrs. F. Bradley introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. J. Gastinger, whose topic was "Social Life in the Home".

Mrs. S. Kostaban thanked Mrs. Gastinger for her interesting address.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a pleasant social hour was spent playing charades.

Refreshmentswere served by the hostess Mrs. Thompson and co-hostess Mrs. J. Laughlin.

On a recent evening the pledges of Alpha Lambda chapter were entertained by the members at a coffee party at the home of Mrs. C. Ryan, Bridge Street, E.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert David Wood are pictured signing the register in Bridge Street United Church, following their marriage on October 10, in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, when the Reverend Henry M. Davis united in marriage Gloria Joan Cox, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cox, and Robert David Wood, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Wood, before a background of pink and white chrysanthemums and ferns. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mr. S. Alec Gordon, church organist, provided the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Donald Shepherd, who sang, before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. William Cox, the bride was radiant in white crystalette over taffeta in floor-length with fingertip veil of illusion secured with a pearl necklace and long, lily-point sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk tulle illusion was held by a tiara, encrusted with rhinestones and sequins, and she carried a bouquet of white Shasta daisy mums and red roses tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Marilyn Fairbrother, as maid of honor, was attired in floor-length lace gown featuring a full bouffant skirt in waltz length, and pink headdress set with pearls.

Miss Marilyn Anderson, and Miss Gwendolyn Cox, as bridesmaids, were pale blue nylon and lace over taffeta in waltz length with blue headdress dotted with sequins. All carried bouquets of pink and blue chrysanthemums.

Little flower girl, Miss Irene Cox, niece of the bride, was in pink nylon net over taffeta with matching headdress, and carrying a nosegay of blue mums.

Mr. William Wood, of Belleville, attended his brother as groomsman, while Mr. Clark Preston and Mr. Joseph Cox, brother of the bride, were ushers. Master Allen Cox, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer.

The reception, which followed the ceremony, was held in the church parlors, where the guests were received by the bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother, the former in a Kelly green wool in sheath style with small rose-trimmed hat and rose accessories, with corsage of pink 'mums.

The bride's table was appointed in the traditional manner with white damask, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bride and bridegroom. Cascading pink and white streamers and the bridal bouquets completed a lovely nuptial picture.

For the wedding trip around Lake Ontario, the bride chose a pale blue tailored two-piece suit jacket; white hat and gloves, black accessories and corsage of white 'mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood are residing at 38-A Catharine St., Belleville.

Guests were present from Belleville, Oshawa, Toronto and Point Anne.

The bride was entertained previous to her marriage at a presentation by the office workers at the Northern Electric; at a shower held at the home of Mrs. William Cox with Mrs. Len Hawley as hostess and also at another presentation by Bucklodders Bakery, where the bridegroom is employed.

WOOD — COX

A lovely double-ring wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 10, in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, when the Reverend Henry M. Davis united in marriage Gloria Joan Cox, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cox, and Robert David Wood, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Wood, before a background of pink and white chrysanthemums and ferns. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mr. S. Alec Gordon, church organist, provided the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Donald Shepherd, who sang, before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. William Cox, the bride was radiant in white crystalette over taffeta in floor-length with fingertip veil of illusion secured with a pearl necklace and long, lily-point sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk tulle illusion was held by a tiara, encrusted with rhinestones and sequins, and she carried a bouquet of white Shasta daisy mums and red roses tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Marilyn Fairbrother, as maid of honor, was attired in floor-length lace gown featuring a full bouffant skirt in waltz length, and pink headdress set with pearls.

Miss Marilyn Anderson, and Miss Gwendolyn Cox, as bridesmaids, were pale blue nylon and lace over taffeta in waltz length with blue headdress dotted with sequins. All carried bouquets of pink and blue chrysanthemums.

Little flower girl, Miss Irene Cox, niece of the bride, was in pink nylon net over taffeta with matching headdress, and carrying a nosegay of blue mums.

Mr. William Wood, of Belleville, attended his brother as groomsman, while Mr. Clark Preston and Mr. Joseph Cox, brother of the bride, were ushers. Master Allen Cox, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer.

The reception, which followed the ceremony, was held in the church parlors, where the guests were received by the bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother, the former in Kelly green wool in sheath style with small rose-trimmed hat and rose accessories, with corsage of pink 'mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cedric Woodbeck are shown following their marriage in Christ Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Evelyn Florence Kilfedder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kilfedder, of Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. A. Sgrder, of Michigan, and Mr. C. S. Woodbeck of Coe Hill, Ontario. (Photo by KaY, Belleville).

WOODBECK — KILFEDDER

Baskets of large, white chrysanthemums adorned the sanctuary of Christ Church, Belleville, for a recent lovely autumn wedding when Archdeacon, the Rev. J. B. Creegan, united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony, Evelyn Florence Kilfedder, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kilfedder, to Gerald Cedric Woodbeck, of Belleville, son of Mrs. Sgrder, of Michigan, and Mr. C. S. Woodbeck of Coe Hill, Ontario. The guest pews were designated by white bows.

The church organist, Mr. John Croydon Witmarc, presided at the console of the organ, and accompanied the choir of six singers in their rendition of "O Jesu, Joy of Man's Desire," and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Joseph Henry Kilfedder, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of pure white Italian brocade featuring a molded bodice with bateau neckline, long, lily-pointed sleeves, in empire design. The cocktail-length skirt dipped slightly at the back to semi-train effect. She wore a coronet of nylon embroidered with lace and sequins, and carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Marilyn Little, of Belleville, as maid of honor, was dressed in pearl blue Italian brocade fashioned similarly to that of the bride, with short sleeves. She wore matching mitts, feather headdress, and shoes, and carried a nosegay of white carnations and pink roses.

Miss Jo Anne Kilfedder, sister of the bride as bridesmaid, was attired in orchid color Italian brocade in similar style with matching headdress and mitts, and carrying a nosegay of yellow carnations and white roses; and Miss Patricia Stai, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, as junior bridesmaid, wore gold Italian brocade, with matching headdress, mitts and shoes. She carried a nosegay of mauve carnations and white roses.

Mr. Allen Gray, of Belleville, was groomsman, while Mr. Fred Kelly, of Foxboro, and Mr. Fay Hall, of Marmora, ushered the guests.

The reception was held at Club Canaro, Belleville, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing peacock blue velvet in sheath style with matching velvet hat, accessories of deep beige, with orchid corsage. Assisting her in the receiving line was the bride's groom's grandmother, Mrs. Woodbeck, of Coe Hill, who wore a light grey wool suit, navy accessories, and corsage of orchids.

The bride's table, appointed with white damask, centred by a three-tier wedding cake, topped by a cluster of lily-of-the-valley and rosebuds, misted about the base with pink tulle entwined with roses and flanked by tri-branched silver candelabra with tall white candles, made a pretty nuptial picture. The bridal bouquets also added a further lovely note.

The Rev. J. B. Creegan acted as toast master.

For travelling to Boston, Mass., and the Maine coast, the bride chose a royal blue wool suit, black patent leather shoes and bag, dusky-rose gloves and feather hat, and corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodbeck are residing in Belleville.

Guests were present from Toronto; Hamilton; Kingston; Coe Hill; Foxboro; Camilford; Bloomfield; Marmora, and Shannonville.

Prior to the bride's marriage, Miss Marilyn Little held a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. A. R. Gladwell. A presentation was made by the office staff of Stephens-Adamson of a tea and coffee set, as well as a lamp donated by the girls of the office of Stephens-Adamson.

Wedding

BLEECKER — BOWSER

Baskets of large cinnamon and white chrysanthemums adorned the altar and chancel rail in Asbury United Church on October 24th, at 3:30 p.m., for a very pretty double - ring wedding when Carole Anne Bowser, registered nurse, of Carrying Place, R.R. 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bowser, became the bride of Robert James Bleecker, of Frankford, R.R. 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bleecker. The Reverend H. Rippon officiated.

Mr. Carl Reid, pianist, accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Carl Reid, in her rendition of "Where've You Walk," before the ceremony, and "O Perfect Love," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiantly lovely in her bridal gown of white French, brocade fashioned on classic lines with sweetheart neckline and fitted bodice trimmed with seed pearls, having long sleeves pointed over the hands. The billowing skirt cascaded into a graceful chapel train. She wore a coronet of sequins and seed pearls, and full waist-length veil of pure silk illusion, and carried a bouquet of large white chrysanthemums mingled with rosebuds.

Mrs. Richard Vickery of Toronto attended her sister as matron of honor wearing an Imelda mission-length gown of iridescent embroidered taffeta in corsage pattern of forget-me-not blue with matching small feather hat and shoes.

The bridesmaids, Miss Bettine Sanders, and Mrs. Kenneth Christie, registered nurses, classmates of the bride, were attired alike in champagne brocaded taffeta similar in style to that of the matron of honor, with matching hats and shoes. The bridesmaids carried cream cent-shaped bouquets of pink carnations.

Little Wendy Jane Weese, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, was dressed in her bronze dad short frock of iridescent forget-me-not blue taffeta, with matching floral headdress, and carrying a basket of white carnations and roses.

Mr. William Bleecker, of Macedonia, Ohio, attended his brother as groomsman, while Mr. Kenneth Bleecker, of Toronto, brother of the bridegroom, and Richard Vickery, of Toronto, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's mother received wearing a sapphire blue draped French satin gown with matching accessories, and hat and black accessories, and corsage of deep pink Sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted, attired in taupe-mist silk brocade sheath with matching jacket and shoe-cover and black accessories, with corsage of pink Pinocchio roses.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, flanked by silver candelabra with tall white tapers. The guests' tables were appointed with pink and white 'mums, and the catering done by Asbury Ladies' Aid.

For travelling to the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania, the bride chose a soft turquoise sheath with caramel clutch coat with shawl collar, and softly draped back, accessories and corsage of yellow orchids. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Bleecker will reside at 315 Dufferin Ave., Belleville.

Guests attended from London, MacDonald Corners, Tweedsmuir Falls, Belleville, Frankford, Gananoque, Kingston, Toronto, Georgetown, Richmond Hill, Markham, Wellington, Brampton, Connecon, Brighton, Cobourg, Woodstock, Montreal, Alnton, N.Y., Elton, and Brockport, N.Y.

Previous to her marriage the bride was entertained at a personal shower given by Mrs. Kenneth Christie at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Carl Reid, with Mrs. William Dawson and Mrs. Douglas Weese, as co-hostesses, and at a trousseau tea given by her mother.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each week it is a summary of an actual case history. The family problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Martha J. — If my parents don't stop hovering I'll move away.

Mrs. K. J. — She can't be on her own.

Martha J. — I am 24, the youngest of three children and the only one still single in the family. I live with my family in a comfortable apartment and I make a small contribution toward the expenses.

My problem is that my parents hover over me constantly. I like to spend a lot of my time alone in my room reading or watching TV. My mother and father drop in several times a day to talk or find out if I want anything. When I get a telephone call they always ask me who it was.

I have told them that I'm going to move away and get a place of my own if they don't leave me on my own. They just don't seem to understand how much they annoy me.

Mrs. K. J. — All this talk of moving away and getting a place of her own is just nonsense. Martha can't move away from a beautiful home and all that we can give her. She doesn't make enough money to be on her own.

We certainly try to give her all the privacy possible. If it is wrong of me to stop into her room and ask if she wants a glass of milk or a piece of fruit? She keeps too much to herself and doesn't go out enough. We don't want her to brood and feel lonesome.

Martha isn't an outgoing girl. If she lived alone she'd be miserable.

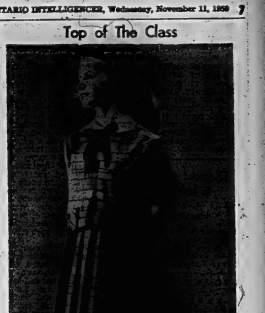
The Council: Most young men and women of Martha's age attain as much independence from their parents as they really want. Most parents tend to baby their children a little longer than necessary if their children seem to ask for it emotionally.

Martha's annoyance with her parents is really misdirected. She is annoyed with herself for needing their love more than she should at this time. A woman of her age should be actively engaged in living and is creating a rich future for herself. She may need some time to herself, but if she feels she is living her own life in the full sense of the word, she is likely to gloss over the "hovering" she describes.

A young girl can live with her parents and be an independent, straight individual at the same time. Or she can move away from her parents and remain an infant emotionally. It all depends on her own attitude and what she does with her life in other respects.

The K. J.'s show that they are very much worried about Martha and would like to do something to help her. Yet there is little they can do at this stage. The time has come when Martha alone can help herself.



We think Martha should make the effort to come to terms with herself. She should recognize that she is failing to do something necessary to create a fuller life for herself. Undoubtedly she needs more friends, and engagement in her work or hobbies. By merely dreaming about the future or brooding about the present she will attain nothing.

Rich Dark Fruit Cake 1959

by Mary Moore

Having been testing and testing this cake for weeks I am terribly proud to offer it to you on its own delicious merits. To quote countless public speakers "without further ado" here it is — full of rich fruit, popular with all tasters and recommended by your fruitful friend Enem.

teaspoons cloves, 1 1-2 cups buttter (or 3-4 cup buttter and 3-4 cup margarine), 2-4 cup white sugar, 2 medium-large eggs, 3-4 cup honey, 2 tablespoons orange juice (squeezed from about 1 1-2 large oranges), 6 oz. (1 cup) chopped candied lemon peel, 6 oz. (1 cup) chopped candied orange peel, 6 oz. (1 cup) chopped candied citron peel, 1 1-4 lbs. (4 1-2 cups) chopped mixed candied fruitcake fruits, 3-4 lb. (2 1-4 cups) Sultana raisins, 1 1-2 cups whole filberts (toast them over low heat in heavy frying pan to dry brown skin, then remove from heat and rub off most of the skins between your palms.) 3-4 cup blanched almonds, 1 cup whole pecans.

Prepare all of the fruits in a bowl large enough to hold and stir the entire batter. Sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and spices and mix into the fruits. Cream the butter until pale and light. Beat in the sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in the eggs one at a time. All the foregoing beating may be done by electric mixer. Then add honey and orange juice. Add flour and fruit mixture and stir in with spoon (or by hand if you like to get your hands right into the batter.) Mix very well. Line 3 loaf pans 9 x 5 x 3 1-4" smoothly with double thicknesses of heavy wax paper and butter it. Turn batter into pans, pressing firmly into corners and smoothing top. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. about 3 1-2 hours, having pans on centre rack with waterpan below throughout baking period. Refill waterpan as necessary. Cool cake in pans on rack. Remove from pan when thoroughly cooled and wrap in several thicknesses of wax paper and a heavy towel to store.

Sidney, Trenton Church Council Meets at Scott's United Church

"Teaching for a Verdict" was the theme of the 1959 convention of the Sidney and Trenton Council held Saturday, November 7. Herbert B. Rees, Batawa, president of the council, called the convention to order at 9.35 a.m. The morning worship period was presented by Scott's Church with Mr. Morley Sloe as leader, assisted by members from Scott's.

The Rev. Horace Burkholder, Thornhill, general secretary of the Ontario Council of Christian Education, spoke on the topic, "What Kind of a Verdict?" preceding discussion groups as fol. lows: "Teachers of Children"— leader, Hilliard Morrow, Wooler; "Teachers of Teen-agers"— leader, Lorne Myles, Trenton; "Parents, Officials, Adults, Church Members" — leader, Sid Martin, Frankford.

The morning session was spent on the question, "What is our part in securing a verdict!"

REPORTS GIVEN

Herbert Brooks, Trenton, presented the secretary treasurer's report for 1959 and noted progress in all phases of the council work. The roll call showed representation from the majority of the churches in the area served by the council. Reports were given by the following area representatives: Walter Lindenfield, Stirling; Reg. Edmondson, Bellevillle; Lorne Myles, Trenton; the Rev. J. A. Irwin, Trenton; the Rev. H. M. Beach, Batawa, and Hilliard Morrow, Wooler.

Prior to dinner, the Rev. Horace Burkholder presented a book display which included helps and reading materials for teachers of various age groups.

A bountiful dinner was served by the ladies of Scott's Church under the leadership of Mrs. Edison Sine.

Walter Lindenfield thanked the ladies on behalf of all present.

A hearty sing-song of familiar gospel songs was enjoyed by all with Lorne Myles as leader and Mrs. C. Frost at the piano.

The discussion groups convened again in the afternoon to discuss "What do we expect of the rest of the church?" A report on the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament was given by Bill Dafoe, Frankford, who is a candidate for election to the 1959 session to be held late in December in Waterloo College.

Sid Martin introduced Bill Dafoe to the delegates present and urged their support in his election.

PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel discussion on "The Total Church Seeks A Verdict" was moderated by the Rev. Horace Burkholder, with the panel including Sid Martin, the Rev. H. M. Beach, Walter Lindenfield, Mrs. Lacy Young, Lorne Myles and Hilliard Morrow.

President Herbert Kern reported on contributions sent to the Ontario Council from offerings taken on Mother's Day, 1959, and urged continued support in 1960.

Mr. Kern noted that the council was co-operating with the Thurlow and Tyendinaga Council in their teacher training school to be held in Foxboro United Church the week of November 23 to 27, with Mr. Horace Burkholder and Mrs. V. Murray as leaders.

The convention was closed with prayer by Rev. C. Judd of Frankford.

Trim Two-Piecer

By VERA WINSTON

Here is a two-piecer of orlon and wool that has much to recommend it. Completely washable, it is practical for the college wardrobe and would make a good traveler. Save for slight shaping, the top is almost boxy, with seams from shoulder to hem on either side of the front closing. The skirt is permanently pleated. Available in bright red, bright blue or bright green, it is pretty in any of these cheerful shades.

SHOW RESPECT TO THE FLAG

Today we pay tribute to our Veterans, It seems fitting, therefore, to give a description of the courtesies due the flag they have fought for. This is called "flag etiquette."

The lack of respect that is shown to our flag by the great majority of people has long been appalling to me. For example: the other evening I happened to be visiting one of our Army Posts when the flag was lowered at sundown. The young couples walking by continued on their merry way, laughing and talking. They either did not care, or did not know, that by their actions they were showing disrespect for the flag of their country.

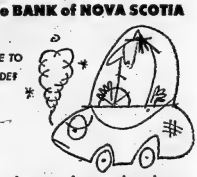
An Army officer, who of course stood at attention during the ceremony, caught up with the young people as soon as it was over. I watched with interest while he obviously censured them for their behavior. Four redfaced young people walked away, and I am sure that the next time such an occasion arises they will observe the proper respect due the flag.

It is to be remembered that, during the ceremony of raising or lowering the flag, all persons present should immediately stand, face the flag and remain still.

If you happen to be driving by in an automobile when the ceremony takes place, the car should be stopped at once — and stay stopped until the ceremony is over. Even if it is in a "no parking" zone, I assure you this is one time you won't get a ticket.

When the flag is passing on parade, or in review, the spectators, if walking, should halt. If sitting, one should rise immediately.

When the flag is displayed in front of a residence, it should not be permitted to fly before sunrise or after sunset. The flag should always be raised briskly and lowered very slowly. When it is raised or lowered, great care should be exercised to see that no part touches the ground.



I am sure that a lack of knowledge, rather than disrespect, is often behind a person's failure to observe the proper flag etiquette. Quite often embarrassment comes into it too, rather than indifference. The general public seems reluctant to make a show of ceremony but when it comes to the rigid observances in the manner of showing respect to our flag, which symbolizes so much, these things should not be forgotten.

Question: I was very embarrassed recently, when asked to a large seated dinner at the home of friends. The dinner was to be at seven-thirty and my escort did not call for me until after eight. Of course we held up the serving of dinner, keeping all the other guests waiting. What do you do in a case like this?

— Miss G.F.E.

Answer: If your thoughtless escort has not arrived at the time you should leave for a dinner, order a taxi and go alone, so that you at least will not be late, which of course is unpardonable rude. Aside from keeping other guests waiting, think of the poor hostess with dinner spoiling in the kitchen!

Panel Describes C.A.S. Work At W.A. Tea and Bazaar

RAWDON — Eighty guests attended Mount Pleasant Rawdon W.A. afternoon tea and bazaar on Friday afternoon.

Guests attended from Carmel, Dixie, Hoards, Campbell's Bay, Wellman's Crossing, Farrington, Shrigley, Ridgetown, Bethel, Spring Bellevilla and other points.

The church was decorated with baskets of daffodils, white and bronze mums.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. W. G. Fletcher and Mrs. Grant Hubble, convener of the bazaar. The tea-makers were Mrs. Raymond McConnell and Mrs. Robert Merrick.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver played an organ prelude as the guests were arriving.

KEYNOTE WELCOME

Mrs. Cardieon Potts, W.A. president, extended a greeting welcome to all. Mrs. Frank Jeffs and Mrs. Burton Sharpe were in charge of the devotional.

Mrs. Vernon Mathews of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, was guest pianist, and contributed musical selections before and after a panel discussion.

Panel of five staff members of the Children's Aid Society of Belleville, under the direction of Society director Bruce Kerr, gave a half-hour descriptive account of the work carried on by that organization.

The Society was first organized sixty years ago and today there are 40 societies spread across Ontario. The expenses are expected to reach $13,000.00 for the current year.

The Belleville Society covers a 1,000 square-mile area, containing approximately 80,000 population.

During the discussion it was explained that the Society's work in various departments. The advisory service helps parents to be conscientious and gives protection to the child before parenthood.

OUR REASON FOR C.A.S.

The basic reason for an organization of this kind is because some families do not live up to their responsibilities. They do not feel they are obligated to give their children proper care. Some families need assistance because they are incapable of providing proper care for their children, or mothers-to-be is also a possible factor.

In the children's department the staff member visits the home to see if the children are happy and reasonably cared for. The work carried on at the Society's "Receiving Home and Observation Centre" on Station Ave., was also described.

Miss Rhoda Payne, who is in charge of the "receiving", said foster parents come from all walks of life. Many childless wants babies and blue-eyed girls but few are interested in boys.

J. D. Adamson, casework supervisor, outlined the adoption policy of the C.A.S.

In closing Mr. Kerr said he hoped the panel discussion had given the group some information of interest.

The president expressed appreciation to Mr. Kerr and his fine staff members for an informative discussion.

CHURCH HALL DECORATED

The convener invited the group to the church hall, which was decorated with evergreens, Japanese lanterns, small pumpkins, and baskets of yellow mums.

The "country store" table, centred with a wrapped loaf of homemade bread on a glass pedestal plate, contained eggs, butter, pickles, cheese, jams and jellies, glacioli bulbs, and garden produce.

The children's wear table was covered with a large doll and decorated streamers, and contained children's clothes of all descriptions including, play school and sleep attire; also booties, knitted hose and mitts.

The plant booth was well stocked with pots of parsley, boy and a large variety of house plants.

The candy booth held a large assortment of boxes and bags of candy and these sold very quickly.

The novelty shop displayed a variety of items by girls, including room rubber stickers, sewing aprons, Christmas pincushions, glass dishes, pot holders, oven mitts, pillow cases, toys, etc.

APRONS DISPLAYED

The apron table was centred with a large parasol and hundreds of aprons in print, nylon, broadcloth, cotton, lace, and linen voiles, in various styles, were displayed, and quickly sold.

The home baking table was centred with a large cake iced in white and lettered in yellow spelling out the word "Welcome." Here dozens of varieties of cookies, tarts, cakes (both sugar and loaf variety), homemade bread and buns, daintily iced cup cakes, were quickly sold.

Four rows of chairs were placed in the auditorium and here guests were served tea and refreshments, and enjoyed a social half hour.

A group of ladies were in charge of the preparation and replenishing the plates, and those included Mrs. Roy Thrasher, Mrs. F. Jeffs, Mrs. Allen Reid, Mrs. Lindsay McGivern, Mrs. Carey Merrick, and Mrs. Earl McAdam.

Servers were Mrs. Ross Jeffs, Mrs. Walter Wrightman, Mrs. Don Knight, Mrs. Ralph Jeffs, Mrs. Robert Reard, Mrs. Doug Morton, Mrs. Douglas Campbell, and others whose names have been mentioned before.

Those in charge of booths and their assistants included Mrs. Stanley McAdam, Mrs. William McAdam, Mrs. Gordon Linn, Mrs. Garth Joslin, Mrs. Frank Spencer, Mrs. Will and Mrs. Ernest Spencer, Mrs. Milford Wrightman, Mrs. Harvey Couch, Mrs. Marguerite McAuliffe, Mrs. Clarence Reid, Mrs. Thomas Sarles, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Irvin Potts, and others.

A meet of members of Mount Pleasant W. A. were in attendance.

After the visitors had purchased their requirements, the balance of the aprons were sold by auction by the highest bidder.

The afternoon event was a financial success and the president is grateful to all who assisted in any way.

Survey of Canadian Buying Habits Covers Answers of 40,000 People in 72 Cities

By FORBES RHODE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

British Columbia—home of canned salmon—ranks relatively low in its famed product than most other parts of Canada.

This is one of many thousands of indications concerning Canadian buying habits contained in the 1959 edition of the Canadian Consumer Survey, published by the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association.

The 230-page statistics - laden survey covers the answers of some 40,000 people in 72 cities served by Canadian daily newspapers.

It indicates the extent to which households of those cities are buyers of nearly 400 items on which questioner were asked, and also the division of their purchases among the various makes —or brands—of the items.

CANNED SALMON SALES

In regard to canned salmon, replies report purchases by 77 per cent of B.C. households in 19 cities — only one percentage point more than in the Atlantic area substantially below Quebec's and Ontario's 87 and the Prairies' 84.

Among B.C. cities, New Westminster is faithful to the Fraser —the great salmon river near Whose mouth it is situated—and reports 98 per cent usage. Trailing the southeast interior also shows above the 90 mark, but Nanaimo, on Vancouver Island, records only 63.

Woodstock, Ont., reports highest canned-salmon usage—97 per cent—and Saint John, N.B., finds the home of a famous salmon, records a high 91.

The survey, incidentally, raised a hornet's-nest-there, that is—racial question.

According to the figures, 91 per cent of Quebec urban households buy indigenous remedies, compared with Ontario's 48, Prairies' 47, Atlantic's 46, and B.C.'s 44.

Is this temperament or cuisine? Good cuisine? Bad cuisine? Too much cuisine?

RACIAL SPLIT TOO

Inasmuch as Quebec generally is credited with showing most inagitation in preparation of food, perhaps it's a case of the more imagination the more indigestion.

In any event, the split is not only between Quebec and other areas of Canada, but between racial groups in Quebec itself.

The figures record that whereas French-speaking Montreal is an 89-per-cent buyer of indigestion remedies, English-speaking Montreal is only a 59-per-cent buyer; the figures for Quebec City are 94 to 39 and for Sherbrooke, 75 to 36.

Closing the Ottawa River into Ontario, Ottawa's French-speaking citizens are 81 - per - cent buyers against 53 for Ottawa English - speaking.

Quebec leads the pace, too, in purchases of headache remedies at 85 per cent, but here the rest of the country is right on her heels — Prairies 84, Atlantic and Ontario 80, B.C. 69.

REGIONAL DIFFERENCES

Many differences of a regional nature show up.

Only 15 per cent of Atlantic households report using biscuit mix, but 39 per cent use cake mix; British Columbia, on the other hand, is consistent on the mix subject, with 39 per cent using biscuit mixes and 62 per cent cake mixes. Ontario, at 35 per cent, is the next biggest user of biscuit mixes and, at 67 per cent, the biggest used of cake mix.

Atlantic people are apparently the biggest cocoa drinkers: the Prairies the biggest coffee drinkers, aside from instant coffee, in which Quebec leads. In tea, Ontario is away ahead in tea bags and balls, but Quebec leads in packaged tea.

Ninety-four per cent of those replying use canned soups and Quebec leads in canned pea soup at 64 per cent, with Ontario in the next spot at 46. The Prairies report the highest use of dry soups at 25 per cent, with the Atlantic area reporting a low 26 per cent.

COSMETICS POPULAR

The general classification "cosmetics" rings a high bell across the country: Atlantic 89; Quebec 98; Ontario 95; Prairies 99; B.C. 92. Prince Rupert's reported 46 pulls B.C. down.

Lipstick, with an 87 national average, is the cosmetic leader. Rouge got a low 39.

British Columbia rebuffs its reputation for rain with fewer purchases of women's raincoats than any other area. B.C. men are edged out of low position by a bare percentage point by the Prairies.

B.C. also leads the male barrelchested brigade, reporting purchases of men's hats by 73 per cent, compared with a high of 67 in Quebec and a national figure of 61.

Judging by the answers in the food classifications, 14 per cent of Canadian city dwellers own dogs and 12 per cent, cats, followed by the Atlantic at 11 per cent. Fifteen per cent own cats, also led by B.C. at 17 per cent, followed closely by an Atlantic 16.

A keyword to the survey says it is designed "to provide a viable working tool in the measurement of brand preference and product usage of Canadians in urban centres from coast to coast."

Commenting on consumer practices it says:

"Consumers develop their own uses for products and can therefore honestly report the use of, for example, a pudding powder as 'pie filling,' even though the brand they report using as pie filling actually does not make a 'pie filling' as such.

"Advertising and research persons may term this 'reproduct confusion,' when, in fact, the respondent, according to his own definitions, is not confused."

The last previous edition of the survey was published in 1956. It has been described from various international sources as "a magnificent sales tool" "a yardstick along the way," and "an outstanding contribution to knowledge of the Canadian market."

The 40,000 questionnaires for the present editions were distributed to households by the circulation departments and carriers boys of daily newspapers in the 72 cities concerned. The questionnaires and 3,000,000 calculations were processed by Statistical Reporting and Tabulating Ltd.

Widow Receives Many Mysterious Telephone Calls

PICTON— Aid of the local police has been enlisted in an effort to discover the identity of the person responsible for wayward phone calls which have upset the lives of a Picton family.

The mother, who is a widow, told police that she had been receiving the calls for the past six months, since the death of her husband. She stated that the telephone will ring at all hours and while the caller has never said a word, breathing can be heard. Her efforts to get the caller to speak result in failure.

ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, Wednesday, November 11, 1959

The women told police that while most calls were short, some have lasted up to six minutes. One day she received twelve calls within one hour and they come in at all hours of the day and night.

Local police have been at the home the past two days when calls have come in but they have been unable to get the caller to speak. "I know of no person anyone should do this, but it is certainly getting myself and the children down," said the lady whose name is being withheld.

Stubborn Irishman Insisted Oxygen Be Handy for Winnie Saving Life on African Trip

LONDON (AP) — A wartime diary indicates Winston Churchill came close to death in his 1943 illness, and that the doggedness of an Irishman named Kelly helped pull him through.

Air Vice - Marshal Thomas K. Kelly, now retired, has been keeping the story secret for 16 years. On the urging of his family and this reporter, he finally consented to its publication today.

Churchill, then 69, was stricken with pneumonia and heart trouble in December, 1943 in North Africa while at Carthage, near Tunis. His temperature rose to 102, his pulse to 130 and he suffered two heart flutters. His doctor, Lord Moran, feared he might form, and it was decided to fly Churchill to Marrakech, in Morocco, more than 2,000 miles away, for sunshine and rest.

At this point Kelly, then a senior medical officer with the RAF, intruded.

In his diary he relates that he told Wing Cmdr. Ellis, a medical specialist, to rush to Tunis three portable oxygen apparatuses.

"I wanted Ellis particularly, as I knew he had some influence with Lord Moran and that he could add weight to my opinion that oxygen should be available for the prime minister on the journey by air.

"Lord Moran said he did not agree with me and they would only travel on a fine day when there was good weather reports and would not go above 3,000 feet.

"I told him that on a long journey a decision of that sort was made in good weather and with good reports there was no guarantee that the good weather would last the whole of the journey. Moreover, that is the prime minister's condition he might require oxygen at even 2,000 feet.

"Lord Moran again said that he did not agree."

At a second conference, Lord Moran agreed agreed to consult the prime minister, and Kelly was asked Dec. 26 to see Churchill.

"He was lying propped up in bed and surrounded by documents," the diary says. "His colour is at the oxygen apparatus and asked me to explain how it worked."

"Then he asked for a demonstration. He ended by asking Kelly to fly with him to Marrakech next morning.

"The traffic was in fine weather, but the weather became bad and visibility very poor at 4,000 feet.

Finally, Churchill declared, "If I were not in this aircraft, it would be flying at 19,000 feet. It is ridiculous keeping it low—and it will crash into the mountains."

He told his daughter Sarah, "If I am not comfortable, do not give it an order . . . that the captain may fighter."

"I thought that the prime minister looked slightly cyanosed (blue) in the face," Kelly says. He proposed giving oxygen.

"But it is your affair, you take charge," he quotes Lord Moran.

He put the oxygen at 10,000 feet and then 20,000 as the plane climbed higher. The prime minister's pulse became normal and his pulse slowed down.

Kelly says that Lord Moran, landing, Kelly said, Churchill "put his hand on my shoulder and said, 'You have rendered me a great service and I am very grateful to you.'"

Turning to Lord Moran, Churchill said, "Charles, you have the need for everything."

Lord Moran beamed with delight," the diary reports.

Quebec Member Wants National Flag, Holiday

OTTAWA (CP) — A Quebec Progressive Conservative will propose legislation at the next session of parliament to set aside one day in the year as Canadian Independence Day and empowering the Canada Council to select a distinctive national flag and anthem.

The three-pronged proposal is contained in a two-page private member's bill filed with Commons Clerk Leon Raymond Tuesday by Maurice Allard, Commons member for Sherbrooke. It is expected to be debated at the new session of Parliament opening in mid-January.

The bill proposes that Dec. 11 be recognized as Canadian Independence Day. The anniversary of the signing of the Statute of Westminster in 1931. When Dec. 11 falls on a Sunday the legal holiday would be observed Dec. 12.

The measure proposes that the Canada Council select anew after a national competition a distinctive national flag and anthem. They would be submitted to the Commons and Senate within one session after the bill became law.

Under the legislation the flag would be "free of the emblem or emblems of any other country." It would be submitted to the Queen for her approval after being approved by a joint resolution of the Commons and Senate.

The national anthem selected by the Canada Council also would require approval in a joint resolution of the two houses.

Mortimer proposes a distinctive national flag "and anthem have been debated in the Commons in past sessions, but without the House reaching a conclusion. The last one was tabulated last session by Mr. Allard.

However, this it believed to be the first time that a proposal has been made for a Canadian Independence Day.

Deficit in Trade, Other Dealings to Be Covered Greater Than Ever This Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada last year continued to pay for its big deficits in trade and other international dealings by means of a fast-climbing indebtedness to foreign investors.

Indications are that the deficits to be covered this year will be even larger.

Foreign investments in Canada rose nine per cent in 1958 to a record $19,100,000,000—more than double the 1951 amount, the bureau of statistics reported Tuesday. United States investors owned 72 per cent of the total.

The inflow of long-term capital was more than enough to finance a $1,085,000,000 current account deficit piled up during the year in transactions with other countries. Of the deficit, $176,000,000 was a merchandise deficit while a record $915,000,000 deficit was caused by non-trade dealings—interest and dividend payments, tourist travel, freight costs and the like.

MUCH LARGER

This year's deficit is shaping up much larger. In the first nine months of the year the merchandise deficit was $400,400,000, with no sign of a decline in the deficit from non - trade dealings.

In fact, the bureau's report indicated that the growth of foreign capital investments is having a snowballing effect on Canada's annual deficits.

About half of last year's current account deficit resulted from this investment, as interest and dividend payments to foreign owners of stocks, bonds and other investments reached a total $586,000,000. Foreign - controlled subsidiaries also sent over $100,000,000 in payments to their home offices.

U.S. CAPITAL UP

U.S. capital investments in Canada have risen by 50 per cent since 1954, the bureau said. The $14,600,000,000 last year includes $2,200,000,000 of direct investments.

United Kingdom investors had $7,100,000,000 in Canadian holdings, while other overseas countries had $4,400,000,000 invested in Canada.

Offsetting this to some extent, Canadians last year owned $5,000,000,000 in long-term investments in other countries. There is no increase during the year in Canadian assets abroad, in millions of dollars, in certain Canadian industries at the end of 1957:

Crashes Into Tree

OTTAWA (CP) — Leclee Desjardins, 53, died Monday morning when his truck, loaded with bricks, left Highway 17, a mile east of the city limits, and crashed into a tree.

DEATH SENTENCE UPHELD

WARSAW (AP)—The Warsaw Supreme Court Tuesday upheld the death sentence for Erich Koch, last of the Nazi leaders to be tried for war crimes. Koch was convicted of responsibility for 232,000 lives taken by the Nazis while he ruled East Poland as Hitler. He can make one more appeal from the state council.

Apple Picker Did Not Figure Too Wisely

TORONTO (CP) — The sad story of a farmer who got down than his share of ups and downs while picking apples is related in a letter received by Harold Wright, safety expert of the Ontario department of agriculture.

The farmer, whose name was withheld, attached a barrel to a rope, threaded the rope through a pulley and pulled the barrel to the treetop, then fastened the other end to the tree trunk.

"I then went up the tree and picked the first barrel of apples," the farmer wrote. "Then I climbed down the tree and untied the knot in the rope trunk. Unfortunately the barrel was heavier than I was and before I knew what was happening the barrel started jerking me off the ground."

"I decided to hang on, and halfway up I met the barrel of apples coming down and received a severe blow on the shoulder. I then continued to the top of the tree, banging my head on the limbs and grieving my fingers jammed in the pulley.

"When the barrel of apples hit the ground it burst and all the apples spilled out."

At this point, the farmer wrote, the barrel was considerably lighter and something else happened.

"Still way down I met the barrel coming up and received severe injuries to my shins. Then when I hit the ground I landed on the rock rigging, getting painful cuts."

The farmer wrote he then watched and went to the house.

"The barrel then came down again, giving me another heavy blow on the head and putting me in the hospital."

Managing Editor Of Brandon Sun Dies of Cancer

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—Howard Leslie (Krug) Crawford, a onetime professional basketball player who made a brief practice of law to the newspaper business and became managing editor of the Brandon Sun, died of lung cancer Tuesday. He was 52.

Funeral is here Friday.

A native of Brandon, Mr. Crawford spent 40 years on the Sun, holding every position in the editorial department. On his retirement in October, 1958, he became associate editor and director of public relations.

He played hockey, basketball, volleyball, bowling and engaged in track and field, then became a hockey and baseball executive.

His law studies were interrupted by the First World War when he joined the 60th Battery Canadian Field Artillery, which included such other prominent athletic personalities as Conn Smythe.

Fatally Wounded

OTTAWA (CP) — Roland Beaudry, 28, federal civil servant and former member of the RCAF, was fatally wounded Tuesday when a .22-calibre rifle he was handling discharged.

Police in suburban Eastview said the bullet entered his mouth and pierced the back of his head.

Drought Year in Midwest States in Early '50s Brought Tribulations to Farmers

CHICAGO (AP)—The farmer, his leathery face streaked with dust and perspiration, turned the handle at the barn water trough. The sun was scorching and his lungs were hot and dusty.

The tap gave a dribble, a wet gurgle, then nothing.

The farmer hurried into the house to the kitchen sink. No water there, either.

Alarmed now, he charged outside to the pumphouse. The gasoline engine was chugging full force. He ran the back of his hand against his beaded forehead.

"It's dry," he mumbled to himself. "The well has gone dry."

In town, a housewife turned on her bathroom shower. A trickle of muddy water dripped from the outlet. There simply wasn't any water in the pipes.

FACTORY AT STANDSTILL

At the town's only factory, the owners went into a worried huddle with their superintendent. An unnatural quiet had replaced the din of working machinery in their thriving plant. The factory needed water to process its product and the supply was exhausted.

Why had this happened? Water-like air, was supposed to be there for the taking. Why worries about a substance so plentiful that it costs only three cents to take a tub bath, five cents a month to wash your face, one-third of a cent to flush the toilet and 15 cents an hour to water the lawn?

But this was a drought year in the early 1950s in the midwest states. The farmer, the housewife and the factory owners had just received the first-hand lesson: You don't always get water by turning on the tap.

Creeks, farm ponds and small lakes dried up, leaving the ground in the hardest - hit areas. Deep wells, serving expanding communities, ran dry from the overload.

TRUCK IN WATER

Many farmers and some entire communities had to haul their water in by trucks. Livestock was sold before fattening. Many towns piped water in from sources miles away at expensive shipper tion remedies.

Generally simple rains in the midwest in recent years have been ed or removed many of the water shortage problems associated with drought-But expanding populations and soaring industrial use of water have created serious long-range problems in some localities.

In northeast Ohio, for example, where one-third of the state's population lives, wells are drying up today. Experts say residents will have to pipe water from Lake Erie to meet future needs.

The Iowa legislature in 1957 passed a law requiring that industry and farmers needing water for irrigation first must obtain permits from the state water board.

Even a city such as Milwaukee, which overlooks the deep blue waters of Lake Michigan, has a problem. The city and its environs are outgrowing a water distribution system that once was adequate.

Unfortunately for most of the midwest, experts say, water sources are ample to meet any emergency. The area abounds in lakes, rivers and streams. The problem—and it entails considerable outlay of funds—is to deliver the supply to the right place when it is needed.

But if more and more wells are drilled into reservoirs of underground water to satisfy expanding populations and new industries, nature will not be able to keep up.

P.E.I. CENTRE

Charlottetown, capital of Prince Edward Island, had a population of 4,000 by 1758, about 10 years after its first settlement.

Holland Girl Wins Title Amid Protests

LONDON (AP) — Shapely Corina Rottschafer of Holland won the title of Miss World Tuesday night but one of the losers accused her of wearing falsies.

The accuser was Miss America, Loretta Powell.

"They ought to check her bathing suit," she told reporters. "She's padded."

Miss America also accused Miss Holland of having a boy friend among the judges.

Miss Canada, Huguette Demers, 22 - year - old Montreal model, joined in the wail against the winner, saying:

"From what I've heard, her boy friend is one of the judges. If that's true it wasn't fair to the other girls. Miss Italy (Paola Falchi) was my choice from the start."

Miss Italy got no win one more blast.

"Frankly, she's not a beauty queen," she said of the 21-year-old girl from The Netherlands. The audience seemed to find no fault with Miss Holland, whose vital statistics are 37-25-37.

Miss America was not among the finalists or even the semi-finalists.

Neither was Miss Canada.

Miss Holland denied the padding charge.

"I had no support, no wires, no padding," she declared. "You can have a look at my bathing costume to see for yourself."

Miss Holland won by four overlovely Maria Rossel of Peru.

From the applause of the audience, Miss Peru seemed to be the favorite.

The explosion of criticism came immediately after the judging and after the BBC television cameras had finished covering the contest in which 27 young women took part.

British Press Says Same Thing Could Happen

LONDON (CP) — Reflected across a vast intervening ocean, the bright glare of the U.S. television scandals has shone somewhat less spectacularly in Britain.

Instead of saying "I told you so" and embarking on a recital of the shortcomings of American culture, the British press admits it could happen here, too.

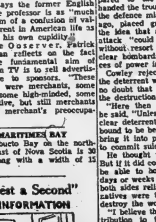
Godfrey Winn in The Daily Express says his reaction to the ordeal of Charles, Van Doren and others is that "there but for the grace of God go I."

GRANADA PROBE

Quiz programs on British television now are strictly regulated and the prizes are much smaller than in the U.S. To some extent British vigilance may result from an investigation last winter into the Granada TV program, Twenty-One.

Sir Lionel Heald, then attorney-general, was asked by Granada to inquire into alterations by a contestant that Canadian producer Dob Eden had given the contestant "definite leads" before he appeared on the program.

Sir Lionel, in his report, described Eden's methods of briefing competitors as "highly imprudent." The investigator said there was a conflict of testimony between Eden, 43-year-old former Toronto broadcaster, and contestant Stanley Armstrong.



The report was made public last Feb. 21.

The Times, in an essentially sympathetic editorial comment on what it calls Father Jarman Doron, says the former English literature professor is an "innocent victim of a confusion of values inherent in American life as he is of his own cupidity."

In The Observer, Patrick O'Donovan reflects on the fact that the fundamental aim of American TV is to sell advertising time to sponsors. These sponsors were merchants, some of them high-principled, some imaginative, but still merchants with a merchant's preoccupations."

Policies of Former Defence Minister Sandys Opposed

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Does Britain want to scrap her defence policy of relying largely on the H-bomb as a deterrent?

Britain's services chiefs apparently say no to do so. They seem to want to spend less money on the H-bomb and more on a blend of conventional forces.

Lt.-Gen. Sir John Cowley, one of the country's most respected senior officers, has publicly disagreed with Duncan Sandys, former minister of defence.

Some observers said a recent speech by Cowley hinted that there was increasing opposition to the policies of former defence minister Sandys.

This group feels that the senior services should have their views across to the public before Harold Watkinson, the new defence chief, has a chance to put any grip on affairs.

Another plausible view is that Cowley's speech may well mark the beginning of the end of Sandys' influence.

The general's speech was delivered in Ottawa to the Royal Canadian Military Institute, described Eisen's methods of briefing correspondents as "highly imprudent." The investigator said there was a conflict of testimony between Eden, 43-year-old former Toronto broadcaster, and contestant Stanley Armstrong.

The report was made public last Feb. 21.

The Times, in an essentially sympathetic editorial comment on what it calls Father Jarman Doron, says the former English literature professor is an "innocent victim of a confusion of values inherent in American life as he is of his own cupidity."

'Reasonableness' Of Beer Profits, Prices Not Issue

TORONTO (CP) — Chief Justice J. C. Mc Gillet Tuesday said the "reasonableness" of beer prices and profits is not an issue in the combines trial of Canadian Breweries Limited.

If the court starts to delve into those matters, it will newly go out of it," he told Crown Prosecutor R. F. Wilson.

Mr. Wilson replied the Crown would not argue that the price of beer was unfair. Canadian beer was high or low in relation to prices generally. He added that the Crown would not complete the bulk of its submissions by next Wednesday.

Canadian Breweries is being tried in Supreme Court of Ontario on charges of having formed or operated a merger between two or more firms to operate to the detriment or against the public interest. The company has pleaded not guilty.

The price question arose at Tuesday's session when Hailstead sales manager of the Gooderham and Worts distillery, and former chairman of Manitoba's liquor control commission, appeared as a witness.

Mr. Wilson asked him whether, as commission chairman in 1956, he had made comparisons between beer prices in Manitoba and elsewhere. Mr. Halstead said the commission did as thorough a study as it could.

The chief justice asked to what the evidence was directed and Mr. Wilson replied it would be directed toward the manner in which the Canadian Breweries brewery functioned in Manitoba and the effect of the commission.

Mr. Wilson also tried to introduce letters he said would show the collusive nature of the position taken by a Canadian Breweries' subsidiary and certain Manitoba brewers. Defence counsel objected and Chief Justice McGillet ruled the letters inadmissible.

He said conspiracy with other companies had not been proved and other firms had not been charged as co-conspirators.

LONDON (AP) — Britain in co-operation with other Commonwealth countries plans to girdle the globe with cables that will carry television as well as ordinary communications, Postmaster-General J. R. Bevins said Tuesday.

Liberal Leader Sides With Civil Servants

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario civil servants should be granted bargaining rights, Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer said Tuesday after a two-hour meeting with provincial members in the Ontario legislature.

Mr. Wintermeyer said he believes civil servants have the right to strike, he added.

Anything that would prevent the right to a strike should be solved by compulsory arbitration.

Mr. Wintermeyer suggested that the Ontario Hydro and a comparable reclassification of job categories.

"I think a contract will iron out a lot of the difficulties," he said. "Our party feels that the civil servants have a right to good and decent wages. If there are a few who are not doing their jobs or there are unnecessary numbers, they can be weeded out."

Premier Frost, a member for Brant, said bargaining rights would enable the Civil Service Association of Ontario to represent its members and get the ear of a cabinet minister.

"It's important for the civil servants to be in touch with responsible ministers," he said. "Right now all they get is hamstrung from one crisis to another."

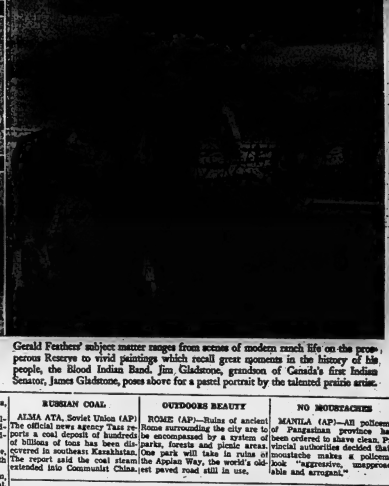
Prairie Painter



Blood Indian Artist Wins Acclaim

Gerald T. Feathers, 34-year old Blood Indian from southern Alberta, is acquiring national and international recognition as a painter of the Indian scene. Above, he makes one of his quick outdoor sketches on the beautifully situated Indian Reserve near Cardston in the foothills of the Rockies. 2800 Blood Indians live on the rich farm and ranchcare land of the 310,000 acre reservation—the largest in Canada. National Film Board of Canada photos by Guy Lansey.

Feathers' interest in art developed early in life and as a promising teenager he was given free lessons at Glacier Park, Montana, by the American artist Winold Reiss. Later he was awarded scholarships to the Banff School of Fine Arts and the Provincial School of Technology and Art in Calgary, Alta. In 1949 he married Irene Goodstriker, also from the Blood Reserve. They have two children.

Feathers works in a variety of mediums. His lively pen and ink sketches are familiar to many Canadians.

Gerald Feathers' subject matter ranges from scenes of modern ranch life on the prosperous Reserve to vivid paintings which recall great moments in the history of his people, the Blood Indian Band. Jim Gladstone, grandson of Canada's first Indian Senator, James Gladstone, poses above for a pastel portrait by the talented prairie artist.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance which is the primary of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anaesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed suppository Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Middle and Smaller Powers Want Bigger Voice in Issues

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Demands of the middle and smaller powers for due consultation in the great issues of the day became a feature of the 14th United Nations General Assembly.

In this connection, UN diplomats speculated with considerable interest on the Camp David, Md., meeting between State Secretary Christian Herter of the United States and External Affairs Minister Howard Green of Canada.

Green, as spokesman for one of the stronger countries of the Commonwealth, has attracted attention at the UN by stressing that the views of the middle and smaller powers must not be ignored by the great powers.

In this he was in line with spokesmen of many countries from the Commonwealth and elsewhere who—while expressing satisfaction at the forthcoming summit conference — also seemed worried that their own particular interests might be forgotten at the mountain top.

NATO FOR

Green has emphasized the smaller-nations concept not only in the UN itself—notably in connection with disarmament negotiations—but also in NATO.

Regarding NATO, Green says there should be greater consultation inside the alliance on such important matters as negotiating with the Soviet Union. The NATO council is scheduled to meet in Paris before the Dec. 19 conference of leaders of the U.S., Britain, France and West Germany. Green declared the council should meet afterwards as well — and when his point in the Camp David talks.

President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan, President de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer are certainly not likely to balk publicly at the idea of full consultation, still their less powerful allies. But diplomats say it is equally certain they would not press for full say in the small-nations demanded them.

Neither Green nor any other Commonwealth spokesman has charged that the big powers deliberately tried to steer around their NATO allies. Said Green in Ottawa:

"I have an idea that when they had differences, the bigger powers did not want to thresh them out in the NATO council for fear of creating even more trouble."

UN BIRARTE

In the UN, the main debate on this issue has centred around a new disarmament committee of 18 members established by the great powers outside the UN. Green, like other members of the 82 - member UN disarmament commission, gave his blessing to the committee but insisted on the UN's ultimate responsibility in all disarmament, the concern of all nations great or small. Canada is a member of the committee.

Wallace B. Nesbitt, vice-chairman of the Canadian delegation, simplified all his colleagues's position last week. The main business of disarmament negotiations falls upon the great powers, said Nesbitt, and it was on that basis that Canada agreed to render whatever help it could on the committee.

But the prime responsibility for laying down principles of disarmament remains with the UN and cannot be taken away from it, the Canadian stressed.

The 1958 wheat queen, Gail Adams, 16, of Munson, Alta., is among those competing for eight grain championships which other Western countries recognize as international. They are world titles in wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, forage crop seeds, soy beans and hay. The potato championship, an international commodities, goes his blessing to the committee but insisted on the UN's ultimate responsibility in all disarmament, the concern of all nations great or small. Canada is a member of the committee.

Two African Kingdoms to Get Independence

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — The twin kingdoms of Ruanda and Urundi, Belgian trusteeship territories in Central Africa, will be granted their own governments and parliaments by the end of the year, the Belgian government announced Tuesday.

Auguste de Schryver, minister for the Belgian Congo and Ruanda-Urundi, told Parliament regional elections would be held in two kingdoms early next year.

The government also calls for the election in each state of "councils of the country" (parliaments) and the formation of governments.

Inter-tribal warfare has been threatened for months in the territories. Hostilities in the last few days involving 2,000,000 tribesmen, pitted the "progressive" Bantu Bahutus against their feudal overlords, the aristocratic Watutsi, who represent only eight per cent of the population.

Belgium took over the former German territory after the First World War under a League of Nations mandate which was transferred to the league's successor, the United Nations.

Ruanda - Urundi adjoins the Belgian Congo, a Belgian colony for 72 years. It has been promised independence gradually over the next five years.

Full independence for Ruanda and Urundi can come only by a decision of the UN trusteeship council.

Won't Approve Shelter Built By Reporter

TORONTO (CP) — A reporter who built a fallout shelter on a $200 "do - it - yourself" plan designed by the Canadian Army says municipal building inspectors won't approve it.

Pat McNenly of The Star built the shelter in the basement of the Star Weekly's model house in suburban Etobicoke Township.

"Last week my wife Helen and I proved as a survival couple can build the shelter," Mr. McNenly wrote Monday.

"But we also learned none of the building departments in the Toronto area want to have anything to do with the shelter under its present design."

Building Commissioner F. R. Gibson said the shelter violates several building laws but he allowed the McNenlys to proceed on the understanding that it would never be used.

Building inspector Ray Millard objected to the shelter for these reasons:

Layers of heavy concrete slabs are carried on wooden frames of two - by - eight - inch timbers; the two - ton ceiling slabs are held up by timber; the five-ton structure might be too heavy for the average basement floor; the average person, unable to read blueprints, might not be able to build the shelter from army plans.

The Etobicoke building inspector said the design could be changed to conform with the Etobicoke building code but such things as use of steel supports instead of wood would put the price far beyond $200.

An official at Ottawa said the army blueprint was designed to contravene as minimum standard of building codes — "after all, there are hundreds of them."

Maj. S. N. White, engineering consultant to the emergency measures organization, said the report that Toronto area municipal building officials will structure built on the army specifications "may the first such instance reported.

While some alteration was expected before the blueprint is issued for general public use, he did not anticipate any major changes.

Maj. White said it is his understanding that the government approved the plan, and so had the National Research Council, which drawn up the national building code.

Wooden beams are used to support the roof, made of 200 concrete blocks.

"Undoubtedly, steel or concrete would be better," Maj. White said. But the design was perfectly safe for carrying such a load, although fire could cause a collapse if it got at the beams. The object had been a reasonable-cost shelter.

Will Blast Half-Mile Tunnel Through BC Mountain Side To Make Way for Highway

Written for The Canadian Press
By LARRY STANWOOD

LYTTON, B.C. (CP) — Two hundred thousand pounds of dynamite will be used during the next 18 months to blast a half-mile-long tunnel through a mountain south of here.

When the debris has been cleared, a modern highway will make uninterrupted along the Fraser Canyon and the worst and most costly road - building territory in North America will have been conquered.

Construction is expected to start this winter on the final and most expensive section of the 70-mile route from Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver, north to Lytton.

NEAR HELL'S GATE

Final gap in this section of the Trans - Canada Highway is a crazy cutputting of rock known as the China Bar and located near the Fraser River's Hell's Gate rapids.

The British Columbia highway department, seeing great difficulties because of the Canadian National Railways line below and other obstacles on top, has decided to punch through the obstruction with a 2,000-foot tunnel instead of trying to follow the present road around it.

The tunnel and its approaches constitute about 1.2 miles of new road and will be bewed out of solid rock at a cost of more than $2,000,000.

Its construction will mark the climax of a 100-year roadbuilding saga that began when the Royal Engineers carved out a bridle trail along the precipitous banks in the days of Governor Douglas.

The entire Fraser Canyon highway project has been difficult and costly, even with today's modern construction equipment and engineering techniques. It has cost an average of $300,000 a mile with some sections exceeding $1,000,000 a mile.

OTHER TUNNELS

Two other tunnels 900 and 1,100 feet in length have been driven through the base of mountains whose sheer walls have left room only for the railroad grade.

The fact that both the CNR and the Canadian Pacific chose their transcontinental routes along the canyon — one on either side — probably has presented the greatest difficulty to the modern road-builders.

Through most of the 100-mile canyon section, the only feasible road location is above the railway right-of-way. All earth and rock removal work had to be handled with extreme caution to prevent falling rock or earth slides from striking the railways. The danger to the railways was in nearly a century.

TO BUILD BYPASS — A half mile long tunnel will be blasted through a mountain to by-pass this section of the Fraser Canyon as British Columbia works to complete the last gap in the most difficult section of its Trans-Canada Highway connection. The tunnel will be located on the east side of this section of the canyon, known as China Bar. It is located near the Fraser River's Hell's Gate rapids. The tunnel, costing $3,000,000, is the last and most expensive link in the 70-mile route from Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver, north to Lytton. (CP Photo).

Noted TB Specialist Recalls Move Which Shaped Life; Never Regretted Decision

OTTAWA (CP)—When George J. Wherrett was a final - year medical student at the University of Manitoba he decided to spend part of his Christmas vacation at the tuberculosis sanatorium at Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask. It was a fateful decision.

Today, the veteran executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, newly-elected president of the International Union Against Tuberculosis, vividly recalls the move which shaped his life.

"Each student had to put in two weeks as an observer and helper at a sanatorium," the 63-year-old doctor explained in an interview in his office in downtown Ottawa.

"The Christmas holidays presented a golden opportunity, so I spent most of mine at Fort Qu'Appelle. The work appealed to me from the outset."

LIFETIME CAREER

"When the two weeks were nearly up," Dr. Wherrett continued, "the superintendent—Dr. R. G. Ferguson, now retired to Regina—suggested I return to the sanatorium after serving my internship. I did so, and have been in the TB field practically ever since."

Dr. Wherrett, who was born in Shoal Lake, Man., has been executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association for 32 years. He took the job after two separate stints at the Fort Qu'Appelle sanatorium, during the second of which he was assistant superintendent.

In between his internship and his national appointment also served an engagement with the New Brunswick health department — he organized the province's TB clinics—and two years in England doing postgraduate study in internal medicine.

On the executive committee of the international body since 1947, he was elected president of the 86-nation organization at its general convention in Istanbul last September, succeeding a Turkish doctor. The next international convention will be held in Toronto in September, 1961.

WORLD OPERATION

The international union does the same work on an international level as the Canadian association does on the national level: collecting and publishing information, co - ordinating the work of its individual chapters, educating the public, assisting in the rehabilitation of patients.

The international is financed through a levy on member countries. The national organization, which has a seven-member headquarters staff here, is supported by its provincial chapters, which in turn get their money from sale of Christmas seals. Last year 1,500,000 Canadians bought Christmas seals worth $2,500,000.

Control of tuberculosis in Canada has greatly advanced since the days when Dr. Wherrett began devoting his life to the effort.

"In those days," he says, "it was a real problem. There was hardly a family that did not have TB in it somewhere."

When the TB association was founded in 1900 the death rate was reckoned at 200 per cent per 100,000 of the population. Last year it was six per 100,000.

CASES STILL FREQUENT

"Perhaps that is not an accurate indication of the amount of TB in Canada, though. Thanks mainly to antibiotic drugs and improved diagnostic facilities, people nowadays do not die from the disease as they used to. The number of cases has not fallen off nearly as fast as the death rate.

"Last year there were more than 7,500 new cases, well over half the 11,500 to 12,000 recorded annually when TB was at its peak. . . We are afraid the idea will get around that TB has been conquered, when certainly that is not the case."

The World Health Organization —with which the International TB union works closely—has said the disease will be considered under control when fewer than one per cent of children aged 14 give a positive test.

Even in Canada, which has the fifth-lowest rate in the world, that objective is far from being realized. In a recent survey in Ontario, for instance, 4.4 per cent of children aged 10 to 14 reacted positively. The percentage would be greater in the higher age.

Internationally, tuberculosis is still a major and often deadly menace. Dr. Wherrett says, even though the rate appears to be dropping.

On the basis of calculations by the World Health Organization it is estimated 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 people in the world suffer from TB.

"The problem now," says this leader in a world struggle, "is to apply the latest methods of diagnosis and treatment in the underdeveloped countries."

Dave Thelen and Paul Dekker Only Unanimous Choice on Big Four All-Star Squads

By WILF GRIBBON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Halfback Dave Thelen, the near - sighted running sensation of the Rough - Riders, and end Paul Dekker, Hamilton Tiger - Cats' bread-and-butter pass receiver, are the only unanimous choices on the 1959 Canadian Press Big Four football union all-star teams announced today.

Thelen, who wears contact lenses because of poor vision, and Dekker, who has shown there is nothing wrong with his eyes by the way he grabs passes, earned the outstanding individual honors from the selectors who picked offensive and defensive teams for CP.

TICATS DOMINATE TEAM

The selectors—football writers, sportscasters and coaches in the league cities—packed the mythical dream teams with 12 Tiger-Cat and six Rough Rider stars.

The offensive team was made up of five Ticats, three Rough Riders and two each from Montreal Alouettes and Toronto Argonauts. Tiger-Cats landed seven men on the defensive team. Riders were next with three and the Als and Argonauts each won one position.

The offensive team: Half (flanker)—Ken Plowell, H; half—Dave Thelen, O; half — Dick Shatto, T; half—Cookie Gilchrist, T; quarter — Bernie Faloney, H; centre—Tom Hugo, M; guard—Dave Szmatuk, H; guard—Kaye Vaughan, O; tackle—Billy Shiplo, M; tackle—John Barrow, H; end —Paul Dekker, H; end — Bob Simpson, O.

The defensive team: Safety—Dezzie Wood, H; half—Ralph Goldston, H, half — Jim Kanavitsa, T; corner linebacker—Bill Sowalski, O; corner linebacker — Eddie Bell, H; inside linebacker — Erole Dearborn, H; inside linebacker — Larry Hayes, O; middle guard—Vince Scott, H; tackle—Kaye Vaughan, O; tackle —John Barrow, H; end — Dave McNichol, M; end — Pete Neumann, H. ....

The selectors, whose votes were tabulated by Jack Sowalski and Eddie Gray McNichol of Montreal and Pete Neumann of Hamilton. It was the fifth straight for Neumann and the fifth time in seven season for McNichol.

The offensive lineup—Packed with power and speed and well balanced with strong running and passing — again has Bernie Faloney at quarterback for the second successive year. The ball-handling magician last year ended the five - year reign of Sam Etcheverry of Montreal as the all-star quarterback and this time had little trouble winning the job.

Faloney, who threw 15 touchdown passes this season, was given a backfield with plenty of scoring punch. Dezzie Thelen and Howell, who finished second and third in the scoring race, the selectors picked Toronto's Dick Shatto and Cookie Gilchrist, the league's leading scorer with 15 points who beat out Gerry McDougall of Hamilton for the last backfield position.

Shatto, the league's second best pass receiver and third in ground gaining, was picked for the halfline for the fourth straight year. Centre and linebacker Tom Hugo of Montreal, a two - way selection the last five years, made it on offence only this season. Ralph Goddon of Hamilton was chosen as a defensive halfback for the fourth straight year and was the only new unanimous choice for the defensive team.

PLANTE'S SHADOW — Sportswriter Jacques Beauchamp (right) shakes hands with his new part-time boss Toe Blake, coach of the Montreal Canadiens, with whom Beauchamp has signed as spare goal-tender on road trips. General manager Frank J. Selke looks on. Beauchamp will fill in if goaler Jacques Plante is unable to play. (CP Wirephoto).

Champ Not Guilty of Assault Count

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Ingemar Johansson was not guilty of assault and battery when he sent Yngve - Ranher Amerfelt to boxer Eddie Machen to the floor Sept. 14, 1958.

This extraordinary was made public by Swedish state prosecutor Mats Heuman Tuesday. It followed an enquiry by city prosecutor Stim Stobelen of Helsingborg, South Sweden, last July.

Stobelen asked:

1. Why has Ingemar Johansson not been prosecuted for wilful assault and battery against the American citizen?

2. Machen at a boxing gala in Goteborg on Sept. 14th 1958?

3. Will the state prosecution in future bring legal proceedings for assault and battery in connection with boxing matches?

World champion Ingemar Johansson was not entirely in the clear on the following grounds:

1. Machen entered the ring voluntarily and thereby agreed to be hit;

2. Boxing is accepted by society.

Legal experts here are discussing whether Johansson can charge Stobelen with accusing him of a non-existent crime.

Sarnia Bears Win Second ORFU Championship in Row

LONDON (CP) — Two wide-open runs by Gyde Roden and halfback fractured an otherwise solid London Lords defence Thursday night and gave Sarnia Bears their second successive Ontario Rugby Football Union senior championship.

Chuck Stanley, voted the league's most valuable player, twisted and dodged 38 yards in a touchdown in the final three minutes to fashion a 17-14 win and sweep the best-of-three final in straight games.

It was the second spectacular charge by the 25-year-old speed artist from Tulsa, Okla. In the third quarter he put the flounder-ing Bears into contention with an 89-yard zigzag gallop.

The end was a bitter one for the Lords, who lost their third final playoff in four years.

Until Stanley got loose the second time, he and Bill Bruno's London crew appeared certain to make up for a 32-21 loss in the first game and force a deciding match at Sarnia Saturday.

That Stanley, that Stanley," Bruno muttered sadly in the dressing room. "He did it, didn't he?"

Aside from the two disastrous lapses, the London defence had been rock-solid. They held the Bears to the two-yard line in the first quarter, stopped them at the 20 with Karl Kaiser's interception, and beat down six runs from scrimmage all the sweeping line in the third quarter. Stanley was nailed on five of them.

Ed Husarek succeeded for a field goal and a convert and They Jackford added a 30-yard single to round out Sarnia's scoring.

London's points came on touchdowns by Kaiser on a five-yard burst up the middle, and on Larry Aldrich on an eight-yard pass to the end zone. Kaiser converted both.

After a scoreless first quarter, London led 7-3 at the half and 14-10 at the close of the third period.

The Bears were down 11 points when Stanley took a kickoff in the third quarter and tore 89 yards down the sidelines. He was tripped the brunt of the rushing attack, particularly in the second half when playing coach Frank Hogel saw little action after a leg injury.

Brilliant blocking, particularly by Gene Cook and John Klatt, paved the way for Stanley's winning run.

Sharp defensive work by yer-ican Gaitan Fisher led to London's two touchdowns.

Fisher barged through to block an Alcido kick at the Sarnia 40 and some accurate passing by London quarterback Jerry Thompkins put the Lords in position for Kaiser's plunge.

Later he nailed Jim Holden on an attempted over - centre play and grabbed Holden's fumble on the Sarnia 45. Two passes later Thompkins hit Aldrich in the end zone.

Thompkins was good on 18 of 30 passes for 191 yards. Hal Lockyer added 58 for Sarnia and clicked on nine for 121 yards. Ledyard had one interception. Thompkins none.

Guyle Fielder Had Field Day For Seattle

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guyle Fielder scored one goal and set up three others Tuesday night to pace Seattle Totems to a 5-4 victory over Edmonton Flyers in a Western Hockey League game.

The result gave Totems their first road win in four starts, solidified their hold on third place and put Fielder in a tie for top spot with teammate Marc Boileau in the individual scoring race with 20 points apiece.

Vancouver Canucks beat Winnipeg Warriors 3-1 for their seventh home victory in eight starts. Vancouver is six points ahead of Victoria Cougars with 25 points. Seattle is another two points back, followed by Calgary Stampeders, Winnipeg and Spokane.

Fielder is the defending scoring champion. He won the title the last two seasons with more than 100 points each time.

Other Seattle goals came from Bill MacFarland, Jim Powers, Bill Davidson and rookie centre Gerry Geurin. Edmonton marksmen were Chick Holmes, Dave Amadio, Lou Haley and Roger Delisle.

Eddie Dorohoy, Bruce Carbonneau and Dennis Bellida split the Canucks scoring. Paul Masnick scored for Winnipeg.

Miami Approves Fight Site

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The city commission Tuesday approved unanimously Vincent J. Velella's offer of $60,000 for the Orange Bowl as the site of the return heavyweight championship fight between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson.

The decision now rests with the board of trustees of the Florida National Bank, which holds the Orange Bowl bonds.

Velella said last week the fight would be held in the bowl, probably March 1, if his offer is accepted.

Johansson has said, however, that he wouldn't be ready to fight in March and that he preferred to defend his title in New York in June. The latter would be a more dramatic part in a television show at New York.

Yvon Durelle Says He Can Beat Chuvalo

TORONTO (CP) — Yvon Durelle has resumed up his New, 17 Canadian heavyweight boxing championship bout with holder George Chuvalo of Toronto this way.

"I beat Chuvalo is a pretty hard puncher. Well, I am too and I come back up. It's going to be a good fight because Chuvalo is too lazy to look out.

That was the gist of an hour-long press conference Tuesday at the Eglinton Sportsman from Bale Ste. Anne, N.B. said he thought Chuvalo won't go the limit. "One of us will be on the floor before then and I'm pretty sure it won't be me."

Queried about his age, the 190-pound Durelle said he is 28.

He repeated earlier statements that he intends to quit boxing soon. "But don't ask me for an exact date," he said. "Ten not after the fight."

Hold Judgment On Cus D'Amato

NEW YORK (AP)—The state athletic commission Tuesday reserved judgment until Nov. 17 on Cus D'Amato's attorney who asked dismissal of four of the five charges against the fight manager. The charges were made in connection with the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight.

D'Amato's hearing ended Tuesday with cross - examination by Assistant Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, as the manager of former heavyweight champion Patterson stuck to his original story. D'Amato's licence was suspended in 1954.

There was no indication when the commission would make a decision on the D'Amato case. It has asked Julius Newmark, its attorney, to produce copies of certain contracts.

The hearing on Bill Rosenbach, the suspended promoter, will open Thursday. He is charged with irregularities in the promotion of the June 30 title bout.

D'Amato denied he never threatened to pull the Patterson-Johansson fight out of New York.

D'Amato said he had suggested Harry Davidson, a former partner, as American manager of Johansson because he is "an honest man, a capable manager and I knew the International Boxing Club couldn't get to him. He denied he had proposed Davidson because he could control him.

UBC Gridders Hope for Best In Toronto

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coach Frank Gnup looked up from a scouting report and said without hesitation:

"We're going down there. Let's just leave it at that."

He had been asked for a pre-diction on the Canadian college football final between his University of British Columbia Thunderbirds and the University of Western Ontario Mustangs in Toronto's Varsity Stadium Sunday afternoon.

"We can just hope for the best," said Gnup, in a great understatement.

The entire athletic department looked for a little more than the best from the Birds who, with a victory, could do much toward running a spark of renewed interest in football this year which hasn't been shown this year with UBC's return to a Canadian conference.

Interest had lagged with losing seasons in the Evergreen with small U.S. col- reaseCeiar Conference with small U.S. colleges and attendance dribbling to below 2,000 a game. It increased some this season as the Birds returned to the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Union and swept through its schedule undefeated.

"If we can win in Toronto it will give us a tremendous lift," says athletic director Bus Phillips. But he, Gnup and everyone on the team is aware that victory in Toronto could be the biggest football upset of the year.

The Eastern schools had pre-season competitions during the last six years and the best Birds could do was a scoreless tie.

Olson Matched With Durelle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Duke Olson, king of the middleweights, and Yvon Durelle have signed for a Dec. 7 light heavyweight fight here, but with one reservation.

The durable Canadian must round out unscathed in his Nov. 17 fight in Toronto with George Chuvalo.

"We'll definitely use Durelle if he loses," matchmaker Bernie Ford said Tuesday. "But we should be cut up or knocked out, chances are we'll call off the fight."

Olson, 31, has won five straight on his present comeback as a middleweight.

Novel, Once Turned Down, Sold for Movie at $100,000

By ROB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's a television figure who has made a quick fortune — but not from a phony quiz show.

His name is Jerry Gilman, and he made the mint with his trusty typewriter. He wrote a hefty novel about present - day Hawaii. Such Sweet Thunder, that has been swept up for $100,000 by Columbia Pictures that may well be the highest price paid by a studio to an unknown author.

Pete has been laboring in comparative anonymity as publicist for the film subsidiary of NBC. He made series out of Peter Gunn and The Lawless Years. That job ends Friday.

Variety reported that he is quitting because of "an embarrassment of riches." That's one sense. What writer (or anybody else) was ever chastised by too much credit? The fact is that Pete is leaving the post to write another novel in Europe, and is being paid a tidy sum for his trouble by the publisher.

"It's all pretty amazing," says Gilman, a well-spoken young man of 31.

The New York-born Pete stinted at a news career. He worked for the Monterey Peninsula Herald, the AP in San Francisco, the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and Los Angeles Times before taking nine months off to gestate his novel. He re-worked it for another eight months while laboring part-time for a publicity office with such no clients as Sheena, Queen of the Jungle.

And was the book an instant hit?

"Nope," admitted Pete. "It was turned down by New York publishers, and my agent sent it back to me.

The author had already struck out with two previous books and was about to give up. Then one he showed Such Sweet Thunder to a fellow publicist, Joe Mortalan. The latter embossed over it and interested Tom Lewis, local head of the new American Library. The latter snapped it up with the promise of a million-copy printing and arranged for a hard-cover publisher.

Then came the Columbia deal and everything's coming up roses for Pete Gilman.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The geographical set-up of the Ontario senior "A" Hockey League (from the Soo east) Weekend hockey referees the top-bracket phans. The down-suiters with the exception of an occasional one from Kingston have to be satisfied with the necessary work until the lower brackets hockey opens.

The Kitchener Dutchmen, besides player and Olympics troubles is having more woes with the officiating, although it is the only centre whose public relations have come out flatfooted with griping.

Len Taylor, sports editor of the Kitchener Record, lands both barrels of his columnar shotgun and squeezes both triggers at the same time. He levels red-hot blasts at the senior "A" officiating in general, takes a board-driven peek or two at the OHA and singles out one arbiter with a pellet or so.

"There's one thing that can be said for hockey referees (that's printable, we mean). It doesn't take them long to get into mid-season form.

"So far this year we've seen most of the OHA veteran whistle-tooters in action and you'd never know they had been off for the summer. The same old blindness seems to afflict them as in the past and there is the same solicitable lack of judgment.

"This corner is still waiting for the OHA to send along some new, young referees. Absent all we ever see are men who have never been capable arbiters at any time. Frankly we're tired of them, and we suspect that they're a bit tired of us.

"Last night was a case in point. The man behind the whistle was Gord Feveregus, who will remain famous in these parts for a long time as the official who permitted Whitby Dunlops to kick in the winning goal in a key game of the OHA senior finals last year.

"Like the others, we're sad to report, he looks just the same as usual.

"Last night he skilled badly in the second period when he penalized goalie "Rood" Bradley for delaying the game. Hurley stopped a flip shot which took a crazy bounce. The rebound came directly in front of the cage. Hurley smothered it; referee Gord ignored play.

"We are convinced that this penalty was wrongly called. We are certain that the interpretation of the rule only provides a penalty for a goalie flopping on the puck behind the net. Bradley was across the goal mouth from side to side of the rink and.

"Coach Bill Durnan of the Dutchmen agrees with this view. He says it was offered to clear up ambiguity in the many rule which was introduced this year to stop all the fooling around preceding Jacques Plante.

"If the revised version was announced, and we're sure it was, no copy appears to have reached brother Feveregus. The penalty came at an awkward time, too, because the Bulldogs had just scored to cut the Dutchie lead to a single goal.

"We wonder what might have happened had Whalley tied it up and gone on to win. We suspect that the OHA might have had a final protest to consider.

"The OHA is spending several thousand dollars annually to develop referees. As far as this corner can discover it must be money down a rathole because we just never see any new men in charge of games.

"Some of the best officials in the association are from Kitchener and they are never assigned to games in which Kitchener teams play. This is probably a sensible rule but in view of the lack of capable men there might be times when it could be waived.

"We have heard it said that the failure to give new officials a chance to gain experience in other than away points-tally good men from the OHA refereeing setup.

"Some of the complainants say that it is impossible to break into the officiating as a referee unless you are part of a select circle.

"The same charge was heard at the OHA annual meeting last year when quits a commotion was raised about the whole setup. So far it doesn't appear to have done any good."

Oddly enough a night or so after Taylor let go his blast there was a senior "A" game played in Stratford between the Indians of that city and Strathroy. And that ole garnbo, Chick Appel of Stratford, takes a dig at the officials even though his Indians won. Where were the referees from? Kitchener, of course.

Ti-Cats Coach Jim Trimble Strangely Quiet Over Game

HAMILTON (CP)—Jungle Jim Trimble, the usually voluble coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, is strangely quiet at his defeated-but-Big Four champions prepare for the opening of their two - game, total-points eastern football playoff Saturday with Ottawa Rough Riders.

It appears to be deliberate. As is well known, Trimble isn't the sort who can confine himself to platitudes.

He may still come through with something controversial but for the present he has at least a couple of reasons for being close-mouthed. It will be recalled that he didn't mince any words before last year's Grey Cup final in declaring his Tiger-Cats would beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The westerners made him eat his words.

Last week Trimble made some remarks to the effect that it wouldn't surprise him if Montreal Alouettes beat Ottawa in the Big Four semi-final. He got quite a ribbing from Ottawa fans after Riders blasted Als 43-3.

SILENCE GOLDEN?

If he can avoid saying anything that might further stir up the high-flying Rough Riders before Saturday's game in Ottawa, it will serve his purposes.

Hamilton is rated six - point favorite to win the nationally-televised opener scheduled for 1 p.m. EST, despite the fact that it has been having injury troubles.

Bronco Nagurski, 23 - year - old fullback from Notre Dame who qualifies as a Canadian because his famous father was born in this country, is out with a knee injury first suffered in a pre-season game and aggravated several times.

Nagurski's out for the first game of the Big Four finals for sure and he might be out for the rest of the year," Trimble said. "That will hurt us badly."

Another Ottawa ailment is the tender shoulder of Jon Cheponis, who came up from Brantford last month, will replace Nagurski.

Another of Trimble's problems is to stop Ottawa's outside running. This would be less worry if he had Steve Oneschuk and Eddie Bell healthy. But Oneschuk is out of action and Bell's leg is bad. The former Philadelphia Eagles player will play anyway but there is some question as to whether he'll be 100 per cent effective.

Toronto Line Clicks Twice In 3-1 Victory Over Hawks; Hull Tallies for Chicago

By LAURENT CHABSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A Toronto Maple Leafs forward line that was expected to score at least 70 goals in the National Hockey League this season may have finally hit its stride.

Before the season started George (Punch) Imlach, Leafs' manager - coach, picked Frank Mahovlich to score 30 goals and Billy Harris at least 20 each. So after 12 games the trio, which tallied 15 times in the Stanley Cup playoffs last spring, had produced only four goals.

Tuesday night in Chicago the line scored twice as the Maple Leafs defeated the Black Hawks 3-1, revealing Imlach's observation of some time that it would only be a matter of time until the line started to click.

"They've had the chances and the way they're playing they'll get many more," he said then.

Mahovlich, with his third goal of the season and Harris his first in the Toronto victory, Ron Stewart scored the other for empty net after Hawks pulled goalie Glenn Hall in an effort to equalize. Bobby Hull tallied for Chicago.

The win pushed Leafs into a second - place tie with Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings. Five points behind league-leading Montreal Canadiens. The Leafs, Bruins and Wings each have 17 points while Chicago has played one game in hand over the other two teams.

The loss stretched the Hawks' winless streak to 13 games, during which they have managed only two ties.

Harris, who centres the big line, scored 32 last year as did Mahovlich. Ehman got 12 in 44 appearances before being bought from Hershey Bears of the American League. Ehman and Mahovlich each scored six in the playoffs, Harris three.

HARRIS OPENS SCORING

Harris put the Leafs ahead 1-0 at the 7:07 mark of the second period Tuesday night, his shot bouncing off Hawks' defenceman Pierre Pilote. At 15:38 Mahovlich made it 2-0, tipping in Harris's shot.

Hull blasted a short drive behind Johnny Bower with 29 second left in the period. It was his sixth goal of the season.

Stewart's goal at 19:12 of the last period was his first of the season.

The Hawks were back at full strength with wingers Eddie Litzenberger and Eric Nesterenko restored to active duty after being benched two games for ineffectiveness. Veteran Ted Lindsay also played after sitting out two games with a slight concussion.

New York Rangers, with general manager Muzz Patrick coaching, beat the red-hot Boston Bruins in tonight's only game. Coach Phil Watson undergoes an operation for an ulcer today and will be lost to the club for a month.

Flyers, Petes Win Over Teeps, Cubs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barrie Flyers, virtually unrivalled in the Ontario Hockey Association since the first of the season, moved into a first place tie with Toronto St. Michael's Majors when they defeated St. Catharines TeePees 5-3 in one of two Ontario Hockey Association junior A games Tuesday night.

The Flyers, now 7-1-0, playing their first home game, joined Hamilton Tiger Cubs 3-1 before a crowd of 1,800.

Outplaying St. Catharines in the first half but nearly unnerved in the third period, the Flyers got their fourth victory in six starts.

The defeat left TeePees tied with Hamilton in sixth place in the seven-team circuit.

NEVER HEADED

Barrie built a 3-0 lead in the first 10 minutes of the opening period on goals by Jake Milley and Marcel Tessier. Murray Hall put the TeePees on the scoreboard with a single late in the first but markers by Nelson Le Clair and Jeannot Gilbert gave the Flyers a two-goal margin at the end of the second.

Ben Greco and Ray Hadfield scored two unanswered goals for St. Catharines in the third but a goal by Fraser Gore at 8:32 put a quick halt to the TeePees' rally.

Nine minor penalties were called, five to Barrie.

It was 3-1 for Petes in the first period and the score remained unchanged in the second.

Both netminders were excellent. Gary Mork scored at 19:58 of the third for Petes on an empty net with the goaler pulled.

Barry Meyer opened early for Peterborough and Wayne Conroy made it 2-0 before Dave Leeson later in the first frame got the lose Cubs' counter.

Bookies Say

Eskys Rated Favorites Today, Bombers Should Win Series

By GERRY McNEIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos flex their punishing ground attack and the magic of quarterback Jackie Parker against Winnipeg Blue Bombers and versatile Kenny Ploen today in the first game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union's final series.

The big question:

Does Ploen, who found himself on the bench No. 1 quarterback when Jim Van Pelt was hurt early in the season, have enough to absorb the bewildering Eskimos to beat them?

Bookmakers say no — and yes.

They installed Eskimos 3½-point favorites today but rated Bombers at even money to 7 to 5 against the best-of-three series.

Winnipeg coach Bud Grant remains silent.

"We're pretty even clubs. Edmonton can count us in for two games during the season. We each won two, each lost a game and tied another," he said.

HURT TWO WAYS

"Now the quarterback we've used all season is back but, we're still in our safety (Ploen). That's something of a question mark," he added tersely.

Winnipeg hasn't quarterbacked a full season since his shoulder separation two years ago. Van Pelt has played Edmonton almost three times then. He knows the Eskimos. Kenny couldn't be expected to.

Those who have been kicking around the merits of Ploen and Van Pelt will get some idea of the Bomber offensive after today's opening kickoff at 4 p.m. EST on Clarke Stadium's frozen turf. A heavy north wind was expected to make the temperature feel colder than the 15 degrees above zero registered.

The second game is set for Winnipeg Saturday and a third, if necessary, in Edmonton Tuesday next Wednesday. The CBC was to televise today's game over its Western Canada network. The remaining games will be televised nationally.

Canada Takes Prix de Nations

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada won the Prix de Nations international jumping by the margin of a single knockdown Tuesday night as the National Horse Show wound up an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden.

This was the most important international competitive event of the show and it was a fine victory for the Canadians.

Canada finished with 19¾ points to 22¾ for the second-place U.S. Argentina was third with 38½.

The competition was in two sections, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. At the end of half way point Canada was first with 14½ faults to 18½ for the U.S.

In the final go-around, Canada's Doug Carney had 3½ faults, Tom Gaylord 3% and Jim Elder 9.

The U.S.—which clinched the team title Monday night—wound up with 126 points in the international events compared with 77 for Canada. Chuck Grant, Bill Steinkraus and company won six of the 12 jumps while Canada had four victories, Argentina, Brazil and Mexico one each.

Steinkraus was the top individual rider with 46 points.

Ten Former College Stars On Ottawa Riders' Roster

By DON ATTFIELD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Eastern Canada's intercollegiate football talent has been picked over heavily for this year's Ottawa Rough Riders line-up for any other Canadian professional team.

There are 10 former college stars on the Rider roster, eight of them playing first string. Other teams in the Big Four football league and the western conference have up to six, with three or four first-stringers.

Coach Frank Clair said in an interview it was as much by luck as by anything that Riders got them, "but we certainly went after them too."

With pro teams limited to 12 imports, a rich offer is said to be strong as its Canadian component.

The advantage of being former college players were enumerated by Clair.

They come to the team with three or four years of good football training.

"It's harder to break in players from each of junior or high school ranks.

"They're more mature, and easier to coach because they were used to it in college."

He said he was "almost tempted also to bring in the college boys" because of trouble spotting imports at the start of this season.

With Riders heading into the league final against Hamilton Tiger-Cats this Saturday, all has picked out for the best.

The influx of college footballers to Ottawa began in earnest in 1956 when Riders picked up Lou Bruce from Queen's University in the college draft. For that same season they got Ted Smale in a deal with Toronto Argonauts after Smale's graduation from the University of Toronto.

Gary Schreiber, who converted all six Rider touchdowns against Montreal Alouettes in last Sunday's 43-0 semi-final win, followed teammate Bruce to Ottawa later that same year. The halfback has been among the top Big Four scorers the last two years.

One of the biggest catches was sophomore Ron Stewart, also from Queen's, who has been showing his best stuff this year. He had refused to play for Montreal, who drafted him, and Ticats, to whom he was 'sold.'

Coach Clair is superlative in his praise for this fleet half, smallest man in the league at five feet, six inches and 175 pounds.

Gary Clair, the luckiest acquisition was quarterback Russ Jackson from McMaster University. He was picked on the third choice when he became eligible last year and Jackson had not been picked when it came to Riders' turn.

Jackson got into a starting role towards the end of the 1958 season after injuries knocked out quarterbacks Tom Dimitroff and Hal Ledyard.

After Frank Tripucka, from Saskatchewan Roughriders, was released this year, Jackson started a streak of eight wins in nine league games.

University of Ottawa produced Gene Bruno Bitkowski in 1951 and tackle Gilles Archambault three years ago.

Jim Hughes, also a centre, came to Ottawa after being drafted from Queen's by Hamilton while fullback Ken Ploen, most valuable player at the University of Toronto and formerly with Royal Military College, came to Ottawa outside the draft this year.

Last-Second Goal Gives Maroons 3-2 Win Over Macs

Sharpe's Net-Circling Tally Just Another Heartbreaker After 2-Goal Lead Deleted

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The clock was ticking off the seconds when the Chatham Maroons drew in for what appeared to be the last play of the game.

Fleet Gary Sharpe took the puck behind the goalmouth, circled the net and headscored a high corner shot into the net to give the Maroons a 3-3 victory over the cellar-dwelling Belleville McFarlands here last night.

The win gives the Maroons a half-share of second place in the Ontario senior "A" Hockey League. Whitby occupies the other fifty per cent after their 5-3 win last night over the league-leading Kitchener Dutchmen.

The Maroons blew a two-goal lead, scoring the only first-period goal and adding another in the second before the visitors cut the margin. The Macs went all-out in the third frame tying the score after three minutes of play and narrowly missing on next a few occasions.

The first period was marked by lack-adaisical hockey on the part of both clubs although the Maroons had a 24-23 shooting edge. Dale DeCesare Maniago in the Belleville nets and Johnny Ahearn in the Maroon rigging came up with some sparkling saves.

Power, Tennant and Sharpe were the Maroon sharpshooters with Barton Bradley and Wally Youngberg counting for the Macs who have yet to win their second game in ten starts.

The game while rugged in spots was not what could be called rough, eight penalties being handed out by the official, five to the McFarlands and one a misconduct to the Maroons' Jorke.

The Macs appeared unable to get untracked in the first period against a club they should have had no shred more than a good past two performances. Their passes were going astray and they failed to get a shot on the Chatham net in the first nine minutes of play. In fact Chatham's outshot them 11-4 during the heat. If you could call it that.

Maniago looked good in the Belleville goal having no chance on Power's short range shot, a gaggling play with Connelly, and Slow after five minutes of play.

Tennant drew the only penalty of the period for holding the puck behind. Serving the period but the Macs failed to develop any kind of a power play. It was only the 4.30 Forbes's close-in shot deflected off Maniago's pad that came next to give the visitors a 2-0 lead.

Crawford and Gagnon went off within six minutes of each other but no damage was done. Zorica drew a misconduct with less than two minutes to go and the Macs seemed to take a new lease of life.

Moe Bonnell barged down centre ice and Ahearn came out of the net. Bonnell's stick spun the goalie and he had scarcely got back when Wally Youngberg drove a wrist-high slicer past him to break the MacFarland line. Seconds later the same player ran nicely mixed the point.

It was wide-open free-wheeling hockey in the third period with Maniago and Slow the goats. Both teams pulled out the stops and again both goalies were the highlight kicking out rubber. The Macs outshot the Maroons 11-10 in the period but were outscored 34-33 on the game.

The Macs moved like a new club after three minutes of driving tactics in the offensive zone. After three minutes of efforts to move the clincher, Bun Gagnon picked up a Crawford pass behind the Macs blueline sent it whizzing thick-width to the spanking Bradley who took it in stride raced in on Ahearn and beat him cleanly with a backhander to knot the count.

From then on it was a nip-and-tuck battle. The Maroons hit the post three times behind Maniago while the Macs were missing close in or bouncing the puck off a pipe.

Bailey and Power were checked for cross-checking and interference and the pace quickened as the five-skill teams love into each other in an effort to get the winner.

Crawford drew a penalty with less than three minutes to go but the Macs held the fort and came within an ace of scoring themselves.

Then came what appeared to be the last drive of regulation time and Sharpe's net-circling winning tally. It was a heart-breaker for the Macs to lose — but they're becoming accustomed to such games now.

Hull Wallops Kingston 6-2; Carter Stars

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Billy Carter, 21 - year - old centre with Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, became the first 30-goal player in the Eastern Professional Hockey League on Tuesday night as his club moved into a first-place tie in the standings.

Carter, who is scoring goals at a rate of more than one a game, clicked in two as Hull - Ottawa defeated Kingston Frontenacs 6-2. Kingston, 11 games into only game scheduled in the newly-formed league, and the result left the Habs tied for first with Montreal Royals.

The Montreal squad, however, has played three fewer games.

Hull - Ottawa has played 15 games, the same as Sudbury Wolves who are in solo possession in third-place. Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds are fourth and Kingston and Troi - Rivieres Lions are tied for last.

HAS 30G IN 30M

Carter, way ahead in the league's goal-scoring race, has 30 to play for the amateur Hull - Ottawa Junior Canadiens. In the 1957-58 season he was with Montreal Canadiens for one game.

Rookie of the Month in Eastern Hockey League and Montreal Royals of the Quebec Hockey League.

Rochester used him for a full schedule last season but he only produced seven goals and 19 assists. Already this season he has nearly 40 points.

The Canadiens fired 34 shots at Kingston goalie Normand Jacques Tuesday night. Rookie Ken Walters had to handle only 23 for Hull - Ottawa.

19 IN TWO GAMES

The scamper now has allowed 19 goals in two games, Kingston was swamped 12-4 by Montreal in their last start.

A crowd of 2,000 watched the Habs' crush open a 3-2 game with a three-goal explosion in the second period. Carter got his two and then the other scorer was rookie Bill Mahoney, formerly of Whitby Dunlops defeated Kitch-ener-running Dutchies.

ener-Waterloo Dutchmen 5-3 and Chatham Maroons handed Belleville McFarlands a 3-2 loss Thursday night.

Ontario Hockey Association Senior A play Tuesday night.

Whitby, paced by the brilliant skating of Fred Etcher, pulled them to within one point of the Etcher led the attack with two goals and two assists. George Samolenko had two goals and Al Treen one for the winners.

Cliff Pennington and Ron Metz each scored one goal for Dutchies.

Six penalties were handed out, four to Whitby. The Dunlops out-shot the visitors 47-26.

Victoria Fans Now 'Charge' Hockey Tickets

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP) — "Use on the slats, centre ice shoot half" may yet change its tune.

Hockey fans in Victoria have been using this, or a similar line for nearly a month now to buy tickets to home games of the Cougars in the professional Western Hockey League.

They've been credit cards for hockey. If the plan works out in Victoria, it may spread to other WHL cities.

Hal Laycoe, former National Hockey League player now is coach and general manager of Victoria Cougars, introduced the plan when early season attendance lagged.

In three weeks, Cougars issued more than 800 credit cards which permit the fan to obtain tickets without paying and get the bill at the end of the month.

OTHERS SEE MERIT

Most others in the league, questioned about the idea, said it seemed to have merits and Edmonton and Winnipeg operators said they're studying it closely with a view to possible use there.

League president Al Leader said Seattle Totems have been doing the same thing this season through "select restaurant" credit cards issued by a number of Seattle restaurants. About five per cent of the 13,000 in Seattle who have such cards are using them for Totem home games.

"It appears to be a good thing, a coming thing," Leader said. "I will have to be up to each individual club to set up its own credit system, however. I don't think it could be handled on a league-wide basis."

Other Hull-Ottawa scorers were defenceman Jean-Claude Tremblay, who got two, and Frank Mahovlich. Tremblay has just arrived from the parent Montreal Canadiens.

Veteran Stan Maxwell, rookie Gerry Ouellette, 20, and veteran Bob Chrystler, 25, scored the Kingston goals.

Dennis Dorrwall - born centre who has had NHL experience and last season played with Toledo-Hires, now has scored 12 goals and is the club's leading scorer.

Syndicate Wins Soccer Pool

LONDON (AP) — Twenty-six Polish immigrants and their families shared the jackpot of $112,128 Tuesday on a British soccer pools ticket.

The lucky family, a 33-year-old pole who was driven from his homeland by the Nazis in the Second World War headed the Polish syndicate and filled in the winning coupon.

It was Tuesday's first stroke of goodluck in years. After being forced from his homeland, he spent years in forced labor and displaced persons' camps.

He came to Britain to make a new start in 1946. Only four months ago, unemployed and with time hanging in his hands, he launched the syndicate.

On The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—Disarmament and Trans Lisa won the first two races at Raw Woodbine Tuesday to combine for the Ontario racing season's largest daily double at $1,178.20. Fourteen persons cashed in on the wheeled combination of numbers one and five.

Tuesday's Quinella also paid a handsome $137.60 when Peggy King and Pine Aire finished first and second in the fifth race.

General Tendencies: The day time is a continuation of the unusual and interesting events and situations that arose yesterday. So be sure to take full advantage of them. Then the afternoon and evening are apt to dwindle to a much less hectic, fascinating pace and you would be wise to double-check whatever you say or do to avoid discord.

Aries (March 21 to April 20) — Spent some time in A.M. getting your appearances at its best under expert hands. Then be off to specialized activities and perform C-nun with ease and poise. P.M. do your best to console that unhappy comrade. Be kind.

Taurus (April 21 to May 20) — Make sure surrounding events are a perfect order during early A.M. Then look into more modern methods that will bring ease and greater happiness to those whom you love. P.M. be extra nice and be out with some wise older person. Learn.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — See that you immediately follow the good advice of a most clever elementary. Do not fuss over a person who comes within your circle this A.M., though briefly. Later, discharge your social obligations. P.M. consider the time element in connection over a promises made.

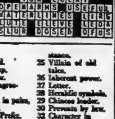
Moon Children (June 22 to July 22) — Don't muff that chance to get your work on a more operative basis in A.M. Go to higher-up for whatever additional information you require. P.M. give your undivided attention to those who are on the verge of bankruptcy.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) — There is much pertinent data that can be yours, but you must make the effort to go after it quickly. P.M. forego dull work and follow through with obligations pending. Be orderly so that you can restore depleted energies.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — You can follow through with promises and get your credit rating, too, almost efficiently in A.M. Later you can go ahead with regular labors. However, be sure you do not carry in P.M. It's a loved one who has proven loyal for so long.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — A clever associate holds the key to your advancement right now. Ask point-blank for information. Letter, get those problems ironed out intelligently instead of bemoaning your fate.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) — Ask and start on whatever labors you have to perform quickly puts them behind you and gives you an edge on the other fellow. P.M. ferret out intelligently those things that puzzle you the most. Be secretive.



Sagittarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) — There is every opportunity to enjoy yourself in A.M., so accept the persons and situations about you. Be kind to those who deserve kindness. P.M. beware of that self-seeking comrade. Proceed to be busy.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Some suggestions that your boss has as early as you can. Then will things begin to get set up your way and be anticipated. Show you have good horse sense. P.M. avoid arguments with higher-up or you lose position, social.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You are positively radiant in A.M. and can make a fine impression on the right people. Do so. Also, shop for articles of charm, accessories, etc. P.M. do not follow advice of a too-talkative friend.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Financial and practical affairs are best worked out in A.M. Get everything working for better. During the latter part of day, do not follow the suggestions of a dull-thinking associate or you get in Dutch. Stick to worthy.

If your child is born today . . . The charming child born today will have a very live imagination early in life and the pioneering spirit is very strong here. Education, therefore, is a very great factor in this chart, combining the highest spirituality with the most profound in academic studies. Let your child strike out for himself, or herself, as soon as schooling is terminated, since great success comes upon reaching majority.

Baby's Constipation

When baby's bowels are overloaded with undigested food, poisons start rising to the head, causing what mothers call "sick headache." Baby's tongue is coated, and breath is bad. Baby's stomach is upset, and baby may feel sick. Give baby Fletcher's Castoria. Fletcher's Castoria is a vegetable laxative that helps clean baby's bowels, so nothing stays for these poisons to form. Fletcher's Castoria is made especially for babies. It's mild, gentle, and safe. Always look for the Chas. H. Fletcher signature when you buy, to make sure of getting genuine Fletcher's Castoria. WON'T MAKE SWAP

MONTREAL (CP)—An offer by New York Rangers to swap Camille Henry for Don Marshall of Montreal Canadiens has been rejected.

The offer was made last week-end by general manager Muzz Patrick of New York's National Hockey League club.

"Henry's value is largely on the power play," said Canadiens managing director Frank Selke. "Our club has the best power play lineup and to take Henry would be tantamount to saying we would have to bench someone like Bernie Geoffrion, Dickie Moore or Henry Richard to make room for Henry on our own power play."

LEAGUE ALMOST SET

NEW YORK (AP)—The eighth and last franchise in the new American Football League probably will go to either Boston or Philadelphia within the next 10 days, it was indicated Tuesday by Harry Wismer, radio - television sportscaster and president of the New York Titans.

TRABERT TO RETIRE?

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Tony Trabert, former United States and Wimbledon champion, said Tuesday he may retire from professional tennis as a player. Steer Mauls Member of Hunting Party

ROSLIN — A freak accident occurred on Monday morning in the woods east of Moneymore when Mr. Ernest Coulter was badly bruised and suffered a surprise attack by a steer, while deer hunting. In the attack, Mr. Coulter's gun was knocked out of his hand, and when he did retrieve it, another member of the hunting party, Mr. Howard Meeks, became to his assistance and was finally able to drive the animal away with stones. Mr. Coulter is a patient in Belleville Hospital at the present time.

The same day the hunting party was successful in bagging two deer.

Today's Game Not Televised

TORONTO (CP) — A CBC spokesman said Tuesday "we don't want to have football at all" in answering fans' complaints why the first game of the Western Canada football final between Winnipeg and Edmonton this afternoon is not being televised in the East.

All games of the best-of-three series are being telecast in Western Canada but the CBC plans to carry one in Eastern network only those games considered "crucial."

The second game Saturday will be telecast in Eastern Canada, with the Eastern network joining the Western Canada stations following the telecast of the first game of the two-game, total-points Big Four final between Hamilton and Ottawa.

The third game of the western final next Wednesday and the second game of the Big Four series Nov. 21 will be telecast nationally.

LOST SPHERE

Pravda Supports Castro As Trade Deal Is Rumored

Moscow Paper Says U.S. Plot Has Been Foiled

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda said Wednesday that Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba has legislative backing against his regime but asserted that "U.S. monopolist circles are not going to lay their weapons down."

The Communist party newspaper said Castro believes there is a connection between a leaflet raid on Havana last month and army commandant Camilo Cienfuegos' disappearance in Camaguey Province. Castro has charged that the pamphlet dropping plot aimed to "terrorize" Havana.

The Toronto Globe and Mail says in a Washington dispatch that negotiations for a large-scale economic deal between the seven the Soviet Union and Cuba may start next week in Mexico City, where First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan will attend a trade affair. It quotes Washington sources as saying the agreement may be "$200,000,000 figure.")

Revolucion, newspaper of Castro's 26th of July revolutionary movement, charged in an editorial Wednesday to "vile rumors about Castro Cienfuegos." It is in charge them on the U.S. press.

Cienfuegos is believed to have been lost in a sea on a flight from Camaguey to Havana. But there are still sorts of rumors. One says he was murdered by political enemies. Another says he was captured by his enemies and is held somewhere in Cuba. The latter says he is in a heavily guarded Havana military hospital.

The spread of such rumors is expected to force Castro to make a public statement on the missing commander.

A spokesman for a Havana TV station said Castro had accepted an invitation to speak today.

A London report Wednesday said Castro has assigned a Cuban air force captain to survey prospects of buying Soviet MiG jet fighters in Czechoslovakia.

Britain and the United States have placed an embargo on arms sales to the Caribbean until tension eases in the area.

TRY TO ENSURE COTRONI NOT TO LEAVE WEALTHY

Must Get $88,000 By This Weekend

MONTREAL (CP) — The legal machinery that put narcotics kingpin Giuseppe (Pepi) Cotroni behind bars for 10 years is making every effort to see the wealth his career brought him won't be there to comfort him when his jail term ends.

Criminal — prosecutors Wednesday began the legal procedures which would turn his legitimate business assets over to the Crown if the 39-year-old underworld figure fails to come up with the $88,800 in penalties slapped against him when he was sentenced Monday.

Cotroni has until this weekend to pay a $40,000 fine and return the $28,800 he received from the undercover U.S. and Canadian narcotics agents who purchased the heroin which eventually convicted him.

Cotroni's lawyer, Antonio Lamer, said he would confer with his client in jail today to find out what can be done in raising the money. He also indicated there might be an appeal against the sentence.

INTEND TO COLLECT

Jean - Paul Sie, Marie, who is the Crown prosecutor in Cotroni, said the fact Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure imposed an alternative jail sentence if the fines were not paid "leaves no room for intention to collect the money."

Reports credit the balding, heavy-boned Cotroni with an extensive real estate holdings in Montreal.

Cotroni's record dates back to the early 1930s. He was given a suspended sentence for theft and receiving, but until 1947 when he got a three-year term for trafficking in bonds his record consisted only of break-and-enter convictions.

BROCKVILLE BONDS

He will appear Nov. 23 on a charge of handling $9,700 worth of bonds stolen in a multi-million dollar robbery of the Brockville Trust and Savings Co. in May, 1958. Thieves took about $3,500,000 in bearer and registered bonds. Bonds worth $1,200,000 are considered recovered.

Police remainder all but about $300,000 worth had been recovered up to mid-summer this year. Some $100,000 worth were bought back by an insurance firm which had underwritten the bonds.

Cotroni's record dates back to the early 1930s. He was given a suspended sentence for theft and receiving, but until 1947 when he got a three-year term for trafficking in bonds his record consisted only of break-and-enter convictions.

Roberts Plans No Court Action; Suit Withdrawn

Local Manufacturers Will Not Serve Writs

BULLETIN

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Roberts of Ontario said today his department will not lay charges as the result of a royal commission report on last month's inquiry into the civic finances of the city of Belleville.

He told a press conference that he and his chief assistants had studied a report of Judge Arthur Wilmot of Cobourg, Ont., and found no basis for legal action.

The action of six Belleville manufacturers, who threatened suit against members of city council and other municipal officials in connection with the city's deficit, has been withdrawn. Clerk City Solicitor R. A. Pringle was informed today.

Notice of the discontinuance of the action was received from Malcolm Robb, solicitor for the local manufacturers who threatened suit. Mr. Pringle said he received was "that the plaintiffs have wholly discontinue this action."

Plaintiffs for the writs which were issued but never served were the six Belleville firms: Ault and Wiborg, Ltd., Canadian Deseon Brothers, G. T. Lanning, McFarlane-Gendron, and Thomas Mcintyre.

Those named as defendants in the action included Controller Gerald B. Hyde, Drury Denyes, the late Mayor Thomas John T. Lewars, auditor, and city aldermen Graham, Grandame, Tice, Argue, Wishart, Temple, Hunt, Elliott, McCabe and Collins.

The writ called for an injunction restraining the defendants from disbursing funds of the city for any but legal expenditures specifically from disbursing such funds for defraying the expenses or meeting the deficits of the Belleville Water, Light and Gas commission or any other account or accounting for all funds disbursed without lawful authority and for judgment for the amount of funds illegally disbursed by the corporation during those years.

Several days ago City Solicitor R. A. Pringle had entered an appearance for the defendants who have forced the plaintiffs to commence the action within a specified period and was about to bring a motion for dismissal of the action when the notice of discontinuance was received today.

Although it had been freely rumored around the city that writs against city council had been issued, it was not until the writs had been served on the city's finances that this was substantiated.

QUEBEC PREMIER SAYS TAX SHARE IS 'INTOLERABLE'

Sauve Sees Little Relief Until 1962

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Paul Sauve says the present federal-provincial tax - sharing agreements are "intolerable" but he does not expect much improvement before 1962.

However, Mr. Sauve told delegations from the Union of County Councils and the Quebec Federation of Labor (CFL) that "some progress" towards improving the agreements may be made at a Dominion - provincial conference expected to be held in June, 1960.

The councils were asking for more financial assistance to municipalities and M4. Sauve told them agreements which set the provincial share of corporation taxes at nine per cent are "intolerable."

PROVINCES TIED UP

"If ot at all," he said, "we should keep in mind that nine provinces (all except Quebec) have signed local agreements with the federal government and that these arrangements do not expire until March 31, 1962.

"It would be unwise to believe the federal government will give any further for the present time than the limits of the agreement which expires in 1962."

The premier answered QFL complaints that Quebec provincial police were "a political institude by saying they have received a directive urging impartiality.

The QFL brief said provincial police "play a very bad reputation in the labor world."

Mr. Sauve said there was little sense in going back several years and trying to lay the blame for certain incidents on one group or another. This reference apparently was to the violent six - month strike in 1957 at Gaspe Copper Mines at Murdochville. A striker was killed in a dynamite blast on mine property and there were a series of other clashes.

Mr. Sauve told delegates the provincial police are like referees in sports and "some people don't like the referee."

Mr. Sauve said police are only sent on strike duty when there has been a call for them by local administrative authority.

He said some changes in Quebec labor laws are to be made during the legislative session opening next week.

The minimum age for Quebec Labor Relations Board is to be changed, the level of the minimum Wage Act raised, and the Superior Council of Labor revised.

Tenders Called For Second Batch Of Export Butter

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has called for tenders on the sale of a second 10,000,000 pound batch of butter to be shipped to Britain, trade circles reported today.

The move apparently means that New Zealand and Australian traditional butter exporters have indicated they would not be strongly opposed to the shipment. Butter production in Western Europe and the United Kingdom has been cut by drought this year.

France Faces Loss of UN Vote Over A-Test

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — France has admitted she will likely lose when the United Nations political committee votes, probably late today, on the question of a nuclear test in the Sahara.

"The recommendation on which you will vote will perhaps leave us in the minority," French disarmament delegate Jules Moch told the committee Wednesday night, stressing however that the vote will not impede the A-bomb anyway.

France's plans were in no doubt even before Moch spoke, since President de Gaulle had made a similar announcement at a Paris Tuesday.

Although general debate on the question ended Wednesday night, several countries were scheduled to speak today on two rival resolutions and amendments before the committee. Its soonest vote cautiously predicted that a ballot would be reached.

Diplomats said an Afro-Asian resolution calling on France to refrain from its nuclear experiment was an almost certain winner. But Bolivia, Ecuador, El Salvador, Panama and Mexico—tried to take some of the sting out of the Afro-Asian resolution by proposing amendments that would appeal only for France to reconsider fine nuclear decision.

Launch National Campaign To Track Down Diabetics

TORONTO (CP) — A national campaign will be launched Saturday to track down hundreds of thousands of Canadians believed to be suffering from potentially fatal diabetes without knowing it.

Federal Health Minister Monteith officially endorsed the campaign today in a statement issued in Ottawa.

Medical authorities believe there may be as many as 300,000 unknowing diabetics in the country. During Diabetes Detection Week the Canadian Diabetic Association will attempt to track down as many of these people as it is able for a simple home test.

This consists of a strip of white paper which turns blue when exposed to a urine sample from a diabetes sufferer. The test strips may be obtained free by mailing coupons which will be displayed on cards in drug stores in all provinces except Quebec. The loan-off coupons will also be available in mail order offices of the T. Eaton Company.

The association has already issued 300,000 coupons in the first mass screening campaign of this kind in Canada.

Mr. Monteith said he was deeply concerned at the number of Canadians who have diabetes but are not aware of it because the early symptoms can be deceiving.

Dr. W. R. Feasby, medical director of the association, estimates there are 600,000 diabetics in Canada—about four per cent of the population. He says only about half know they have the disease.

Diabetes is the third biggest contributory cause of death, but if treated early the disease can be controlled by dieting and insulin injections.

Nine Arrested At Orillia but Soon Released

ORILLIA (CP) — Nine men were arrested and then released Wednesday night and morning by a posse of more than a dozen police officers acting on a tip following a riot protesting strikes at Sudbury.

They were armed with shotguns and rifles staked out a motel in nearby Orillia after a tip-off led the men to leave. As they did they were arrested at gunpoint.

The man arrested in Orillia was dragged from his car, handcuffed and held as he waited for sole cracking at Sudbury.

Police of the eight other men arrested in the morning hour said police "practically tore apart" cars as they searched them.

Governors Start Writing TV Rules Behind Closed Doors

OTTAWA (CP) — Seven men sit behind closed doors here today to write the regulations that will govern Canadian television broadcasting.

The regulations will be made public next Wednesday, but are not expected to take effect until 1961 when the first CBC stations begin broadcasting in some of the major cities now served by the CBC or private TV stations owned outlet affiliated with the network.

At the moment, Canadian radio and TV stations operate under the same regulations.

Writing the new rules specifically for TV stations are the seven executive - committee members of the Board of Governors of broadcasters headed by Dr. Andrew Stewart.

Also on the committee are the two other full-time board members, lawyer - journalist Pierre Dubuzet, newspaper man Carlyle Allison, and four of the present 11 part-time members—Baptist minister Dr. Emlyn Davies, Montreal lawyer Jacques Forsey, welfare worker Edward Gorman, and Vancouver lawyer Maurice Bourin.

Most contentious of the board's proposals would require 55-per-cent Canadian content in the weekly programming of each TV station, ban most types of morning programming and reserve two hours in the peak 8-to-11 p.m. viewing period for BBC-prescribed programs in which the 55-per-cent rule would apply.

The proposals stemmed from the 1958 Broadcasting Act under which the board is required to ensure "a varied and comprehensive broadcasting service of a high standard that is basically Canadian in content and character."

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters, representing 41 of Canada's privately - owned TV stations, said the 55-per-cent rule would defeat the purpose of the act.

De Gaulle Will Pay State Visit To U.K. in April

PARIS (Reuters) — Buckingham Palace announced today that President de Gaulle of France will pay a state visit to Britain April 5-8.

The palace announcement said: "The president and Mme. de Gaulle have accepted the invitation of the Queen to pay a state visit to the United Kingdom from April 5 to April 8, 1960."

The last state visit to Britain by a French president was in 1950 when President and Mme. Vincent Auriol were guests of the late King George VI.

In April, 1957, the Queen and Prince Philip were guests of President Rene Coty in Paris.

De Gaulle last saw the Queen in London during the war when he was received by King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

The visit will follow close on the heels of the state visits of Premier - Khrushchev, who arrives in France March 15. De Gaulle has said he would like Khrushchev to stay two weeks.

The visit to London would thus follow a perfect opportunity for de Gaulle and Prime Minister Macmillan to exchange information about the contacts with the Soviet leader.

It will be the second state visit by de Gaulle since he became president of France. Earlier this year he made a state visit to Italy.

Today's announcement came while Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd was in Paris. Lloyd has the mission of bringing a warmer tone to British-French relationships.

Soviet Protests Radio Station

LONDON (AP) Russia told the Allies today that if West Germany is allowed to build a radio station in West Berlin it will order negotiations on the city's future.

The Soviet government, in a protest note, charged that the existing station in Berlin is unlawful and was designed to "subversive and espionage activity and hostile propaganda."

Professor Stirs Debate by Claim Racially Matched Blood Is Safer

NEW YORK (AP)—Controversy is crackling in Columbia University scientific circles over a suggestion that blood transfusions be made on a racially classified basis.

"It has aroused great interest," said a spokesman for the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

The stir arose over the views of Dr. John Scudder, 71, who last week at a meeting in Chicago, suggested that blood transfusions generally would be safer if donor and patient are of the same race.

"It would work wrong sometimes, logically, but it is scientifically correct," said Scudder, assistant professor of clinical surgery in Columbia's College of Physicians.

Dr. Howard Levene, professor of biometrics, commented: "The suggestion is valid. Errors in blood transfusions are undesirable, and they happen frequently. Any theory only within a race, is simply not worthwhile."

Presbyterian Hospital, affiliated with Columbia, sought to calm the waters in a statement Wednesday night saying it matches blood only on the basis of "medical compatibility." It added regarding Scudder:

"His views, of course, command deliberate, earnest consideration."

He maintained that blood variations are fewer within members of the same race than between groups. The concept or definition of "sensitization" are less if a racially safe blood type is used.

A "sensitized" person is one who, because of antibodies set up by one transfusion, may have serious or fatal reactions if the same blood is given again.

Dr. Philip Levine, Brooklyn, Jewish member of Columbia's medical faculty and director of Ortho of Mount Sinai Hospital's blood bank, said there was "no data, to support" Dr. Scudder's theory.

Dr. Levine said both sides of the question say that there is no such thing as uniformity distinctive by race, white or Asiatic blood, but that various properties do occur more frequently in certain racial groups than others.

Dr. Levine said, blood is much like a person's fingerprints. No two people—unless they are identical twins—have blood exactly alike. Yet tendencies for certain characteristics show up in racial groups.

Dr. A. B. Shoonisay and Dr. Aaron Himelstein, both members of the Columbia medical staff, joined with Scudder in the belief that racially matched blood would cut the average — many-fold for closer matches.

Three Children Drown as Auto Rolls Into River

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — Three young girls were drowned today when a car driven by their mother plunged off the main street of this Muskoka town and into the Muskoka River.

Dead are Beverley, 11, Jancie, 7, and Judy, 5, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Johnson of Bracebridge.

Mrs. Johnson was driving the children to school when she apparently lost control of the car on a snow-covered hill. The car rolled down a 30-foot embankment and into 20 feet of water.

Police said Mrs. Johnson's husband, a hydro worker, was driving past at the time in a hydro vehicle and saw the accident.

MOTHER SWIMS TO SHORE

Mr. Johnson leaped into the river and managed to hold to Judy free of the submerged car. Mrs. Johnson swam to shore.

The other children were trapped in the car for about seven minutes until it was hauled ashore by some workers who had run to the scene. Both girls were dead.

Judy and Mrs. Johnson were taken to Bracebridge Memorial Hospital but the little girl was pronounced dead on arrival. The mother is suffering severe shock.

Cancellation by the Ontario government of the municipal auditorship of Donald D. Lewers, Belleville city auditor, does not affect his private practice. That has been learned since the announcement made Tuesday by the Legal Affairs Minister W. K. Warrender. The Canadian Press story of the Belleville cancellation did not state Mr. Lewers' licence to practise privately was not affected.

Mr. Lewers' municipal auditor's licence was revoked by the government following the handing down of Judge A. R. Willmott's report of the judicial inquiry into Belleville's financial affairs.

Mr. Lewers has many private auditing accounts in the Belleville area and besides acting for Belleville was municipal auditor for the county of Hastings, the townships of Sidney and Thurlow, the city of Corwall, the town of Perth and other municipalities.

Measure Yourself by Finest Moment, Legionnaires Told At Remembrance Banquet

"You measure yourself by your finest moment," said the Reverend John L. Duncan, Chaplain of the Canadian Legion, Branch 99, members at their annual Remembrance Day banquet Saturday evening. The former chaplain of the Manitoba Regiment told the 200 and his listeners to think back to that time in battle when, beside a comrade, they undoubtedly dedicated their life to the ideals for which their comrade had died.

That was a moment of glory, out of the brief focus of the meaning and the chaos of war we realized the glory of his nation and what he was fighting for, suggested the rector of All Saints Church in Oshawa.

Those among the liberation forces remember the eager homage paid them by the people in the Netherlands towns and villages they passed through. Some would remember the concentration camps they passed through where many people were on starvation diets, seen some wounded enemy troops who had been unable to go into the front lines. When they saw such things as this they knew that the war was necessary to eliminate a serious threat to man's existence along democratic lines, said the University of Western Ontario graduate.

"We wouldn't trade our experiences of World War I or World War II for anything. These provide a focus of memories of the glory of our country," stated Mr. Duncan. A capacity crowd of veterans agreed.

The guest speaker was introduced by Canon A. S. McConnell, who recalled several amusing incidents during the war during the course of his introduction. Rev. Duncan preceded his speech with a few humorous remarks in turn which were greatly enjoyed by his audience which appreciated a slight diversion.

SPEAKER THANKED

Roy Madden gave a very sincere expression of thanks to Mr. Duncan for his message and paid tribute to the "courageous men —sincere men, who upheld the dignity of their profession, but recognized the frailties of the human," who made up the Chaplain Corps. "The padre was the true friend of the soldier," concluded Mr. Madden.

EXPANSION PLANNED

The banquet was under the capable direction of William Bailey, a past president of Branch 99 and a past zone commander of the Canadian Legion, and the evening's program went along quite smoothly. George Olsen, president of Branch No. 99, extended greetings to all comrades and guests present, and spoke of the expansion which is planned for the coming year.

A highlight of the program was the presentation of the Legion's gilt chain badge, the mark for Meritorious Service, to Everett Liddle in recognition of his 25 years of lengthy service to the Canadian Legion's operations. Zone Commander Dr. D. C. McVicker made the presentation and George Olsen, president of the branch and delivered a telegram to Mr. Liddle from his old friend, Mr. Liddle also proposed the toast to the Ladies.

The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Armand Dufour.

A special rendition of "My Buddy" was given by pianist Jimmy Conrad, who also led the singing, and the stirring rendition of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" as the members expressed their appreciation of the very excellent turkey dinner put on by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Present at the head table were Major J. Black of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment; Flight Lieutenant L. C. Pringle of RCAF, No. 3 Repair Depot; Lyon Gerald R. Hyde, who expressed the greetings of the Belleville Corps; A. S. McConnell, Dr. D. C. McVicker, Zone Commander; George Olsen, president of Branch 99; William Bailey, master of ceremonies; Bram Humphreys, chairman of the branch, and the guest speaker.

Memorial Plaque For Sergeants Is Dedicated

The memory of deceased members of the sergeants' mess of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was given perpetual honor at a simple but impressive ceremony Wednesday afternoon.

A handsome plaque bearing the inscription, "Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment Sergeants' Mess. For Members Deceased. Lest We Forget", was unveiled and dedicated.

Two veterans of the mess George Lancaster and Tom Gill acted as the guard of honor.

The plaque was unveiled by its donor Sergeant S. A. Scott, whose wife helped in the design and manufacture.

Former regimental padre Canon, the Rev. A. S. McConnell, MBE officiated at the dedication ceremony.

"To the Glory of God and in loving memory of those deceased I dedicate this plaque" he said. "May it ever be a reminder of their and extended greetings to all comrades and guests present, and spoke of the expansion which is planned for the coming year.

Money Needed To Make Parade Real Success

Santa Claus and his big parade will be in Belleville on Saturday morning, December 5th.

That is the day when every young kiddie in the city and district, along with others not so young, will be waiting for St. Nicholas and all his story book associates in their annual parade through downtown Belleville.

But before the big day there are hours, days and weeks of work and preparation to make the parade a success. And one of the most necessary ingredients is going into a good parade is money.

That is why the Belleville Fire Department and the Santa Claus Parade Committee are staging a tag day this weekend. Taggers will be out in force Saturday and Monday, the 13 and 14, accepting contributions which will go towards making this year's Santa parade the best in the history of Belleville.

And there is every prospect of it being just that. Already ten floats have promised for the parade while it is expected there will be at least 30 floats to add to the parade.

The parade will push off from No. 3 Firehall on Moira Street at 11 a.m. and will proceed over the Upper Bridge, down Front Street to Dundas, then north on Pinnacle to Station Street back to the firehall over the Upper Bridge.

George Rutledge, treasurer of the Santa Claus parade committee urged the co-operation of citizens by contributing generously as possible towards the success of the parade.

Anyone who will not be downtown to see the parade can still help toward giving the kiddies a pre-Christmas thrill by sending along their donation to Mr. Rutledge at 20 Highland Ave.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market showed no definite trend today in sluggish morning trading.

The 11 a.m. volume of 676,000 shares was lighter than Wednesday's 878,000 at the same time.

Anglo Newfoundland Development featured the industrial list today, adding 2¼ points to 67½ before slipping back to 3¼ on a volume of nearly 18,000 shares by 11 a.m. Dominion Stores, trading ex-dividend, was off 1¼ points at 53¾. Senior uranians were higher with Consolidated Denison up ¼ to 11 and Gunnar ahead at 11½. Preston East Dome, ahead 25 cents shortly after the opening, slipped back to 86.05, a 10-cent gain.

The market edged higher Wednesday in slow, uninteresting trade. All sections managed to plod ahead but most changes were small.

Brokers said the lack of interest was partly because of the bank holiday in observance of Remembrance Day.

The final volume was 1,887,980 shares compared with Tuesday's 2,597,000.

Steels and a few industrials gained, banks had some selected strength but floods were weak. Labatt Inc. had a four-point advance to 130 on a 38-share volume.

Steel Co. of Canada led the most active issues, adding 1¼ at 96½.

Preston East Dome featured lower-priced mines with a 25-cent jump to 86.15 in light trading. Uraniums continued to recover some of Monday's losses but Gunnar backed the trend, dipping ¼ to ½.

In western oils most price changes were by 12 cents or less. Index gainers: Industrials 38 to 517.66; golds .58 to 87.80; base metals .56 to 109.73; western oils .41 to 102.25.

W.A. Van Tassel New President Bowling Club

Although financially the bowling season was not as good as previous years the Belleville Bowling Club is in a sound condition and looking forward to another summer on the green. The annual meeting of the club was held on Wednesday evening at the Recreation Centre, Pinnacle Street, and William A. VanTassel, chairman of the operation Committee's report, former chairman of the Public School Board, was the unanimous choice of the members for the position of president.

Percy Graham, who has been the efficient president for the past two years, stepped down from office and thanked the members for the co-operation that had been given and, although out of office, was not giving up his interest in the club. The new president, in accepting the honors, asked that he be given the same support in the year ahead. Other officers elected were honorary presidents, Cliff Argue, J. W. "Dewey" Davison and R. J. Wray, past president, Percy Graham; vice-president, Gordon Watkin; secretary, Mrs. Tuck Breckenridge, Wally Lavergne; greens chairman, Austin Wat kin; chairman of publicity, Claude D. Tice, and executive, Ernie Jones, Gordon Watkin, Lorne Reesor, Orlo Smith, W. A. Vandervoort, Gerald B. Ryan, Ken Wetherup, Wright; auditors, Ken Ashley and Douglas Rowe.

In recognition of many years a member of the club and his sustained interest, although unable to bowl, J. W. "Dewey" Davison was made an honorary life member of the club, and this announcement was greeted with genuine applause. Mr. Davison was for many years an excellent bowler and enjoyed the esteem of bowlers throughout the district. Orlo Smith and Wally Lavergne were presented with their trophies in winning the club's doubles championship, while Thomas Reese, W. Lancaster and Wilfred Wright were given trophies for the trebles title.

The greens chairman, Austin Watkin, lavished praise on the greenskeeper, Charles Andrews, stating that the greens were put to bed in the best shape in their history and with a good winter should be in excellent condition in the spring. Reports were given on the finances of the club and on the several tournaments that were held during the summer.

DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

A concerted effort will be made before the opening of bowling season to gain a greater membership as this phase of the club is at the lowest number in years. Each member of the club was requested to try and obtain one new member for next season. It was also decided to hold more social functions within the club during the playing season and social evenings during the winter to keep the members together and informed on what is happening in the club. Gerald B. Ryde, as general chairman of the Curbin Gold Cup gave his report and showed that although the attendance had fallen a little, it was still the best tournament in the district and efforts should be made to bring it back to a high standard.

The playdowns for Provincial honors will be run on a different system next year, the meeting was told by Gordon Watkin, who attended the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association annual meeting in Toronto. Before the meeting broke up Bruce Miller and Gordon Watkin received the thanks of the club for winning the doubles title for the Dominion and hoped they would be back to defend their laurels. The new executive will meet in the near future to lay plans for next year and elect a chairman for the Corbin Gold Cup tournament.

'Lack of Moral Fibre' Seen Dangerous 'Enemy Within'

REV. DAVID H. K. STILES

TRENTON — The annual Remembrance Day banquet was held in the Trenton Legion last evening. Head table guests included: Mr. Lee Grills, M.P. for Hastings South; Senator W. A. Fraser; W/C F. V. Craig, representing the commanding officer of RCAF Station Trenton; G/C Williams; G/C W. A. Spruston, commanding officer of the Royal Canadian Air Canadore F. S. Carpenter, commanding officer of Air Transport Command, Trenton and Mr. Borden Young, representing the Royal Canadian Naval Cadets.

The guests were introduced and welcomed by W. T. Lawson, president of Trenton Branch No. 110 of the Canadian Legion.

Second vice-president Comrade C. Livingstone proposed a toast 'to the Ladies' Auxiliary, which had catered for the banquet. Comrade Lawson, first president of the Auxiliary, replied to the toast.

Mayor Ross Burtt of Trenton, extended a cordial welcome to the many guests. The toast to the armed forces was given by Ken Connaghty and Ted Donaldson, and A/C Carpenter responded.

F/L C. W. Bryce proposed the toast to "Our Fallen Comrades" and called for the observance of two minutes of silence in their memory.

The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Robert Le Pare, RCAF, and Comrade John Silver, MBE, repeated the "Lines of Remembrance."

RECTOR IS SPEAKER

The guest speaker for the evening, the Reverend David H. K. Stiles, rector of the combined Anglican parishes of Brighton and Colborne, was introduced by the immediate past president of the branch, Comrade John C. Farrell.

Mr. Stiles commenced his address by informing his audience that they were not like what he was about to say. In reference to Armistice Day," he said that "armistice" meant a "short truce" and stated that the literal meaning had been carried out by events of history following the First World War.

On "Remembrance Day," as Mr. Stiles put it, "we bow in gratitude, Mr. Stiles said we remember the sacrifices made in the past in times of war, the sacrifice of lives, broken homes, ruined lives and heartbreak."

The speaker went on to say that while many of the men present might be called upon again to fight for their country, they should be presently engaged in a constant battle against "the enemy from within," which he named bluntly as a "lack of moral fibre". This condition, he asserted, was prevalent amongst Canadians because Canada has the second highest standard of living in the world, which encourages a life of ease and luxury.

The speaker alleged that this love of ease prompted persons to petition governments to cope with situations in their personal lives instead of living where truth and integrity should be the by-words, but uttering "white lies" and practising evasions.

He particularly cited cases of evasions of income tax and other shady business practices.

"We must go on a moral diet," Mr. Stiles said, "Sacrifice is still the only cure for decay. The real test lies before us. If this lack of moral fibre gains the upper hand in Canada, all hell will break loose."

President Ross Grier, 1st vice-president of the Trenton branch, thanked the speaker for his address.

ADENAUER TO VISIT

BONN (Reuters) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has accepted an invitation to visit Spain, it was disclosed Wednesday in a communique issued at the conclusion of a two-day visit by Spanish Foreign Minister Fernando Maria Castiella.

Here is shown the Remembrance Day parade at Trenton yesterday, led by members of Branch No. 110 of the Canadian Legion.

Sqdn. Ldr. E. D. Stuart Delivers Address At Remembrance Day Service at Cenotaph

TRENTON—Hundreds of Trenton citizens gathered yesterday in the downtown area to witness the annual Remembrance Day Parade and solemn memorial service at the cenotaph. The viewing officer was A-C-F. S. Carpenter, AFC, CD officer in command at Air Transport Command, RCAF, Trenton. The Parade Marshal was Albert Cassidy.

Leading off the parade was a delegations of legionnaires from Trenton Branch 110, Canadian Legion, followed by a delegations from RCAF Station, Trenton and the Royal Canadian Naval Cadets.

F/L Rev. C. W. Bryce, Protestant Chaplain at No. 6 Repair Depot, conducted the memorial service at the cenotaph. W. T. Lawson, president of Trenton Legion branch, welcomed the assembled citizens who had come to do honor to the dead of three wars.

"Mr. Airforce", John Silver, MBE, listened to impressive "Lines of Commemoration".

Squadron Leader E. D. Stuart, CD Staff Officer of Protestant Religious Administration at Air Transport Command Headquarters, Trenton, addressed the large crowd of veterans, active members of the armed forces and private citizens. S-L Stuart reminded his listeners that many of them had joined Commonwealth during the war years that the sacrifices and sufferings of the war victims would not be in vain. He said that, with the advent of peace, many had entered their constabilities to become dull and had forgotten the high price paid for peace and prosperity. They had not continually counted to honor the war dead or to promote peace, but rather had been caught up in circumstances beyond their control. He advised each individual to assume a definite role towards his responsibility in the world situation and face the challenge of our time with the same courage of those they had come to honor.

"Their task is done", the speaker stated, "Ours is to protect the country and privileges they died to protect".

At the conclusion of the service, wreaths were placed by Mayor Ross Burtt on behalf of the town of Trenton, Mrs. M. E. Frauts, a Silver Star Mother, on behalf of the provincial government, W. T. Lawson and J. Lawson, presidents of the Trenton Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Trenton branch.

City Solicitor Will Resign Unless Confidence Voted

City Solicitor R. A. Pringle will ask for a vote of confidence from city council at its committee meeting next Monday evening and failing to receive it will not continue in that office.

This is indicated in a letter from Mr. Pringle addressed to Mayor Gerald B. Hyde and Council which was received at city hall today.

"Unless I have the confidence of two thirds of the members of council I will not remain as the city solicitor for five minutes", the letter read.

The action of the city solicitor in asking for a vote of confidence from council follows a motion for his dismissal which was presented at council last Monday evening. Suspension of the rules to allow discussion of the motion was refused by council, but alderman Dr. James Forrester, who presented the motion later gave notice of motion stating he would bring it in at the next council meeting.

In his letter to the mayor and council, Mr. Pringle says "It is fundamental that in the relationship between solicitor and client the client must have confidence in his solicitor or retain another solicitor and this applies to the relationship between a city solicitor and a municipal council as well".

ASKS CERTAIN ACTION

Mr. Pringle's letter goes on to say that unless he has the confidence of two-thirds of the members of council he would not consider his city solicitor and was therefore asking that council take the action which he suggested.

He asked that the following resolution be submitted to council at the committee meeting of Monday November 17th and said that the resolution could be voted upon without debate or discussion "as surely by this time all members of council have definite views."

The resolution which Mr. Pringle asked to be put before council is: "resolved that the resignation of the city solicitor be accepted forthwith".

Mr. Pringle concluded his letter by listing a number of court actions in which the city is currently involved and stating his desire to relinquish the city file to city solicitor be accepted by council.

Shocking!

Ambrose E. Stevens is shocked—and that makes two of us.

What shocks Mr. Stevens, though, is not the same thing that shocks us.

Mr. Stevens is shocked because Arthur S. Flemming, U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, told a press conference that part of the 1958 and 1959 cranberry crops in the States of Washington and Oregon have been contaminated by a weed killer which can produce cancer in rats.

What's wrong with being shocked about that? This is, indeed, a shocking state of affairs, you say?

Oh, no, no, you don't understand us. Mr. Stevens, who is the vice-president of the National Cranberry Association, is not shocked because some cranberries are contaminated by a cancer-inducing chemical, but because the U.S. Government has made public the fact that such contamination exists. Bad for business, you know.

We have considerable sympathy for the plight of Mr. Stevens, the firm he represents and the growers from whom it purchases cranberries. All of them may suffer heavy financial losses.

Unfortunately, this sympathy on our part does not appear to be matched by any sympathy on the part of Mr. Stevens, and on the part of a number of other cranberry growers and crop experts, for the unfortunate consumers who may contract cancer by eating contaminated berries.

We said "may" contract cancer; there is no suggestion by U.S. authorities that what happened to rats fed doses of the weed killer over a two-year period will inevitably happen to a human being eating a little contaminated cranberry sauce with his Thanksgiving or Christmas turkey.

But Mr. Stevens, and others with similar interests, would have appeared in better light had they been more worried about the possibility of some customer losing his life through ignoring the warning, than about the probability that their bank accounts will be hurt by most customers heeding it.

The Rights of the Child

The United Nations Committee on Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Affairs recently adopted a draft declaration on the rights of the child.

This declaration, of course, is designed to protect the children of backward nations? Well — not entirely.

The declaration states that physically and mentally handicapped children shall be given special treatment, education and care. If this is being done here, why is it necessary for those interested in retarded children to seek donations to establish schools for them?

The declaration also says that the child must be protected from practices which may foster racial, religious and all other forms of discrimination. Is the child so protected in Little Rock?

The child, like the man, does not live by bread alone and the UN draft declaration of the child's rights evidently recognizes this fact.

Those City Crests

Judge Arthur R. Willmott's reference to Belleville's crest, "Magnum est vectigal parsimonia," and the city council's scant attention to it, reminds us of another occasion on which a city council did give attention to a city motto, with less serious, but still newsworthy, results.

Owen Sound's city crest shows a girl seated under a tree and bears the words "Arbor virgo fuit." One night a new crest, handsomely carved, appeared on the wall of the council chamber. Council members sat around admiring it. Our translation, (probably even freer that Judge Willmott's "Rich is the reward of thrift" for Belleville's motto), is "Hewn from the virgin forest."

"Arbor virgo fuit," murmured one member. "My Latin is pretty rusty. What does that mean?"

Quick as a flash the youngest, and most handsome, member replied "Phooey on virgins sitting under trees."

IF YOU AND I

By EDGAR A. GUEST

If you would smile a little more,
And I would higher be,
If you would stop to think before
You speak or frown you see,
If I would show more patience, too,
With all with whom I'm hurled,
Then I would help, and so would you
To make a better world.

If you would cheer your neighbor more
And I'd encourage mine,
If you would linger at his door
To say his work is fine,
And I would stop to help him when
His life in frowns are curled,
Both you and I'd be helping men
To make a better world.

If you would speak more kind of all
And I would show more love,
If you would heed the sinful call
And I look up above,
And find our souls unselfish way,
And I both on, and heedless fall
The kind words I could say,
While you and I refuse to smile
And keep our gay flags furled,
Somehow still grumble all the while
That it's a gloomy world.

Bigness Rhodesians' Idol

By Clyde Sawyer in the London Telegram

In his town the white people dictated the policy of the country's politics.

To-day on speakers' corner, the Rhodesian farmers have evolved a new idol—Bigness.

They favorite legends always concern bigness.

Bigness it is "chinese" of cadaver; for instance, they say, the Portuguese have a man-of-war twice as big as the largest warship in their navy. Or Britain and spent seven years building a battleship that was unsinkable till and two years years drydocked it was found to be too large. South Africa by water.

"Something it is just blessed in comfortable," the owner of Copperbelt, "the same every other country." Bigness is the only way to make a profit. Bigness is a beer-drinking contest. Some years ago in Bulawayo a huge elephant was set, the owner always won. It fits into the pattern of Rhodesia. The Federal Prime Minister, Sir Roy Welensky, is a big man with a big girth and was once the country's heavyweight boxing champion.

Bigness is an account on "bigness" colors the Rhodesian attitude to the Negro. As they seem so far away from the rest of the world, few of the questions from outside who show a critical interest in their treatment of Africans are included members of parliament.

Their dearest political wish is to become an independent dominion. Britain's part, they say, is 50 per cent of each year's income—and they are British, each one of them. Britain's part is to keep quiet and not worry.

Bigness is a state of mind. Bigness is a way of life.

Bigness is a threat.

'No Man' As Flattering As 'Yes-Man'

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Those who always play flattery eventually find that the most dangerous thing in the world can be the refusal to take a chance.

Everybody is authority wants flattery from his subordinates, and the occasional executive who proudly brags a "no-man" at his side to show that he does not want yes-men around, is as flattered by the attention as others are flattered by a yes-man's assent.

The hardest lesson for a gifted person to learn is how to avoid giving flattery to the mediocre brothers wrote of a colleague that he could not flatter, that he possess enough tact to make people forgive him for being intelligent.

It takes much more character to be a critic of ideas than to be busy doing nothing of consequence; this is why most men who are critical of what they read from the routine of their business.

A relentless analysis of motives is fatal to a good relationship between two people. Most couples talk a great deal to each other about their motives, but they rarely further apart, not closer together, for they are substituting discussion for direct experience.

We suspect only those faults in others which we are capable of committing ourselves — which is why the virtuous are so naive and the wicked are so cynical. It is, for instance, utterly impossible to convince a man that chastity is not at heart likewise a belief.

Some people are so addicted to looking on the dark side that, if compelled to look on the bright, they would complain that the light involved their eyes.

Most parents are hypocritical when they insist that they want a school that "develops a child's children educated" what they want is a school that will make their children successful and popular; in our society, the truly educated are rarely accidentally successful and rarely popular.

Anyone who contemplates going to court with a "sure case" should keep in mind Samuel Johnson's brave warning: "In law, nothing is certain but the expense."

To know how to wait without anxiety is the one characteristic that seems to be the real adult from the child is grownup clothes and, using this standard, many adults are not very numerous in the world.

New Bottles On the Tide

Providence Bulletin

Hunting bottles drifting with the tides onto New England's beaches used to be a fun not so long ago. Keys then could make a day at the beach more exciting, anticipating that each bottle contained a pirate map of buried gold, or at least a treasure BOB that might lead to find treasure of a damsel in distress at sea.

It did not matter that messages were rarely found in the bottles, for old floet ashore usually were bottled by sailors with time on their games. Shades of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island" still shine in the eyes of those on the surface scarcity of really interesting finds has caused some agitation.

Today, however, imagination almost pales beside the reality of the nuclear present, and bottled bobbing in the waves very well contain genuine treasure.

Indeed, some 2,000 bottles with messages recently were set afloat in the Atlantic and Pacific survey ship Hydrographer from Boston to the eastern tip of Long Island.

Although the notes inside are addressed to scientists interested in nature, they concern the serious business of disposing of atomic wastes, and should be treated seriously by those finding them.

The Atomic Energy Commission other New England coastal communities were upset by the government's decision to select spots off their shores as sites for dumping radioactive wastes from active wards.

The plan was withdrawn in the face of mounting protests, and many took issue with the government's contention that ocean currents made off shore atomic waste disposal foolproof against radiation pollution of beaches and fishing grounds.

Now, the National Academy of Science and the National Research Council apparently is seeking by means of the 2,000 bottles to double check charts on coastal currents, to ascertain what ocean grounds would offer safest dumping.

Thus, each survey bottle contains a request that finders inland beaches has important implications f r the people and should be treated carefully to be sure a genuine government agency.

There is no excuse at all for doing so; the only tangible incentive is an answer informing the finder where the bottle was started. But the recovered bottles will help in determining ocean currents made off shore atomic waste disposal foolproof against radiation pollution of beaches and fishing grounds.

Now, the National Academy of Science and the National Research Council apparently is seeking by means of the 2,000 bottles to double check charts on

"I sure have been wanting septum."

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

The King in naval uniform, and Queen Consort, Queen in dark blue, inspected a mobile canteen in the quadrangle of Buckingham Palace today. The green-painted canteen was driven by members of the Women's Voluntary Service. The Duvenger Marchioness of Reading, is head of the Women's Voluntary Service, and Her Majesty heard of the work being performed with the canteens.

An anonymous gift amounting to $5,000 reached the Canadian Red Cross Society the day from an American citizen, through a prominent Canadian living in Ottawa. The letter accompanying the donation read: "Realizing that present stress on the Canadian Red Cross Society is the real aid I would like to be of help in a small way, so please accept the enclosed cheque and devote it to the welfare of your fellow citizens now serving in the armed services of your country."

The committee named by the Canadian Red Cross Society in charge of the national campaign for war funds is, in effect, a directory of our most prominent citizens. Honorary chairman is Hon. Sir Howard Ferguson, the character of this committee should assure the public that the real aim of these millions of dollars should be reached. A study of the information contained in the display advertisements in our paper in The Ontario Intelligencer will convince Canadians generally that the Red Cross is undertaking in this new war the same splendid work that marked its activities in 1914-18. The cause is most worthy.

Good News About Moon

Oshawa Times

After studying pictures relayed to earth by Loon II, Soviet scientists tell us that the hidden side of the moon is "considerably more mountainous" than the side turned towards the earth". That is bad news for the unmarried but bit of news. It would have been aggravating beyond endurance if it had been found that the back side was much more interesting than the front. Or even if the world people would have been developing neurosis because they were forced to look at the moon's worse side.

Scientists all over the world hail the Soviet photographs as a remarkable scientific achievement. Perhaps they would be less pictures only confirmed their theories. Discovering a hidden landscape, but the relay of pictures of it back to earth was a triumph of science.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A scholar of my acquaintance was visiting a factory recently when he came upon a stamping machine that had to cut holes in metal rings. The holes were just the size of a ten cent piece, and into a bin fell thousands of these round cut discs. As he chucked into a salvage pot and threw them.

He acted permission and filled a packet with the curious things. Then he conducted one of those psychological experiments dear to the hearts of scholars.

Out in front of his house, for a block and a half that was visible from his parlor windows, he strewed here and there a total of the little discs. Not too many. One here, on the pavement, one there, on the edge of a lawn, one out in the gutter by the kerb.

Just enough to seize the attention of the passers by.

But he also got a dollar's worth of real estate. And about every fifth phoney, he dropped a genuine one from his packet.

Then he sat in his parlor window and watched his fellow man.

Six out of ten picked up the first one they saw, took a brief glance at its falsity, threw it away and walked on past the rest. Three out of ten picked up more than one. Some picked up three before being convinced that they were phoney.

The tenth man, a crafty individual if ever my friend saw one, picked up six before encountering a real dime; and thereupon, chuckling, stooped and picked up all, and not his dollar's worth.

TODAY'S TALK

SILENCE MEDICINE

Noise and nerves never get to be very good friends. Probably we would get on with people if we learned to understand each other. More likely because they are fundamentally very opposite in nature.

Noise is never so content as when nerves are frayed. Nerves are never so happy as when they are a hundred miles or so away from noise.

If about two-thirds of the "tranquilizing" pill factories would go out of business, this world would be a happier place for people to live in. There is too much noise about. The poor nerves get tired and shaky. Hence the call for pill.

Many times the greatest medicine in the world for "out-of-the-way" nerves is Silence Medicine.

Where you and noise are not together. Where you can say to yourself: "Well, at least here we are — out with the noise, and ground, and air, and birds, and — Silence."

How wonderful is Silence! How the odds and ends are gathered up — in Silent Land. How affairs get quickly straightened out — where noise is absent.

The greatest and most valuable medicine in the world is the Silence Medicine.

Why not prescribe it for yourself? Anyway, for a weekend!

FOOD-FREEZING — COLD DOESN'T KILL BACTERIA

Contrary to usual custom, I'm not going to start today's column with a letter. Instead, I'm going to start with a fact.

The topic is frozen foods and how to handle them. The particular letter I have in mind is a good one. It asks some technical questions. But it will be easier for me to answer them if we discuss food-freezing and its fundamentals first.

Food-freezing has become important to all of us whether or not we have freezers. The milk, cream, butter, fruits, juices, and the important-at we buy frozen cleaners, frozen vegetables, frozen fruits, frozen fish, frozen every-thing.

Freezing is a practical and effective way of preserving food. It saves money because you can buy larger quantities when the price is low — when foods are "in season" — otherwise in plentiful supply. While, nearer, leftovers can be saved and used later. In fact, it is a perfect practice of putting the rest of the pears in the icebox until tomorrow.

There are the benefits. The thing to guard against, Al, Dot's just as simple, but I wonder how many people have thought of this fact?

Freezing will preserve foods from the effects of ordinary warmth, moderate and bacterial growth, but freezing doesn't kill bacteria.

Food, frozen, can be no more pure and clean than it was when it was put into the freezer. Pollutated food into a freezer, and it will come out pollutated, and there are a few foods that should be used fresh, and should not be depended on after freezing. These I'll mention before we are through with the subject. But keep the basic fact in mind: Freezing is a useful thing. I approve of it, as do other doctors and scientists, and nutritionists. But freezing doesn't perform anything! It just keeps things!

If you take food which contains, let's say, cooties, and you put them it, the bacillus will be there when you unfreeze it.

Remember these things and you have the basic information to begin to build. The manufacturing firms long since have learned all this, of course. It's why companies freeze many products as soon after picking as possible.

Ideal temperature for storing frozen foods is zero. This will keep most foods for a year. Raising that temperature by 5 degrees (ordinary Fahrenheit temperature) may triple the loss in

MORE GOOD SCHOOLS

The quality of a nation can generally be judged by the quality of its schools. In the modern world, all progressive and powerful countries lay a tremendous emphasis on education. There is not a country in the entire world today which neglects the education of its citizens and holds a place of any importance in the council of nations.

One thinks of the influence which a little section of the English educational system, namely, be much more impressed by a few pictures closer to hand and picture, for example, of the doctors who conquered cancer and the common cold; or of Archbishop Cox, Fawkes leading a Negro student by the hand into a Little Rock high school; or of the demolition of the last slum dwelling in Canada.

Many such pictures could be found. If we spent as much thought and money on the study of man as on the study of his environment.

Freedoms Enjoyed Should Never Be Taken for Granted Archdeacon Tells Veterans

We must never take for granted the freedoms we enjoy as Canadians an Anglican clergyman told members of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans here last night. It was the annual Remembrance Day banquet.

Archdeacon J. B. Creeggan was guest speaker at the annual Remembrance Day "get together" of Unit 201, held in the Army, Navy and Air Force Hall.

Remember those who fought and gave their lives so we could enjoy the freedoms of speech, religion and choice which we as Canadians, cherish.

"We should keep it free," said the Archdeacon.

"Gratitude can be an inspiration for a life of selfless service. Let us resolve ourselves to preserve this freedom."

Indicating the recent Khrushchev visit to the Valley States and the resulting loss of friction in the cold war, the speaker said there are glimmers of hope for the world.

Either side can make war, he claimed, but neither side can make peace without the help of the other side.

"No one," he pointed out, "wants the responsibility of the holocaust which would result if there was another war. Let us hope the (East-West) conference bring about peace."

ALL HAVE RESPONSIBILITY

"Each of us has a responsibility to work for peace and duty for this peace."

The clergyman warned against adopting a false national pride resulting in complacency.

"This is a time to remember with gratitude; and resolve in our hearts to keep the freedoms which we in this country cherish so much."

Archdeacon Creeggan was introduced by K. Edgecombe and thanked by Earl Stork. The Women's Auxiliary of Unit 201 prepared and served the excellent turkey dinner enjoyed by capacity crowd, which jammed the hall.

The toast to the forces was given by J. H. Wills, and replied to by Lt. G. Lee, of the Hasty Feet.

Victoria Ave. Baptist Church M.C. Sponsors First Missionary Fair

The recent first and most successful Missionary Fair was held at Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, sponsored by the Missionary committee of the church under the chairmanship of Mr. R. L. Orr.

Materials of many kinds, supplemented by curios loaned by the Canadian Baptist Mission Board were on display depicting Baptist work in its three foreign mission fields.

Fairway Avenue Sunday School's display represented Baptist work in Bolivia. Among the many items of interest was a model of the Southern Cross Radio Station at La Paz.

The Vota Vita Mission Circle's cleverly arranged display represented the products of Angola, the homes, the missionaries and many other interesting features.

The Women's Mission Circle and the Dorcas Association united their efforts in showing Baptist work in India. The Rev. and Mrs. Eric Quirk, who served many years there were present in Indian costume and attracted interested crowds as they told of experiences connected with the many souvenirs they had brought home with them from India.

A layette for New Canadian work and a typical food parcel and white cross work for India were on display.

CHALLENGING ADDRESS

Mrs. Orville Daniel who had served as a Missionary nurse in India for 18 years and who has a married daughter serving there now, gave a challenging address. While doors are gradually closing to many of the world's mission fields she mentioned that the doors of reading, witnessing and prayer will never close.

Two interesting colored films from Angola and India were much enjoyed.

Dr. S. H. Hillyer was the guest minister at both services on the Sunday. He is the general-secretary treasurer of the Canadian Baptist Mission Board and served a quarter of a century on the Bolivian Mission field. He told of 60 years of missionary endeavor in Bolivia and at the other service he presented a picture of the world situation and the Christian message for such a time as this.

Toys That Can Be Repaired Admission Price

Hey kids want to see a free show and at the same time do a less fortunate kiddy a good turn?

If so, you can have the opportunity on Saturday afternoon of this week when the McCarthy Theatre is running a special show for young people. The price of admission is a toy which can be repaired for distribution to the less fortunate kiddies at Christmas time.

The toys collected at the theatre will be turned over to members of the Belleville Fire Department where now until Yuletide these expert repairmen expect to be busy putting wheels on wagons and new paint on rusty mechanical toys.

Each year about this time of November, firemen begin their toy repair program, but for some reason the toys are not coming in this year the same as usual.

So city firemen are teaming up with Willard Fawcett, general manager at the McCarthy Theatre, who has come up with the idea of a toy as admission price for a special children's show starting Saturday afternoon at 12.30.

But kids, be sure and play the game. Mr. Fawcett stresses that only repairable toys will be accepted as the price of admission. So no junk, please. That would only bring embarrassment for all concerned.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Twenty-eight persons collapsed as they started to leave Hillcrest Baptist Church Wednesday night, apparently felled by fumes from the heating system. Ambulances hurried them to three hospitals. Attendants said none was in serious condition.

Pike Replaces Watson as Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Alf Pike today replaced Phil Watson as coach of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

The announcement was made by general manager Muzz Patrick, who said Watson will remain with the club as supervisor of its farm system.

Pike, a former Ranger player, is being brought in from Winnipeg of the Western Hockey League where he coached the last three years. Pike is expected to take over the Rangers Saturday, when he will sign a one-year contract.

TO UNDERGO OPERATON

Watson is in hospital and it is expected he will be operated on for an ulcer early next week. A one-time star centre for the Rangers, Watson became the team's coach in 1955, a the next three seasons he guided them into playoff position. Last year, however the club folded in the final two weeks and finished fifth.

CITIZENS OF BELLEVILLE

THE SANTA CLAUS PARADE WILL BE A SUCCESS AGAIN THIS YEAR IF YOU SUPPORT THE TAG DAY ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13th, and 14th.

Sponsored by the Fire Department and the Santa Claus Parade Committee

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE:

RE BELLEVILLE FINANCES

On May 9, 1959, certain disclosures were made regarding irregularities in the financial accounts and operations of the city. This naturally caused the city's taxpayers considerable concern, since they are among the largest taxpayers. The Manufacturers Section of the Chamber of Commerce wrote to Mayor Hyde on July 3, 1959 asking what action, if any, was being taken by the Corporate Body of the City of Belleville against all those who might be found guilty of an indictable offence resulting from the disclosure of evidence at the forthcoming Royal Commission Inquiry.

Because such action was not instituted by the Mayor and Council, the Manufacturers Section of the Chamber, as a matter of legal prudence, took action to issue writs against some of those who might be held responsible for the mismanagement of the taxpayer's money.

This action was taken well before the inquiry began, and before many of the true facts were known, for the protection and on behalf of all citizens, within the six months' limitation period of the Public Authorities Protection Act.

On Tuesday, November 3, a quarter page explaining this Section's position was published in The Ontario Intelligencer. A recommendation was made that the evidence available from the inquiry should be put by the City of Belleville, before a competent and completely independent lawyer having no affiliation politically or commercially in Belleville for the purpose of obtaining answers to the following questions:

1. In your opinion, are there persons or corporations, against whom judgment could be obtained by this city because of misapplication of its funds?
2. Who are such persons or corporations?

Following the publication of the report of His Honor Judge Willmott, a meeting of the Manufacturers Section of the Chamber of Commerce was convened on November 7, 1959. In the public interest, this section considers desirable the publication of the results of this meeting.

A resolution was passed to instruct our legal counsel, Malcolm Robb, QC, to discontinue further legal proceedings in connection with the writs issued against the Corporation of the City of Belleville, Mayor Hyde, and ten of the city aldermen, the Bank of Montreal, the auditor, Mr. J. D. Lewars, and Drury Denyes. The decision to discontinue this action was based on many factors. His Honor Judge Willmott comments in his report as follows:

> "However, in this instance, it is my considered view that under all the circumstances that had arisen with respect to the state of the City's finances, it was in the public interest to take the action which was taken by these plaintiffs at the time that it was taken. It may well be that the writs have served their purpose and that it is not necessary to pursue an action which might go to the Supreme Court of Canada."

Our legal counsel was advised, in writing, on November 9, 1959 to discontinue this action.

The decision to take action as recommended is now squarely up to the Mayor and Council.

The future is the responsibility of the voters at the polls on December 7, 1959.

E. H. Hall,
Chairman
On Behalf of the Manufacturers Section of the Chamber of Commerce.

W.A. Sponsors Bazaar, Fine Supper

WELLINGTON — The Sunday School rooms of the United Church were decorated with baskets of colorful autumn 'mums for the recent annual W.A. bazaar and supper.

The various tables were arranged along one side of the room. As usual the aprons table was a picture with all its bright aprons — more than 100 to choose from. There were embroidered pillow cases, towels, tea cloths, runners, pillows and many other useful articles; also a table of novelties, for the children had lots of fun fishing at the fish pond.

The most popular table was the domestic table with its home made goodies, such as bread, rolls, pies, tarts, candy, cookies and cakes, as well as jars of jam and pickles. The ladies were well pleased with their sales.

The fancy goods and aprons not sold were available at the home of Mrs. Ben Bishop. More than 150 enjoyed the delicious supper the ladies had prepared, for which they received many compliments on its success, as this was the first time they had served a supper with their bazaar. It made a lot of planning for the committee but, nothing is left undone.

Seeing Paris and Europe As Secretary of Assoc.

MONTREAL (CP) — At 17, Sheila Lane of Montreal decided she would like to live in Paris. Now, at 22, she has achieved that ambition.

And, as a conference secretary for the International Air Transport Association, she is seeing much of the rest of Europe as well.

"You need to be able to mix because you're living in hotels and meeting all kinds of people," the slim blonde said in an interview here. "The company is international, so it means getting along with people of every nationality."

Sheila, visiting her family here after attending a four-week conference in Honolulu, has been living in Paris for 18 months. She has attended conferences in Brussels, Rome, Cannes, Cologne and Burgenstock, Switzerland, where she played "a terrible set of tennis" with movie actor Mel Ferrer.

BUSY SCHEDULE

Formerly with the Montreal branch of the IATA, she said her schedule during conferences is hectic. At large conferences the delegates stay at hotels where the United Nations setup with all delegates wearing earphones.

The secretaries work in shifts, each taking verbatim notes for one-hour periods. Spelled off by another secretary, they type back the notes immediately and prepare for their next shift.

"The delegates have confidence in the secretaries and expect them to report on time, write up good draft reports and work long the small hours if necessary without complaining," she said.

Sheila said that a large conference in Rome was televised because some top Italian officials attended the opening. When she saw the newscast later she was puzzled to discover at least half the show was devoted to her.

"I was told it's quite typically Italian," she said. "They adore blondes."

But, having realized her ambition, Sheila finds it has its drawbacks too.

"No matter how hectic it is, we all get after - conference blues when we see everyone going off to separate parts of the world," she said.

Indian Woman Looking Forward to Real Winter

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mrs. Parbman Singh Chawla from Punjab, India, is one Winnipeg resident who is looking forward to the prairie winter.

The diminutive Mrs. Chawla recently arrived here with her husband, who has been appointed badminton professional at the Winnipeg Winter Club.

She told in an interview that friends had warned her before she left India about Canada's snowfall. Instead of discouraging her, the warnings instilled in her a desire to see and paint winter scenes.

"My particular hobby is painting landscapes," she said. "I hope to return to India with many Canadian canvases — particularly snow scenes."

Another ambition is to learn more about western music, to which she was introduced through short-wave radio broadcasts.

Mrs. Chawla, a graduate in education from the University of Punjab, also studied Indian music at the Bhatkhande School of Music. She plays the sitar, an Indian stringed instrument.

The couple celebrated their first wedding anniversary shortly after arriving here. They met on a badminton court in Bombay.

Mr. Chawla played on three Indian international teams and before coming here was ranked as one of the country's top players.

"Although I play often with my husband, I don't play very well," Mrs. Chawla smiled.

For the interview, she wore a sari of turquoise colored silk accented by red coloured thread, and a choker of white beads. On her feet were brightly - painted "mitts" — Indian leather shoes.

Most Indian women collect stamps as a hobby, she said.

"I have 60 silk and cotton saris," she said. But she plans to wear them only on special occasions because she has been advised that it would be too expensive to have the garments dry-cleaning since six yards of material—dry cleaned.

Mrs. Chawla's father is a writer. He encouraged her to come to Canada and "his great wish is for me to return with something new," she said.

She intends to keep a diary and perhaps will publish it on her return to her native land—probably in about two years' time, she said.

"Lines on Life"

By Dr. Stuart E. Rossberg

Most people think of Bible stories as tales intended for young children. As a result, few adults know the real significance of the Bible in spite of the fact that they can easily recount sweet recollections of childhood fantasies.

But the Bible is a library of books which requires serious study and deep scrutiny on the part of man who would be mature. Its stories are often expressed in what has been called "the forgotten language" — the wonderulary of symbol and ethical suggestion. Consider the tale of Noah and the Ark as an example. The average adult thinks of Noah and the Ark in immature ways.

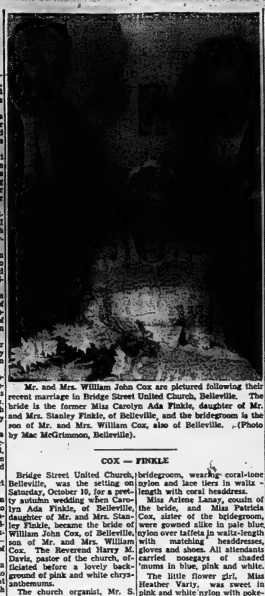
The sages of the Talmud recognized this possibility. That is why they went beyond the literal tale of Noah and other Biblical heroes and sought to discover the adult significance: they looked for the inner meaning of the symbol and the spiritual purpose of the narrative.

They suggested that Noah spent a whole lifetime building the Ark on dry land. As he built it, from year and year, mothers came to view his "foolish" labor, to poke fun and jeer. "Why this fantastic effort, Noah?" they jibed. "Why build an Ark", they mocked "when there is no water!" But Noah remained undeterred. He saw what was in the horizon and his neighbors could only see what was under their noses. He lived for the tomorrow; his friends thought only of the moment.

Here is a significant lesson for those who spend their zealous energies only on things which "bring immediate results". Failing to achieve sudden success, we turn away from important responsibilities to spend ourselves on quick, facile, but empty trivia.

Often, after a whole lifetime, some wake up to discover that while they have been working very hard, their labor has been in vain because it was linked only to the need of the moment, to gratify the passing hour.

Noah was different. He was different because he laboured patiently with maturity. Children need to find their efforts rewarded with immediate reward or else they have no desire to continue their work. Why? Because they are children. They are dominated by the immature need for swift and easy gratification. A child cannot be a Noah!



To be a Noah we need to see what looms on the horizon and dedicate our labor to what we see, in spite of the "blind" reformers who will not see. To be a Noah we need moral backbone to face up to the derisive noise of the crowd. To be a Noah we must refuse to be molded by the convictions of others into conforming, commonplace stereotypes.

The story of Noah, like many another Bible tale, is a story for grown-ups — not just for little children. More important than the Ark is the way in which Noah built the Ark. More significant than the fantasy of the animals was the perseverance he had in the face of little people

Its stories are often expressed in what has been called "the forgotten language" — the vocabulary of symbol and ethical suggestion. Consider the tale of Noah and the Ark as an example. The average adult thinks only of a fabled tale of a man and his family, crowded into a tiny boat surrounded by a teeming mass of elephants, giraffes, and assorted members of the animal kingdom. Indeed, the more vivid our childhood memories of the legendary side of the story, the greater the possibility that as adults we shall think of Noah and the Ark in immature ways.

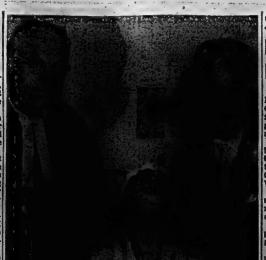
The sages of the Talmud recognized this possibility. That is why they went beyond the Biblical tale of Noah and other Biblical heroes and sought to discover the adult significance: they looked for the inner meaning of the symbol and the ethical purpose of the narrative.

He looked to the tomorrow; his friends thought only of the moment.

Here is a significant lesson for those who spend their zealous energies only on things which "bring immediate results". Failing to achieve sudden success, we turn away from important responsibilities to spend ourselves on quick, facile, but empty trivia.

Often, after a whole lifetime, some wake up to discover that while they have been working hard, their labor has been in vain because it was linked only to the need of the moment, to gratify the passing hour.

Noah was different. He was different because he labored patiently with maturity. Children need to find their efforts rewarded with immediate reward or else they have no desire to continue their work. Why? Because they are children. They are dominated by the immature need for swift and easy gratification. A child cannot be a Noah!



To be a Noah we need to see what looms on the horizon and dedicate our labor to what we see, in spite of the "blind" scoffers who will not see. To be a Noah we need moral backbone to face up to the derisive noise of the crowd. To be a Noah we must refuse to be molded by the convictions of others into conforming, commonplace stereotypes.

The story of Noah, like many another Bible tale, is a story for grown-ups — not just for little children. More important than the Ark is the way in which Noah built the Ark. More significant than the fantasy of the animals is the perseverance he had in the face of little people

NEVER FULLY CLOTHED

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — The semi-official Vatican newspaper l'Osservatore Romano compares the Miss World Beauty competition to a cattle market. In an editorial it asks why the competitors could not appear fully clothed "even for the sedimenting and connexion." Queen Rodtchatter of the Netherlands was crowned Miss World in London Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. William John Cox are pictured following their recent marriage in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Carolyn Ada Finkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Finkle, of Belleville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cox, also of Belleville. (Photo by Mac McCrimmon, Belleville).

COX — FINKLE

Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, was the setting on Saturday, October 10, for a pretty autumn wedding when Carolyn Ada Finkle, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Finkle, became the bride of William John Cox, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cox. The Reverend Harry M. Davis, pastor of the church, officiated before a lovely background of pink and white chrysanthemums.

The church organist, Mr. S. Alec Gordon, presided at the console of the organ, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Sherbert, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Stanley Finkle, the bride was charmingly lovely in her bridal gown of white crystalette with Chantilly lace bodice with small round neckline, and sheath-like long sleeves, lily-pointed over the hands. The bouffant skirt was gracefully full. She wore a finger-tip veil of tulle illusion with crown with white satin ribbon.

Her bouquet studded with seed pearls and sequins, and carried a bouquet of white Shasta daisies, mingled with red roses and lied.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Anne Thompson, sister of the bridegroom wearing coral-tone nylon and lace tiers in waltz-length with coral headdress.

Miss Arlene Lanay, cousin of the bride, and Miss Patricia Cox, sister of the bridegroom, were gowned alike in pale blue nylon over taffeta in waltz-length with matching headdresses, gloves and shoes. All attendants carried nosegays of shaded mums in blue, pink and white.

The flower girl, Miss Heather Varty, was sweet in pink and white nylon with pokebonnet and mitts matching her frock. She carried a basket of miniature mums.

Mr. Stewart Thompson, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Eugene Cox, of Oshawa, and Mr. Gary Finkle, of Belleville, brother of the bride, ushered.

Master Wayne Thompson, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring-bearer.

The reception was held in the Orange Hall, Belleville, where the bride's mother, attired in an avocado green accessories, and printed suede velvet sheath, with avocado green accessories, and corsage of yellow roses, received. Assisting in the receiving line was the bridegroom's mother in a Kelly green wool sheath with short jacket, beige accessories, and corsage of yellow mums.

For the wedding tour around Lake Ontario, the bride wore a pale blue suit with white hat and gloves, black accessories, and corsage of white baby mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox are residing at 60 A West Bridge Street, Belleville.

— Guests attended from Belleville, Tweed, Toronto, Windsor, Trenton, Point Anne, Gunter and Napanee.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of the bridegroom's mother, with Mrs. Anne Thompson and Mrs. W. Cox as co-hostesses. Also at a personal shower at the home of Mrs. Kay Kornblum. with Mrs. Kornblum as co-hostess.

St. Andrew's Little Helpers Hold Service

WELLINGTON — The Little Helpers of St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Wellington, met recently for their annual service and tea party. About 30 children, and 12 adults were present.

A brief service was conducted by the Rev. J. J. Rogers, assisted by Mrs. G. Springings, the Little Helpers' secretary and Mrs. Godfrey Upton, president of the W.A.

Six boys and girls having reached their seventh birthday received their graduation certificates.

Several new Little Helpers were present and welcomed into the group.

Following the service, the children played games, after which a supper was served by the ladies of the W.A.

Point Anne United W.A. Holds Bazaar

The Point Anne United Church Woman's Auxiliary held its annual tea and bazaar in a Christmas fashion.

Mrs. E. Hutchinson, president, greeted the guests at the door, who then circulated the room with its red, green and white array of booths.

The "Parcel Post" and "Fish Pond," convened by Mrs. E. Anderson and Mrs. R. Payne, aroused much excitement among the children. Following was the bake table. Within a short time the conveners, Mrs. J. McLaurin, Mrs. R. Sedore and Mrs. K. Lloyd had only empty pans as a reminder of the delicious display of cakes, pies, candy, etc.

Pretty doilies, glistening Christmas cadles, tiny doll dresses and a host of other articles that would delight a Christmas shopper, were displayed by Mrs. W. Horwood and Mrs. M. Bradshaw.

There were cover-up aprons for the housewife, dainty ones for the hostess, and very lovely ones for a mother's helper. Convening at the booth were Mrs. D. Doxtator and Mrs. N. Dezebok.

Next on the program was the tea room, done in blue and white, A glittering Christmas tree, flanked by crystal candelabra, ornated the tea table.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. F. McDonald, Mrs. F. Clark and Mrs. M. Brown.

A cup of tea and cookies were served to the guests by Mrs. L. Horwood, Mrs. C. Sedore, Mrs. G. Campbell and Mrs. C. Pramming. While relaxing with their tea, the guests enjoyed 4 background of Christmas hymns and carols.

OPERATES HOSPITAL — Mrs. Lilly Butters stands in front of the 50-room mountain-top hospital at Magog, Que., where she cares for 250 deformed children, turned down as hopeless cases by other hospitals. The Cecil Butters Memorial Hospital was founded 14 years ago by Mrs. Butters in memory of a son killed during a bomber training accident. She acts as superintendent and employs a professional staff of 30 persons. All of the children are mentally retarded and completely helpless. Some are blind or mute. There is a waiting list of more than 200. (CP Photo).

Deformed Children Rejected By Other Institutions Find Haven in Lonely Hospital

By OLI DAUM
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MAGOG, Que. (CP) — On a mountain-top overlooking Lake Memphremagog stands a lonely hospital that cares for deformed children who have been rejected by other institutions.

The Cecil Butters Memorial Hospital is a 50 - room, three-storey brick - veneer structure. Its rooms are painted in pastel colors and fluffy curtains cross-ed across the windows. Except for its size it looks like an average home.

But inside are 250 deformed children who have been classed by other hospitals as hopeless. All are mentally retarded and some are blind or mute as well.

NONE TURNED DOWN

"I never turn anyone down because I'm afraid I can't help them," said Mrs. Lily Butters, founder and superintendent of the hospital that accepts deficient patients at their birth and keeps them indefinitely, many until death.

In one room looking down on the lakeside summer homes of fun-loving vacationers, a seven-year-old boy squatted on a board sprung across the bottom of his crib and looked out between rungs of the guard - bar, dark eyes laughing under a bushy head of dark hair. He wore only a pair of denim slacks.

"What's the matter with him?" Mrs. Butters was asked during an interview.

"You name it," she said. The boy is epileptic, mentally deficient, unable to talk and crippled so that he can only kneel.

"He eats everything he can get his hands on," Mrs. Butters said. "We take his mattress away during the day and put it back at night. "He won't eat it then—but those trousers won't stay on him long. We have the hardest-time-keeping clothes on him."

There are 15 other children in the room in beds about a foot apart.

MEMORIAL TO SON

British - born Mrs. Butters, 61, started her hospital 14 years ago as a memorial to a son who was killed in a bomber accident at St. John's, Que., in 1943. She said she had dreamed of having such a hospital since she was a school girl.

"I want it to go on and on," she said. "Everything I do is planned for the future, too, so that the hospital will continue when I am no longer here."

As it's now, the hospital can only care for the children who are "100-per-cent helpless." They have to be fed, dressed, washed and the most they can be taught is how to walk, perhaps talk.

"It's a shame to put these children away without doing anything for them," Mrs. Butters said. "We want physio, occupational and speech therapists and many other facilities."

A trained administrator with a professional staff of 30, Mrs. Butters has received $35,000 in government aid, the first grant two years ago. But last year alone expansion cost her $15,000. There is a waiting list of more than 200 for her hospital.

Mrs. Butters, who said one of her main objects is to keep the hospital from looking like an institution, described the building as an outgrowth from a six-roomed farmhouse in which she and her husband lived when they came from England 30 years ago.

"It is still our home," she said. "And it will be the only home that many of these children will ever have."

After the death of Mrs. Butters' son, Cecil, her other two sons and two daughters-in-law, farmers and nursing students — and her husband went to work to construct the hospital.

"It was better than blaming the war for taking our son," she said. "We saved, used my dead son's gratuity, and, back pay and borrowed money from all my relatives. I shall never forget it."

Her hospital now is insured for $125,000. But to Mrs. Butters it is worth much more than that.

Many of the children, some from as far away as Newfoundland, Virginia and the Yukon, are kept in diapers even though they may be over 10 years old. Few of them can walk, and it is easier with diapers to keep them comfortable.

Most of the children laugh or gurgle all day.

"In their own little worlds they are very happy," said Mrs. Butters.

She pointed to one child, blind and epileptic, who can sing in three languages — French, English and Danish.

"There are no monstrosities, you see," said Mrs. Butters.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three lawyers, a group editor, a woman editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies in communities.

Dorothy E. — He should tell his family to keep way.

Jack E. — I can't kick them out of my house.

Dorothy E. — I was married a year ago and I am expecting a baby in a few months. I am still working full time.

My problem is that a couple of times a week my mother-in-law or brother-in-law drops in for a little while for a chat. I'm tired at the end of the day and I have plenty of work to do around the house. I don't feel like entertaining anyone at the end of a hard day. A couple of times I just went to bed, but I could hear them talking and laughing in the living room and it annoyed me.

I want my husband to tell them to keep away, but he refuses.

Jack E. — My family was always very close. We enjoy getting together and chewing the rag until all hours of the night. I can't kick them out of my home. They would know that it's because of Dorothy and they feel she doesn't like them anyway.

Dorothy is wrong to say she has to entertain them. They help themselves to coffee and never ask her to do a thing. My brother has done a lot of little favors for us in getting our place into shape and now he feels that our place is practically like his own home. Mother feels the same way.

The Council: We think Dorothy has a legitimate beef. The problem her goes a bit deeper than just the physical work involved in entertaining.

As is usual in a close-knit family, the newcomer feels like an outsider. Dorothy hasn't been around long enough to become entirely secure in her possession of her husband. When her in-laws drop into her home any time they please and feel as though it is their own home, Dorothy feels she has nothing.

We think it is most discourteous of these in-laws to remain in the house after Dorothy has excused herself to go to bed. The more fact that they could remain under these circumstances indicates that they don't consider her of much importance around the place.

On the other hand, we think it likely that Dorothy has been instrumental in putting herself in this position. If she had shown her interest in and affection for her husband's family, she might have been drawn into this close-knit group and felt very happy and comfortable within it. In any case, the family would have felt her warmth toward them and she wouldn't have to be afraid of telling them herself that she would like a little more privacy in her own home.

When her child is born, Dorothy may feel much more secure and welcome these family get-togethers as a relief from being alone with a child all day. She may also want to call upon her in-laws to serve as babysitters. So we think that whatever is said to Jack's family should be said in a kindly way.

QUESTION BOX

Question: Is it correct for a child of ten to write his own invitations for his birthday party, or should he give them verbally?

Answer: It is perfectly permissible for a child to write his own invitations (under Mother's supervision, of course). This is rather than to allow him to give them verbally. If he is allowed to do this, however, his mother should second the invitation by calling the mothers of the little guests who have been invited.

Question: When a young man, who is attending college, asks a young lady to a fraternity dance and she lives in another city, should he pay her train fare and also her hotel bill?

Answer: The girl would pay her own train fare, unless the man accompanies her on the trip. While it is perfectly correct for him to make a reservation for her at the hotel, he should never, under any circumstances, be allowed to assume responsibility for the bill.

Question: How should the seating of guests be arranged at a large table when a dinner is given after a wedding service in the home of the bride's parents?

Answer: The bride would be seated at one end of the table at the right of the bridegroom. On her right, the best man and, next to him, a bridesmaid. Seated to the left of the bridegroom, the matron of honor and, on her left, as usher. At the other end of the table would be the father of the bride and, on his right, the mother of the bridegroom. On his left, the mother of the bride and next to her, the father of the bridegroom. If the guests include the clergyman who performed the ceremony, or other relatives of the family, they should be placed at this end of the table. The bridesmaids and ushers should be seated on the sides between these two groups.

Questions: Now that the Fall social season is in full swing, the question always pops up as to when it is permissible to take along the unexpected out-of-town guests to a party to which you have been invited. Will you tell me, please?

Answer: Never just "take along" an additional and unin-vited, guest to any party, no matter how informal. To do so without calling your hostess first and asking permission, is a definite imposition and affront to her. If the party is in the form of a lunch or dinner, never ask at all. In this case, if you do, the hostess is placed in the position of having to graciously say "yes" even though it may entail her completely resetting her table. Actually it is wise to consider carefully before you ask to bring another person under any circumstances, particularly if the extra guest is a woman. It's not bad if the party is just for informal cocktails or tea, but even in these cases, a call first should be made to the hostess.

Cookies For Christmas And Tulips For Spring

by Mary Moore

Planning tulips and making cookies for Christmas went together.

I had three dozen each Mme. Testouts and Murillos (double pink and white varieties) and fifty of a Rainbow mixture, all Holland bulbs, and the newscaster was predicting snow.

So at 7:15 a.m. the first batch of cookies went in the oven. By 8:10 I was planting Mme. Testouts in the front flower bed.

By 9:30 the second batch of cookies was in the oven and by 10:30 I was planting Murillos in the side back garden. I didn't dishdope one of last year's jonquils or hyacinths for when planting them I had tied little red wires around the bulbs behind them as markers.

By now all 128 are planted, and the cookies are baked and cooled and tested and I'm ready to give them to you for the start of your Christmas cookie baking.

BELGIAN SANDWICH COOKIES:

(Dainty, filled with red jam or jelly and frosted). The secret of success with these cookies is to roll them thin.

1-4 pound butter, 1-2 cup white sugar, 1 egg, 3 cups sifted all-purpose or cake flour, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon almond flavoring.

Cream butter and sugar well. Add egg and beat. Add flour and baking powder, sifted together. Add flavoring. Mix well. Roll out very thinly on well-floured baking board Cut with 1 1-2" cookie cutter. Bake on greased baking sheet at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Cool on rack. Put 2 cookies together with very small amount — about 1-2 teaspoon — raspberry jam or red currant jelly. If desired ice top with simple icing made of icing-sugar and water. Divide into 3 small bowls and tint one pale pink and the other pale green. Frost sparingly. If desired, decorate tops with 1-4 cherry or chocolate shot or silver dragees or colored sugar. Store covered, with wax paper between layers, when dry.

SOUTHERN DREAM SQUARES:

Base: 1-2 cup butter, 1-2 cup brown sugar, 1 cup flour. —

Topping: 2 eggs, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup coarsely chopped pecans, 1-2 cup shredded cocoanut, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla, pinch of salt.

For base, cream butter with brown sugar, add flour and mix well. Press into 8 x 8 x 2" pan, spreading evenly into corners. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes. For filling, beat eggs until frothy, add brown sugar and beat until thick. Toss cocoanut with 2 tablespoons flour and add to batter, then add pecans. Season with vanilla and salt. Mix well. Spread over baked crust. Bake for 20 minutes more at 350 deg. Fahr. or until well browned. Spread with icing sugar when cool and cut into 1" squares. Store between layers of wax paper in covered box.

Stirling W.I. Holds Fine Meeting

Mrs. George Mumby extended a warm welcome to the officers and members of the Stirling Women's Institute at their recent regular meeting. In spite of the rainfall and bad streets, a good number of members were present, showing their interest in this good work.

Mrs. B. Reid, president, occupied the chair and was pleased to see so many out.

The secretary, Mrs. D. Montgomery, called the roll, each answering to "Items at eighty" returned from the First World War.

Communications consisted of a letter from the FWIO. regarding the secretary, Ann Haggerty, Toronto, and a letter in connection with radios available. Owing to the absence of a member who had further information on this subject, the item will be held over until the next meeting, or executive will decide on this item of business.

The customary donation to the Red Cross was ordered given, also a donation to the refugee children will be remembered as well.

In remembrance of the boys who paid the supreme sacrifice, a wreath was placed at the cenotaph Armistice Day.

Mrs. Reid and Mrs. West were appointed to be in charge of the cooking sale on Nov. 28th to be 14th.

More information will be placed under the crest.

Money was given to one of the members to make candy for the bake sale.

The Friendship secretary was asked to bring Christmas cards to the next meeting, for all to sign before sending out as a cheery remembrance for the festive season.

The president reminded the ladies to get busy and make their aprons for next meeting, to be sold.

Mrs. K. Foster contributed to the Garden Fund. Dec. for November.

Quilt patches were handed out and the bale of used clothing for Toronto Scott Mission, was packed by Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Foster.

SPOONS NEEDED

The treasurer suggested buying one dozen table spoons with W.I. on them.

Mrs. R. Reid, convener of the program, opened with a report of the Area Convention held in Belleville, the motto being, "Adventuring in New Service." "Beauty Bear" was a humorous reading given by Mrs. Frank Smith; Mrs. Nora Stapley favored the ladies by singing "In the Garden," with her own accompaniment.

A true to life reading "Mrs. Jones and the Burglar," was well given by Mrs. E. Foster.

"Remembrance Day" a reading by Mrs. West in part: "A nation is a historical memory; a human fraternity, a spiritual prophecy; how fitting we have a remembrance day. A sacrament of memory in honor of the nation, in gratitude for all who have served its ideal and its faith, all who have fallen on red fields of war, that it might grow and be glorified, that liberty, justice and good will may live and abide.

"As flags are run up, and flowers are placed at the cenotaph, there is no thought of strife, but of tender kindness and reverent remembrance. Your life and mine is but one note in a symphony, the end of which we may never know, but no one lives in vain, who helps build a better world for those who follow, making a gentler path for little feet to walk in days ahead."

Another Armistice reading, entitled "The Greatest Love" by Mrs. Frank Smith, comes to us the sacrifice of Remembrance Day. We bow our heads and across the centuries there comes to us those memorable words, "Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends." Love is the biggest thing, the greatest thing in the world, and this is love's finest hour, but many a one would not have reached this without God's help.

"The war drums shall throb no longer,
And the battle flags are furled."

Despite all the scheming of the makers of war, the dream of peace survives. It lives on hopes peace, not war, is God's plan for the life of man."

Two contests were staged, "Who am I?" and "Name Him," with Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Montgomery the winners. The two of nuts and candies were prizes.

Refreshments were served and a social chit-chat was enjoyed by all. At the close Mrs. Lois Bronson voiced appreciation to the hostess and committee, also to those who took part in the program.

Roman Catholic Archbishop Was Never a Parish Priest; Guides Destinies of 70,000

By JOE DUPUIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONCTON N.B. (CP) — A Roman Catholic archbishop who never was a parish priest guides the spiritual destinies of 70,000 Acadians in this bilingual centre of the Atlantic provinces.

Archbishop Norbert Robichaud says the fast pace of modern living is creating some problems in delinquency and drinking for Acadians "but we are making great progress materially and spiritually."

He was the youngest archbishop in North America when appointed at the age of 37 to administer the 45 parishes in the Moncton diocese embracing the New Brunswick counties of Westmorland, Albert and Kent.

GREW UP ON FARM

A direct descendant of the first Robichaud to settle in North America in the 17th century, the 54 - year - old archbishop talks plainly and slowly. He was one of 14 children born to a hard-working farm couple and grew up in St. Charles, a hamlet seven miles from Richibucto, N.B.

Becoming a priest was "always on my mind from as far back as I can remember." Three of his sisters are nuns.

Life was a struggle for him from the start. He was a frail youngster and twice his career at the Acadian College of St. Anne's Church Point, N.S., was interrupted when his health broke down.

A group of priests financed his education.

"My father was sick and my family had no money," he recalled. "I had to rely on charity for my college education."

He worked on the family farm during the holidays and "never quite knew whether I would be able to return the next term."

BROAD EDUCATION

After college he attended Holy Heart Seminary, Halifax, University of Montreal and the University of St. Joseph's, 15 miles from here. He was appointed chancellor to the bishop here immediately following his ordination in 1930 and after 12 years became archbishop.

"It's peculiar," he said, "I always wanted to be a parish priest, never cared too much for administrative work but here I am."

He was asked whether his abilities as administrator and leader kept him from being assigned to a parish.

"Well, yes, I suppose so," he said. "But, of course, you must remember I had been with the bishop all those years and then I spent three years studying in Rome. That would give me certain qualifications, eh?"

Archbishop Robichaud says administration — "all that paper work"—is his biggest headache, and education for the Acadian people his biggest problem.

Spiritually Acadians were more devout then ever. "It's still not unusual in a large family to have three sons enter the priesthood." Modern devices like television, radio and easy modes of travel are helping Acadians acquire a "real bilingualism."

They also helped spread delinquency and drinking habits among the younger set. But the archbishop is not against moderate drinking.

"You know most Acadians are fishermen — jovial, hard-working —and when they return from the sea with a big catch and a bigger pay-day they like to live it up" he said. "If they drink, somehow you really can't blame them.

"But an improvement in the drinking habits of our young people certainly is needed."

The archbishop's palace is a sturdy, brown stone mansion on upper Main Street, recently sold to the federal government for demolition to make way for an office building. He will move across the Petitcodiac River when a few $200,000 residence is completed next year.

He's an enthusiastic angler and enjoys listening to classical music on his hi-fi set.

RUSTLERS ACTIVE

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP) — Cattle rustling is still a problem and the local agriculture society is being urged to set up rewards for conviction of livestock thieves. Mrs. George Whittaker reported several cows had been taken from her pasture.

KINGSTON (CP) — Kingston's oldest resident, Mrs. Clementine Kavaner, celebrated her 102nd birthday Tuesday at St. Mary's of the Lake Hospital. A former Sydenham resident, Mrs. Kavaner has lived at the hospital for the last two years.

Repair Ship Heads for New Break in Cable

WASHINGTON (CP) — A repair ship headed today for a spot 300 miles off Newfoundland where a transatlantic cable was damaged Friday in the first of two 36 telephone circuits from France and Germany.

Five cable breaks occurred in the same area last February, prompting an on-board investigation of a Russian trawler found in the vicinity. It was believed that the trawler's deep - rigging plows might have cut the cable accidentally.

Two United States navy patrol planes began scouting the area Wednesday for any ships that might have come on the latest break, but poor visibility forced them back to their base at Argentia, Nfld.

A spokesman for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company said in New York until repair crews examined the cable there would be no way of telling whether it was cut by a ship or damaged by some natural cause.

SERVICE CONTINUES

The damaged cable is the westbound half of a system reaching from North America to the coast of Britain. Additional radio telephone circuits were set up following the break, and there was no appreciable delay in service.

The ship going out today was the cable repair vessel Cyrus Field, based in St. John's, Nfld. Officials of the cable ship depot in Halifax said the break could have been caused by any ship that might have passed through the area, and that damage to cables is a fairly common occurrence, especially in the areas where fishing trawlers operate.

Canadian Soldiers in Germany Will Now Use Marks to Pay Rents, Bar Bills and Banking

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOEST, Germany (CP)—Canadian soldiers will be spared having their financial headaches cured more easily here.

They used to trade their dollar earnings in sterling, changing it into German marks for spending off base. With constant changes in valuation, it was a mathematician's nightmare.

From now on, everything will be done with marks—salaries, rents, bar bills and banking. Scrip, based on sterling, is heading for the bonfires.

The decision to scrap this form of money was made by the British Army of the Rhine, of which the Canadian 4th Infantry Brigade forms a part. The Canadians welcomed the change.

Maj. James Cox of London, Ont., the brigade's field cashier, said: "It will simplify matters all the changeover. It will simplify our online operations."

Maj. Cox, whose staff looks after the estimated $2,500,000 circulating through the brigade's bases in Germany, still deals with Canadian and American dollars, German marks and Belgian and French francs—"helped least they come at Britain. Additional radio

With sterling gone, the brigade can use regular army cash books and will no longer need the troops cards to German in 1951.

The old sterling system—British Armed Forces Special Vouchers—had been used since the war by Britain's troops in Germany. The small pay with which they threepence and worked up to £5. The big pocket-wrecking English pennies also were used.

The war office in London says the British forces are switching to marks "for reasons too numerous to mention." Generally, it will simplify matters.

Joe Barter, general manager of the Maple Leaf Services canteens which supply the troops with food, clothing and hardware, agrees wholeheartedly. With an all-German staff he found the sterling system a constant headache.

Barter, from St. John's, Nfld., has been made the canteens' czar over during one weekend "We had to put a new price on every item in the store, for 28 separate cash registers worth $30,000, and get out our books, and open on the usual Monday.

"It was a busy weekend."

Dan Clark, of Leamington, Ont., manager of the Bank of Montreal at the Soest branch quarters, had the same sort of hectic weekend.

"But there was no real problem. We closed out our books and opened new ones Monday.

"The troops have adapted with one new way."

Maj. Cox says the soldiers now coming to Germany will gain most from the changeover. They have to bother learning the sterling system. The ones who have been here for a while don't really mind."

Adequacy of U.S. Credit Monetary Plan Questioned

TORONTO (CP) — An investigation into the adequacy of the United States' credit and money system was urged today by Robert A. Holloway, of Baton Rouge, La., chairman of the Washington committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

He told the association convention that the investigation should be made by a bipartisan national monetary commission. The tight money market, aggravated by the problems of inflation and credit management, "does a sad disservice to those who are at Willow Run, just outside Detroit—home such an inquiry.

Mr. Holloway also urged, when Congress reconvenes in January, an increase in the interest-rate ceiling on long - term government bonds—now 4½ per cent on bonds with a maturity of more than five years.

As long as interest-rate ceilings were forced the government to finance its debt as relatively high interest rates in the short-term market, money would be diverted from home financing.

Mr. Holloway's comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

Frederick G. Gardiner, chairman of the council of Metropolitan Toronto, said it now is obvious that "any attempt to set artificial boundaries to the continuously metropolitan area is one geographical, economic and social unit, and will have to be dealt with on that basis."

D. W. Grossman, of Knightsbridge, Ont., told the annual institute of Farm Brokers — an affiliate of NAREB — that his over-all impression of farming in Russia, after a visit, was that it was done in a crude way.

"On one farm", he said, "we saw 300 cows being milked at one time—by women and by hand. We saw some milking machines, but most of the milking was done by women by hand.

General Motors Stops Auto Production Lacking Enough Steel to Build Even One Car

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, which has facilities to build almost 2,000 cars an hour, stopped auto production Wednesday because it lacks enough finished steel to build even one more complete car.

Normally at this time of year General Motors five car-making divisions would be turning out upward of 80,000 units a week.

Assembly of Chevrolet Corvette sports cars stopped at St. Louis during the day. The final line scheduled to close was at Willow Corvair.

Most General Motors lines have been down for 10 days and production was curtailed even before then by parts shortages. Total General Motors layoffs run about 230,000 hourly employees from a normal work force of 320,000.

FOUR-WEEK SHUTDOWN

The shutdown will last until enough steel can be obtained, and parts processed, to fill supply lines at the assembly plants. General Motors has declined to estimate how long this might be. Industry sources expect the shutdown to last a few weeks.

This is the first complete GM shutdown since 1946 and was caused by a shortage of materials. It built a record year during the war for the military although production for civilians was prohibited. Strikes by its own workers have caused shutdowns on occasion, the most recently in October, 1958.

Ford is operating on curtailed work week but hopes to pick up speed by the end of the month. Chrysler also has cut back but will build all lines of cars through at least next week. It says it be able to continue at least some assembly until fresh steel supplies become available.

Resumption of steel production apparently came in time to prevent any serious slowdowns in auto output for both American Motors and Studebaker-Packard.

In Oshawa, a General Motors spokesman said Wednesday there was still no indication when the 6,000 assembly workers, laid off only a week ago, can be put back to work.

About 3,000 of the 9,000 plant workers were not immediately affected by the steel shortage and have been retained.

The Oshawa plant will get its full share of steel when shipments are delivered to General Motors, the spokesman said.

It is expected that six weeks will be required before the Oshawa plant can return to full production.

NIPPED BY KEBRA

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Roger Sandee, 1, was bitten by a zebra through a mesh fence at Forest Park Zoo Wednesday. He suffered a pinched cheek and little finger on his left hand.

Canadian Tumor Registry Provides Hospitals With Slides of Many Kinds Tumors

OTTAWA (CP) — Medical science's cunning fight with cancer has all the earmarks of a detective story.

For one thing, cancer is a killer. It took 32,795 Canadian lives last year. Sometimes it can be arrested and removed. Often, it's elusive, remaining hidden until fatal damage is done. Nobody is quite known what it is or its cause.

It has a thousand and one faces. Some are easily identified; others are variations of known types of the disease. A few are new and do not fall into any known category.

In a little laboratory, tucked into a corner of the University of Ottawa's medical faculty building, a small team of medical researchers is busy stripping cancer's many masks, one by one, and cataloguing them for further medical research and study.

The laboratory is called the Canadian Tumor Registry, to which hospital pathologists in all parts of the country send specimens of tumors—both benign and cancerous—removed in operations.

Here, for the last 10 years, they have been examined, tested, marked and identified. Paper-thin slices of tissues, encased in wax, are attached to microscope slides and filed away for later study here and by pathologists and medical students across the country. By the end of this year the registry will have some 100,000 cases on record.

In a sense, it is a clearing house of information on tumors in general, and cancer in particular.

The registry was established and is supported mainly by the National Cancer Research Institute of Canada.

Its chief, Dr. Desmond Magner, professor of pathology at the university, said in an interview the registry's three purposes are to:

1. Provide a consultative service to pathologists in Canadian hospitals who desire medical opinions of other pathologists when they encounter new or unusual types of cancer.

2. Build up a "library" of tumor specimens of all kinds.

3. Learn more about tumors, both benign and cancerous, and develop documentation on types that are not too well known.

Consultation is not done here by the registry has the services of some 45 pathologists in every part of Canada who are experts on various kinds of cancer. When necessary, slides and known facts about a tumor are mailed to these specialists for their opinions.

The registry also has built up the full set of slides representing the known gamut of tumors affecting the male and female anatomical systems, the skin, bones and joints, and salivary glands.

These sets are available on loan to 14 medical schools in Canada where undergraduate and postgraduate students can study them at leisure and learn to recognize benign and cancerous growths.

Not all tumors removed by surgery are sent to the registry. This would swamp the small staff headed by Dr. Magner, Dr. D. P. Hill, assistant-registrar, a full-time and a part-time technician and one secretary. Almost 1,000 cases are expected to be received this year.

Rather, pathologists keep an eye out for tumors that are unusual, poorly documented or which are considered under special circumstances that medical researchers may find significant.

Bottle in Hand Alcoholic Breaks Up Ceremony

PRESTON (CP)—Pareuls were weeping, bride and groom were exchanging vows, when suddenly the solemnity of the ceremony was shattered by an alcoholic hallelujah from the back of the church.

Three times came the shout, three times s beer bottle waved in the air, and after each burst, the owner of the bottle settled back again to watch the wedding with bleary-eyed contentment. For Rev. Allan Vair of Knox Presbyterian Church, it was the most "harrowing" marriage ceremony of his experience.

Wednesday's magistrates court, Kenneth Jackson, an itinerant construction worker, was sentenced to three months in jail. He said he was so drunk he couldn't remember a thing and promised to get out of town and join Alcoholics Anonymous.

"It was my first offence and I have no privious record," he said.

Crown Attorney Harold Daufman disagreed. He handed Knox Vair a letter containing convictions for drunkenness.

"This shows you have been jailed in every town from the State of Washington to Washington, D.C.," said Mr. Daufman.

Chamber Against Bidding by Large Mines

SUDBURY (CP) — Elliot Lake Chamber of Commerce said Wednesday the Eldorado Mining and Refining Company, a Crown corporation, and Gunnar Uranium are bidding for uranium contracts held by smaller mines in the Elliot Lake district.

The chamber in a strongly worded letter to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, said it to protect the government's decision "to allow uranium contracts to be transferred out of this area through interlock."

"The fact that Eldorado, a government agency, is permitted to enter into bidding against private enterprise is most deplorable," the letter said the purchase of uranium contracts from smaller mines could mean the loss of millions of dollars to the district and further cutbacks in employment.

Mainly because of manoeuvring by French President Charles de Gaulle of France, President Eisenhower will be negotiating from diminished political strength when East and West meet at the summit next year.

In fact, it now appears there will be little or no at all to two summit conferences—one before Eisenhower retires and a second after he has left the scene and handed over his successor.

SUMMIT SPEED

It is perhaps with this in mind that Eisenhower has been urging that a Paris summit is one conference this year. De Gaulle reportedly favors having a summit next spring without putting a time limit on his negotiations.

Now de Gaulle has announced that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will visit France on his way to beginning March 15. He also indicated that he was going to the Western summit meeting planned for Paris Dec. 19 there should be no further meeting of the Western powers before the full East-West summit gets under way.

All this would seem to indicate further delays in the East-West negotiations to the point where Eisenhower may even have to take a look at the Soviet Union simply because he would be edging close to the end of his term in the White House. A constitutional amendment would prevent him from seeking a third term, even if he wished to try for re-election.

That may be de Gaulle's advantage, for despite his avowed friendship for Eisenhower he has voiced suspicion of both Russia and the U.S. as the world's two top nuclear powers.

At an East - West conference Eisenhower, de Gaulle, the U.S., Britain and France. All but France have exploded nuclear weapons. France will attempt to explode a nuclear device in the Sahara desert early next year, setting appeals that she abandon making a test.

Both Russia and the U.S. have expressed fears that if the French countries join the nuclear club, the more possibility there is of a nuclear war.

In this instance, the countering argument is that France may be highly suspect by the nuclear powers. This has raised the possibility that Russia and the U.S. might try to divide the world into spheres of influence and even unite through some political or military alliance.

"In truth," he says, France is equipping herself with a first class weapon, will render a service to world equilibrium."

To Washington observers it appears equally true that de Gaulle is seeking by every means to enhance the bargaining position of France at the East-West conference table.

And it appears by his shrewd planning, he may win his way.

Paratroopers Sent to Quell Tribal Strife

USUMBURA, Ruanda - Urindi (Reuters) — Troops from neighboring Belgian Congo patrolled the central African trust territory today, with orders to break up all gatherings of armed men.

The governor of the territory, mandated twin kingdoms of Ruanda and Urundi, flew from neighboring Usumbura to Kigali yesterday to disperse all gatherings of armed men, seize "criminals" and bring them before the courts.

Harroy announced in a radio broadcast Wednesday night that Ruanda had been placed under a state of "military occupation." Belgium is determined to restore order, he added.

APPEAL TO TRIBESMEN

The governor appealed to fighting Watutsi and Bahutu tribesmen to "renounce this detestable recourse to violence." The Watutsi average seven feet in height.

Reinforcements were flown into Ruanda from the Belgian Congo since Sunday to back detachments of Belgian-led native troops in efforts to separate the fighting tribes.

Harroy said that "whole regions of Ruanda are devastated. Hundreds of houses are burned and tributsmen are mourning their dead."

He said Ruanda-Urundi this week in Ruanda, at least 200 tribesmen have been killed and 1,000 injured. The causes of the bloodshed stretch far back into the history of this savage, primitive area.

YEAR ENSLAVEMENT

Traditionally, the Bahutus have been the serfs of the aristocratic Watutsis.

The Bahutus finally rose against their Watutsi masters. One version of the story is that the Bahutus fear that when the Watutsis have built up a large, powerful Watutsi, a minority, would enslave them once more.

Bands of 200 to 300 Bahutu warriors ranged the mountainous area hunting for Watutsis. The Bahutus are reported to have attacked Watutsi villages, killing Watutsi women and children.

The Watutsis replied with forays of their own and then sent the pygmies—Batwa archer-warriors—against rival raids.

Reports Wednesday said the situation is "unspeakable."

The manhandling of a Bahutu tub-chief by some Watutsis sparked a wild outbreak of violence. Wild deaths were reported to total 200, but unofficial reports today said they could have been secreted in isolated areas.

Sketches and Oil Paintings Worth $40,000 Taken in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Twenty treasured sketches by Canadian Jackson, Thomson and Varley artists and four oil paintings valued at $40,000 have been stolen from the University of British Columbia Art Gallery.

The sketches were part of an $85,000 collection which went on display at the university last week and were owned by Edmonton contractor Edward Poole.

The theft, announced by the university Wednesday, occurred last Saturday, Sunday or Monday when the gallery was closed.

Four paintings by Maurice Utrillo, John Constable, Jean Henner and Adolphus Monticelli considered to be among the best masters, were in the loot.

GROUP OF SEVEN WORK

Among the Canadian works stolen were eight sketches by A. Y. Jackson, four by Tom Thomson and two each by James Morrice, J. E. H. MacDonald, Fred Varley and Clarence Gagnon.

Jackson, Thomson and Varley are members of Canada's Group of Seven.

Mr. Poole said he was reluctant to let the collection out for public showing but had been persuaded into doing it by an official of the Victoria Art Gallery. The replica collection came here last week after being shown in Victoria.

The thieves missed a valuable Thomson sketch called The Fisherman.

"The theft has certainly been a great shock and disappointment to me," Mr. Poole said in Edmonton. He said he was under the impression they were to be exhibited at the downtown Vancouver Art Gallery, not at the university. He began the collection 40 years ago.

Jim Banahan, director of the university's information service said the paintings and sketches the theft was not a student prank.

apparently were not damaged. They were lifted off the display areas in their frames.

He said the collection has been catalogued and the loss will be recovered by insurance.

RCMP Insp. M. J. Nadon said officers are "reasonably sure"

Bombers Hammer Eskimos In 1st Game Western Finals; Ploen Big Factor in Win

By GERRY McNEIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Quarterback Kenny Ploen, the question mark, boobed an exclamation point as Winnipeg Blue Bombers trounced Edmonton Eskimos by 18-11 defeat Wednesday.

Bombers' victory gave them the upper hand in the best-of-three Western Interprovincial Football Union finals.

Ploen quickly spotted the holes in a porous Edmonton defense and sent his power backs crashing through to build up an 18-0 halftime lead.

Eaks fought hard in the second half and outscored Bombers 11-1.

FIRST-HALF JITTERS

Coach Eagle Keys pointed out two factors that threw the team off balance in the first half:

They tried three defensive backers instead of the usual two to knock down our passes.

"Also, our defensive ends were nervous about Ploen."

Ploen, a flayed runner, kept the ends playing outside instead of rushing him. They feared he might scuttle past them if they moved in too close.

Ploen's ace also played a part in the game, Keys, upset by Bombs use of aluminum cleats, called western conference officials during the game to check their legality.

"I'd never seen anything like them before," said the coach. "But they were ruled legal."

SNOW SWEEPERS

The special cleats seemed to give Bombers better traction on the snow-dusted field. The Eaks wore sneakers with treaded soles.

A crowd of 18,000 watched the afternoon game in six - degree cold. Snow squalls and fickle, six-hour northeast winds swept the rock-hard field.

The second game will be played Saturday in Winnipeg.

"We've got the first game," said Bombers coach Bud Grant confidently in a thawing dressing room interview. "The next one won't be easy, but now we know we can move the ball."

Ploen, a 24 - year - old 180-pounder, played the safety spot all season and was a defensive standout. Then brilliant quarterback Jim Van Pelt was hurt, and Ploen had to replace him late in the season.

ROOKIE SCORES

Ploen, who hadn't quarterbacked in two years, looked as though he'd been at it all season. The first youth scooted wide from Eskimos' five-yard line to score one touchdown and fullback Charlie Shepard crashed 12 yards for the other.

Gerry James kicked a 30-yard field goal, a 17-yard single and two converts and Shepard also booted a single from the 36-yard line.

Johnny Bright plunged off-tackle from the three for Edmonton's touchdown. Quarterback Jackie Parker, relieved in the second quarter by Don Getty, kicked a 36-yard field goal and a convert. Ted Vic Chapman, whose lengthy punts were a perfect spot for Edmonton, booted a 43-yard single.

Linebacker Dave Burkholder scuttled it with Eaks' drive when recovering a fumble. Minutes later, James kicked his field goal. Burkholder also set up Shepard's touchdown in the second quarter, by intercepting one of Parker's passes. He broke up Eaks' ninth scoring drive by Eaks with another interception.

Eskies had set the stage for Bright's touchdown with an interception early in the fourth quarter. Chapman also had taken two of Ploen's passes and tackle Ted Tully intercepted and recovered a Winnipeg fumble, but Eaks couldn't convert these chances into points.

Eskimos had a 19-16 edge in first downs and gained 137 yards passing to 49 by Bombers. Edmonton's ball-handling netted 128 yards along the ground to 136 for Eaks.

Champion May Call off Bout With Patterson

NEW YORK (AP) — World heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson is reported ready to call off his return match with Floyd Patterson as a result of getting a title fight with light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore in New York next June.

Sports columnist Jimmy Cannon, writing in the Journal American, said Wednesday Johansson is opposed to a return match with Patterson, whom he knocked out last June because of his solicitude for Cus D'Amato, the former champion's manager.

Also, Johansson is determined that the people who promoted his fight with Patterson do not get a share in profit of any of his future fights. Ingemar was referring to Vincent J. Velella, major stockholder in Roosevelt Raceways, who is trying to place the fight in Miami, Rosenbaum, since ousted, promoted the last fight.

There isn't anyone affiliated with the Patterson fight that Johansson would trust in a business deal, Patterson explained, Cannon said.

TITLE BOUT SET

BANGKOK (AP) — World flyweight champion Pascual Perez of Argentina will defend his title against Thailand's ranking contender Pone Kingpetch in Bangkok next March 8, was announced Wednesday night.

Jerry Sinclair added a goal apiece with Vance and Bowerbank getting assists. Peter Watson tallied for the Rovers with help from Bob Duggan and Billy "The Kid" McCrea.

Johnson Stops Sonny Ray

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Johnson, one of the greatest fighting machines in the business, returned to Philadelphia today seeking his $50 a week job playing drums in a jazz combo.

"I don't get enough fights to live on. I've got a five - piece combo," said the top - ranking light heavyweight who stopped Sonny Ray in the 10th round in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night before just 750 fans.

The televised bout with Ray was his first fight in six months and only his 11th in four years. He won them all.

The 31 - year - old Johnson was a superb specimen against Ray, deadly and sure-fisted.

He admitted afterwards: "I think I could have got him any time like I did in the last round. But not having fought for so long I was skeptical. I held back too long thinking I had to pace my-

HAMILTON (CP) — Don't be afraid if you see a young ballplayer, big right arm in a sling, trot on the field to join those bewildering players in the Eastern Big Four football picture.

Nobody's concerned about his arm. His toe is the thing.

The man will be Steve Oneschuk, No. 34 for Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who meet Ottawa Rough Riders Saturday in the first engagement of their two - game, total-point playoff series.

Oneschuk, who suffered a shoulder separation late in the regular season, would be used only as a placement kicker.

"He'll probably play if the field is soft," coach Jim Trimble said. "We'll send him in there to pack away with points."

While Trimble still isn't making any predictions about the outcome of the series, he isn't taking Ottawa's challenge to 73-cats' Big Four crown lightly.

Rough - and - ready calls he had his squad working hard Wednesday.

Trimble expects to run into trouble against Ottawa quarterback Babe Parilli, who performed brilliantly in Riders' 26-6 win over Montreal Alouettes in the sudden-death semi - final last week.

"He can run, kick and pass," big Jim said. "We're going to have to spend a lot of time getting ready to defend against him."

This means Trimble is confident Tiats can stop the ground attack of Russ Jackson, Riders' No. 1 quarterback. Jackson hasn't made a good showing against Hamilton this season.

Self—I didn't push until the 10th. "I didn't accomplish anything but a good workout. All I can do is sit around, play the drums and wait for a fight. I'd like to meet Archie Moore again for the title shot." Moore won the earth, layoed Johnson in the 14th five years ago) but all my concern with Moore have no results."

Johnson now has a 62-6 record. Ray, who weighed in at 174, is 30-9-4.

Nellie Fox Named M.V.P. American League

By BOB GREEN

BOSTON (AP)—Tobacco-chewing Nellie Fox of Chicago White Sox' gritty little second baseman, today was named the American League's most valuable player for 1952.

Fox edged teammate Luis Aparicio, the shortstop half of Chicago's brilliant double - play combination, in balloting of a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Fox and Aparicio, who helped Chicago to their first pennant in 23 years, were the only two players listed on all ballots. They divided all the first-place votes between them.

Fox polled 285 points in the voting, Aparicio 256. Early Wynn, Chicago righthander, drew 123 points as Cleveland Indians swept the first three places in the poll.

It was the first such award for Fox, a quiet, unassuming 31-year-old veteran. His selection gave Chicago a sweep of the MVP awards. The Cubs' Ernie Banks was named to the National League MVP award last week.

Other principal American league vote-getters were Cleveland's Rocky Colavito and Vic Wertz, Al Kaline of Detroit, Jim Landis of Chicago and Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers.

Fox contributed 191 hits and a .306 average to Chicago's pennant drive. He handled 527 chances with 10 errors for a sparkling .366 fielding average.

Fox played in 156 games, boosting his consecutive game streak to 668, a major league record for second baseman. He has 1,307 hits in his 12-year major league career, second only to Hornsby. Ted Williams among active players.

Pilous Not On Way Out

CHICAGO (CP)—Tommy Ivan, general manager of the floundering Chicago Black Hawks, said Wednesday he "we've given no thought" to getting a replacement for coach Rudy Pilous.

The Hawks absorbed their 11th loss in 14 games Tuesday night as Toronto Maple Leafs defeated them 3-1. The Hawks have won only one—defeating New York Rangers 5-2 in the National Hockey League opener Oct. 7—and have shot out two the few last place in the league.

Ivan was commenting on a rumor that Pilous was on his way out.

Larks Fire General Manager In Front Office Shakeup

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes' front office shakeup continued Wednesday with the dismissal of Gorman Kennedy as general manager.

Kennedy, with the club three years, follows coach Doug (Peahead) Walker and assistant coaches Jimmy Dunn and Pat Preston into retirement from the football club's re - organization program mapped out by president Ted Workman.

Walker was relieved of his duties Monday while Dunn and Preston announced their resignations Tuesday.

The only survivor in the operational forces is Harvey Johnson who is expected to continue in his present position as talent scout for U.S. college players, National Football League surplus and homebreds.

THREE CANDIDATES

In making the announcement Workman explained that the club is looking for a man who will combine the duties of general manager and coach. Workman said he is considering three such candidates.

One of these men under consideration is Perry Moss, head coach at Florida State University, who previously mentioned as Walker's successor. But Workman reiterated his previous stand that Moss has not been signed.

"Two other men are also being considered," Workman said. "But we will make a decision on one until after the close of the U.S. college football season on Nov. 28."

"After five years with the club and a careful study of the organizational structure," Workman said, "I am convinced a new plan is necessary."

"Our gate receipts and our attendance have steadily increased. But this year we've spent $200,000 more than any other club in Canada in development programs. I feel we need a new approach."

Kennedy's position as vice-president is expected to be considered at the next meeting of the club's board of directors.

Cats Favored By 14 Points, But Riders Are Confident

By DON ATTFIELD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Coach Frank Clair and his Rough Riders haven't followed their usual pattern this year, and it's got Ottawa fans sitting on the edge of their chairs.

Clair, who points out that he's been in Canadian football as long as was Douglas (Peahead) Walker of Montreal Alouettes, has started his three previous years here strongly and weakened in the late months.

Things looked really desperate when Hamilton began this year with five straight losses.

The only direction they could go was up, and up they went, winning eight of their next nine league games to finish in second place.

The losses, Clair said in an interview Wednesday, disturbed him because he knew he had a good club—yet a trend had developed toward Clair must go and everyone must go.

"Those losses at the start of the season made us an even hungrier club", he said.

His feeling was echoed by veteran star Hayes Vaughan.

"We're hungry," he said.

"Handicap is hungry too," someone said.

"Not as hungry as us."

Facing Montreal in the sudden-death semi-final, Ottawa's newspapers gained emphasis as Riders trounced Alouettes 43-0.

Although Hamilton Tiger-Cats are favored by 14 or 15 points to take the two-game, total - point final which opens here Saturday at 1 p.m. EST, Riders are confident they finally are breaking their jinx.

Ticket sales for this Saturday's game, to be televised by the CBC in Eastern Canada with Ottawa blacked out, are reported good. The club says all 16,000 reserved seats have been sold, and 4,000 general admission tickets were going faster than they expected for the semi-final, attended by 19,000.

'Slug It Out' Says Durelle

TORONTO (CP) — Yvon Durelle, the fighting fisherman from Bale Ste. Anne, N.B., dismissed the discomforts of a few broken bones when he sits down and suggested Wednesday a fight plan for next Tuesday's Canadian heavyweight title bout with George Chuvalo of Toronto.

"Let Chuvalo and I stand in the middle of the ring and slug it out until one goes down."

Tommy McHugh, Chuvalo's trainer, had other ideas as both boxers worked out at the Toronto Athletic Club.

"We know Durelle will be here as he and we'll try to outsmart him, get him out of position—and then—"

'Bald Eagle' Tops Field in International

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Bald Eagle, an American-bred four-year old who as a colt went to England and disappointed as the Schuylkill favorite in the 1958 Epsom Derby, whipped the equine pride of eight other nations Wednesday in the roughly - ridden $100,000 Washington D.C. International.

The horse, owned by the Cain Hoy Stable, won the eighth International by 2½ lengths over France's Midnight Sun.

Bald Eagle finished fifth.

America's top jockey of 28 years' riding experience, Eddie Arcaro, considered himself lucky for having avoided the bangings around.

"It's near the roughest I've ever seen, and I've ridden in a few of them," said Arcaro who finished fourth on France's Ali Cassim.

The other U.S. entry and the betting favorite, Mrs. Herbert Hertt's Tudor Era, came in third. Last year, Tudor Era was involved in some bumping himself and was disqualified after finishing first.

Bald Eagle escaped the scrimmaging by breaking second and staying there until with about half a mile to go jockey Manuel Ycaza, of Panama, saw Tudor Era tiring and took the lead.

Bald Eagle returned $9.20, $5.20 and $3.80. Midnight Sun paid $4.60 and $3.80. Third place money went to Cuba, collected $2,000.

Seattle Shades Calgary 6-5

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seattle Totems are finding the cozy confines a warm haven in the Western Hockey League.

They gained a 6-5 overtime victory over the Stampeders at Calgary Wednesday night for their fourth win in as many outings.

The result moved Seattle into second place one point behind Victoria Cougars, beaten 5-2 by Spokane Flyers.

The Totems' attackers continue to pace the league with 25 points, a five-point margin over Victoria and Seattle. Trailing are Calgary, Edmonton, Winnipeg and Spokane with only five points separating the fourth-place Flyers and the last-place Comets.

Gayle Fielder, veteran Totem defenceman, set up the winning goal for teammate Marc Boileau set up Rudy Filion for Seattle's fourth goal and then with 46 seconds remaining sent the game into overtime with his 17th goal of the season. He and Fielder have 31 points apiece at the top of the scoring heap.

Bill McFarland scored the winning goal in overtime. Gerry Leonard with two and Tommy McVie with one rounded out the Seattle scoring.

Rookie Jim Moro, up from Vernon Canadians, scored three goals for Calgary. Lou Jankowski and Gordon Velyvera added the others.

Comets' victory snapped an eight - game undefeated homestand by Victoria. Alex Kurna, Earl Johnson, Bev Bell, Al Johnson and Joe Crozier shared the Comets' scoring. Arlo Goodwin and Art Jones scored for Victoria.

CRITICIZE GOLF STARS

SYDNEY (AP) — Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff delayed their golf trip to Australia because they wanted to travel tourist class, a Sydney newspaper said Wednesday.

The Daily Mirror hinted that the American players used minor ailments as excuses to duck the Sydney tournament, opening today as a prelude to the Canada Cup international matches in Melbourne next week.

Horse Operas Seem to Be Attracting Greatest Numbers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Before the current television season Milton Berle produced a special as "big" show that isn't about Al Capone.

No one has come up with it yet, nor on Wednesday night, however, there appeared a show which can be called a special only because it pre-empted the time regularly filled by This Is Your Life and Wichita Town.

Despite the fact that the 90 minutes had its quota of stars—Louis Jourdan, Jerry Lewis, Jane Morgan, Bobby Darin, Vaughn Cugat and spouse Abbe Lane—it was a rugged, fairly unimpressive variety show. It was shot live in the ballroom of a Miami Beach hotel, a location which didn't help things a bit.

Jourdan, apparently hired as master of ceremonies because of his Gallic charm, was called upon to sing and dance. Lewis tried a couple of comedy turns and the results weren't funny. Abbe Lane, looking as usual as if she hadn't had time to finish dressing, did her usual singing and dancing. Bobby Darin sang as always. Mack the Knife, and poor Jane Morgan presided over the uninspiring audience participation session of such songs as "Anyone Who Is to the Ball Game."

The NBC show, poorly rehearsed and disorganized as it was, looked even worse because it followed a smooth and professional hour of variety provided over by Perry Como. His wasn't billed as a special.

Wagon Train, Guestwise and Have Gun Will Travel finished with, place and show in the first half of the Nielsen ratings on the ones which, whether they like the system or not, get real attention from the advertising agencies, sponsors and networks. In spite of all the hoopla and prediction the horse operas still seem to be attracting the greatest numbers of viewers.

On The Tracks

NEW YORK (AP) — Victoria Park, an invader from Canada, lived up to his advance notices when he won the 46th running of the $50,000 Roseben Handicap at Aqueduct Wednesday.

The two-year-old son of Chop Chop-Victorian, owned by F. Taylor's Windfields Farm and trained by Eric Guthrie, stepped the mile in the brisk time of 1:37 1-5. He scored by 1½ lengths over Progress ing with Fleet Greek, the 9-to-5 favorite third.

Victoria Park carried top weight of 124 pounds, conceding as much as 13 pounds to eight in the 13-horse field.

It was the third straight victory for the Canadian invader and seventh triumph in 10 starts.

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Three of Maryland's five half - mile thoroughbred tracks may be abandoned by 1961 and their dates turned over to the major tracks at Laurel, Pimlico and Bowie, state officials said Wednesday.

Racing commission chairman Hunter Little and member Albert Shuger, said the three tracks marked for the axe are Cumberland, Hagerstown and Bel Air. Timonium and Marlboro, which have experienced better attendance and more wagering, would continue to operate.

Movie Colony Falls for Charm Of Remarkable French Pair

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie colony, not easily impressed, has fallen for the charm of a remarkable French pair, Simone Signoret and Yves Montand.

Last weekend they were feted at two big parties given by Jules Stein, chief of the talent agency giant, MCA, and Kirk Douglas.

On Monday night Montand opened his one-man show with another big turnout of the glamor crowd. He had already drawn raves on Broadway for his singing, dancing and mimicry.

Both Montand and Signoret are being romanced by the film studios. What have they got?

AMPLE BLONDE

Signoret is an amply proportioned blonde who looks much younger than her 39 years. Seated in Room at The Top, her most notable film, she speaks with disarming frankness in excellent English.

Montand looks like an advertising executive — slim, ruggedly handsome, well - tailored. But when he speaks, the tones are obviously Gallic, not Madison Avenue. The search come fast and impulsively and often have to be interpreted by his wife.

How do they manage two such successful and diverse careers and still stay happy?

"Perhaps it is because we have confidence and attitude toward marriage," she volunteered. "Where he goes, I go. He is the boss. I have made only one picture in France, and I can be with him all the time.

"I can see how marriage can be difficult in Hollywood. Here you have many actresses to whom concerns mean everything. They are always worried about their next picture. They even decline to have babies because they are afraid it might hurt their figures and keep them out of pictures too long. Acting is not that important to me."

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The current edition of the magazine, "Hockey," carries a full-page color photograph of Bobby Hull on its front cover.

The story inside gives Bobby's hockey history pretty much to the present. It relates when Bobby signed a pro contract with the Black Hawks in 1957 at the tender age of 18, he not only became the youngest Hawk ever to skate on a big league rink, but one of the most youthful hockey players ever to wear an NHL uniform.

Not since Mush March reported to the Hawks back in 1928 at the age of 19 had the club acquired such a youngster. The blonde husky lad first saw the light of day January 9, 1939.

The yarn reports the tale told at every athletic-shop by Hawk scout Wilson, how he discovered Hull while watching a group of youngsters playing hockey in Belleville and how the youngster was sent to the Hespeler Junior "B" squad and the next year to Woodstock where he helped that club win the Junior "B" title. Later Hull was sent to the St. Catharines TeePees.

It says Bobby was an immediate success with the Teepees and before the season ended was considered by hockey experts as the most talented junior player in the OHA. He piled up a very respectable total of 61 points (33 goals, 28 assist) in 49 games and sparked his team to the league title.

Bobby was brought to the Hawks' training camp in 1957 and he so impressed the Chicago brass they decided to turn him pro a year earlier than they had planned.

Young Master Robert was a smash hit from the start. He was a real take-charge guy who revelled in the rough game. He collected a total of 37 points (12 goals, 24 assists) and was second out by four points in the voting for the NHL "rookie of the year." He finished second to Terrebelle Frank Mahovlich. (Ed. note: He was robbed.)

Bobby continued his fine play last year as the Hawks moved up in the league ratings as a contender. He topped his heavyweight fling to 18 goals. Those along with 21 assists gave him 39 points, which ranked him as the fourth-leading Cup play as the Hawks took on the Canadiens last spring. Hull got one goal and an assist in six games. He also figured in one of the most controversial goals that eventually resulted in the retirement of "Rocket" Richard.

But this year the Black Hawks' management figured that Bobby, as a centre, was not exploiting his hard shot enough. So they switched him to left wing, starting out on a line with rookie Dean Mitchell up from the TeePees and the elongated veteran Eric Nesterenko.

The story says Hull is an ambitious youngster.. He has a field shooting style, can really whirl around a rink effectively and is a tireless hustler who will make a good team in one so young. He hopes to become the best left-winger in hockey and the way he's been going who's to say he won't realize his objective?

But that's not the "finis" of it.

What the magazine story did not tell was that Bobby has been a prospect brother. Dennis, who is now 14, who has all the requisites of a National League player. And in views of four years Maple Robert may have to look to his laurels to keep the youngster from outskating his pace-line style. As is natural Dennis is on the Hawks' list, in fact turned up at one of their training camps and it would be the youngster will be playing junior "B" for a Hawks' farm outfit next season. There are lots worse in that bracket.

Nor did the story say that the powerful right arm of Robert, which resembles the hind leg of a mule in sense response and has almost as much kick, or lashing stick, his Redmen' softball team to the runner-up spot for the OASA intermediate "AA" championship. Bobby was at hockey training camp during the finals and it is safe to assume, had he been available, Bob Temple's Tabbies would have raced home with the bacon.

Incidentally as of and including last Sunday, Bobby is tenth in the National Hockey League scoring race with five goals and eight assists for 13 points, in 12 games. He has had 36 minutes in the hoosegow.

Quinte Edges Peterborough 32-26 In COSSA Semi.

FUMBLE... When a fumble occurs the poor pigskin is everyone's centre of attention. Above Quinte and Peterborough players converge on a loose ball. Some hapless Peterborough chap who has his hand on the ball looks as though he is in for a rough tussle for possession as Quinte player Dennis Kerruish (45) hurtles after it. Other identifiable Quinte players are Ron Hull (63) and Ricky Locke (54).

Dennis Kerruish Sparks Win With Nineteen-Point Total; Meet Thornhill for Crown

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Quinte Secondary School Saints fought their way into the COSSA Senior "A" football finals here yesterday afternoon with a thrilling and hard-earned 32-26 victory over Peterborough Garnet and Grays.

Jack Sisson's hard-running gridders will meet Thornhill HS, Bay District champions here, Saturday at Memorial Park's COSSA championship. Kickoff at 2 o'clock.

The Saints met a determined crew at PCVS the Lakeshore District champions, and although they were never headed, had to fight to the final gun to protect their lead.

QSS opened up a 13-7 scoring margin with a stick-running attack in the first quarter and added on for a 19-14 lead at half time. The clubs battled through a scoreless third stanza but opened up again in the final with two majors apiece, PCVS scoring their last with but one minute left to play and failing in their attempt to recover their own short kick.

Fullback Dennis Kerruish, one of two QSS runners to go along with Ron Hull, Rick Locke, Bill Green and Steve Wilson, edged out Bob Gatfield, hard-driving star of PCVS in a perscical scoring duel, for top point honors. Kerruish ran for three majors and added a convert while Gatfield also scored three touchdowns.

Ron Hull and quarterback Ron McBride had Quinte's other majors while Rick Locke ran across one extra point. Tom Pontin registered the losers' final major while Don Morris kicked two converts.

Gatfield and Dave Pentin carried most of the PCVS plays while Tom Pontin handled the punting chores for the losers.

The winners scored early, after kicking off, Kerruish plunged over from the one yard line, climaxing five running plays the first of which had supplied possession of the ball. Locke went wide for the extra point.

Quinte filliked out of trouble when the visitors moved in their own forward line and Kerruish and Gatfield broke loose after a handoff for a 45-yard run, Morrison's convert making it 7-0.

McBride took to the air and hit Wilson in the flats, reversing the ball to the Peter' one where Hull lugged it over to put the Saints in front to stay. A pretty pass-and-run play to Alex McNaught set up another QSS major, McNaught was stopped on the one but McBride charged through on the next play for his 19-7 lead at the quarter.

Peterborough threatened early in the second quarter but were stopped on the ten while Quinte's Hull raced down the sidelines but touched only to have the play called back on an offside.

With about five minutes left to half time PCVS marched down field to the eight, to the six and then to the one yard line, all on ground plays with Gatfield and Pontin carrying. Gatfield went over and Morrison's kick was good for the 13-14 half time score.

Quinte fought hard to protect their lead playing against a brisk wind in the third quarter. They stopped Peterborough's ground attack and Tom Pontin took to the air. His first long pass was found a man in the clear but he could not hold the ball and an alert Bob Follwell intercepted on the next play to take off the pressure.

Hull ran well to set up another Quinte score early in the fourth, going to the 3-yard stripe where Kerruish went across for left end for a 25-14 lead. PCVS came right back for six points with Gatfield going off tackle 40 yards in a perfect run.

Green made 25 yards on a pass and run with Kerruish going over from the six and also converting with eight minutes left to play. Hull had another long run erased on a clipping call then the desperate Peten took command in a last ditch stand. They picked up three first downs, lost the ball, then recovered it aprlif on a blocked kick on QSS' 17-yard line. Tom Pontin made it 32-26 with an end cavern, the convert being missed, with one minute left. But the short kickoff was taken by a Quinte player and time ran out with play in midfield.

QSS — Lavera, McClerg, Wardle, Dixon, Hitchon, Warrick, Follwell, Fisher, Lovelace, Gilsthorpe, Bell, Smith Locke, Oliver, Green, Champlain, Jones, Kerruish, McNaught, Woods, Chard, Hull, Wilson, McBride, McMullin.

VINELAND WINNER

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Wheatley Stable's High Bid, a confirmed front-runner, fully-of-the-year honors, won the $37,500 Vineland Handicap against older horses of her sex at Garden State Park Wednesday.

Laufman Leads Senior Parade

KITCHENER (CP) — Canada's hope in the 1960 Olympics, the Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, lead the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group in every department in league statistics up to games of Nov. 8.

After nine games Dutchmen have 13 point, on six wins, two losses and a tie and have scored 60 goals, 19 more than their nearest rival.

Centre Ken Laufman heads the individual scoring parade with 17 points on five goals and 12 assists, also tops in that department. Another Kitchener centre, Cliff Pennington is second with 16 points. His nine goals are the most scored by one player. Left winger Ron Muir is next with seven goals and six assists for 13 points.

With a 1.80 goals-against average, Kitchener netminder Harold (Boat) Hurley heads the goal keeping division, having allowed nine goals in the five games he has played. He also has one shutout.

Defenceman Don Labelle took over leadership in the penalty parade this week and has spent a total of 38 minutes in the box. Teammate Darrel Sly is close behind with 36 minutes.

Defeat Dutchmen

Whitby Takes Over Top Spot, Bulldogs Wallop Chatham 9-1

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Don Head, goaltender for Windsor Bulldogs, of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series, is probably not worn out but he may be his unlucky number.

Wednesday night at Chatham he kicked out 25 shots, including a penalty shot, but the 26th got by him. Maroons' George Aitken was the marksman with only 35 seconds remaining in the game. However the Bulldogs won the game 9-1.

In other action, Whitby Dunlops lifted themselves into first place in the league by defeating Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen 6-3. Dutchies are tied Dunlops by one point.

The win for Windsor moved them to within three points of third-place Chatham.

LOTS OF SUPPORT

Head's fine game in the net backed up his teammates show of offensive strength. He beat Chatham's high-scoring captain Ted Power on the penalty shot awarded after a Bulldog defender held Power's stick in the goal crease.

Lou Bendo, Tommy Walker and Walter Pyrzyhyn each scored twice for Windsor and Bendo also was credited with four assists. Gord Haldy, Erwin Grosse and playing-coach Lammy Lamarsh got single tallies.

After being outplayed for most of the first period at Kitchener, Dunlops pulled up their socks in the 16-minute mark when Pete Babando slapped in his own rebound.

DUTCHIES' RALLY LATE

Dunlops then pulled away as Dutchies failed to score until the final 10 minutes of the game.

Ernie Pogue and Tom O'Connor each scored twice for Dunlops and Geord Kitchener added the other.

Cliff Pennington and Bob Erickson scored for Kitchener.

Kitchener goalie Boat Hurley suffered a stick-flick cut when hit in the forehead by a rising shot off Pogue's stick. After a 15-minute delay for repairs, he returned to complete the game.

In the OHA Northern Senior League Rouyn-Noranda Aces defeated North Bay Trappers 4-2 and Timmins overpowered Kapuskasing 9-4.

Syndicate Plans Stadium Worth $10,000,000

MONTREAL (CP) — A private syndicate Wednesday night announced plans to build a $10,000,000 stadium in the north - end suburb of St. Laurent for baseball, football, soccer and track and field competitions.

Businessman Josef Stymovicz, head of the syndicate, said the stadium will seat 45,000 persons, making it the largest in Canada.

The project would be completed before the end of April, 1961, with partial facilities for 20,000 vehicles.

Stymovicz said "we've already purchased the land and have received a building permit from the city."

He said $2,000,000 has already been subscribed and that the project's cost and the balance has been pledged.

Stymovicz, a Czechoslovakian-born Montreaer who heads 63 real estate, building and for-com-panies, did not disclose the names of his associates.

No announcement made nor mention of what teams will be given tenancy rights. However it was learned that Stymovicz has been approached by a private group led by Philadelphia - born Hy Richman, seeking to establish a Continental Baseball League franchise here.

What's This?, Rangers May Replace Fiery Phillipe

Muzz Patrick Said Looking For Successor to Coach; Blues Hand Bruins 6-3 Loss

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

If worries cause ulcer, Phil Watson may earn a monopoly on the ailment.

The New York Rangers coach has long been known for his bitated bereavements of players. Members of the medical profession will, no doubt, agree this can help nurture an ulcer.

Then, near the end of last season's National Hockey League schedule, Rangers — considered sure-fire bets for the Stanley Cup playoffs—went into a horrible tailspin and finished out of the running in fifth place. To this day caused Watson some concern would be an understatement.

Watson's woes were prolonged this season as Rangers lost nine of their first 14 games.

SAD TALE CONTINUES

Then it was announced the coach was suffering from a peptic duodenal ulcer. Another worry!

Watson, in hospital awaiting removal of the ulcer, may have something else to fret about today. Rangers defeated the high-flying Boston Bruins 6-3 Wednesday night—without him behind the bench.

And worse, rumors are flying he may be replaced as coach.

General manager Muzz Patrick put new life in the rumors Wednesday when he said he had talked to two or three men as possible successors for Watson, who went into hospital Tuesday.

Then Patrick went behind the bench himself and guided the Rangers to their first win in six games.

Before Watson entered hospital the Rangers had won twice, tied three and lost nine in 14 games.

The six Ranger goals were split evenly between Toots Buhr, Bill Sweeney, Dean Prentice, George Redl Sullivan, Camille Henry, Ken Schinkel and Jim Bartlett.

Boston's Ullo line scored two goals with Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Bucyk doing the honors. League-leading scorer Bronco Horvath drew assists on both goals. Defenceman Doug Mohns got the other.

Patrick said one of the men he had talked to about the coaching job was Alf Pike, former Ranger star coaching Winnipeg Warriors in the Western League.

"I've talked to two or three fellows about the coaching situation, and I've got to talk to a few more," Patrick said. "I've been talking things over, but only in a vague way. There's nothing definite, but we got to do something — we're in a bad way."

Watson, expected to be lost to the club for a month, will undergo operation for the ulcer in a day or two.

The Rangers took a 1-0 first period lead on Sweeney's first NHL goal but dropped behind 2-1 in the second period on Boston goals by Mohns and Stasiuk.

A disallowed goal by referee Frank Udavi with 5½ minutes left in the second period seemed to fire them up. Prentice and Sullivan scored before the period ended and then they outscored the Bruins 3-1 in the final period.

Tonight the league leading Montreal Canadiens host Toronto while Detroit plays at Boston in the only other game.

Quebec Speaker Resigns Office With Company

MONTREAL (CP) — Maurice Tellier, Speaker of the Quebec legislature, said Tuesday he has resigned as a director of La Salle Employment Company. It was announced today.

Mr. Tellier was attacked last September by Liberal Leader Jean Lesage who said the company had done business with the Quebec government.

The appointment was contained in a letter sent to Montreal newspapers by Leo P. McCullagh, general manager of La Salle Equipment Company.

Mr. Lesage charged in a speech at L'Assomption, Que., Sept. 27 that Mr. Tellier had an right being director of the firm which obtained contracts from the government.

LISTS DEALS

He listed 10 transactions between the company and the government between 1953 and 1958 worth a total of $106,455.

Mr. Lesage said Premier Paul Sauve should call for Mr. Tellier's resignation and choose a new Speaker when the legislature session opens Nov. 18.

"How can one think such a Speaker could make impartial decisions when his masters are there watching and threatening, even acting as judge and jury by a glance at the right moment on one of his livelihood?" said Mr. Lesage.

"He cut off his livelihood," said Mr. Lesage.

Premier Sauve termed the attack on Mr. Tellier "disgusting" and said the Speaker had not violated the law. The legislature Act permitted the Speaker to hold directorships in companies.

In connection with the charges, Mr. Tellier said that when La Salle Equipment was formed he presents it purchased included an exclusive agency for a power shovel manufactured in the United States.

SHELF LIKE PARTS

La Salle Equipment had not sold a "single power shovel in the province of Quebec." He said the government spare parts for shovels purchased before La Salle Equipment was established.

Mr. Tellier said there was no place else the government could have purchased the spare parts.

Mr. McCullagh's letter said Mr. Tellier had disposed of his shares in La Salle to persons unrelated to him by family or business connections.

Mr. Tellier recently underwent two operations for a kidney ailment.

"Wait till you see the smashing who's playing the lead. Her figure's XXXX-XVIII-XXXIV."

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Douglas Fay, 23, carried on the family tradition when he joined the local police force recently. He is the third generation of his family to become a police officer.

Do you believe the frightening tales they tell of bats flying into people's hair? If so, the best — it's just an old-wives tale—there is no authentic record anywhere of a bat being entangled in anybody's hair—so it isn't likely that any bat will start with you!

Our native bats are absolutely harmless and of great value to mankind. They are believed to eat half their own weight in insects in a day—nearly mosquitoes! If one gets into your house, just open the window and it will quickly fly out where it feels the cool air.

One place where no bat, or any other kind of animal, can get, (not a bat is an animal) is inside the Storage Warehouses of Fox Cartage and Storage Ltd. Last year one did, it couldn't do any harm because all household goods stored there are so carefully protected, and sealed "tight as a bat" by Storage, so far expert Moving Services, you'll never get better firm anywhere than Fox—and their charges are always so reasonable. When you can have the best—and it costs no more—why accept anything less?

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RICHTER

Friday, November 13, 1959

General Tendencies: This does not have to be an ill-omened day if you think and act in a very systematic, planned, organized and controlled manner. But if you attempt to set the spoke-cart of present conditions, and if you do not change in a dramatic or unpredictable fashion, you can see out in many very distressful ways. Take it easy.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Follow whatever advice your trusted banking or business advisers proposes today. Also, be grateful and thank them in some tangible way. In this way you get out from under any financial worries that may be distressing you.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Keep your temper with that member of your own clan who is running contrary to your wishes. Then also be sure you use tact and diplomacy with others and try to reach them through understanding instead of harsh words. Be kind.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) You must not let that private worry of some time standing curtail your important activities in the world of affairs. Also be on your guard while out driving. Get your time nicely organized so that you can make fine progress.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — A dynamic pal is as stubborn right now that the wisest thing is to leave him, or her, strictly alone and avoid a futile royal, or you might lose out. Tend to other matters and be sure to show generosity to whomever you love.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21) There is a possibility of making a serious error today if you are not careful. So be sure you understand what higher-ups expect of you and follow all regulations to the letter. Conduct trade in relaxed fashion and all is well.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Going off to some new venture or interest now could lose you the secure position you enjoy. Stick closely to what you have begun instead and study into whatever new source of information are available. Be informed and win.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Important you comprehend every clause in all agreements you enter into today, and be sure you don't overlook any small print. P.M. do not irk the one you love by any unkind remarks.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) An associate who is not thinking as wisely as usual could make a very bad error if you attempt to come to any decisions today. Do not attempt to argue, but stall for time until he, or she, is feeling better.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Since by nature you always act very swiftly, today you are even more dynamic and could easily cause things to sail or belongings if you are not careful. Also, don't use harsh language with fellow workers. Be kind.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This is a day when you would jeopardize all that you hold dear for some monetary, worthless pleasure. Learn to economize instead and wear a nice smile to dispel gloom about you, disarm opponent. P.M. enjoy quiet fun.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If the impetuous Aquarian native is not curbed, that small argument at home could build up into a wondering flame. Do not be the one to lose your temper and you win hands down. Be kind to others. Show your devotion.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Take particular care while driving or even walking downstairs, for an accident could easily occur today. Also, be careful what you write or say, for it could bring serious trouble or lose you a loved one or an ally.

If your child is born today... The fascinating child born today will have a wonderfully even temper until he, or she, is provoked to the unbearable point, and then, like George Washington, flare up in such a way that nobody will ever forget it. Better see to it that your progeny has many sports to indulge in so that excessive energy may be used wisely. A very fine mind here. Excellent for big business, banking, movie director, etc.

Suffered From Indigestion

Felt So Miserable and Tired All the Time

Highly Pleased With Result He Got By Taking Tanlac

"I wouldn't take anything for the good results I got by taking Tanlac Herbal Compound" says Mr. George Hill, 71 Nelson St., Stratford, Ontario.

Felt Sick All Over

"For over a year I was troubled with indigestion, with every bite, as I call it, before after my meals and I would feel sick all over. I had a bad taste in my mouth, a coated tongue, my breath, and bowels and I became very nervous and tired. I felt so miserable and tired all the time.

"I read about Tanlac helping other people, and decided to try it and I am glad that you can make that statement. For that I've been taking Tanlac and I feel like a new person. I have a wonderful appetite now, sleep well, my nerves are steady and I'm relieved of indigestion. I'm highly pleased with the results I got by taking Tanlac. Tanlac helps the digestion, relieves constipation, purifies the blood, tones the stomach, relieves nervous, tired, rundown conditions.

Warhead Storage Nothing To Fear Canadians Told

Nuclear Arms Remain Under Control of U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — An expert in the handling of atomic weapons says Canadians have little to fear from storage of nuclear warheads on Canadian territory.

"We've handled such weapons for more than 12 years and we've never had an accidental explosion," said Col. Theodore Smith, deputy director of the U.S. Air Force safety division.

Col. Smith was commenting on the Ottawa statement that Defence Minister Pearkes that facilities for storing warheads in Canada will be available by the time Bomarc anti-aircraft missile launching bases are ready in 1961.

Canada is preparing for the establishment of a squadron of U.S. Bomarcs or 30 missiles each to be located near North Bay and Mont Laurier, Que.

NEED CUSTODY PACT

Until to be worked out in a firm Canada-U.S. agreement on custody and control of the warheads, Under present plans, the custody and control of foreign-based nuclear weapons rests with must remain with U.S. forces.

Pearkes said in the House the warheads would be under joint control of U.S. and Canadian officers. State Department arrangements here said custody would remain primarily in U.S. hands.

Col. Smith said in an interview that in storing nuclear weapons abroad, the U.S. insists and carries out certain minimum safety requirements. But the U.S. leaves to the country in which the weapons are stored the question of what extra precautions may be taken. He presumed that is the case in Canada.

Chinese Agree To Free Indians Seized in Clash

SRINAGAR, India (Reuters)—Indian and Chinese representatives have agreed to release 10 Indian prisoners taken by the Chinese in a clash on the border, it was he handed back Saturday morning.

The Chinese and Indian negotiators met in the mountains of eastern Ladakh near the scene of the Oct. 21 clash in which nine Indians were killed and 10 captured by Chinese troops.

The bodies and captives have been held by the Chinese for 23 days. They originally said the Indians might they would be returned this weekend.

China and India have exchanged protests over the clash, each blaming the other for it.

both claiming the spot where it occurred is on its own territory.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai proposed five days ago that the two countries withdraw armed forces from the line Chinese claim was created by the Indian side and hold talks on the dispute. New Delhi officials say that if withdrawal would still leave China in possession of territory claimed by India.

South Viet Nam Criticizes U.S., New Loan Policy

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) South Viet Nam, a major beneficiary of American aid, today criticized the new Washington policy aimed at getting borrowing countries to do their buying in the United States.

South Viet Nam's Foreign Minister Vu Van Mau also told delegates at the Colombo plan conference that terms offered by the American Development Loan Fund "are too rigid and too difficult for any underdeveloped countries to meet."

In an obvious reference to the "buy American" policy, Vu said: "If they lay down that loaned money can be used for the payment of goods and services purchased in the lending country, then the benefit of low interest rates may be more than cancelled out."

"In such cases prices of goods and costs of services are not competitive and are higher than the world prices, so that the purchasing power of the loan would be less than it appeared to be."

CUBANS FACING DIFFICULT DAYS DECLARES CASTRO

Premier Lashes Out Against Enemies

HAVANA (AP)—Looking grim and haggard, Fidel Castro told the Cuban people early today that the revolution faces difficult days.

The bearded premier took only a sidewipe at the United States —usually his favorite target—but lashed out in a three-hour tele-cast at his enemies at home and called them "opportunists who came posed as friends of the revolution."

"Rats are going to abandon the ship when things get rougher," he declared. "This is going to remind me of the bad days of the revolution when many gave up the fight."

But he predicted that the revolution would march on even if its enemies "try to mobilize God against us."

"This won't work, because one cannot have a good idea of God and another of evil. God is not what it is to love his neighbor," he explained.

Obviously weary from his long hours of directing the search for the "counter-revolution," the 32-year-old Castro showed only occasional flashes of his usual fire and spirit. At times his customarily free-flowing oratory lapsed into a monotone and he was hoarse.

Castro sharply criticized American newspapers. A member of the panel in the TV studio read to Castro a newspaper report claiming Soviet submarines were being delivered to Cuba. Castro, The prime minister shouted:

"We have our arms, we will not bring them in, like contraband, but through the open port of Havana harbor. But the U.S. is a sovereign country."

Castro angrily denounced the flood of rumors surrounding the disappearance of Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, his army chief who disappeared on a flight across Cuba 18 days ago.

The 28-year-old army commander, one of Castro's closest associates from the beginning of the revolution, vanished Oct. 28 after leaving troubled Camagney province for a 200-mile plane flight to Havana. No trace of him or his plane has been found in the massive search directed by Castro himself.

PILOTS INTERVIEWED

Castro's speech began with a lengthy discussion between Castro and search pilots of the hunt for Cienfuegos. He said Cienfuegos had crashed into the Bahamas Channel between Cuba's north coast and Florida.

Castro said the army chief's twin-engined plane had left Camagney with only three hours' gasoline and then run into a severe storm.

Cienfuegos' disappearance sparked some rumors that he had been kidnapped as a hostage by Communists to force the Castro regime, but "Cienfuegos was not one to allow himself to be kidnapped," Castro said in the TV session.

"HE DOING DUTY"

Castro declared the defection rumors part of a "disgraceful intrigue" against the Cuban revolution, and then shouted:

"Camilo Cienfuegos did doing his duty, and every one of us will fail, if necessary, to defend the revolution."

"No difference exist between the revolutionary leaders," Castro shouted.

B.C. Laws Would Stop Mom Whyte Operating Bowmanville-Type Home

VICTORIA (CP) — Welfare officials told Mrs. Bertha (Mom) Wyatt Thursday provincial regulations prohibit her proposed establishment of a foster home in British Columbia along the lines of one she operated recently in Bowmanville, Ont.

Her Bowmanville home for children was closed Wednesday by officials.

However, Mrs. Whyte said in an interview later she had not applied for a licence to operate an institution in British Columbia.

"Our purpose in life is not to look after children," she said.

"I would never care for children for money. That is not our purpose. Our purpose is to re-establish homes."

Mrs. Whyte said she plans to establish a headquarters on 30 acres of land she has been offered near Nelson.

"We will do visitations," she said. "We will go into the homes where needed and do counselling and offer help, clothing, food or anything that is needed."

"We never tried to replace he welfare society in Ontario," she said.

Mrs. Wyatte said that as soon as she can locate a building her staff of 12 adults and their 15 children will move to the area from Ontario. She added:

"Until we know what we need we cannot know the extent of our work. Before we would make any plans we would have to know what is something that would help the family."

She said her organization will be incorporated as a mission under the Indian Act. One of the jobs of her Nelson headquarters would be to visit staff members to go out and start missions elsewhere.

"We have already been asked to start missions in Quebec, Pennsylvania and Ontario," she said.

Welfare officials said B. C. forbids the operation of a boarding house or other place for more than five children. If Mrs. Whyte became a foster mother she could handle up to five but they must be youngsters declared wards of the courts.

The law prohibits the soliciting of funds for the operation of homes for children.

Was No Offence Here Under Hospital Tax Act - - Roberts

TORONTO (CP) — The world amateur hockey title was by Belleville McFarlands will be remembered long after the players into the city's huddled city finances is forgotten, Attorney-General Roberts said Thursday.

Mr. Roberts admitted at a press conference that his department would take no legal action in connection with that club's dispute, framed in a royal commission report on civic malfeasance.

About $142,000 of Belleville's $600,000 deficit is attributed to the operating costs of the hockey club—which secretly milked the city treasury for its losses.

Mr. Roberts told the press conference deficits scrupulated by the city were not the result of misappropriation of funds. Failure to levy sufficient taxes was no cause, aggravated by the city's failure to collect and account for interest on the overdraft.

"A central charge I could lay something to be proud of, and I'm not talking as the attorney-general, but as a citizen of Belleville," Mr. Roberts said.

"The hockey membership re-quires accumulating the best hockey players available to beat the best professional hockey players available in Europe. The world championship will be remembered long after this (the latquiry) is forgotten."

Mr. Roberts said "I don't mean that the means justifies the end."

McFarlands took the title in international competition at Prague early this year.

The royal commission report by Judge Arthur Willmott said players on the city — operated hockey team were put on the city payroll to evade paying hospital tax. Mr. Roberts said, however, that there was no offence under the Hospital Tax Act. The only penalty is for failure to collect at the gate.

The Belleville club claimed exemption from the tax, applicable to professional teams, because it had 60 per cent of the gate which was more than $20 a game. The balance of salaries were paid under the table.

The club would have owed more than $17,000 in taxes if it had been classed as professional under the act.

"It was a matter for the treasury, not me," Mr. Roberts said. "That's whatever may be a prosecution under the Hospital Tax Act."

India Assured Moral Backing In China Issue Says Herter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has assured India of its moral support in a border dispute with Red China.

State Secretary Christian Herter, who flew here from Paris Thursday that the U.S. was taking no sides, later issued a statement saying the Red China attack on Indian forces, were "wholly in the wrong."

President Eisenhower is scheduled to meet with Nehru in a goodwill mission within a month. Officials were afraid that unless Washington showed some public resentment against the U.S. India might sour the president's visit.

Before the conversations, Herter said the U.S. has no would of Communist China's attacks on Indian or Red China is right in the disputed territorial area. He refused to take sides on the issue.

But 35 minutes later he issued the statement of support.

"The questions asked me on this subject today are to be directed at the legal rights along the borders, and my answers are necessarily limited to the legality of the rival claims. There is further and more important question as to whether or not the merits of a dispute, force must not be used to settle it. The U.S. in the free world regions has clearly used force and, in this respect, I am in full sympathy."

In taking this position, Herter has apparently backed away from Prime Minister Nehru's policy which calls for settlement by negotiation rather than threat or use of force.

China is 57,000 square miles of territory which has long been in controversy with us to its real boundaries. The area is what many years it has been under Indian administration.

Last month the Chinese Communists killed nine members of an Indian police patrol and captured 10 others in what was described at the time as a Red Chinese ambush.

Nehru on Thursday announced plans to return the 10 captives and the nine bodies to India.

Nehru has made clear that he has strong western support behind his backing, and has rejected all suggestions that he seek a de-cision of alliance against Red China.

Publicity May Force Closure Of Niagara Plant

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)— Publicity over allegedly contaminated cranberries in the western United States may force the closure here of a plant owned by Cyanamid of Canada's plant which produces the chemical weed killer aminotriazole. About 100 persons are employed.

Manager H. B. Van Harteveldt said Thursday adverse publicity has created a situation of such severe the plant to be closed down by the end of the next week.

"They (the growers of fresh produce) won't buy it and we won't be able to make it," Mr. Van Harteveldt said. "We'll have to wait and see what Fleming does."

Arthur S. Fleming, United States defence mobilizer, said in Washington press conference Monday that parts of the 1958 and 1959 cranberry crops from Washington State and Oregon were "contaminated" with aminotriazole.

He said a weed killer, later identified as aminotriazole, "can produce cancer in rats."

Ontario health officials have confiscated 1,000 barrels of fresh cranberries thoroughly and have set up health officers and started inspection of canned and fresh produce.

The plant never produced any product which would result in ill effects for its users or handlers, Mr. Van Harteveldt stated. "Aminotriazole is commonly used in pesticides."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Richard L. Neuberger (Dem., Ore.) suggested that the government buy up unlisted portions of the U.S. cranberry crop to prevent serious money losses to producers.

Neuberger estimated it would cost about $15,000,000 to buy the crop at growers' prices.

Western Canada was in the grip of below - freezing temperatures today while in other parts of the country unseasonable weather ranged from wet snow in most of Southern Ontario to rain in parts of the Maritimes.

Looters Active In East Africa

USUMBURA, Ruanda-Urundi (Reuters)—Bands of looters today were reported operating in the mountainous East African kingdom of Ruanda, where a state of emergency was declared Thursday.

The looters, who are compilicating an already serious situation caused by tribal warfare, have set fire to native huts and prevented old refugees coming to their homes.

Security forces are hunting down the looters, a spokesman for the Belgian News Agency reported.

Yesterday the state of emergency was proclaimed and wide powers granted to the chief military official after five days of fighting.

France, Britain Agree On Summit Talks In Spring

'Full Harmonization' Of Views Is Achieved

PARIS (Reuters)—France and Britain are agreed on an East-West summit conference in April or May, Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville said today.

Couve de Murville was reporting to the cabinet on his two days of talks here with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. He said the talks had been "very useful" and "very useful."

Lloyd said upon his return to London this morning that he was "impressed by the warmth and friendliness" shown to him in Paris.

Information Minister Roger Frey told reporters after the French cabinet meeting that Couve de Murville had described how France and Britain had drawn closer together on their once - divergent views about a summit meeting.

Lloyd said this morning that he and French leaders had "taken a fresh look at relations between two countries "to our mutual satisfaction."

"MOST USEFUL"

Lloyd described the talks as "most useful" and "extremely useful political discussions in my experience." He had discussions with President de Gaulle, Premier Michel Debre and Couve de Murville.

A British spokesman told reporters that there was complete harmonization of views about the summit meeting. Government officials in the know said the political aspects of the European Comiche Market.

Bill Will Ask Legalizing of Sweeps, Lotteries

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation authorizing provincial governments to legalize sweepstakes to raise funds for hospitals and charitable institutions will be proposed at the next session of Parliament.

The proposal is contained in a private member's bill tabled Thursday with Commons Clerk Leon Raymond by Louis Joseph Pigeon, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Joliette-l'Assomption-Montcalm.

The Criminal Code bans sweepstakes, lotteries, bingos and other games of chance. However, lotteries and bingos are permitted at provincial fairs and may be staged by churches for charitable purposes.

The Quebec legislature in 1958 passed legislation to enable the provincial government to establish a state lottery to raise funds for hospitals. Nothing has come of it, however, the federal government has not amended the Criminal Code to legalize such a lottery.

Mr. Pigeon's bill proposes that provincial governments be permitted to legalize up to two sweepstakes a year for hospitals, money for hospitals and universities. They would be limited to one a year in a provincially-appointed committee and would operate under regulations approved by provincial attorneys-general.

Attorneys-General would have power to specify the institutions which would receive funds and the amount of the award. They also would be empowered to determine the cost of tickets and the amounts which should be allowed to cover the cost of conducting sweepstakes.

She now lives a happy newlywed as Mrs. Ralph H. Heidal, a Miami apartment. Her former identity as Charles Earnest McCarthy, 21, was revealed in a copyrighted story in the Miami Herald.

In the operation, Mrs. Heidal said: "All I have done is merely what should be made, it is a tragic problem. My psyche has always been female, a normal female, fell and reacted like a woman."

Mrs. Heidal said her married life is normal except that she cannot have children.

With Lady Churchill and Headmaster Dr. R. L. James, he sang from the rostrum in the old oak-panelled speech room.

When the singing died down, Sir Winston moved to the front of the platform and addressed the hall.

"A grand performance . . . a memorable occasion," he said in a voice charged with emotion as he added:

"All those who have been permitted to feel that they have perpetuated a glorious memory which will be a strength to those who had it."

Churchill studied at Harrow in the 1890s. He was not especially noted for his brilliance then.

In the final item Thursday night, he stood up and linked arms with others on the platform to sing Auld Lang Syne.

Then the diners of hundreds of schoolboys followed him into the foggy night as he drove off back to London.

Bunch of Pigs Awaiting Owner At Marysville

With today's almost unbelievable increase in the world of mechanical and electrical, one should learn to expect almost anything but a ride on the attendant at Marysville, 15 miles east of Bellville, on Wednesday Thursday which he simply could not credit.

It was a bunch of farm pigs at his gasoline pumps calling for cereal.

The service station attendant was working in the Marysville area when the alarm was rang calling for service at the gas pumps. He emerged from the station expecting to find a car or truck, but instead was surprised to find a bunch of five half-grown pigs at his gas pumps.

Apparently having escaped from a nearby farm, the bunch of pigs had wandered onto the service station property and were attracted by the smell of which rang the service bell in the garage.

Provincial police at Bellville were called and they undertook to place the pigs in the Marysville stock pens to await their owner. Later in the afternoon the law turned pig jockeys and the pigs were returned into the nearby stock pens.

Today the owner has still not been located and the pigs were turned over to a district farmer to be cared for.

The owner can claim his property by contacting provincial police at Bellville.

Heavy Amount Of Leaves Seen Across City

The considerable amount of leaves all across the city has been drawn to the attention of the completion of the Public Works' program for this week states City Engineer Ken Marshall. Included in the extra work required in this respect, the engineering staff crews have managed to carry on with their various other projects.

The ditching crew has been quite active in the Wright Avenue area to cure a bad drainage situation left in the city by Hurricane Hazel. This rural area, which is quite flat, required the deployment to get in a ditch and pipe line to allow for good drainage for both it and the Wright Blvd. Unfortunately the levelling work carried out on the latter by the Township was not adequate to allow for proper drainage by the ditching crew. Installation of the pipe line has had to be dropped to a lower level.

Ditching work has also been carried out on Bridge Street East in the Woodland Acre area and it is hoped that this work will see the commencement of work on the main ditches along Valley View Crescent as directed by City Council.

The sewer crew has been busy with patching operations throughout the city and this week saw work going on the construction of the footpath between Rumsewood and Herchimer on the north side of Dundas Street Allowance.

The sewer crew has been engaged in the catch basin cleaning throughout the city.

The installation of Stop signs on the East Hill of the city has been the centre of attention for the signs crew and much interest has almost reached completion this week.

Swim Classes Make Progress

The learn-to-swim programme being carried on at the Bellville YMCA, both in the "Y" regular schedule of activities and in conjunction with the water safety campaign of the Bellville and District Council, have been meeting with splendid results and many more children of this city become adept at swimming.

Mrs. Dalton Patrick, physical education director at the local "Y", reports that the grade eight water safety program is progressing satisfactorily. Also the seven beginners' swimming class has seen 19 boys pass their first swimming test certificate during the past week. Twenty boys were registered in this class and the successful candidates were: Wayne Twiss, Gordon Dalton, Robert McCoy, David Soper, Brian Cole, Steven Carpenter, Robbie Wright, Dean Stockwell, Terry Nash and Lawrence Walmsley.

The beginner's certificate is probably the most difficult to obtain in the swimmer's progress, being the first in a series of tests which measure a swimmer's proficiency. From knowing little or nothing about swimming it is a must to be able to swim 70 feet, tread water for 30 seconds, and dive for first, into deep water.

From the point of the September beginners' class, when 88 boys were registered, 13 lads graduated to the senior class able to swim 35 feet in deep water. All of these classes, of course, are supervised by qualified YMCA instructors.

Splendid Cast To Be Seen in 'Little Women'

Want to meet four high-spirited, warm and engaging "Little Women"?

Well you can by trotting down to BCIVE auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 25, when they will make their appearance in the Friendly City in the Bellville Theatre Guild production of "Little Women."

Adapted for stage production by John D. Ravold from the well known American classic by Louisa May Alcott, it is being presented by the Bellville Theatre Guild.

Although the setting is during the time of the American Civil War, the story is for teen-agers primarily with the loves and ambitions of four young girls, their friends, their quarrels, their problems. But in addition to it shows the strength of human emotions—a mother's love for her daughters, and the true definition of that love, and of her.

For approximately a month now, local amateur actors and actresses have been rehearsing the play which opens this week, from 8:30 to 11:00 p.m. at the Dundas Street East theatre under the careful scrutiny of director Mrs. W. R. Ralph with assistant director, Mrs. A. Miller. The play is being produced by Don Thomas.

The last two weeks prior to the opening rehearsals will be held every night to ensure local theatre-goers will enjoy a polished performance.

SPLENDID CAST

The cast is as follows. Mrs. March, Jean Wilde; Meg, Norma Tompkins Dobson Jr, whose main ambition is to be a writer; Mrs. John Lawers as Amy, who wants to be an artist; Mary Hellums as Meg, whose only ambition is to get married and raise a family; and Mrs. Jack Evans as the seriously ill Youngest daughter, Beth. Mrs. Patrick Perry portrays the wise, gentle mother, "Marmee," whose sound motherly advice and counsel to her daughters is the highlight of the play; Harold Jardine, as the father, Mr. March, a minister who goes off to war, and Mrs. Don Thomas as the old, crotchety Aunt March.

Mark Hellum, as Laurie, who gets himself romantically involved with two of the daughters; Richard Wheelband as John Brooke, and Peter Tree as Professor Bhaer, complete the cast.

The stage manager is Bill White and the stage crew includes Joe McKay, Misty Hellum, Mark Hellum, Dick Wheelband and Tom Fraser. The dance will be provided by Mrs. Dolly Cain, and Mr. Ed Rickards will be in charge of lighting. Those in charge of costumes are Miss Helen Keator, Mrs. Ed Rickards, Mrs. Dick Wheelband and Mrs. Lee Jourard. Miss Helen Hellums, assisted by Mrs. H. Clifton, Mrs. W. Gault and Mrs. Frank Decoe, is in charge of stage properties.

The Bellevville Theatre Guild was formed June 31st, 1951, with the late Mrs. William Doyle as president, to promote interest in live theatre in Bellville.

Jail Sentence Of Seven Days Given Accused

A seven-day jail sentence was the penalty awarded this morning in city magistrate's court to Mrs. Mary Dalmatia Kelly of Bellville on a charge of failing to file a financial statement following a plea of guilty to the charge during which his operator's licence was under suspension.

Several men appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills on drunk charges and in each instance the sentences although one intimated he would be able to secure the $15 fine and costs, he did not.

Another accused, told the bench he had the money for the fine.

"I've got the money but I need that for my board," he said.

This by the magistrate that he would have to decide whether he would pay the fine or take the jail term, the accused chose the latter.

And the fact that parts for some makes of cars are difficult to obtain in the city is the reason or the right to drive without the proper certificate.

This was learned by a Bellville district man, who was asked to produce his driver's licence and the necessary certificate of mechanical fitness.

When told by the accused that a muffler for his car was on order and would be available in the police, Magistrate Wills said he could not grant a suspended sentence.

"The fact that you have a car for which parts are difficult to obtain does not change the law" stated the magistrate, "what you were supposed to do is stop driving your car and get mad at the people who were supplying you with parts."

And still another motorist who carried his car in a restricted area was assessed $1 fine and 86 cents.

Prize Money For Cheese Show Being Increased

Extension of the prize lists to the Canadian Cheese Grading Show placing lower in the running and a $2,000 increase in interest this year in the British Empire Dairy Show at Toronto Exhibition, and the Eastern Ontario area.

The annual cheese show is being held at Bellville city hall Thursday, Nov. 19th, during the convention sessions for the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association, and that the same dates at Hotel Quinte.

Secretary-manager Matthews, secretary for the Cheesemakers' Association, said that the extra additional money is being provided for all open classes this year. The prize money applied to raise the lower placings each week. The prize amount for each class in the open classes this year will be $2,000 short of $3,000.

Special cash awards and merchandise prizes have also been increased this year, it was stated.

Cheese show regulations call for all exhibits of cheese to be at the city hall by 10:30 o'clock noon November 28, with judging to commence at 1:30 on the 29th.

Judges for the open classes this year will be Jack M. Bain, assistant director for the Ontario Dairy Products Board; B. H. Gillan, supervisor of grading at Ottawa, and J. Bellville, grader in charge at Bellerville.

The cheese convention and contest will be the annual cheesemakers' banquet to be held December 2nd at Canaro.

First Visible Touch of Winter Seen in District

With half an inch of snow falling over the district, Bellville had its first really visible touch of winter during the night.

This morning a white mantle of snow covered the fields and rooftops and at noon the snow was still on the ground although prospects were that it would soon disappear. On paved roads there was no concern as the snow melted as fast as it came.

City and provincial police said they experienced a few accidents because of the snow but with the exception of one minor mishap in the city they failed to materialize.

On No. 401 highway north of Trenton a highways department patrol truck driven by Davis E. Vivian was struck in the rear by a car driven by Ernest Gourley of Toronto. The truck escaped damage but properly, damage to the car amounted to about $250.

FIRE PERIL

About 80 per cent of all fire deaths in Canada occur in the home, half of these to children under 15 years of age.

United Appeal Campaign Still Requires More Funds

An eleventh-hour appeal for more funds is being made to the citizens by Bellville United Appeal Campaign chairman R. G. Burnett, to help raise the $50,000 objective by the last of this month.

Although all returns from canvassers have not been turned in to campaign headquarters the present indications the total will be around the $40,000 mark. This is $13,000 short of last year's fund-raising total.

To date only $20,000 has been donated or pledged, he stated.

Mr. Burnett stressed that unless local citizens make an effort to contribute additional funds to bring the total to at least the level of last year's campaign, local blind, arthritic and rheumatic patients, disaster victims, and abused or neglected children will not receive the much needed financial assistances provided by the 11 charitable, humanitarian and philanthropic agencies participating in the campaign.

The participants of the Appeal Board of Directors last night, Mr. Gurnett stated he was "disappointed and shocked" at the results of this year's financial campaign, especially in the light of the tremendous effort exerted by upwards of 1,000 people participating in the campaign.

"I am so greatly concerned for the 11 participating agencies in view of the fact that many people who require the services of these agencies will not be able to obtain them, unless citizens in this area contribute additional funds," he said.

WANT BIGGER DONATIONS

He added many individuals have made contributions of $100 or more, and if at least 100 public spirited citizens in better financial circumstances would permit would contribute $200 or more each the campaign could still realize an amount almost equal to that of 1958.

Last year's campaign total amounted to approximately $73,000.

Mr. Gurnett also urged businessmen, particularly in the commercial division, to turn in any outstanding contributions already collected to Appeal headquarters in the old Ontario Hydro Building, corner of Victoria Ave. and Pinnacle St., and to continue their efforts to contact those they have not already contacted.

He disclosed the campaign committee has receiving information indicating many other currently conducting similar Appeals have already exceeded or surpassed their objectives.

"Surely Bellville is not going to be the exception to the rule" by showing it is not sufficiently generous or less forthcoming citizens and those requiring specialized services, to make the Bellville United Appeal campaign partially successful" he stated.

The Ambassador Division this year is $35,000, the same as that of last year's campaign.

Purchasing Agents Meet in Gananoque To Hear Addresses

Guest speaker at the November meeting of the Purchasing Agents Association of Eastern Ontario in Gananoque Wednesday was H. A. Price, district supervisor for James Richardson and Sons, Mr. Price's topic was "commodity exchange operations." He stated that in such operations "hedging" played an important role. He elaborated on this and on the following headings: Hedging Principle, the Selling Hedge and the Buying Hedge.

Mr. Price explained various terms which are used in the "Clearing House" of the exchange offices, such as "Cash Grain", "Futures", "Offset versus Delivery", "Long versus Short" as well as the terms which are used by both hedgers and speculators as a guide for when to buy and sell.

The guest speaker discussed futures trading in Canada and wound up by mentioning that professional speculators never buy futures but are prepared to accept them. Instead they take into consideration many factors in relation to the commodity market.

Mr. Price was thanked by Merrick R. Warren and presented with a gift and appreciation by president B. Sherlock.

Membership certificates were issued to the following new members by the Association: Geoffrey Beecroft, Bata Shoe; William K. Templeton, Fleming Ltd., Trenton; Charles McFaulds, Phillips Electrical Co., Brockville; Ken Meares, Aluminum Laboratories Limited, Kingston, and Leroy Hall, Canadian Celanese, Bellevville.

Lions District Governor Talks To Trenton Club

TRENTON — Speaker at the weekly dinner meeting of the Trenton Lions Club, held in the Quennevy Hotel on Thursday evening, was Dr. S. G. Hanley District Governor for District A-3, Lions International. Dr. Jamieson was introduced by the club secretary, Mostrand Sprague. Dr. Jamieson urged the club members to actively participate in inter-club visits. He said that it was the duty of established clubs to give younger, less experienced clubs the benefit of their fellowship and advice. He also urged active participation in efficiency contests, which have to do with attendance and general good work written reports, etc., and to sponsor some speaking contests in each district Lions Club in District A.

The speaker reminded the members of the prospects of District A-3 for the year 1959. He said that $14,000 to send powdered milk to Europe.

He read a letter from the president of the Lions Club in Athens, Greece, stating that he had made arrangements to handle any quantity of milk, and also tells of the great need in that country.

The main theme of Dr. Jamieson's address was "Measurement." He said that everything in this world is capable of measurement in some sense or the word. The best way to measure a man's success, said the speaker, was not by this money he earned or the house he wore, or the car he drove, but rather his standing in his home.

If his wife and children are happy in their relationship to him, he can be counted a successful man.

JUDGED BY RESULTS

In reference to members on the Lions Club, Dr. Jamieson said that the club was judged by results. Club, he said, had its listeners that there are organizations which are of a worthwhile organization, and urged Trenton Lions to measure up to the high standards set by the ideals of the organization as a whole.

Lion V. P. Carswell thanked the speaker for his inspirational address.

Rueben Herrington, president of the Trenton club, announced that plans were being made for the annual Christmas party. Lion Nelson Ellis, chairman of the party, said that a "Ladies' Night" would be held at the Quennevy Hotel on November 19.

President Herrington read an appeal for contributions for the door-to-door canvass for the Association for Crippled Children, a project, which will be held locally from Nov. 15 to Nov. 26. Lion Nelson Ellis, chairman of the canvass, added a plea for canvassers to this effect. He pointed out that, due to business pressures he found it impossible to keep up the work of canvassing.

Lion Don McPherson gave a report on the Lions' newspaper sales.

Lion Sproule Currie reported that the night hockey team, sponsored by the club, needed 4 additional managers and 2 coaches to complete their games which are held each Tuesday evening at the arena at 7 p.m.

Charge to RCAF For Town Water Causes Dispute

TRENTON — The question of the rights and privileges of the "fourth estate" came into prominence yesterday when two Trenton reporters were refused entry refused permission by Mayor Ross Bonter to attend a special meeting between the Trenton Public Utilities Commission, RCAF officials and a representative of the supply ministers office, Department of National Defence.

Clifford Baker, chairman of the P.U.C. voiced his willingness to allow the press to report the meeting but insisted on that, since the meeting was being held in the board room of the municipal office, the mayor was in the position of host. After a poll had been taken on the matter among the officials present, the reporters were invited to attend the latter half of the meeting.

Present at the meeting were Lee Grills, M.P. for Hastings-Frontenac; Dr. Wm. Dey, deputy minister's office, Department of National Defence; A. K. Bridcut, consultant engineer, RCAF Station Trenton; F-O C. Allen, deputy Civilian Baker, chairman of the PUC; James Sage, secretary of the PUC; Commissioners Bert Atkinson, Mayor Ross Burt and D. Morphy.

WATER COST ISSUE

The meeting had been called to discuss the question of option between the Commission and the Department of National Defence as to the establishment of a 6" water main from the city limits to the RCAF by the Commission. According to the terms of the original agreement, water was to be supplied to the airport at the basic rate of 10 cents per 1,000 gallons. At the end of a five-year period, the agreement stated that the PUC would be allowed cost of the water plus 50 per cent for supplying water to the airport from the filtration plant. The present charge is a rate of 16.25 cents per 1,000 gallons which is charged by other units and had submitted a formula to the department, outlining the reason for this proposed charge.

Up until the present time, the formula has not been submitted to the department. Following the meeting Mr. Rand said that in his opinion, the formula would be satisfactory, but that he could not commit himself to approval of the dryly minister. There have been some misunderstanding on the part of the department concerning the cost of operation of the filtration plant.

Mayor Burt stated that the town had always had wonderful co-operation from the force, a decision on the opening up of the Sidney Street well until 1960, in view of the present situation of the commission at the moment.

In reference to the Lake Ontario Hydro Commission asking that the local PUC participate by sponsoring a speaking contest for school children, which is being arranged by the Ontario Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association and the Ontario Secondary School Association. Topics this year will be on various phases of hydro-power, discussion of which aged. Winners of the local contest on electricity will be encouraged to enter the district contests and possibly in the provincial finals. Mr. Baker thought this was a coolest might interfere with the Legion public speaking competitions being held and ranged by Nostrand Sprague. He suggested that the PUC donate two or more prizes and offer to help with the Legion contest in any way, giving them just a start, test independently.

Accounts were read and passed and it were made to spon-for a Christmas party for PUC employees.

Where Shall the Poor Man Dwell?

"Where shall the poor man dwell?" That sharp question has been posed by Miss Ada Greenhill, an Ottawa social worker, in a Canadian Welfare Council bulletin. A case she cites, as reported by The Canadian Press in a despatch carried in The Ontario Intelligencer on the other day, is that of a steadily employed man with a wife and four children who finds that his weekly wage of $45 to $50 is quite inadequate after paying $60 a month rent for "four miserable rooms."

One's first reaction may be that no man with his salt needs to be satisfied with a wage of $45 a week in this day and age. It so happens, though, this is the very day on which the Toronto Daily Intelligencer carried this report there arrived from Vancouver a copy of The Sun in which columnist Jack Wasserman reports an extraordinary case—a full-time federal civil servant with more than five children whose pay is $1 an hour and who receives in a week "something just under $45." Because of the size of his family and the meagreness of his salary, he qualified for the B.C. provincial government's social assistance grants of nearly $50 a month. "In other words," says Wasserman, "this federal civil servant is probably the only person in B.C. history to collect relief legally, while holding a full-time job."

We fancy that if this man was the employee of a private concern, rather than a public servant, there would be an outcry against payment of relief in him. This would be termed subsidization of employers and rightly so. Miss Greenhill and other social workers, however, advocate a different kind of subsidy, the provision of low-rental housing for low income families. It seems to us that one method of subsidization is as bad in principle as another—and yet something needs to be done for these families which, in many cases through no fault of their own, are condemned to poverty in a land of plenty.

The case against subsidized housing, in any case, is weakened by the fact that higher-income families are already receiving government assistance in solving their housing problems, through the provision of mortgage money and guarantee of mortgage loans.

The fact that there is no easy solution to this problem ought not to cause us to shrink from the task of finding some solution.

A Lick in Time

Numerous reports of rowdyism and hooliganism seem to have cropped up over the past few weeks from various small municipalities around Ontario.

Measures taken to counteract this wave of delinquency have varied from one village enforcing an early curfew for children and teenagers to another village's residents doing absolutely nothing to help the Provincial Police in curbing their problem for the past year.

The latter is certainly a very sad state of affairs and is hardly to be condoned. The situation definitely requires some positive action on the part of citizens and police combined. A case ago the small towns and villages around the City of Brantford were shocked to the violent vagaries of a roving pack of youthful misfits whose favorite stunt was to sally forth from the Brantford area by trucks and cars to visit weekend dances at nearby villages. Once arrived this group's modus operandi was to move in on the dance and break it up. Considerable damage and frequent injuries to the natives were almost inevitable.

Then one night it happened. A country hoedown at one of the villages was well advertised and, as expected, several truckloads of hooligans arrived for the "fun." The moment the first truck pulled up a great number of men from villages in the area appeared on the scene and proceeded to administer a sound lesson in thrashing to the several dozen misfits. Thereafter no trouble occurred at small dances in the Brantford district.

The action taken by the citizens may not exactly have fallen within the pale of strict legality but it was certainly within the bounds of morality. We do not mean to advocate this type of cure but rather to point up the fact that if anything is to be done the citizens have to assume some of the initiative.

The proper authorities are entrusted with the job of maintaining the peace but they can only be as effective as the local population is co-operative. Responsibility for the cure of juvenile irresponsibility is borne by parents, citizens, and police together, and when the problem arises they had best get together and get their lick in first before anything gets out of hand.

'Drury's Father' Gives Safety Officer His View on Affairs

Ontario Intelligencer,

I hope that anything I may say will not add fuel to the fire that has been burning in reverse in city Council for some months. Having been more than twenty-five years employed at the Quinte Hardware with offices situated in the City of Belleville, and also paying taxes to the city all the time, I feel I am entitled to express a few of my views on the present situation as regards the whole policy of the City Council along with others from the Council on annual business.

I find from the annual reports of municipal statistics for 1937, a total of $1,142,000 up to May 9th, 1938, did not contribute to the overdraft of $106,198. I can say that the figures were high but not by any means the highest reported in the province.

The amount spent out of the arena committee's funds totalled the amount of $1110,000 spent by former City Treasurer Hollinger during

Colorful Candidates, Issues Of Controversial Nature Needed to Bring Out Voters

By GERALD L'ANGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Colorful personalities and controversial issues are necessary to bring out the voters at municipal elections in Canada.

This fact is made clear in a Canadian Press cross-Canada survey of post-war voting in cities with populations exceeding 50,000.

If there is a colorful candidate or an issue that the public considers vital, the electorate will turn out. If not, mayors and councillors are often put into office by a minority of eligible voters, simply because the rest do not bother to vote.

CP's survey shows the average poll in most recent municipal elections across the country, was about 45 per cent. In most cities even the record post-war votes seldom topped 70 per cent, and in many cases were below 60 per cent.

LACK INTEREST

"The main reason for only a third or more of the eligible voters bothering to walk into the booth to vote is lack of interest," says Vancouver city clerk Ronald Thompson.

Mr. Thompson says today's highly organized mass communications are inclined to push civic affairs into the background in most people's minds.

In Halifax's last municipal vote in 1957 the lowest poll since the war was registered—40.2 per cent of the electorate. The city's record post-war vote was 53.6 per cent in 1953, when L.A. Kitz, the city's first Jewish mayor, was elected for a second term.

ALDERMANIC RACES

Halifax city clerk Ralph Stoddard says voters appear more interested in voting for aldermen.

"If 20 aldermen are standing on a corner and there were a mayoralty election, two of them might bother to vote," he says. "But if there were also an aldermanic election, chances are eight of them would go to the polls."

Voters seem to take their local politics more seriously in Quebec City, where 70 to 75 per cent have turned out since the war's end. The present mayor and eight of the 15 councillors were elected by acclamation in 1956, but in contests towards the vote was always 80 per cent of the total eligible. There are about 50,000 on the voters' lists for the November election, and assistant city clerk Louis Lamontagne-Desjardins expects the proportion to be maintained.

Only 49.9 per cent of Montreal's 161,400 eligible voters cast ballots at the last election in 1957, but even this figure is close to the post-war record of 51.8 in 1954. The next election in 1960 may see a bigger turnout if the Civic Action League led by the fiery lawyer and ex-mayor Jean Drapeau gets a chance to unseat the Greater Montreal Rally.

"We think that the vote on the municipal level is the most important vote a citizen has, because municipal government is the closest government to the people," said Leon Patenaude, secretary-treasurer of the Civic Action League. "For this reason we want to get out a big vote."

OTTAWA LOW MARK

In Ottawa, last year's civic election attracted a 41-per-cent poll from the city's 125,000 voters —the lowest percentage since the war. The colorful former mayor Charlotte Whitton led a record poll of 8.1 per cent in 1954, but the next election in 1956 when she decided not to run again, and there was no mayoralty contest, the poll dropped to 37 per cent.

Toronto's record post-war poll in 1950 was only 46.79 per cent. The city's lowest was 19.9 per cent in the war year of 1942. In the last civic election in 1958 the civic voting percentage was 31.26.

Percentage polls seem to get lower as Toronto increases in size, said a city hall spokesman.

Hamilton's civic vote last year was 36.85 per cent, against 39 per cent in 1956. The post-war high of 62.2 in 1948. The record low was in 1945 when 22.1 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots.

In Kitchener, which has its next election in December, the record low was 30.35 per cent in 1947, and the high was 58.1 in 1950. Last year's poll just topped 53 per cent. Comparitive figures for adjacent Waterloo are 34 per cent in 1946, 67.1 in 1950 and 62.2 in 1957.

RECORD VOTERS' LIST

London will have a record total on the voters' list for the December elections, and a mayoralty race is expected to boost the voting percentage well above the 44-per-cent post - war low recorded last year.

Voting in Windsor follows the usual big city pattern: 67.1 in 1939, a low of 37.1 in 1942 and 46.2 in the next last year.

In the Winnipeg election Oct. 26 the 57-per-cent poll was only slightly higher than the 1957 voting slump. Colorful Mayor Stephen Juba helped promote a record 58-per-cent poll in 1954, and the figure was 53.3 per cent when he was re-elected in 1956, for a two-year term.

The Winnipeg mayoralty was not at stake in last month's vote, but the Junior Chamber of Commerce abandoned its get-out-the-vote campaign because it felt the response was not worth the effort involved.

Brandon, which also voted last month, had a turnout of 48.1 per cent of the 13,278 on the voters' list. In 1951, when Jim Creighton was first elected mayor, the Brandon vote reached almost 50 per cent.

REGINA TURNOUTS

Regina had 34.6 per cent at its elections last week, compared with the low mark of 22.7 per cent in 1953. Aiding the turnout of voters was the standard time fall change. Voters chose to put Regina on Central Standard Time all year round, and clocks will be moved forward an hour next April. At present Regina operates on CST in summer, and on Mountain Standard Time in winter.

The mayoralty issue boosted Calgary's vote last month to above 50 per cent for the first time since 1957. Former mayor Donald Mackay was standing for his sixth two-year term despite a reprimand by a judicial inquiry. The voters put Harry Hays in the mayoral chair. The former record post-war poll was 42.6 per cent in 1957. In 1956 it had slumped to 19.2.

Edmonton's 52,000 votes last month fell slightly ever, but the percentage of eligible voters was only 34.3 as the post-war record 42-per-cent in 1951.

Vancouver will have a record 246,000 on the voters' list for the December election, but city hall officials do not expect more than a 30-per-cent turnout—about the same as it was last year. Polling has slumped to 25.5 per cent in 1956 compared with a high record of 1946, when the mayor then, George McGeer, conducted a colorful campaign from a hospital bed.

"When there's no election for the mayoralty it always knocks the voting on the head," says Mr. Thompson.

Victoria expects a good attendance at the polling booths in December, with interest stirred by a mayoralty contest and controversy over a mall parking plan and water fluoridation. But the vote is not expected to exceed the 53.9-per-cent of 1962. Last year's 30.7-per-cent poll was set higher than the 1957 low of 27.5 per cent.

AFTER FIGHT WITH SHARKS — Duffie Fryling, 21, an exlifeguard, displays his bandaged arm after describing an encounter with sharks while shrimping near Port Aransas, Texas. Fryling said he was 75 yards off shore when he swam near a dozen sharks. He said one, about five feet long, rammed his upper jaw into his arm as he raced toward shore. He was treated at a hospital for lacerations from wrist to elbow. (AP Wirephoto).

New Million Dollar Hospital Now Reality and in Service

PICTON — The new million-dollar Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital officially opened its doors to the public today.

Transferring the patients went smoothly through detailed organization. Ambulances, doctors, nurses and equipment were on hand for any emergency but there was none.

First patient to be carried into the new hospital was an ex-mayor of Picton, G. Nesbitt McKibbon, who had been a patient since suffering a heart attack. The oldest patient moved was David Clark who, will be 104 years of age next month. The youngest was the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sadler of Milford who had entered the world earlier the same day. He was one of six babies, who were the last to be born in the old hospital.

Though the new hospital has the latest in modern facilities and is an improvement in every way, not a few members of the staff were almost in tears as they left. Several had taken their training there years ago and they, with others who came later, had become attached to the institution which had become so familiar they could move in it almost blindfolded. Now they are learning to find their way around new corridors and new stairs.

There being enough excitement for one day in moving, no visiting hours were observed yesterday but today the new Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital, the result of many years of planning and effort, is a reality and in service.

Teacher Hurt In Fall Down Cellar Stairs

PICTON — A member of the staff of Mary Street Public school Miss Marjorie Vance was admitted to Prince Edward County hospital yesterday suffering a severe gash on the head and painful bruises on the body. While walking down the cellar stairs at her home on Bridge Street she slipped and fell and rolled down the remaining steps. Some electricians who were working at the home rushed her to hospital where she had the dubious distinction of being the last accident victim admitted to the old hospital.

242 PINTS DONATED

A total of 242 pints of blood were donated to the Red Cross locally this week. At a clinic held in Picton armouries on Wednesday, 186 pints of blood were received. At a similar clinic held at Camp Picton, there were 156 donors. It is planned to hold such clinics here twice a year.

According to Dr. F. W. Murphy, chairman of the local committee in charge of the clinic, many people are not yet aware of the fact that hospitals in this area including Kingston, Belleville, Trenton and Picton, no longer charge for blood required by patients and it is not necessary to replace blood used, as has been the custom for many years. We feel that there will be a greater response when this is understood and another clinic held, be contended.

Rylatone

RYLSTONE — The Rylstone Women's Institute held its regular meeting at the Sunday School room, Knox Church, one day earlier than usual, owing to Mr. F. W. Barnum's sale.

Mrs. Percy Reid was hostess and there was a good attendance of 13 ladies and some children.

The president, Mrs. Don Kerr, had charge of the entire meeting owing to the absence of the convenor.

Mrs. Stanley Kerr was elected to be assistant convenor for the balance of the year, owing to the resignation of Mrs. Harvey Anderson.

Mrs. MacDonald, agricultural representative for Hastings County, gave a short talk. Mrs. Ellis Jones gave a Remembrance Day reading, "The Greatest Love," and Mrs. Minnie Petherick conducted an "Alphabetical" contest.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served by the hostess and committee, Mrs. Don Stewart, Mrs. Harry Munro, Mrs. Charles Stewart and Mrs. Ellis Jones.

Program committee for December meeting are Mrs. Don Stewart.

The public sale of live stock and implements, etc. held at the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnum on Wednesday was well attended despite the weather. Rain is badly needed in this district as it took a lot to dampen the spirits of the buyers. "It is fine for any the weather did not hurt the sale especially. The farm was already been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tinney and Mr. and Mrs. Barnum have been living in their home in Campbellford since Mr. Barnum was able to leave the hospital and his daughter's home in Belleville, during the early summer while all welcome the newcomers, it is regret that the community loses Mr. and Mrs. Barnum. The farm has been a land mark or road mark for years. Many travellers have been told to turn right or left at Fred Barnum's corner.

Will Morton and his daughters, Donna and Dorothy attended the Heath-Burrit wedding near Wilton on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gewdie Sulbert and Stirling and Mrs. Ray Davis and children and Mrs. Basil Conley, of Batawa, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thomson and family.

Mrs. Charles Stewart visited on Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Jones, on Sunday afternoon.

Chester Micklejohn returned home on Sunday after spending the past two weeks a patient in Campbellford Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mitts called on the Micklejohn family on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Doug Dosher and children of Belleville will are spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Milfred Spencer.

Wilfred Spencer is spending a few days in the South with his brother and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stewart, Glen and Marilyn attended a golden wedding dinner and celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holland at Havelock on Saturday of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Purvis Allan, of Campbellford on Sunday. The community would like to add its congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart remained with their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Bob and Stewart for a few days.

LIFE EXPECTANCY DATA

LONDON (AP) — The long life in the life of many of human beings has been halted by increasing inroad of cancer and ailment troubles, the 1958 health statistics for England and Wales, Sir John Charles, the nation's chief medical officer, said Thursday at a ministry session. It remained stationary at 68 years since 1954. A woman's expectation rises from 72 from time to 74 from 72.

Carmel G.G. Hold Enrolment Ceremony

On Tuesday evening last the 1st Carmel Guides held an enrolment ceremony when three new recruits Cynthia Howes, Gloria Stratton and Linda Pilgrim were enrolled.

Three Guides became Patrol Leaders, Sandra Stratton, Margaret Waller and Janice Allison, and were presented with their whistles and lanyards, hat pins, and patrol leaders' stripes by Commissioner, Mrs. R. Sellen.

Marilyn Guay was presented with her Seconds' stripe and a whistle and lanyard.

The Commissioner congratulated these girls on their promotion and wished them success in their new positions.

Following the presentations, and the marching off of the colors, the six Guides trying for their hostess badges took over. Games followed, and dainty refreshments prepared by these Guides were also served by them.

GUIDES GIVEN BADGES

Miss Marguerite Hicks and Mrs. Barbara Hayes were the testers and both decided the following Guides well deserved their badges: Ruth Barlow; Margaret Waller; Susan Hill; Jean Stratton; Lynne Scrimmer; Lynda Ashton.

At the close of the meeting, the Captain, Dorothy Howes, Lieut. W. Ea. in the Second World War spoke to the Guides for a few minutes about Remembrance Day, "Tuesday, Guides, is Remembrance Day — to you there is nothing to remember, perhaps—not yet, you are just beginning to follow in the footsteps which have gone ahead. To your fathers and mothers there are memories of that Second World War, and to your grandparents memories of the First World War — two wars in one generation. And so we remember the sacrifice of the dead, to boys you never knew, and well they knew you would have gone ahead; but because of them and all the others in the war who have fought for the right—their God, their home, their country — you have the wonderful privilege of being free — to live, to love, to worship God in your own way and not as told by a dictator.

These things you must preserve and keep in the heart of your life for the next generation and so on until the end of time." My memories are sacred ones."

Captain Howes related a few of the girls "Most of all we must cherish the memory of the gallantry of the men in our profession."

Taps was sung and the meeting dismissed by the Commissioner.

On November 11th the 1st Carmel Guides paraded to the cenotaph at Cannifton for the remembrance day service. The Company was led by Company Leader, Barbara Stratton. The color party were as follows: The Union Jack — Shirley Dafoe; color bearer, Jean Gough and Lynda Ashton. The Company colors — Marilyn Guay, color bearer, Susan Hill and Anne Finnamore.

Mrs. Dorothy Howes, Guide Captain, placed the Provincial wreath on the cenotaph, escorted by two veterans' daughters, Janice Allison, and Sandra Stratton.

Mr. and Mrs. William John Cox are pictured with the officiating minister, the Reverend Harry A. Davis, as they signed the register in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Carolyn Ada Finkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Finkle, of Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cox, also of Belleville. Eastminster United Sponsors Successful Autumn Bazaar

A crisp, sunny afternoon gave a typical fall atmosphere to the recent tea and bazaar at the Kinsmis Centre sponsored by Eastminster United Women's Fellowship.

The rooms were gaily decorated for the occasion with the theme for the afternoon being, "Autumn Leaves" and the colors of the wild duck, or teal, were predominant.

As the tea room, the decorations were in the form of artists' palettes with the accent on the hunting color. A large palette, surrounded by colorful nosegays, was the centre-piece for the head table with smaller palettes on the tea tables and on the walls. Colored milkweed, cattails and "mums added to the decorations.

Mrs. Kaufman was in charge of the decorations.

The C.G.I.T. group, with Mrs. Leppan in charge, was selling candies and cakes made fudge and chocolates.

DELICIOUS HOME BAKING

A baking card to any bazaar, the home-baking table, was as usual a big attraction to the crowd. There was a large selection of pies, cakes and cookies.

As usual everything went like the proverbial "hot cakes", a large selection of jams, jellies and pickles was displayed. A great deal of many household wares like aprons, sorted salads and cold meats which would make a delectable meal, Mrs. P. Cockrane convened this table.

Mrs. L. Ellis was in charge of the Christmas booth and this consisted of Christmas cards, gift wrapping, ribbons, yule logs, King Alfred cakes, and a wide choice of Christmas decorations. One look at this display reminded one that Christmas is not too far away.

The children's booth, with Mrs. Kaine in charge, had a large display of babies' and children's clothing including coats, sacks, helmets, suits, layouts, etc.

MISCELLANEOUS TABLE

On the miscellaneous table was a viety of articles including potted house plants, doilies, dish towels, colorful tote bags, lace trimmed collars and many other useful items. This was convened by Mrs. Burnham.

MODERN MANNERS

Etiquette Master Says...

SMOKER'S QUESTIONNAIRE

Smoking has become a universal habit during the past few years. Most people have learned to become more or less considerate, and therefore it is extremely easy to slip into a careless disregard in one's manner of smoking. I thought it might be interesting if smokers would ask themselves the following questions, answering them honestly might help to weed out an unintentional rudeness here and there.

Do you show courtesy to a non-smoker by always asking permission to smoke when joining a group of people who are not smoking?

Are you particularly careful to guard against blowing smoke in a non-smoker's face?

Do you always remove a cigaret from your mouth when talking? Nothing is more unsightly than a cigaret drooping from one's mouth.

If you are a woman, do you ever smoke on the street? I have always resented the common sight of hoydens, and walking on the street, puffing busily on a cigaret. I wonder if they feel as unfeminine as it looks.

If a man, do you always favour your cigaret smoke when you meet a woman acquaintance, or the other way about? Do you ever walk a little way with her, do you ask her permission to light up again?

I hope and trust that you never stamp a cigaret out on anybody but an ashtray. Above all, do you remember to extinguish, and not dropping your cigaret in your coffee cup? Or snuffing it out on the plate from which you have just finished eating?

Do you tolerantly allow your cigaret on the edge of an ashtray or lay it on the chair of a lady? By virtue of having the habit of never doing this — even in your own home, you will save your furniture and clothes — the chances are you will not always be guilty of carrying other people's furniture.

When you see a spoonful in someone's lunch or a meal and there are no ashtrays on the table, do you ask for one, or do you hide the hint? If ashtrays are present, do you light up after each course, or do you show courtesy to your neighbors, and wait until the meal is over and then, when you do smoke at the table, do you tiptoe up the fabled path with your ashes?

When a dance floor, do you follow the unwritten rule of "no smoking"? This is an unpardonable breach of good taste.

Do you throw lighted stubs out of car windows irrespective of the fact that it can blow into the window of a passing car, or one of thirties that is at your feet, blowing in the back seat of your own car, to the disturbance thereof? And recovery trust that you are never guilty of flipping burning cigaret ends out of windows.

If you are a cigar or pipe smoker, are you careful of your smoking manners? While it cannot ever be objectionable to other people, a smelly cigar, or a battered pipe which reeks, may be very distressing. Above all, a man should never smoke a pipe when visiting a friend's home, or after dinner, shall we say, unless he is absolutely sure that no one will mind. If there are a number of other guests present, play safe, and leave the pipe at home.

Simple Elegance

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Pure silk crepe cut to glorify the slim figure and yet be kind to the more amply proportioned wearer, is the theme of this elegantly simple daytime dress that should lend a busy life. The softly dropped neckline is caught in at the waist and the sleeves are also artfully draped. Strategic seaming details the slim skirt. The frock is available in jewel tones such as sapphire, emerald or lapas — which makes it a real gem!

Question: My daughter is to be married soon and quite an argument has arisen with regard to who shall bear the expenses of the wedding. Her fiance's family are very wealthy and our family is by very moderate circumstances. His family have offered to assume everything, including a big reception which, of course, we cannot afford. As father of the bride, this doesn't seem right to me. What do you think?

— Mr. R. B.

Answer: You are absolutely correct. It's all wrong. It really is an affront to the family of the bridegroom to make such an offer. It is an inflexible rule that the bride's parents have the prerogative of giving their daughter the kind of wedding celebration they can afford. The bridegroom's family, or he himself, should never assume any of these expenses.

Christ Church P.G. Plans Christmas Meet

Christ Church Parish Guild held the recent monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Wright, who welcomed each guest.

The president, Mrs. R. Dawson, opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. H. Wright, president at the piano.

Mrs. G. Walkin gave the rectory council report and Mrs. F. Burtt reported on past weddings and thanked all who had helped in catering to make them so successful.

Mrs. Dack gave her report on the number of cards sent out to parish members who have been ill and Mrs L. Slavin gave the cent-a-meet report.

Mrs. E. Hickey was asked about plans for the Christmas meeting, and gave a resume to date, which will include a pot-luck luncheon, and informed the Guild that Santa would be there, which proves mothers and grandmothers enjoy Santa Claus as much as the children.

After business was finished Mrs. Hickey thanked Mrs. C. Bishop following with the devotional.

The president asked everyone to stand and a two-minute silence was observed in honor and memory of those who best their lives in the First and Second World Wars.

Mrs. H. Wright took over for serving. In a few minutes all were busy with fancy work, from Christmas bottles to fill Christmas orders, and sewing machines were in operation.

Following the sewing bee the Guild was given a delightful surprise when Mrs. Wright's grandson, David Livingston, aged two beautiful songs. David has a lovely voice and the lisle certainly enjoyed his solo. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wright assisting her were Mrs. Hodgins, Mrs. Dawson Sr., Mrs. M. Nolan and Mrs. Godder.

Archdeacon J. D. Arbuckle and guests, Rev. Manilh, dropped in for a cup of coffee with the ladies, which completed a delightful afternoon.

Women's Activities

TABERNACLE W.A.

The regular monthly meeting of Tabernacle United Church W.A. was held recently in the church parlors, with Mrs. Percy Kerr, president, presiding.

Twenty members answered the roll calling how many quilts they had completed this month.

The treasurer gave her report which showed that almost $2,000. had been raised by the group so far this year.

Group 2 had charge of the devotional. Assisting on part were Mrs. M. Graham, Mrs. Stalker and Mrs. Shirley Smith.

Mrs. Stalker read the lesson from Ephesians @ 10-18.

"The Christian life is a battle between good and evil. We should take a strong stand against what is wrong. We can do nothing of lasting value in our own strength but, with God's help, we can overcome evil with good. Paul, who was persecuted and imprisoned was able to say 'I have fought a good course, I have kept the faith. The Christian fails more often than he yields to temptation but it offers power to overcome temptation.

A delightful solo, "I Would Be True" was rendered by Mrs. Shirley Smith. Mrs. Morley Graham presided for the devotional.

It was decided to have the next meeting at the council office in December.

Miss Johns reported that $7 cards had been sent out during the year.

At the close of the meeting Group 3 served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Readers' Friday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . Would you have a recipe for a fruit and nut drop cookie without rolling out? . . . Do you have a recipe for honey tarts? I mean like we buy in the shops with a crusty top and "runny" or like honey undermeath . . . A recipe for homemade sliced meat with or without meat . . . when using hot red peppers in a chili sauce, does one use the seeds along with the pulp? . . . Do you know if one can buy powdered whole milk in a size for household use . . . Mrs. F. M.

HONEY PECAN TARTS:

2-4 cup honey, 2 eggs, 1 cup pecans, very finely chopped (or other nuts), 1-4 cup soft butter, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon almond extract.

Beat eggs until frothy, add honey little by little and beat. Add nuts, extracts, butter and salt. Put into unbaked tart shells. Bake 10 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr, then reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr, until filling is set.

CANADIAN MINCEMEAT:

2 cups chopped apples, 1 1-2 cups raisins, 1-2 cup currants, 1-4 cup citron peel, sliced, 1-2 cup chopped suet, 1-2 to 3-4 cup sugar, 1 teaspoons mixed spice, 3 tablespoons rich fruit juice.

Combine ingredients in order given. This amount makes 2 pies.

When using hot red peppers in anything be careful to remove all the seeds. They are far too hot.

Yes, you can buy whole milk powder. The Cow and Gate Company and the manufacturers of Klim are two whole milk powder packed in cans of 15-oz. and 1 1-2 to 2-pound sizes. You may have to buy the Cow and Gate in 15-oz. cans at your drug store. It used to sell for about 2 for 37c. I am not sure of the present price.

The Experts Say

Party Consultant Says Trend Is to Home Groups

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The trend is to home parties, says Mary Kirby - Howard, a party consultant in Toronto for the past five years.

She says the popularity of recreation rooms, outdoor cooking facilities and a swimming pools has brought about a casual, relaxed manner of entertaining.

Parties are getting smaller, too, and more intimate.

"People unlit to invite 16 or 40 guests," she explained, "but now they'll have two parties with 25 people at each."

SQUARE DANCES

Square dancing remains popular for both young and old. European immigrants, who are fond of folk dancing, adapt quickly to square dancing, she says.

Cake, ice cream and "pop" remain the favorite items on the menu for children's parties. During the holiday season, entertainment such as clown or magician is often added as a special treat.

Women love to have a fortune teller at their parties. "Men like them, too, but won't admit it," she says.

She anticipates a sharp increase in parties for teen-agers. "Their parents feel it is better for them to bring their friends home," she said.

NEW SEASON

The party season which usually starts a few weeks before Christmas is already under way.

The use of decorations is on the upgrade, but sometimes they are overdone, says Mrs. Smith-Howard.

Fabulous Fur Hat

Time was when fur hats seemed to derive from the round coon cap sported by one Daniel Boone. But the fur hat these days goes in for luxury, using every type of fine fur in rich and spectacular design. Irene. New York milliner, molds luxurious ranch mink into a casual slouch hat of the type usually done in felt or velours. With the hat comes a round barrel muff of the same fur.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge; a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a composite of actual case histories. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Margo J. — We should take the money and do as his parents wish.

James J. — They can't buy me.

Margo J. — My husband and I are in our early 30's. We have been married three years and have a 4-year-old son.

Our marriage was opposed by both sets of parents because we are of different faiths. We have had a very hard time making ends meet, and until now our parents have refused us the slightest help.

Now Jim's parents have shown a willingness to help us out if we take steps to insure that our son will be brought up in their religion. I am willing to do this because we need help so badly. But Jim is very stubborn. He resents his parents' attitude. I think he should put first things first, and in this case money is the first thing.

James J. — Women understand nothing about matters of principle. My parents think they can buy me. Well they have another think coming. I don't care if we all wind up begging on the streets. I'm not going to accept any conditions or any terms.

I feel that my parents are cruels and materialistic. The way they go about things has nothing to do with true religion or true loyalty to me or my family. They have shown nothing but hostility to me and my wife since they first met her. Where do they come off with that stuff?

I wouldn't have come to my parents for help if I hadn't been desperate. I never would have believed they could have taken such a spiteful attitude.

The Council: Hotheaded Jim seems to hold up a pretty high standard for his parents' behavior, but he is a bit lax in his standards for himself.

Jim wants his parents to swallow their feelings, forgive and forget as far as he is concerned and be endlessly generous and indulgent with him. He excuses himself from the need for giving them any token of loyalty or gratitude.

While Jim is correct in claiming that "true religion" can't be bought, it is also true that a child who is opposed to particular religious teachings will find them for himself. The grandparents in this case believe their religion is a good one. They are disappointed that Jim has not taken steps to perpetuate it. They have been given the opportunity to do something about their convictions and they have tried to seize the opportunity. We cannot see where they have committed any grave outrage.

Jim is all wrong in his idea that parents are to be expected to keep giving and proving their love to an adult child. There comes a point when the grown man or woman must recognize that his parents own him nothing more. They are free to act in accordance with their own principles, even if these don't always run in their parents' favor.

Of course, Jim is perfectly free to reject his parents' terms and go "begging in the streets." But we don't think he ought to do this resentfully. Since he is following his principles he should do it proudly and gracefully.

We are not recommending this mild form of blackmail as a way of coping with problems of this sort. We merely wish to point out the errors in Jim's reasoning on this subject.

Laurel Rebekah Lodge Marks 39th Birthday

STIRLING — At the close of the Laurel Rebekah Lodge meeting on Tuesday evening in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Stirling, a brief program followed with the installation of past Noble Grand, Mrs. Marion Carter, in charge.

The group stood for a period of silence in memory of the fallen and the convener read a short poem, "I Will Remember Them". Mrs. Annie Warren, P.N.G., and Mrs. Flanders Fields" with Mrs. Marjorie Stapley as accompanist. Mrs. Ruby Tompkins closed with guitar accompaniment, "When My Blue Moon Turns to Gold Again". Mrs. Reta Fryer conducted a relay game.

The group were then invited to the banquet hall where the head table was centred with a three-fruit cake iced in pink and green with the three links, "Friendship, Love and Truth and topped with a matching floral bouquet.

The place cards were bouquets of pink and green foam rubber fastened in a tree design and lettered with 39, the number of years since the organization of Laurel Lodge No. 211.

At the head table were the new candidates of the year and the officers for this term. A special table was reserved for the past Noble Grands and there were 20 in attendance. Mrs. Carter proved a corsage for each and Mrs. Lillian Johnston and Mrs. Joyce Clancy assisted in pinning on the flowers.

The special address was given by D.D.P.P. Miss Evelyn Bailey who spoke on the theme, "The Past, the Present, and the Future", the first to all those who had carried on the lodge activities throughout the years and quoted an appropriate poem, "What the Future Holds".

The candles were lit by Mrs. Lillian Johnson and the two new brothers Charles Carter and Ray Sine, extinguished the glow.

A toast was proposed to Laurel Lodge and "Happy Birthday" was sung.

Miss Mary Hulin president of the Past Noble Grand Club, expressed thanks on behalf of her officers and members.

Mrs. Erma Clancy officiated at the piano and the party closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds".

Eleven Keepers Kept on Toes By 7 Pelicans

NEW YORK (AP) — Six pelicans were captured quickly and dragged off, to warm winter quarters in the Bronx Zoo here, but seven kept coming.

"Unusually fast time this year," smiled William Conway, curator of birds, as he clocked the recapture of the six at just 27 minutes. "Each pelican is an experienced man-dodger."

The seventh bird then proceeded to show Conway what real man-dodging was. Eleven keepers in rowboats pursued the 23 - year - old Australian black-back pelican, known as Blackie, all over the zoo's concrete lake. A crowd lining the shore cheered them on.

Blackie, spared from one end of the lake to the other, his big wings beating frantically. When he seemed near capture by pursuing boaters, he would plunge right through centre to safety, to the crowd's delight.

Finally, keeper Bob Edington waded out and gathered the splashing bird into his embrace.

Conway said Blackie, always the hardest to catch, is the pelican leader. He quipped: "He's not only the black back, but the quarterback."

Expecting too Much in Short Time Works Against Steady Economic Growth - - Speaker

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of President Eisenhower's council of economic advisers, said Thursday he cannot reasonably see the time when the forces making for expansion were stronger than they are now.

The American people, however, expect to do too much in too short a time, he said, and this works against steady economic growth.

Wage increases, he stated, cannot surpass increases in productivity without increasing costs and prices.

The first three months of the steel strike were similar in effect to the first three months of the 1946 post-war organization, and if continued would artificially create a recession of major proportions.

Dr. Saulnier gave his views in an address to the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the American organization which has been meeting here this week, and in a press conference.

TRACES PRODUCTIVITY

Here are some of his points he put forward.

Increases in productivity in the United States and Canada over the long-term, is at the rate of between two and 2½ per cent.

Output in the American manufacturing industry this year are going up at a rate of about four per cent; compared with five per cent in 1955-1956 and three per cent in 1950-51 and 1957-58.

This means there is a pressure driving up costs.

If business can raise prices in response to rising costs, the result is a spurious earning and a squeeze on earnings creates a slowdown in economic growth. For business earnings are the only way reward shareholders but to supply capital for reinvestment in industry.

TENSIONS TOO HARD

This doesn't mean there shouldn't be a rise in the standard of living, Dr. Saulnier said, however, tended to wait to accomplish in one year what should take nearly two years. Such a step within would be far more than one on a boom and bust basis.

Dr. Saulnier said he isn't sure of the attitude of the man on the boom, but he does say that the woman of the American household would object to a little bit smaller increase in the pay envelope and stable prices, than a little bit higher wages and rising prices.

SIGN NUCLEAR PACT

BERLIN (Reuters)—East Germany and Romania signed an agreement here in East Berlin Thursday for co-operation in nuclear research, the East German news agency ADN reported.

Associated Press Convinced Boyle Never Took Cash

NEW YORK (CP)—The Associated Press said in a statement today that it is convinced columnist Hal Boyle has "never written a line of AP copy for payment of any kind or form" except the pay he gets from AP.

At the same time, it said Boyle acknowledges a mistake in judgment in accepting $1,000 for a personal appearance at a business dinner sponsored by a department store owner whose name has since cropped up in congressional investigation of TV quiz scandals. It said Boyle has been severely reprimanded.

Boyle was one of a list of columnists named Nov. 5 by a public relations man, Murray Hess, Allentown, Pa., department store owner, as having mentioned Hess in their columns.

SOUGHT PUBLICITY

Evidence given before a House Legislative Oversight subcommittee was that Hess used various methods of getting plugs for his store, including paying for ads and employes on the $84,000 Question. His publicity agent, Max Levine, also said that publicity agents, and sometimes columnists directly, were paid to get Hess mentioned in the newspapers.

At that time Boyle was under demand as a public speaker apart from his writing—said that about a dinner in 1955 at which he was paid to appear.

In its statement today to members and staff AP said:

"The Associated Press has stated, and it repeats, it is not enough for us within the organization to know that a staffer's outside interest or activities do not adversely affect his work for The AP. It is often a question of whether outsiders could understand or misinterpret his work.

POLICY VIOLATED

"Every representative of The Associated Press shares the responsibility of safeguarding its reputation for honesty and impartiality. Boyle did violate this policy. He acknowledges a mistake in judgment in accepting the payment in the circumstances and has been severely reprimanded.

"A careful examination by management of the record leads to satisfaction that the columns Boyle wrote in which he mentioned Hess at times from 1951 through 1958 — were newsworthy features material — wholly unrelated to his presence at a store promotion enterprise featuring the presence of newspaper celebrities, concerning which he wrote nothing.

"Boyle affirms that he has never written a line of AP copy for payment of any kind or form except the compensation he receives from The AP. The AP is not convinced that this is true and that Boyle, along with the rest of the loyal AP staff, is devoted to the integrity of its news reports."

Nature Mystery Cave-in Cause At Springhill

HALIFAX (CP) — A mystery of nature, not any sense of the 1958 cave-in at a Springhill mine which killed 75 miners, a royal commission report said Thursday.

"The events which occurred . . . were the result of stresses and geological phenomena which are not understood and are something concerning which experimental work and research is necessary and required," said the report released by Mines Minister R. A. Mason, of Nova Scotia.

The findings, released one year to the day after Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation announced the last of its Springhill mines would be closed permanently, were compiled by a royal commission headed by Halifax lawyer Donald Mc-Innes.

No violation of the Coal Mines Regulation Act or of recognized coal mining practice was found.

MET REGULATIONS

"The commission considers that the mine was operated in particular defect in the working of the mine or any part thereof failure to comply with any statutory or other regulation dealing with safety.

In effect, the report cleared the mining bureau in the tragedy which ended operations for the subsidiary of Dominion Railway and Coal Company in Springhill, the town's major industry.

The Oct. 23 "bump" which crushed trapped and men deep within the colliery was the 18th reported in the No. 2 mine in 1958 and 1959 and on Oct. 22, 1956, the report said, 17 miners were killed in a bump resulting in one death and 49 injuries.

The commission described a bump as "a sudden bursting of coal from the strata immediately in contact with it. It is usually accompanied by a loud report and ground tremors."

The commission recommended that research into causes of the bumps be "considerably expended."

Hard Liquor Outsells Beer In Alberta

TORONTO (CP)—Beer outsold hard liquor and wine in Saskatchewan last year while in Alberta the reverse was true.

These facts, introduced Thursday during the combines trial of Canadian Breweries Limited in the Supreme Court of Ontario, were brought out without reason why.

It appears that oil prosperity is greater in Alberta than Saskatchewan," said defence counsel C. F. Dubin.

"Probably that suggests that people in Alberta like to drink and beer the poor man's drink," said Chief Justice J. C. McRuer.

"Probably more money in Alberta at all, are there!" asked Mr. Barnes.

Then the subject was dropped.

Two Crown witnesses testified Thursday that Canadian Breweries have helped to keep small breweries in business in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The views were expressed by Joseph J. Wolansky, supervisor of the beer department of the Alberta liquor board, and by Reginald R. H. Bradbrooke, general manager and secretary of the Saskatoon Brewing Company Limited.

Discounts Need For Blood Being From Same Race

TORONTO (CP) — An official of the Canadian Red Cross Society has discounted a suggestion that blood transfusions would be safer if donors and patients were of the same race.

Dr. Geneve Milnar, national director of the society's blood transfusion organization, said he could not agree with a doctor at Columbia University that blood transfusions be made on a racially-classified basis.

Dr. Millar said there is no proof of difference in the blood of various races and added: "Characteristics of race and color are not inherited."

He said:

"There is a possibility of differences in blood because some races have a higher RH factor, potentially, for instance, have a much higher RH than whites. But we cross-match blood and never give it unless it is compatible."

Two Pitfalls on Way to Peace In Cyprus Have Been Overcome

BY DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Two pitfalls on the way to peace and freedom in Cyprus have been overcome in recent weeks. At the moment the chances are good that the Mediterranean island can make the transition from British colony to independent republic next February without more bloodshed.

The first hazard disposed of was Gen. George Grivas, the Greek soldier who led the four-year fight against British rule and who has since retired to Greece trying—vainly, it seems—to grab a place in the sun of Athenian politics.

In making that bid, he tried to capitalize on the fears and hatreds of the Greek and Turkish communities that have not been altogether buffed. He talked of taking a hand in certain key meeting with Archbishop Makarios apparently agreed to drop out of the picture.

The other roadblock that has been cleared, apparently, is to almost everyone's satisfaction, is the role of the vice-president of the new republic. Agreement over the issue had deadlocked the London-Zurich conference once for more than a month.

An agreement was reached last February ending the fighting on Cyprus specified that the vice-president of the republic should be a Greek-Cypriot and vice-president a Turkish-Cypriot.

Each is given veto powers in certain matters but the Turks wanted a wider voice: Consultation with them on most cases before the president. In other words the president, who comprise four-fifths of the population, retain a free hand.

The issue has been resolved with Solomonic wisdom. The vice-president, who will most probably be Makarios, will have precedence over all persons in the republic. The vice-president, almost certain to be the Turkish-Cypriot leader Dr. Fazil Kutchuk, will take precedence over everyone after the president.

As a further sop to Turkish vanity, the diplomatic world is presented with a party of protocol: The president will be given a 21-gun salute and the vice-president vice-head of state.

Britain has announced it himself "deeply pleased" with the outcome and Makarios said "the most difficult stage" had been overcome.

However, the Islanders are still nervous. There was alarm last month when a Turkish shipping ed arms was intercepted and Makarios suspended the constitutional talks. If Grivas chose to stir up more trouble or if other difficulties arose, progress could easily be stalled again.

Meanwhile talks on joint defence arrangements among Greece, Turkey and Cyprus and negotiations on Britain's military bases are reported to be going smoothly.

Liberal Senator Voices Support For Fleming

OTTAWA (CP)—An influential Liberal Senator Thursday voiced support for Finance Minister Fleming's attempts to combat inflation and called for bipartisan support of the campaign.

Senator Wishart Robertson, in a letter to the editor published Thursday in both the Ottawa Citizen and Journal, also demanded an end to arguments over who was responsible for past inflation.

The results of the last 3½ years, in which the consumer prices index rose more than nine points, give "little comfort for either political party," he wrote.

"The boat is leaking badly. It is no time to argue who was responsible for the leak. We should both take the oars and try to get ashore. Then we can argue over our hearts' content."

Senator Robertson, a Nova Scotian representative in the upper chamber since 1942, was a minister without portfolio from 1945 to 1953 and government leader in the Senate during the same period. From 1953 to 1957 he was speaker of the Senate, At the last session of Parliament he played a prominent part in a speech on the floor of the Senate finance committee.

It is his belief that Finance Minister Fleming's Oct. 9 speech to the Toronto Empire Club was the most influential speech . . . that I have heard or read in years."

Senator Robertson wrote that Mr. Fleming could well have left unsaid some of the remarks in his Toronto speech. He added that he "deeply resented" the lack of support in the past for former Finance Minister Walter Harris in combatting inflation.

". . . but this is water over the dam. I intend to support him (Mr. Fleming) in his campaign as long as he does not weary in well-doing."

Mr. Fleming "quite rightly" was taking a first anti-inflationary step at a strong budget next fiscal year.

This alone would not cure inflation, part records showed. But it would have a powerful influence.

Senator Robertson said it would not be easy to make substantial reductions in present expenditures, but the most likely place to do this was in defence spending.

JETS COLLIDE

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Two air force jets collided 15 miles southeast of here Thursday as hundreds of homeward - bound residents witnessed the mid-air tragedy. The body of one airman was found Thursday night while two others parachuted to safety.

New Industrial Group Formed on Transportation

TORONTO (CP)—A new industrial association has been formed to encourage economic development through lowered transportation on the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Great Lakes.

Called the Great Lakes Waterways Development Association, the organization will announce a president next week.

An association spokesman said the main reason behind formation of its group is the conviction that much of Canada's future growth and prosperity depends upon water transportation.

Actions which intended to restrict, delay or discourage movement of raw materials and finished goods on the waterways would be of serious concern to those already in operation and would discourage location of new industries in the Great Lakes region.

EXPECT MUCH BACKING

Prime Minister said it is expected that the association will obtain the support and encouragement of many industries as well as boards of trade, chambers of commerce, western grain producers and individuals.

He said these groups are "greatly disturbed and much affected by present policies which have resulted in additional free use of the lakes, rivers and canals in the Great Lakes region."

The association will consult with seaway officials in an effort to achieve maximum efficiency in the locks of the seaway system and the Welland Canal. It will also seek to establish a system of shipping priorities through the Welland for basic Canadian industries and press for encouragement of facilities to ensure that ocean - going ships are properly equipped for the use of canal navigation.

Founder members of the association are Canada Steamship Lines, Montreal; Dominion Foundries and Steel, Hamilton; Ontario Paper Company, Thorold; Hamilton Harbor Commission, and Toronto Elevators.

One objective is the campaign against Canal tolls.

Headquarters will be in Toronto.

Will Not Take Cuba off Hook On Purchase

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Hees has said "no" to suggestions that the government take the new Cuban government off the hook on Cuba's $10,000,000 debt to the Canada National Steamships' fleet.

Mr. Hees owns all the fleet save rusting in Halifax harbor. The other is in Baltimore.

The government of the fleet which the government-controlled Canada National Steamships owns was glad to unload, was $2,800,000. The government also guarantees Panama Railway Company bonds totalling $2,600,000.

Payments are coming in on these bonds.

Recently in Montreal, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro said he would like to have the ships taken back by Canada if Cuba could not use them.

"We are not taking back these ships under any circumstances," Mr. Hees said Thursday.

The Canadian Merchant dealt came about when the Seafarers' International Union refused to service, in the middle of a long strike, the publicly-owned CNS ships off the fleet, to a vessel backed by the Cuban bank and ultimately by the Bank of America.

The Seafarers got waterfront unions to refuse to handle the vessels. Now they cannot operate in and out of ports handled by union men.

Hammarskjold Opens Probe Of War in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters)—Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations today opened a week-long probe of a rebellion said by Laos to be backed by foreign Communists.

Hammarskjold, who flew to this Indochinese kingdom Thursday, conferred with anti - Communist Premier Phoui Sananikone even as the last members of the UN fact-finding mission wound up their work here.

The fact-finders reported last week they were unable to find evidence of an invasion by regular North Vietnamese forces.

Kingston Man, Wife Fight For Lives When Boxer Dog Turns From Pet to Killer

KINGSTON (CP) — Details came to light today about a boxer dog which turned from pet to killer and made a savage attack on its master and mistress.

For a terrible quarter-of-an-hour, a Kingston man and his wife fought for their lives on a lonely sideroad near Joyceville 12 miles north of here this week.

Hugh Lundy, who fought with the Royal Irish Constabulary during the Irish civil war and with the British Army at the battle of Dunkirk, said he'd never seen the grim combat he waged with the maddened animal.

"I would rather face a machine gun than a dog gone berserk like that."

Today Mr. Lundy has scars on his hands and forearms that took 30 stitches to mend and his wife is lying in hospital recovering from even more severe wounds inflicted by the crazed dog. Some 50 stitches were required to close the gashes.

Prince Hugh, the dog, did not survive the combat. He was killed with a riveter's hammer, the only weapon at hand when the couples aid.

They'd driven into the country to give the dog a run, as we usually did once a week," Mr. Lundy said. "I was closing the door on Prince, who was in the car with my wife and son, when the door must have pushed him. He let out a yap, and then he was for me.

"He was absolutely crazy," Mr. Lundy added. "He'd broken his chain and had him down once, but he got up and was back for more desperate all the time. I was bitten several times before my wife got into the conflict. He had a grip on her hand at first, and then I smashed

Leonard Good In Sydney Open

SYDNEY (CP)—Canada's Stan Leonard shot a brilliant three-under-par 69 today to tie with two other international golfers for second place after two rounds of the Sydney Open, one stroke behind Ken Nagle of Australia.

Nagle fired his second straight 70 for a total of 140 going into the 54-hole tournament's third round.

Leonard had a first-round score of 71 and now is tied with Bernard Hunt of England and Peter Thomson of Australia.

The Canadian sank four putts ranging in distances of 30-40 feet. He said: "It was sheer robbery."

The other Canadian in the open, Al Balding, shot a 75 today for a 146 total and a tie with two others for 18th place.

Patterson Says He'll Fight Mr. Johansson

NEWTON, Conn. (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson, says his rematch with Ingemar Johansson will be held "early next year," and "any place but New York."

The 24-year-old fighter claims no bout details, however.

Patterson and his manager, Cus D'Amato, have moved into a former residence here, high in the Connecticut hills, where the fighter is preparing for revenge on Johansson, who took his crown away last June.

He says he wants more than anything else to regain the title and to restore D'Amato, currently under suspension in New York State, to good standing.

Stressing that there are "no large differences" between himself and his manager, Patterson says he is giving serious thought to a proposed exhibition tour in Canada. He did not elaborate.

Marlene Dietrich Finally Gives in, to Stage TV Show

By CYNTHIA, LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Marlene Dietrich, a television holdout all these years, finally has given in. She has signed for a one-hour color special called Dietrich in Paris, to be filmed in color on the opening night of her forthcoming appearance in the French capital.

"It has been very difficult to find a vehicle," confided the glamorous grandmother. "But by this case, I'm playing my show anyway. This prevents a lot of complications."

Miss Dietrich, who usually knows what she's doing, feels she has insured her show by inviting Orson Welles to produce it.

Film cameras will cover Miss Dietrich's opening night performance at Paris' Ekole Theatre while she sings many of the songs with which she is associated. The problem, of course, is that any between-songs talk will be in French. Therefore, this portion of the show will be done in English later before an invited audience.

Miss Dietrich has signed with a TV producing company and negotiations are under way for a sponsor, who shouldn't be hard to find.

Wanting to Be Actress at Two Shirley Knight Makes Grade

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can a wholesomeness peg off in Hollywood? Here's Shirley Knight who comes from Kansas, and once raised pigs.

"And I got blue ribbons for them at the Kansas state fair," she says proudly.

She may soon be getting blue ribbons for acting. She is under contract to Warner Brothers and is doing a significant role in The Long Prairie. The studio has big plans for her. If they really function. It will be a triumph for perseverance against vast odds.

"I wanted to be an actress from the age of 2," said Shirley, a slender blonde. She and her sister sang duets at gatherings near her home, and this taste of applause hastened her appetite. After high school, she told her father she'd go on to try for big time.

"Only after you finish college," he told her.

DIDN'T COOL ARDOR

He thought the four-year wait would cool her ardor, but Shirley slipped through college in three years, taking heavy courses and summer school. Meanwhile, she did a TV show, reported for the Wichita Beacon and sang with a band three times weekly. And she graduated with top honors.

One of her interview subjects for the Beacon was Marlon Brando. Cousins who told her to try Broadway if she wanted to be an actress. But her father considered New York too sinful a city for young girl. She was allowed to come to Hollywood as the lesser of two evils.

She was lucky at the start, landing a last - minute casting on TV's Matinee Theatre when another girl failed to appear. Then what happened?

"Nothing," she admitted. "I couldn't get any parts. I couldn't even get an agent interested in me. One of them told me: 'You are too skinny. You're not pretty enough and you don't talk well. Why don't you go back to Kansas?'"

LEAD PART PAYS OFF

She stuck it out here on money from home and a secretarial job, then landed the lead in a little theatre play, Look Back in Anger. It was all she needed to be flooded with offers from studios and agents. She chose Liz Taylor's agent, Kurt Frings, and accepted TV leads but no studio contracts.

"Finally, I decided you can't get good roles in pictures unless you're under contract," she said. "I had to choose between Fox and Warners. Since Fox already has a lot of young actresses, I chose Warners."

Here's a bet for hunch bettors on football games: Take care about wagering on Jim Trimble's hunches. He may have used up his quota when he correctly called the shot for the 1957 Grey Cup and East - West all - star games.

Since then, the voluble and enterprising coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats has been out in his predictions. He had a hunch last year about the Grey Cup final against Winnipeg Blue Bombers and now he has one about the Big Four final between Ticats and coach Frank Clair's Rough Riders opening at Ottawa Saturday.

A year ago, he scouted the Edmonton - Winnipeg Western Conference final and hurried back to Hamilton to tell eager Ticat fans: "I noticed one important thing about this Winnipeg team that I think can help us."

SPOTTED "WEAKNESS"

The implication was that the Bombers had a weakness and he spotted it. Trimble went a little further — he said Tiger - Cats would win the Grey Cup at Vancouver's Empire Stadium.

Jim had a secret and he wasn't telling. Whatever he had noticed apparently didn't show at Vancouver because the scoreboard had a sad tale to tell: Hamilton fans, ill read, Hamilton 28 Winnipeg 33.

That was the cue for an enterprising, Western Canada sportwriter to compose a catchy ballad entitled "Hang Down Your Head, Jim Trimble" with the lyrics swiped from the song "Tom Dooley."

Last week, Trimble watched Riders annihilate Montreal Alouettes 42-6 in the Big Four sudden-death semi-final, setting the stage for this weekend's total-point series opener with Ticats.

HOT POTATO PLAY?

Reporters were anxious to get Trimble's observations on the final. At the time, he wouldn't predict anything, but he said: "I'll tell you this, I noticed one important thing about the Ottawa team that I think can help us."

Familiar, eh?

Jim may have referred to the Riders' hot potato play, a pass off a double reverse. It worked twice.

Americans claim this is a hoary old manoeuvre in U.S. college ranks but it's mixed-up Jim Trimble with Sarnia Imperials of the Ontario-Rugby Football Union, was responsible for its birth in Canada.

The back ran the wrong way in an Imperials practice in 1951. The boys saw its possibilities and used it in ORFU play and operated it successfully in 1952 when Imperials met Toronto Argonauts in the Eastern Canada final although the ORFU champs lost 36-13.

DIDN'T FORGET

Clair was coach of that Argonaut team and, although he hadn't seen it since 1951 in the U.S., he didn't forget it. The Alouettes probably won't either, but, as Clair says, because "they've been beaten by the victims of it in key games."

The first shot was in an end-of-season Big Four game in 1956 when Clair was coaching Argonauts, pulled it out of the bag in the final seconds to score a touchdown and break up a 20-20 thriller.

Clair moved to Ottawa to take the Riders and used it only once before last Saturday. He tried it in a league game in 1958, but it didn't work.

Frank Clair has fool-proof defense plan

When you want to win you've got to consider every angle, says Frank Clair the Rough Riders Coach.

The belief in thinking things out is what earned Frank the nickname of the "Professor." And it's also the reason why Frank uses "Firestone" Brand Anti-Freeze in his car. Talking about it with the boys recently Frank said, "This is a fool-proof defensive play . . . "Firestone" Anti-Freeze guards my car's engine against everything that winter can throw at it."

It's true, too. "Firestone" Brand Anti-Freeze contains Magnetic Film that coats the inside of every part of your cooling system. You get protection against frost, corrosion, rust, clogging and foaming. So take a tip from the Professor, get foolproof protection—get "Firestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. FROM $

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Don't look now—but today is Friday the Thirteenth!

And tonight is the night the meeting Bulldogs from Windsor are the guests of the McFarlands!

We do not know if any of the Macs are superstitious. If they're not they should be.

After all you can't blame 'em if they go around determining black cats, busting all over their shoulders, crossing under no ladies, walking in the drawing room, or tossing their hats on beds.

For their luck to date can change but one way—for the better.

They can see a little consistency, too. If they had played hockey in the first two periods like they did in the final frame against Chatham the other night, they might have reached up their second win.

They will need all their potential tonight, for Lemmy's "Dogs" are hot, having slugged the Chatham Maroons 9-1 on Wednesday night.

Word arrived in the city last night that Denis Reardon has joined the Mac-Mac. He was in town looking for an apartment with two bedrooms. Anyone having any information to such an apartment are asked to contact this sheet pronto.

Word from the 'Mans' management is that Johnny McLellan will not wear a McFarland uniform this season. The information has it that Johnny has accepted a fourfigure salary as general manager (he will play a little) of the Milwaukee Falcons.

But the Mans did get something out of the city that made the trade funnest. It comes in the form of a goaltender, also Chuck Adamson, who played with the Peterborough Petes last season. Chuck, a rookie goaler, will not arrive until next week, which means the rubber Conroy Manings will be in the McFarland nets tonight.

Surely this streak of something or another cannot last for the Macs. And perhaps tonight is the night, 13th or no 13th. They're due to break out in a rash of something besides defeats—and this could be it!

And speaking of the Mans, reports have it that Lemmy is the "Head Honcho" for training. The goal will be on hand at the ANAF auditorium around 5.30. So how about dropping around and whacking them loose. It costs you a buck to get past the beer coffins.

FOOTBALL

Jodi Sloan's proud young gridiron huskies from Queen Elizabeth, fresh from their victory over Peterborough Collegiate squad, are set and rarin' to go in the most important battle of their season's lives. Tomorrow afternoon, on their field they meet the Georgian Bay Secondary team "Thornhill H.S., in a sudden-death final for COBSA championship honors.

The spunky Quinte backs, Dennis Kerrulak, Ron Hull and Ron McBride galloped for the major scores against the barrier Petes' defenders, while Ricky Locke, Steve Wilson, Bill Green and Bob Pollwell showed off their bursts of speed.

But tomorrow's battle won't be a showcase. The visitors are champions of their district, and they'll be out there giving their best for "dear old Thornhill." You just don't go around winning secondary school football championships with a team of pantywaists. Quinte can look forward to a tough battle.. And the same goes for the students of the North Young Street school of learning.

New Role for Russ Jackson But Clair Has No Comment

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Coach Frank Clair of Ottawa Rough Riders, it seems, has muscles he hasn't even used yet.

For example: quarterback Russ Jackson catching passes.

Impossible? Not so, says team captain Bobby Simpson, pressing a trial star at offensive end for Riders.

"Russ is as all around athlete. He has a good pair of hands, real good speed, quick reactions and moves very well. That's what he needs to be a good pass receiver."

Bobby, a veteran, should know. He's been one of the best pass catchers in the Big Four for years. Any football observer will say he himself has the attributes he confers on Jackson.

NON-COMMITTAL

Clair, busy preparing his Riders for Saturday's opening game of the Big Four final series against Hamilton Tiger - Cats, hasn't tipped his hand on plans he might or might not have to use Jackson on the receiving end of passes.

Jackson was labelled as a halfback when he joined Ottawa in the 1958 season as a halfback but later switched to quarter, a position he played at McMaster University.

For a while, Clair toyed with the idea of using Jackson as an offensive half. That was when he was the safety man on defence and import Frank Tripucka was quarterbacking.

It sounds impossible then, that Jackson might be in a surprise play or two as a pass catcher.

RECALL LAST YEAR

Fans here recall a play in last year's Grey Cup game when quarterback Jimmy Van Pelt of Winnipeg Blue Bombers took a pass from Fran Kenny Ploen, then playing half, and scored a touchdown as Winnipeg won the Grey Cup game against Hamilton.

Clair won't even commit himself on whether he'll start Jackson at quarterback, as he has done for the last 16 games, or go with Jimmy Parilli when the televised game starts at 1 p.m., EST.

AWARD TO JACKSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Quarterback Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders is the choice of football writers for the Jeff Nicklin Trophy as the Big Four player best combining ability and sportsmanship and is the East's representative in the Canadian player of the year competition.

Popgun Blasts Silence Artillery In National Loop

Little Guys Collect Goals As Red Wings Shade Bruins, Canadiens Shut Out Leafs

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In the National Hockey League the big artillery gets most of the attention but occasionally the popguns make most of the noise.

Thursday night was one of those times as the not-so-big guns mostly silenced all of the scoring and collected just one. The boom: in Detroit 2nd Wings' 4-3 defeat of Boston, Boston's Montreal and Canadiens' 3-0 shutout of Toronto Maple Leafs.

At Boston left-winger Jack McIntyre, who hadn't scored at all in 13 previous games this season, blasted back 33 shots to blank the Leafs.

It was Finals's first shutout of the season and lifted him past Detroit's Terry Sawchuk in the netminder's goals - against column. Yanks now have allowed 76 goals or 16 games for a 2.01 average while Sawchuk's 77 goal night left him with a 2.02 average.

McIntyre, a solidly built forward from Sudbury, Ont., has never scored more than 16 goals in an NHL season during a previous career that spans a decade.

He's done time with Boston, Detroit and Chicago Black Hawks and his hard work has brought him few moments of glory. But Thursday night's game was one he can pencil in his memory book.

Boston, beaten 6-3 by New York Rangers Wednesday night, dominated play with 20 shots in the first period and then went on one of their scoring rampages in the second, taking a 5-3 lead.

Jim Pappin and McIntyre slipped in goals from Gerry Ab-cross at 1:44; Billy McNeil made it 5-4 at 11:37 on a rebound and McIntyre got the winner at 12:12 when he rapped a backhand shot past Don Simmons.

Defenceman Marcel Pronovost scored Wings' first goal, Alex Delvecchio got the second and Gordie Howe the third—with an assist from McIntyre. Alcorn had a total of three assists.

On the scoring ledger the low-scorers were also prominent. The Uns line contributed only on goal to the total, by Johnny Bucyk, though Sawchuk had to be hot to keep Bob Pronovost and Claude Provost line defenceman scored Wings' first goal. Leo Lalonde got another and Leo Boivin added the fifth.

HABS UNDERTAKERLE

The game at Montreal was a no-hit, no-goal affair but Plante and the Goyette-Andre Pronovost-Claude Provost line prevailed to record their fourth shutout in consecutive games.

Georges Vezina's first at 4:33 of the first period when he knocked in Provost's rebound. His second at 18:12 of the second when he deflected Pronovost's shot.

Dicky Moore added the third Montreal goal on passes from Henri Richard and rearguard Tom Johnson.

The night's results left first-place Montreal with a five-point edge over second-place Detroit. Toronto and Boston are tied for third, two points back.

Patrick, Pike Are Angling For Bobby Hull, Dick Duff

By AL COLLETTI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Twenty years ago Al Pike, a young fellow with apple-red cheeks, made his debut with New York Rangers. He worked hard at all three forward positions, scored eight goals in 47 regular-season games and three more in the playoffs as the Rangers won the Stanley Cup.

That was in 1938-40. Lester Patrick, now 74 and ill with pneumonia in Victoria, was the manager; Frank Boucher had scored an outstanding season in his first season as coach.

Today, Pike, a greying man of 42 and father of 11 children, is the new coach of the Rangers, replacing Phil Watson, the French - Irish veteran of that same team who is in hospital for an operation for ulcers.

Murray (Muzz) Patrick, Rangers general manager, announced the appointment Thursday and said Pike's hand is effect will have an "upstairs" job as supervisor of the Ranger farm system when he recovers.

GAVE THEM NEEDLE

Watson was hired in 1956 to put life into the Rangers after Boucher quit as general manager and Dick Duff retired. He was "quick, Watson, gonna boss Rangers the needle!" That he did, and while the needling worked sometimes, other times it turned players bitter.

Rumors had been going around for several days that Watson was on his way out as coach.

Muzz Patrick promised some player shakeups will follow shortly.

Patrick, who sat in as coach for the Rangers' 6-3 upset of Boston Wednesday night, was pressed to name any players he wants to send down to the American Hockey League until Pike has had a chance to watch him in action.

HEARD DUCK DUFF

Patrick said he is waiting to hear from Toronto Maple Leafs on an offer he made to get left winger Dick Duff, a 30-goal man last year with the Leafs.

He made the offer a couple of weeks ago, but they haven't accepted it yet. "It's still down."

Another player the Rangers have reported interested is is Bobby Hull, centre ice Chicago Black Hawks.

WON'T TRY FOR LEAGUE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Owner J. W. Bateson of Dallas Rangers of the American Association said Thursday he is dropping out of consideration for a franchise in the proposed Continental Basketball League. He said: "In our opinion there isn't enough enthusiasm in the Dallas-Fort Worth area to ensure the success of a basketball league into the Continental League."

Conacher Tops Intercollegiate All-Star Team

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Lionel Conacher Jr., a bulldog fullback considered by many football observers as the hottest professional prospect in Canadian college ranks, is the only unanimous choice on the 1959 Canadian Press senior intercollegiate all-star football team.

Conacher, who led University of Western Ontario Mustangs to the league title as the league's leading ground gainer, was joined by five unanimous choices on offensive team and four on the defensive unit announced Thursday.

Four University of Toronto Blues and two McGill Redmen filled the remaining offensive berths. Blues also landed four men on the defensive unit and McGill three. Terry Porter of Queen's University Golden Gaels made the team as a corner linebacker.

The votes, weighted to give equal balloting strength to each league city, were cast by sports writers, sportscasters and coaches in the four cities—Toronto, Montreal, Kingston and London.

'Too Much Ma Not Enough Dad' Says Official

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Creighton J. Hale, regional director of Little League baseball at William sport, Pa., said Friday modern youth is losing masculine traits such as vigor and ruggedness and fathers are often to blame.

He told the Montreal Kiwanis Club that many fathers are not close enough to their sons to counterbalance the feminine influence of mothers.

Increased sports activity for youth was also needed to offset a serious trend toward softness.

Eskimos Try New Footgear For 2nd Game With Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Edmonton Eskimos arrive in Winnipeg today, determined to get on an even footing—literally, says their president—in the Western Canada football finals.

"If we can meet them on an even footing—literally—it should be quite a game," said Eskimos president Eric Duggan Thursday night.

"We have been trying various types of footwear and if we can come up with the right one the series is still very much alive."

Eskimos claim the Winnipeg Blue Bombers got better traction than the Esks in the first game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union three-game final won 12-11 by Bombers.

Edmonton players were running shoes with special treads but the Bombers used a mysterious type of aluminum cleat. Coach Bud Grant won't say how low pictures to be taken of them. They were found legal after Edmonton queries.

FROZEN FIELD AGAIN

The footing in Winnipeg's stadium should promise much improvement over Clarke Stadium. The weather office predicts 18 below-zero weather and says it could last through Saturday.

All the Bombers worked out Thursday including veteran tackle Buddy Tinsley who suffered a leg muscle in Wednesday's game.

Saturday's game starts at 3:05 p.m. EST and will be televised nationally, with Winnipeg blacked out. Third game, if necessary, will be played in Winnipeg same day.

The winner meets Ottawa Rough Riders or Hamilton Tigers-Cats in the Grey Cup game at Toronto Nov. 28.

The Bombers came through Wednesday's game in good condition. Tackle J. P. Fraser and Bomber line coach Frank Rigney had hands frozen by a clout.

Sydney Haller, Canadian Football League commissioner, was asked whether Winnipeg's artificial turf was dangerous than other types.

"Any cleat can cut a player up," Haller said.

Will Attach Ingy's Income Says Velella

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson said Thursday he still prefers to fight ex-champ Floyd Patterson next time out.

However he added, he is ready to tackle anybody.

He did not mention names but acknowledged he included Archie Moore, the light heavyweight champ, in the field of challengers.

"I would prefer to fight next spring in New York," he said. "I am ready at all the time, right now at a gymnasium in New York. I am also getting ready for a television appearance.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Vincent J. Velella said Thursday he would sue to attach every avenue of ingemar Johansson's income if the heavyweight champion does not agree to fight Floyd Patterson in Miami's Orange Bowl March 1.

"I'm returning to New York Saturday," Velella said. "I will then give Johansson the 84-day notice as specified in the contract.

"Nothing he has said changes my plans to hold the bout in Miami on March 1."

Three Rivers Blanks Royals Before 1,200

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Royals, co-leaders in the Eastern Professional Hockey League, got a rude shock when they went to Trois-Rivieres, Que., Thursday night to play the last-place Lions.

The Lions, really roaring, mauled the Royals 6-0 as goalie Claude Evans scored his first shutout of the season.

The victory hoisted the Trois-Rivieres club into sole possession of fifth place. Previously they had been tied for last with Kingston. Montreal is tied with the top with Hull-Ottawa but has played two fewer games than the other teams in the six-club loop.

Sudbury is in third place, a point behind the leaders, and Sault Ste Marie is four points behind them and one ahead of the Lions.

A crowd of 1,200 watched the Lions score four goals in the first period and two in the second. Ewans only had to make 17 saves while Royals' Charlie Bridges blocked 29.

'Do As I Say, Not As I Do' Warwick Policy

By GEORGE FRAZIOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The Warwick brothers of Western Canada leave for Poland today to teach the finer points of Canadian hockey, something many people have often tried them of old practising.

Grant, Bill and Dick Warwick were roundly roasted by Canada's own sportswriters after the Canadian team's humiliating 7-1 a slam-bang victory in the world hockey championships in 1953. Reporters charged with playing crude, battleship hockey and ruining Canada's reputation abroad.

Europeans apparently see things differently. No other Canadian championship team has been so consistently remembered or admired over there.

"This should answer our critics," Billy Warwick said Thursday, waving a copy of a letter he received from the Polish Ice Hockey Federation, team for a month to hold coaches' clinics and to tour Poland and perhaps West Germany.

"But we know actions speak louder than words and we'll let our actions do the talking."

The Europeans can be good hockey players if they're taught to play the game the way it's played here," Grant said. "We want to teach them the clutch-and-grab game isn't the system. Good, clean, hard body-checks are better.

"Then we can skate and they're always in good physical condition. They can teach us a thing or two about conditioning, but we can teach them how to play the game."

They can skate but so could Sonja Henie," Billy put in. "And she couldn't play hockey."

Katowice, the largest mining centre in Europe, has one of Poland's top amateur teams. Several of its players were in Moscow to the Polish national team.

Juniors Ready for Action, Open Schedule Here Monday

Coach "Red" Gravelle sent Belleville Lambert - Rollins through their final pre-schedule workouts here this week and said the club appeared to be ready for their Junior "B" opener in Trenton tomorrow night.

They will open the 1950-51 Eastern Ontario Junior "B" hockey league schedule against the Marlboro Derby Boys at 8:30 p.m. Trenton Saturday and will return here for the home opener on Monday. Picton Merchants, who are said to be receiving help from the Toronto Marlies this season, will supply the opposition in an 8:30 p.m. fixture at the Picton Memorial Arena. Other clubs in the five-team grouping are Lindsay Lumber Motors and Peterborough Lakers.

Gravelle, who is stationed with the RCAF at Trenton, brought a team from the base down with him for the Juniors' practice here Thursday night. The locals scored a 4-3 scrimmage exhibition win over the RCAF squad in a game marked, according to Gravelle, "to see how the kids would look in an actual game".

And apparently the coach was happy with the results. This is the second year on the Belleville squad with although it's expected more high points, you might say this is 35% of the team right now," he told the newspapermen.

"I think I can promise the fans a contending team this season. Also that will give a lot of the other clubs a run for their money and one that will provide interesting hockey to watch. I hope the fans will come out for the club's games here and give the kids some support," Gravelle said.

Gravelle, a stickler for skating, had the youngsters moving around at a fast clip. He limited both his club's goalies, Frank Hughes and Gerry Gray, but said Barry Dugald the second, will be the regular starter. Dugald especially sharp in his half, Parker, who along with Dugald was with the team in the BMHA ranks this season, is expected to be the team's starting goalie, at least in the first game or two.

Referee Must Be Neutral Says Manager

TORONTO (CP)—Chris Shaban, Yvon Durelle's manager, said Thursday he wants a neutral referee for Durelle's Canadian heavyweight championship fight with George Chuvalo here next Tuesday night.

"We're insisting on either then a Toronto referee, barring Sharkey." Shaban told matchmaker Jack Hurley.

"We're nothing against Toronto referees but, after all, Chuvalo is a Toronto boy and we think it fair the third man

HAMILTON (CP)—Things are normal around Hamilton Tiger-Cats' football camp in one sense. Jim Trimble is giving orders again.

They are abnormal in another sense. He is speaking with extreme caution.

The coach of the Big Four champions would say nothing about Saturday's first game of the final playoff except that both teams will have blood in their eyes.

"They'll be out to take some body's kids off," said Trimble of his players before Thursday's last practice, "and I know it won't be mine."

As for Ottawa:

"The Rough Riders are playing very, very well and have gained momentum. This is going to be a real tough ball game."

OFF TO OTTAWA

Trimble planned to fly his crew to Ottawa today for the opener of the two-game, total - points series which picks Eastern Canada's representative for Grey Cup game. If the airlines should be grounded—some of the players might—they were to take a train in midnight.

Trimble was not in a mood to sell Ottawa short.

"They're stronger at quarterback with Babe Parilli and their running has improved," he said.

"Clair kept faith with them from the start and right now they have the finest partial development for that faith. They've got themselves and presently are at their high note."

He was asked to rate his own squad against his three previous playoff teams, two of which won it all and one got to take the Grey Cup.

"We're a little bit better than last year's team but in '57 (cup year) that was a real good team. Frankly I don't know how good this team is.

FANS ENTERTAIN

The gambling fraternity supports Trimble by an edge of 14 to 10 points over the two games.

Hamilton has beaten Ottawa the three times they have met in 1950 regular season play, a two-point-season record is six wins and three defeats against which they have scored an average of 31 points and allowed 18.

TOUNGSTER LEADS

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Jerry Pittman, 22 - year - old former Texas Collegiate ace, rammed in a 60-foot chip shot on the last hole Thursday for a five-under-par 66 to tie veteran professional Jack Burke on the first-round lead in the $15,000 Lafayette Open golf tournament. Jerry Mate of Toronto had a 68.

WARHEAD

government would work out additional precautionary measures as extra insurance. He declined to speculate as to what these extra precautions might be.

NEGLIGIBLE DANGER

The defence department said in a statement the possibility of an accidental nuclear explosion while transporting or storing nuclear weapons is so remote as to be negligible.

"Although as in the case of any toxic, inflammable or explosive material, accidents may occur in the manufacture, transportation and storage of nuclear materials and weapons, there have been few accidents in the handling and transportation of the latter," the department said.

"It is significant that not one of the accidents caused a nuclear explosion."

Col. Smith, in amplifying on the statement, declined to discuss the steps taken in accident precautions, saying this touched on the realm of security but he recalled that in the 1957 case of a B-52 bomber crashed in Kentucky, killing four men. The plane was carrying two atom bombs. Both bombs were recovered—"at least one bomb, in fact." There had been no detonation or spread of nuclear dust.

The key to safety, he indicated, is that the nuclear warhead "is not set together until a certain signal is given when it becomes explosive."

SEPARATE STORAGE

In the case of the Bomarc, the warhead is stored separate from the missile itself.

Now, say, some TNT or other conventional explosive is put off in the vicinity, of a nuclear warhead. This might cause local scattering of nuclear materials in the form of dust. If too much of such dust is inhaled, death would follow.

"To minimize all necessary exposure," says the defence department, "key U.S. military commands and Atomic Energy Commission establishments have teams especially trained and equipped to decontaminate the area in the immediate zone of the accident, if the nuclear materials have been scattered by the fire or conventional explosion.

"Such teams are prepared to go immediately to the scene. Past experience has shown that cleanup procedures are highly effective."

Col. Smith said most specially trained teams would be located at all Bomarc sites, both in Canada and the U.S.

Sunday School Lesson

Convictions vs Contentions

By ROY L. SMITH

Most of us are acquainted with religious people who, thinking they are standing by their convictions. Between these two things there is a very great difference. A conviction is very apt to make a man highly admirable; a contention is just as apt to make him very disagreeable. One of the most delicate questions any man ever makes is that one which impels him to decide between strong convictions and mere contentiousness.

PASSIONATE PERSECUTION

In the day from which this week's Sunday School lesson comes there was much passionate devotion to ancient creeds and teachings. Literally millions of Jews were to be found scattered about throughout the Roman world, engaged in business, commerce, and trade. The little land of Palestine was utterly incapable of providing a living for more than a fraction of the Jews then living, and the struggle for survival had driven the sons of Abraham to the ends of the earth.

But always and forever they remained Hebrews and their hearts turned with great devotedness to the Temple in Jerusalem. Never, perhaps, in all the world's history has any sect been loved so passionately as has the Holy Land, and never has any people commanded the devotion that has been paid to the Temple in Jerusalem.

Deep down within the soul of every true Jew there lingered the hope that he might end his days in sight of the holy hill.

Those who opposed their ambitions, and found themselves living in Jerusalem, were apt to be more passionately devoted to the ancient sanctities than those who had lived in the midst of the holies all their lives.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for November 15: "Faithful Unto Death", Acts 6 and 7.

When the expatriles returned, however, it was often the case that they were unable to speak the language of the land, for they had been born in distant cities and had learned the speech of the land of their birth. It was perfectly natural, therefore, that they should select a synagogue in Jerusalem wherein they might worship according to their native tongue. And when Christianity began to be converted to such people, it was to be expected that they would more readily go the line of least resistance, because it was their passionate devotion that had caused them to move near to the Temple.

He who is capable of a great devotion, is also capable of inflicting a great persecution. And the emphatic Jews became emphatic Christians. The result was inevitable — a clash.

THEY TOPPED THEIR ears

It is one of the evils of prejudice that it is very apt to stop the ears of an otherwise attractive man, and no person is ever less attractive than when his ears are closed.

"No, I don't think I want to go hear him", said a man who held vigorous opinions, concerning another man who held some opposition views. "I know what a convincing speaker he is, and I am afraid that if I listened to him for 30 minutes I might like him."

In a small Missouri town many years ago a Roman Catholic priest caused a banner to be hung across Main treet, where it would be travelled the world. It was acquainted with every neighbor; you may like him". And there was great Gospel in that terse sentence.

There is no more difficult task, in all the world than that of safe-cracking the closed mind, whether it be the political, the religious, or the racial mind.

Any religion that causes men to shut their ears is a poor religion; any racial attitude which prevents us from seeing the possibility in strange souls is indefensible; any political doctrine that sets men hating one another is a treason to the best interests of the land.

He is most sure of his own convictions who is willing to listen to another man express his without starting a fight.

ASK LIFT OF IMMUNITY

PARIS (Reuters) — A French senate special committee today voted to withdraw the parliamentary immunity of left-wing senator Francois Mitterand, who escaped injury in a machine-gun attack last month. The justice ministry had asked the senate to lift the immunity following an inquiry into the attack and statements by a former deputy of the National Assembly that Mitterand knew in advance that the attack was planned.

Quebec Still Wants Larger Share of Taxes and Right To Spend as It Sees Fit

By RICHARD DANCAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — The three toughest problems in Ottawa-Quebec relations are grants to universities, hospital insurance and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Each involves a plan, initiated by the federal government, which directly or indirectly touches on matters that — in the Canadian constitution—fall within the area of provincial jurisdiction.

Each plan is financed at least partly through federal taxation in which case Quebec, which provides a large share of federal tax revenue, has not accepted any of the federal funds that it would have received by participation with the other provinces.

THE QUEBEC VIEW

Roughly, the Quebec argument has been this: Ottawa has no business meddling in these fields. We don't want such plans. Give us a larger share of taxes and we shall spend the money as we like.

While the late Premier Duplessis headed the Quebec government there was no prospect the differences would be resolved. Now Paul Sauve, premier since September, has come in with a proposal which, he says, should be acceptable on all to universities.

His formula has been described in Ottawa as "reasonably concrete" and Mr. Sauve says it is compatible with Quebec's view that education must be financed solely with provincial funds.

Details of the formula have not been announced but it is apparent the Quebec government plans a new provincial university tax yielding about the same amount as would otherwise by paid by the federal government. The tax would be deductible from taxes now payable in federal tax fields — probably the corporation income tax. If a firm's university tax were $500, its income tax would be reduced by that amount. —

LEVIES OWN TAXES

This would not affect the present tax arrangement between the province and Ottawa under which the provincial share of direct taxes on personal income at 13 per cent, on corporation income at nine per cent and on succession duties at 75 per cent. Quebec itself has not participated in the arrangement since the end of the war, instead it levies its own direct taxes.

The new tax, if imposed, would not likely be effective until next April 1, when Quebec's new fiscal year begins. However, if the dispute over university grants is settled, Quebec universities need not wait that long to receive funds. There is a backlog of some $25,000,000 in federal grants—the sum Quebec has refused since 1951—that could be turned over immediately to Quebec institutions.

Premier Sauve has said university aid is the Ottawa-Quebec problem in most urgent need of solution.

Next in line is likely to be hospital insurance. All provinces except Quebec have signed agreements with Ottawa on a cost-sharing insurance plan.

NEGOTIATIONS ORDERED

As soon as Mr. Sauve became premier he ordered a survey of how hospital insurance is working in other parts of Canada. The report is in his hands. He says insurance is necessary in one form or another.

Legislation proposing a study of hospital insurance to see how it could work in Quebec will be introduced at the next session of the legislature. Mr. Sauve is expected to outline his views at that time.

The outlook is that Quebec will come up with a specific proposal. Participation in the cost-sharing Trans-Canada Highway construction plan is a less urgent problem than university aid or hospital insurance, partly because Quebec already has built a highway roughly along the Trans-Canada route originally planned.

High-Living Vagabond Being Sought by Police

GRAND BEND (CP) — Provincial police here are searching for a high-living vagabond who has raided several cottages and cabin cruisers and has apparently depleted their stock of food and refreshments during the last seven weeks.

Fifteen constables were ordered into this area Wednesday with instructions to find him.

A cruiser in the harbor of this Lake Huron resort town about 25 miles northwest of London was ransacked. When its stock of liquor was put, police said, the thief moved into the more luxurious accommodation of another vessel berthed nearby.

Recently the police thought they had their man when they rushed to a cottage at nearby Beach of Pines. He had just left when they arrived.

Police said the man had been in bed, using a heating pad to keep warm, listening to a radio stolen from another cottage, and drinking a mixture of gin and orange juice.

He left behind a book: Getting the Most Out of Life.

It has done so at its own expense, according to its own specifications. Premier Sauve will try to obtain the federal contributions Quebec would have received if it had entered the project in 1950 is something he has not disclosed.

"I like to deal with these problems one at a time," he says.

.22 Calibre Gun Said Dangerous By Ottawa Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — Police Chief Reg Axcell expressed deep concern Wednesday about the appearance on the market of a .22 calibre gun specially designed for use by airmen forced down in wild country and recently declared surplus by Crown Assets Disposal Corporation.

Chief Axcell said the weapons are potentially dangerous and should not be placed on public sale.

"This gun," he said, "is compact enough to be carried as a concealed weapon and is too well suited as a hold-up weapon to be sold generally.

"It could easily be fitted with a telescope sight and silencer for use as an assassin's rifle."

Chief Axcell said an Ottawa gun collector bought one of the guns from a local store for $25 and brought it to police headquarters to be registered. Police investigation indicated that 30,000 of the guns were released by the federal Crown Assets Disposal Corporation.

The weapons uses .22 - calibre hornet cartridges which have a large powder chamber and high velocity power. The magazine holds eight cartridges.

Reds Hand Over Ten Prisoners, Bodies Of Nine

Indians Taken, Killed In Oct. Border Clash

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Ten Indians taken prisoner, and the bodies of nine others killed, in a border clash last month, were handed over by Chinese Communist authorities to an Indian police party here. It was officially announced here.

An official spokesman said the released men and the bodies had been brought to an Indian encampment at Hot Springs, in eastern Ladakh state.

The released men included the patrol leader, Karam Singh, who earlier had been reported dead.

The victims and survivors had been held by the Communists for three weeks since the clash took place in the remote Ladakh region on Oct. 21. It was the most serious outbreak of the current border crisis between India and China.

DEHRANDUN, India (Reuters) — Prime Minister Nehru quietly received the 10 Indians released by China today.

Nehru has come in for much criticism, the feeling of many today is summed up by the Hindustan Times of India:

"... People will think of the mass more than his policies. For however critical they may be of his policies, none of them has ever questioned his patriotism, his devotion and his integrity of purpose."

The telegram from the Communist Chinese premier said: "May you continue with full vigor and broad wisdom to make an even more valuable contribution to the independence, prosperity and strength of India, to the great friendship between China and India and to Asian and world peace."

It was a message from Soviet leader Khrushchev, who said his work for the "struggle for the liberation of the Indian people from the yoke of colonialism" and for "peaceful coexistence" "is highly appreciated in the Soviet Union."

Masked Gunman Escapes After Holdup Fails

ROCK SPRINGS, Oct. (CP) — A masked gunman shot a general store owner in the chest Friday night and escaped in a late model automobile after an attempted holdup failed.

J. H. Reynolds, 65, the storekeeper is in Brockville hospital, 15 miles south of here, where his condition was described as satisfactory. He was shot in the chest, near the heart.

Provincial police, who set up a network of road blocks in an effort to capture the middle-aged gunman, said Reynolds was wounded when he grappled with the bandit.

They gave this story of the attempted holdup:

A motorist drove up to the Reynolds store shortly after 7 p.m. and sent for $5 worth of gasoline.

After the tank was filled, the motorist, who had donned a crude mask, followed Reynolds into the store and asked at gunpoint for money.

Reynolds yelled "No" and his wife appeared from the kitchen at the rear of the store. The gunman tried to stop her from calling the police, then fired at Reynolds' direction as he ran outside to summon help.

The gunman followed the storekeeper and wounded him before escaping.

Former Chicago Gangster Will Soon Be Freed

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Roger Touhy, who will be released from prison after serving 25 years for a kidnapping he said he does not commit, is better.

"I hold no grudge and—I'm not looking for revenge," the 51-year-old former Chicago gangster said Friday night. "I'm not bitter. Just want to get out of here."

Earlier Friday Touhy, known as The Terrible in the prohibition era when he was a power with a working agreement with the old Al Capone gang, was granted a parole. Officials said he will be free prior to next month's prospective home and employment have been checked—probably by a week or 10 days.

Touhy, crippled, slight and greying, smiled as he talked to reporters about his parole.

"It looks like I've won and it's been a long time coming."

He had futilely sought his release in legal fights since 1947.

GOT ADDITIONAL TERM

He was convicted and sentenced to 99 years in 1934 for the kidnapping of John Jake the Barber" Factor. Two years after his conviction he was granted a new trial on a California real estate dealer. He was given an additional 199-year sentence in 1942 for escaping from Stateville prison here with six other convicts. He was recaptured after 33 days.

Touhy has maintained over the years, as he sought his freedom, that he was convicted on the basis of perjured testimony.

Congress Secretary Gets Appointment

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Labor Congress hostility to the federal government may be eased by a quiet new move of the cabinet.

This is the choice—not yet announced—Congress secretary-treasurer Donald MacDonald as a member of the Canada Labor Relations Board, key government body that decides on union-management affairs.

The 50-year-old Nova Scotia labor leader, it was learned Friday, has been appointed by the cabinet to fill the vacancy on the board that is created by the death in September of Dr. Eric Gibbon, honorary president of the congress. It is a part-time job.

In appointing Mr. MacDonald, the cabinet accepted congress nomination, after turning down four such from the 1,100,000-member CLC for vacant cabinet offices in the last year.

The move could assuage the ire in labor circles over the previous rebuffs, which CLC officials described as "unjustified" in recent months.

There was no immediate comment on the congress on the MacDonald report — President Claude Jodoin and other congress officials were that headquarters would be happy about the development.

The government twice refused to appoint executive vice-president Stanley Knowles to the unemployment insurance advisory committee and also refused to name him to Paris on a United Nations mission.

The other incident came last April 29 when cabinet passed up CLC nominees and appointed F. J. MacArthur of Toronto, Canadian head of the CLC-affiliated Post Office Workers' Union Union, to a $13,000 a year position on the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Mr. Knowles evidently got the government's non-down because of his close connection with the CCF.

65,000 Tibetans Killed Fighting Against Chinese

MUSSOORIE, India (Reuters) — The exiled Dalai Lama said today that 65,000 Tibetans have been killed fighting against the Chinese occupation in the last four years.

The Tibetan spiritual leader, in a statement prepared for the International Commission of Jurists' legal inquiry committee, accused Red China of genocide by thousands of Tibetans to China and using thousands more for forced labor.

Heavy casualties had been caused by Tibetans resisting the Chinese had resorted to "wanton killing of men, women and large numbers with a view to terrorizing the people into submission," the Dalai Lama reported to him that the Chinese had deliberately killed women with the aim of destroying the Tibetan race.

He said 3,000,000 Chinese had been settled in Tibet and had taken over Tibetan stocks confiscated from Tibetans.

45-Minute Fire Damages Nylon Kingston Plant

KINGSTON (CP) — A 45-minute fire Friday night damaged the spinning operation at the Du Pont of Canada Limited nylon plant here.

There were no injuries. No estimate of damage could be immediately available but the spinning department will be closed down until repairs are made.

A production supervisor said a fire extinguisher used to melt polymer flakes began to drip through a floor plate to the tube floors below. The volatile liquid caught fire in the tube system in manner and all three floors were filled with smoke and soap.

Firemen had to wear masks as protection against biting fumes.

Shock and Revulsion Follow Rigging of Television Shows

WASHINGTON (CP)—Shock, revulsion and disillusionment are voiced in the United States newspapers in the wake of Charles Van Doren's confession that he lied to a New York grand jury and deceived the public in rigged television quiz shows.

But a Canadian Press survey of U.S. editorial opinion shows that while some newspapers condemn the New York scholar sold his soul to the devil, few suggest he ought to try to get it back by returning his $129,000 winnings or handing them over to charity.

Perhaps the strongest comment on this point is that of the Philadphia Inquirer which says of Van Doren: "While hardly his contrite heart, he has not reached the point of repentance to give back his dishonest gains. He sorry, he says, but look, I spent it."

Van Doren told reporters after his Nov. 2 confession that the owed money more than he had. Federal tax collectors estimated he may have paid back $100,000 in taxes and there is no thought of the government prosecuting him.

Income is income whether honestly earned or not, and unclaimed taxes collected, if accurate, cannot be returned; internal revenue officials say.

The newspaper generally agree greed lay at the root of Van Doren's troubles. Some suggested Van Doren's reputation was destroyed; others expressed hope he may recover. Many were hilarious and commentators bitterly condemn the television industry.

Russian Economic Strides Said Distorted Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP)—The secretary of state Christian Herter has accused the Soviet government of propaganda distortions across the world of giant economic strides by Russia.

What's more, Herter said, Dulles told a joint congressional economic subcommittee Friday, endorsed Khrushchev's first-hand look at the United States shattered his illusions about overtaking U.S. industrial production in the next 10 years.

Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, testified the Russian economic drive cannot be taken seriously. He said the Soviet bloc, while still substantial, will be narrowed dangerously by 1970 unless the United States gains ahead in its industrial expansion at a faster pace.

Dulles gave his assessment in a statement prepared for his first public appearance before a congressional committee. Normally he testifies in private, for security reasons.

His testimony won him commendation from Sen. Javits (R-NY) who said Dulles' statement "exploded a lot of myths."

Senator Jacob K. Javits (Rep., N.Y.) dwelt particularly on Dulles' statement that espionage has been the outside world's principal experts, particularly German . . . and that there is a "large role" in Soviet accomplishments in industry, armaments, missiles and nuclear development.

Javits said Dulles' testimony also dispelled notions that Russia's economic growth is necessarily only because it started from a very low level. Dulles testified that Czarist Russia was relatively industrialized than is generally believed.

Dulles dismissed as a "gross exaggeration" a Khrushchev prediction that the Russian people will enjoy the world's highest living standard by 1970.

Dulles in the exaggeration class, Dulles said, is Khrushchev's claim that Russian industrial production will surpass U.S. output by 1970.

Dulles pegged current Soviet industrial production at about 50 per cent of U.S. output. The CIA chief told the subcommittee, expects the Russians to continue to increase industrial output eight to nine per cent a year — the greatest rate he said they have kept up for the last 10 years.

Dulles estimated the Soviet industrial production level will climb to about 60 per cent of the U.S. level by 1970, assuming the United States spurts ahead of its recent average annual expansion rate by 50 per cent.

In reply to questions, Dulles said the CIA so far has not detected any loosening of ties between Russia and Red China.

Ike May Call White House Parley to Settle U.S. Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has taken a step toward calling a White House conference of American management and union leaders to discuss new ways of settling strikes in steel and the coast walkout.

An AFL - CIO spokesman said Friday night that the president has asked George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, to discuss the matter with Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell.

Meany said he opposed the conference in a letter to Eisenhower. Excerpts from the letter were released by the AFL-CIO.

The White House had no immediate comment after the labor group released some excerpts of the letter.

Meany had written Eisenhower that "over all, we must avoid drifting by statute into rigid and arbitrary rules for collective bargaining."

The AFL-CIO president said he feared a White House conference would induce labor and management to "take a back seat politically and come to some solution—perhaps a bad one—that would be ratified by the attitude of both sides in the steel strike."

Under the rules of the White House, Meany said, would put "the public in the position of order public pressure to come to some kind of settlement."

The AFL-CIO said the president, in the letter dated Nov. 11, replied that the Meany-Mitchell proposal were exactly the same.

7,000 Packed Into Coliseum To Start Fair

TORONTO (CP)— In an xmas festooned with blue and green lights, the Canadian National Exhibition opened Friday night unfurled a gigantic Union Jack to add the last splash of color to the 1959 edition of the 31st Royal Winter Fair.

From the red jackets of the riding masters at the pink of formal hunt dress and the scarlet tunics of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the ceremony dazzled the eye of more than 7,000 people packed into the Coliseum.

DUKE IMPRESSED

The duke on his first visit to the stalls and tack and prize rings of the horse judges, said he was impressed by the size, the scope and the quality of the exhibits at the fair.

The duke inspected an Irish Regiment guard of honor and pipe band and took time out to meet Dan Patch, the bear, the Irish Wolfhound regimental mascot.

CANADIANS HERE

Banked with milk and white tie, the horse show officials observed with wisdly as the Canadian team won the first leg of the International horse jumping competition with only 8¼ faults. The United States placed second with 20¼ faults and Mexico third with 21 faults.

The Canadian team was made up of Jim Elder on Iniglide owned by Colonel Bill Carlton of Blue Beau one-half fault and Doug Conroy on Bisney Castle eight faults.

Verdict Expected Soon in Trial Of Ernest Cote

HULL, Que. (CP)—A verdict was expected today at the murder trial of Ernest Cote, 27, of North Bay, charged in the slaying of hand manager Alexander Heron of Timiskaming, Que.

Cote's trial, before an all-male jury in the Court of Queen's Bench here, is to be followed by that of Cote's wife, Jeanette Cote, 20, also of North Bay, in the same slaying.

Cote testified they arrested the two men together at a highway restaurant at Cache Bay, 35 minutes after Heron was killed in an accident on the Canada Cement Co. branch in Timiskaming.

CROWN'S CASE ENDS

Crown Attorney Lionel Mouzet, in his summation Friday said the case against Cote was clear, given by his Crown witnesses.

He reminded the jury that under the criminal code a person is guilty of murder if he causes the death of another person while trying to commit armed robbery.

Defence counsel Gerard Sorens, of Hull, conducting his first murder trial, argued that witnesses, but cross-examined several of the crown's.

Principal defence witness Friday was Dr. Jean-Marie Rousset, 31, Montreal medical expert.

SHOT THREE TIMES

He said Heron was hit by three .32-calibre bullets. The fatal bullet pierced the bank manager's chest and both his lungs, cut an artery and lodged in his kidney, causing the victim to die of bleeding.

Another bullet pierced Heron's left arm and right temple. A third entered his right cheek.

Dr. Rousset said the evidence indicated Heron had been shot while lying down.

He identified the bullets, as having been fired from one of two weapons found by police near the roadblock.

HOUSE TO OPEN FOR BUSINESS ON JANUARY 14

Finance, Defence Among Main Issues

OTTAWA (CP) — After six months of silence, Parliament will reopen for business on Thursday, Jan. 14.

Chances are members will have plenty to talk about—with finance and defence the leaders among the main issues—as the Commons reaches the mid-way point between elections.

Date for the opening of the 24th session in the 24th Parliament was announced Friday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The government's new legislative program will be outlined on the opening day by Governor-General Vanier will read the speech from the throne. It will be the first, such ceremony for Gen. Vanier, who succeeded Vincent Massey last July 15.

Political battling is expected to get under way in earnest the following Monday when Opposition Leader Pearson and CCF House Leader Hazen Argue launch the 10-day throne speech debate. Mr. Diefenbaker will reply.

WILL DEBATE FINANCE

The opposition customarily uses this debate to criticize one or all its major criticisms of the administration. Today's international and central topic will be the financial problems of the free world. Their part of the debate last session adjourned July 19.

Finance Minister Fleming is attributed with Canada's currently demand for commercial loans to finance industrial expansion. But opposition critics have demanded that the government accept a share of responsibility for central bank policies of easy money and high rise in the money supply that would make money less "tight."

In the continuing argument over defence, a major issue will be Mr. Pearson's demand that Canada should have sole control over nuclear weapons used by Canadian forces. Present government plans are for the United States to share control over atomic warheads in the proposed Bomarc missile bases in Ontario.

Other opposition criticism will be directed against the government's rejection of pay increases for government employees as recommended by the Civil Service Commission.

Debate on first government bills presented will be one to remove the 10 per cent tax on the new direct National Housing Act loans. Many builders complained that the tax on the government stopped its direct loans program which started Oct. 1 from being used up.

In his fiscal field, the government's basic spending program for the coming fiscal year will be presented.

Mr. Fleming's budget speech, which will be the last one in the first week of the April 1 start of the fiscal year, will be aiming at the target to reach his goal of a balanced budget for the year. For the present year he has forecast a budget deficit of $333,000,000.

Among government legislation already indicated for the session are several to debated bill of rights, a revision of the Civil Service Act and a general overhaul of the federal labor code.

Diplomatic Immunity Protects Son Of Irish Envoy After Fatal Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The age-old tradition of diplomatic immunity was spotlighted this week when it was invoked here by David Patrick Hearne, 21, son of the Irish ambassador to the United States. A widow was struck and killed Wednesday night by a car driven by Hearne.

The law stepped aside, a coroner's inquest was called off and the ambassador's son, a student at American University, went home to the embassy.

Police say young Hearne, who lives at Silver Spring, Md., was driving his high commissioner to Canada's car when he turned in the orderly incidents in the United States that has resulted in the case under immunity.

The U.S. state department said Friday the Dublin government has offered to co-operate in working out some solution of the problems created by the envoy's son.

U.S. officials, in a speculative way, consider the possibility that young Hearne would be sent to Ireland for trial.

The object of immunity—from the troubled days of rival and unscrupulous kings—was to protect diplomatic envoys of princes from arrest or harm as he acted on behalf of his country abroad.

Almost out of medieval fear, the nations of the world have agreed to protect envoys from each other's diplomats.

In the 1946 U.S. Congress set down the rules that "under no circumstances" may foreign ministers be arrested or tried for crimes against law and order. That includes murder. There is no death or red light to murder. They even are immune from suits to collect debts.

The immunity extends to members of their families and those who encourage, household, employees and servants. Some minor cases diplomatic immunity has been waived, but diplomats can't under any breach in the privilege may be a dangerous precedent.

Diplomats are expected voluntarily to obey local laws. Continued violations of the law may be considered good ground for renunciations and even for a demand upon a foreign government to remove the offender.

Canada, Soviet Bloc Agree On Radiation

Hitch to Make Proposal Unanimously Acceptable

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Canada has reached agreement with the Soviet bloc on its main proposal at the United Nations Disarmament Assembly—a worldwide study on atomic radiation.

But the Canadian negotiator apparently hit a hitch in their attempt to make the proposal unanimously acceptable to the 82-member world forum. The difficulty was believed to be temporary.

Wallace R. Nesbitt, vice-chairman of the Canadian delegation, announced Friday night that he had reached conclusions the Communist representatives — including Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Arkady Sobolev—had agreed to a joint resolution on the radiation question.

BRITAIN HAS DOUBTS

But Nesbitt said later that Britain had raised objection to the wording of one phrase in the draft resolution. The objection was to preceedings — and further talks might be needed. Nesbitt said the objection, it was understood, had asked London for clearance on the other countries and that was a routine matter.

Nesbitt indicated the new resolution will be debated in the 58-member General Assembly within a few days. There may be difficulty might arise from his statement that the Canadian delegation insisted that there must be no new amendments to the draft resolution agreed after numerous consultations since mid-September.

Czechoslovakia, which earlier introduced a draft resolution on the radiation question, agreed to co-sponsor with Canada and the other countries in a compromise plan for a joint resolution that would call for sampling of strontium-90 in soil and food to determine the extent of radiation in the world, Nesbitt said.

Earlier, Canadian and Czech delegates had worked out separately—the Canadian version providing considerably more than the Czech one.

Under the new agreement, a third resolution would be tabled. It would call on Czechoslovakia to joining Canada, Argentina, Austria, Ghana, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, New Zealand and Norway in co-sponsorship.

That resolution, too, would contain considerable revision through the weeks, but Nesbitt said that the principle "absolutely nothing has been changed in essentials." If successful, it would be the first Canadian initiative with Soviet bloc co-sponsorship in four years.

Tax on Signs 'Nuisance Tax' Brief Declares

TORONTO (CP) — Sales tax on signs is a "nuisance tax" and should be abolished, says the Canadian Sign Manufacturers' Association in a brief to Finance Minister Fleming.

The brief was sent to the minister earlier this week. Details were released today.

The brief says the tax is an "dubious economic value" because of the cost to the finance department for collection and auditing and the extra cost, time and inconvenience to the sign industry.

"As long as any part of a service must be taxable, we favor the application of the tax to all our production for simplicity and avoidance of inequities," the association says.

"We favor any discrimination . . . no person or firm should be required to remit the manufacturer taxable signs, regardless of the type of business done or the amount of annual sales, without a sales tax license."

FIRED BY OTTAWA

The protest against the tax on signs, billboards, displays, posters and other temporary signs was sent to Ottawa following government notice that the materials were taxable, retroactive to July 1.

The Association said it was unfair to tax the work for the first four months because a change had not been specifically indicated in regulations issued July 1.

"It would be a serious imposition if licensed shops were assessed back taxes. If the government wishes to collect the tax it at least shouldn't apply it to work done prior to Nov. 1.

The association has advised its members to charge sales tax on all show cards and temporary signs to save a possible pilling of assessments pending clarification on the matter.

"There is an urgent need for a clarification of properly worded circular outlining specifically the exempt and the additional sales tax and what is exempt, the brief said.

"TRUTH IS ALWAYS STRANGER THAN FICTION"

(Author's Name Below)

Stories have been written about magic potions that could cure diseases. But no fiction is as true as the present fact that five or ten dollars worth of antibiotic capsules can now, almost overnight, cure a pneumonia.

The truth is almost unbelievable. Vitamins and Hormones are the fabled "Elixir of Life". They help add years to your living. The greatest miracle of all is that despite the tremendous research expense needed to discover and perfect new medicines, more than half the prescriptions we compound still cost less than $3, which is about the average charge for all prescriptions.

Blind Advisory Board Worried About Appeal

The Hastings county advisory board for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind held its regular fall meeting this week at the home of its president, Mrs. George Wishart.

Considerable concern was expressed in connection with the poor response encountered this year by the Belleville United Appeal and the effect this might have on the work of the Blind in this area.

The C.N.I.B. can be the participating agencies in the local appeal and had submitted a working budget of approximately $7,800, which was less than half the budget submitted for the previous year. In view of the greatly reduced amount collected by the appeal this year, it appeared that even this modest budget would not be entirely available.

Miss Robbin reported that already this year 30 adult blind had been raised in the county outside of Belleville by local canvasses and donations.

Mr. Don Ferguson and Mr. Frederick Bowerman, field secretary for the area, spoke of the work of the C.N.I.B. in the 1,200 to the 130 registered blind in Hastings county.

Mrs. Maude Rollins reported that great preparations have been made for the blind craft goods this weekend at Trenton's Appliance Store. She expressed the hope that citizens generally will respond generously to the sale.

Arrangements were being made to hold a Christmas party for the blind early in December.

Following the business session refreshments were served.

Crown Lifts Counts Against Charged Pair

Charges of robbery with violence against two of four young people charged in connection with the Marysville service station robbery on October 25th were withdrawn by the Crown in magistrate's court here Friday afternoon.

The charges against Gerald Joseph Bennett, 23, of Halifax, and Clarence Bagg, 17, of Glen Bay, N.S., were withdrawn.

The quartet were apprehended by the Provincial police as result of a dragnet set up in the Quinte district after serving stabbed Roy Brown as reported he had been slugged over the head with a whisky bottle as he was dispensing gasoline for an English medal car in charge of a young couple. The service station till was robbed of $72 and Brown's gun cord ripped from the wall.

Bennett and Miss Bagg were picked up by police the same day, while Haines and Miss Smith were taken into custody the following morning at a Millown motel.

$50 of Receipts Turned Over To UNICEF Fund

Director of Recreation Lloyd Doran announced today that proceeds from the Hallowe'en Teen-Age Dance party in the amount of $50.82 will be turned over to UNICEF.

This amount represents 50 per cent of net proceeds from the dance which proved a huge success with upwards of 800 teen age boys and girls from the city of Belleville attending. The dance was held Hallowe'en night at the Belleville Armouries.

The unanimous decision was made at a meeting last evening by the planners to donate to UNICEF with the other 50 per cent allowed to a trust fund to get a bigger and better start next year for a similar project on Hallowe'en night.

Co-sponsors are the Police Association, Students Council members from BCIVS, Quinte Secondary and Moira District Secondary, The Quinte Young Timers and the Belleville Recreation Committee.

Representing the sponsors were Constable J. Parker from the Police Association; Martin Hughes and Frances Dickenson from BCI, Jan Sheridan and Anne Mott from Moira Secondary, Gordon Smith and Helen Mihalicek from Quinte Secondary; Jim Hutcheson, Quinte Young Timers and L. Doran from the Belleville Recreation Committee.

The second patient to enter Picton's new million dollar hospital yesterday was David Clark, Prince Edward County farmer. Mr. Clark will celebrate his 104th birthday in December. Shown with him are (left) hospital superintendent Miss Gladys Leigh and Nurse Jean McAlpine.

A former Picton mayor, G. Nesbitt McKibbon, was the first patient transferred to the new 50-bed hospital citizens, who walked from the old building to the new was carried out in less than two hours' time. An ambulance from the Picton army camp assisted a Picton ambulance crew in this project.

Other Unions' Support Not Given Strike

HAMILTON (CP) — Union construction workers intent on crossing picket lines set up by Local 18 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (CLC) at some 30 construction sites here.

The Hamilton Building Trades Council said Friday night its 7,000 construction workers will continue to work on $25,000,000 worth of projects despite the walkout by 1,100 members of Local 18 in back up wage demands.

Len Richardson, trades council secretary, said the carpenters decided on strike action without asking for the assistance or advice of the council, of which the carpenters are a member union.

He said the council's decision was conditional on assurances for the livelihood of its construction workers not entered into contracts.

The strike was called against the general contractors section of the Hamilton Building Exchange. Joseph Pigott, chairman, said it had been assumed by the trades council that all members of the trades unions will continue to work.

However, Mr. Pigott said if the strike continued for any length of time as many as 15,000 jobs could be affected. Without the carpenters, in a n y construction projects would have to be halted.

Any non-striking union which refuses to cross the picket lines will be called before the council for disciplinary action, Mr. Richardson said. Contractors have agreed not to take disciplinary action against individuals.

Local 18 demands a 30-cent hourly wage increase and other changes in its agreement with the Hamilton exchange. A conciliation board has recommended 20 cents an hour over the hourly rate of $2.95.

Four other construction unions have recently signed contracts averaging a 30-cent increase over a two-year period.

Guy Lombardo To Take Band On Long Tour

NEW YORK (CP)—Bandleader Guy Lombardo says there is a great revival of i n t e r e s t in dancing going on throughout the United States and Canada.

And he is passing-up s o m e traditional booking at a New York hotel to try to help the revival gain momentum by undertaking a U.S.-wide tour.

Lombardo, native of London, Ont., who specializes in simple, uncomplicated rhythms, says that musical developments since the end of the Second World War have tended to do away with large dance bands.

Now on the west coast to start his tour, he said in a statement released through his agent in New York that "there hasn't been sufficient time for enough good, new young bands to develop to the point where they have a safety and further what the new appetite for dancing."

A DUTY

"As a bandleader who has earned popularity and fortune by catering to the public's desire to dance, I feel I must do all I can to help encourage the current trend back to the dance halls," he added.

By going on tour, Lombardo said he hopes to get people to the dancing public and "do what I can to help stimulate greater interest in dancing."

Lombardo and his band of Royal Canadians had been booked into the grill room of the Roosevelt Hotel here for every Wednesday season since 1929 except for one period in the early 1930s.

The bookings ran from three to seven months.

WILL BE BACK

"During the last few years I have come to the conclusion that I must devote at least one complete season to an extensive tour," Lombardo said.

"By remaining in the Roosevelt grill year after year during the height of the dance season, I have had to stay away from many areas in the country where we have large followings."

He added that there is "every possibility" that he will return to the Roosevelt next year.

5th BELLEVILLE CUBS

The Cubs lovited their mothers and fathers to a Hallowe'en party. All of the Pack were there and a good many parents. When Cubs put on a party they go all out to entertain their guests and from all reports their efforts met with great success.

Prizes were given for the best costumes and the judge had a difficult task naming the winners. They would have liked to have had more prizes, however after a lovethy consultation Scott Reid, Norman Pigden and Ronnie Wardhaugh were declared the best dressed Cubs of the evening.

Several active games were thoroughly enjoyed by the Cubs—no mention is made whether the parents shared the enjoyment, but we presume they did. After the games a delightful lunch was served by the auxiliary.

The Cubs wish to thank Mrs. Geddick and her ladies for the refreshments and Mrs. Lezrd and Mrs. Wright who were the judges for the costumes.

MELROSE GROUP

Periodically Scout groups have a ceremonial evening at which Cubs are promoted to the Scout ranks are invested. Melrose recently had such a meeting. Four Cubs went up to Scout — Kirk Reid, Romie Denille, Wayne Sager and Dave Meredith. Two boys were invested as Scouts — Eugene Sherman and Gary Brush. A big night for the Melrose boys.

Kirk Reid is we believe the first 13 badge Cub in this Pack. For a group so isolated from headquarters and with such small sources it is truly a remarkable achievement and we heartily congratulate Cub Reid and the Pack leaders. We have a picture of you, Kirk and if it can be published it will appear at an early date but if not are going to speak nicely to the photographer Mr. Roy Peacock and see if we can't get your picture in the paper.

BELLEVILLE DISTRICT COUNCIL

The above title will replace local association. The Canadian General Council has ruled that henceforth there will be no unattached groups. Canada will be divided into districts over which a council will be in authority, hence the new title.

Hold Suspect In Connection With Break-ins

John Baguss, about 41, of no given address, is being held by city police in connection with break-ins at the College Food Market and at Morrison's Garage, both at the corner of College Street and Canniffon Road.

The man was taken into custody by patrol officers who found him inside Morrison's Garage as they made their night checks in the area. Baguss was wearing a coat and gloves taken from the College Food Market across the street.

Inspector J. Clair Hayes said the man had been charged with breaking and entering.

Only the coat and gloves were believed taken from the College Food Market. The entrance was gained by smashing a glass in the door.

Constables Minaker and Minish spotted the man in Morrison's Garage when they checked the premises at about four o'clock this morning.

Also broken into last night was Ted's Restaurant at the corner of North Front and College Street. Police said they had recovered some of the goods stolen from Ted's.

Kiwanis Members Taken on Tour Of British Isles

TRENTON — Members of the Trenton Kiwanis Club were taken on a "conducted tour" of the British Isles, at the regular dinner meeting in the Gilbert Hotel, Thursday evening, when Ken McDonald, who gave a running commentary of a recent trip he had taken to Europe in connection with a medical convention, and illustrated his address with colored slides.

Points of interest in London, including St. Paul's Cathedral, the Tower of London and the house where Christopher Wren lived while he planned the reconstruction of the west city after the disastrous fire, were shown in all the beauty of their original colorings.

Beauty spots in Scotland were also showed described by the speaker, as well as shots of the Edinburgh Castle, where Queen Victoria lived for many years. In this group, which Dr. McDonald explained was of volcanic origin, was breathtaking with its rugged formation of "mountains" formed of granite, in one rock. The island is a tourist attraction in the area. Of special interest to Scottish readers in the audience were pictures of the legendary spot where Bonnie Prince Charlie landed on his return to Scotland after his exile in France.

Pictures were also shown of the place where the members of Clan Campbell had planned to massacre Clan McDonald, and Dr. McDonald made the point that the massacre was an unqualified "flop".

Plans were finalized for the forthcoming Lieutenant Governor's Concert which will be held in the Dutch Mill Inn on November 20th.

The present Lt. Governor is Bill Michener of Toronto.

Plans for the Christmas party were also discussed.

Kiwanian Len Howard announced that two "Bantam" hockey teams would have to be supplied with sweaters as they were moving up to the senior class.

'New Snorkle' Mail Box to Be Used in Town

TRENTON — The Canadian Post Office Department has decided that Trenton will be one of the first cities in eastern Canada to receive the new type of mail box. The "snorkle" box, which will allow motorists to drive up to the box and deposit their mail without having to leave the car, will be located directly in front of the Post Office on Dundas Street. This gives the motorist opportunity to proceed east on Dundas St. or turn right at Albert Street.

Mayor Ross Burtt of Trenton has graciously consented to mail the first letter at a brief ceremony scheduled for Monday, November 1st, at 1.45 p.m. Similar boxes will be erected at Peterborough and Kingston in the near future.

Maurice Desrochers, public relations officer with the department, was in town yesterday, finalizing arrangements for the installation of the new service. Mr. Desrochers and J. L. McMahon, postmaster at the Trenton Post Office, said that this will provide a much-needed convenience to the people of Trenton in view of the traffic situation near the post office. Mr. Desrochers stated that the possibility of a new post office for Trenton was at least three or four years away. In the meantime, the new building will be away from the downtown area. There was also some discussion as to the feasibility of opening postal sub-stations at strategic locations in the town.

Blood Donors Not as Plentiful As Anticipated

TRENTON — Carl Taylor who headed the Trenton blood donor clinic which was held on Thursday in the Legion Hall, yesterday expressed keen disappointment with the response to the appeal for local donors. Jim Goodfellow and Harry Black of Toronto, representatives of the Canadian Red Cross were in town for the clinic. It was hoped that 300 donors would come forward with donations for the central blood bank in Toronto but only 178 answered the appeal.

Notices had been sent out in every home of a service club in town and the clinic had been well publicized over radio and through the newspapers.

The greatest number of donors who did contribute came from the Central Bridge, Pyrotechnic Williams and Hilliers and Hinde and Dauch plants. The executive personnel in these factories had arranged for the men to take time off to attend the clinic.

The clinic will be held in Trenton again in about five months' time, and it is hoped that the response will be sufficient to justify the holding of the clinic of Trenton. Citizens are reminded that "the life you save might be your own".

More Than Two Minutes

Another Remembrance Day has gone by. Once the veterans of two world wars, the various military units in the area, the city fathers, and private citizens have paid tribute to the fallen. Wreaths have been placed at the Cenotaph and a two-minute silence has been observed. The Canadian Legion and Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans branches have their Remembrance Day ceremonies. This scene, the local variations, has been enacted all across Canada and in many other countries around the globe. It is, however, a very brief annual recognition of tremendous past efforts and the many hundreds of thousands who made the supreme sacrifice for an ideal or way of life—a country, a government, and a family which they believed and which they desired to protect. Two minutes of silence pay ample tribute to these men? We would suggest that there is much on the right side of the ledger.

And why, one may ask? It is not too difficult to answer. Almost every day the front page of any newspaper will carry an account of some happening in the homeland of these fallen people, of some event which strikes quite viciously against the ideals for which they sacrificed their lives.

Little Rock, Cicero, apartheid, teddy-boys, youth wars, all of these have found prominence in recent days and some continue to make front page news specifically. If not in headlines, then in other incidents in others crop up of the same ignominious ilk.

If we wished to reek of pessimism we could say that our way of life is degenerating; that we have discovered a sacred trust—that of maintaining our democratic ideals and actions—which the dead and the aged of two major conflicts have left to us to maintain with respect.

We do not, however, wish to take this attitude. If we do decry the person who, when it comes to this issue, would "let George do it."

This may all be very well when "George" is your next door neighbor or the minister around the corner or the teacher at the school. But what if "George" is killed at Ypres, or Cassino, or in Korea? The cannot very well do the job once they have made the ultimate sacrifice.

The chore then becomes the responsibility of those who are left and that includes every one of us, young and old, veterans who have seen the horrors of war or those who know nothing of the destruction and havoc a war can unleash.

Yes, each of us has a responsibility to maintain the way of life. Two minutes a year will not suffice. There is more than there is of us duty either. Neither will two minutes a day, or two minutes an hour. If we are to keep a way of life which is vigorous and meaningful we must practise its ideals constantly.

Respect for the individual, toleration of the other person's views, fairness to all in our actions, the education of our youth to these ideals, equal justice to all in the courts and actions of the land; these are, very briefly, some of the major concepts which underline our way of life. Actively honoring and participating in these ideals is the responsibility of everyone—not just a few—of us.

We undoubtedly would have a much better society than we have if each one of us took a minute at the start of a day to remind ourselves to practise our ideals during the day. The end of us and another minute at night to look back on the day's activities and see if we are living up to these ideals and how we can improve our conduct. It is not easy to be sure, but no worthwhile responsibility is.

Let us each day do something to make this world a better place to live in. We owe it to both past and future generations to leave it in better shape than we found it. If life is to have any purpose at all.

In a canal basin in Staffordville, England, an unexploded bomb was found the other day. It was a 250-pound bomb and weighed 12 pounds more than when it was dropped by a Zeppelin in First World War.

We've improved since then. (Hamilton Spectator)

TELL HIM WHY

By EDGAR A. GUEST

You say he wants to do
Let he shouldn't—
A foolish or dangerous
Something you wish that he Didn't,
Let that disaster may Come,
He must not, you hasten
To tell him
The reason he should be Careful.

Positive order you spell
But do you explain to him
Why?

Do you explain to him
Why?

You say that he "must" or
"needn't"
With him you will deal by and by;
You see why it's proper most clearly,
But do you explain to him
why?

A boy's mind is open to reason,
A thinking device is his brain;
Injustice he's ready to seize on,
So why don't you stop to explain?
It's perfectly proper to shout him
When you see that in danger
he's
But it's certainly sure that you'll wreck him
Unless you explain to him
why.

Canada's Amazing Western Frontier

WONOWON
(Article I)

It will be noticed, after leaving Fort St. John, that the Alaska Highway swinging northwest is "black-topped" for some distance. A section of it at that point is as straight as a string. On both sides there is much level land covered with shrubbery which might well be turned into farms if this shrubbery does not grow too high.

On the right at Mileage 32 there is a small community known as Charlie Lake, at the end of a lake of that name. At Charlie Lake there is a store known far and wide for its Dolly Varden trout but in time it became fished out and in recent years it has been stocked with Great Northern Pike, which are so common in certain parts of Ontario. It is from Charlie Lake, Fort St. John derives its water.

Another twenty miles and one is the left in the beginning of the Alaska Highway at Hudson Hope and the Peace River Canyon where a billion dollar waterpower development will be undertaway come spring. That story will be told in detail after a visit had been made to that area.

There is little to see in the way of development along either side of the highway for the next 47 miles, or until one reaches Mile 101. That is little to see because of the clouds of dust on the highway from the end of the black-topping. However, there is a service station at Mile 101.

NAME CHANGED

However Mileage 101, or Wonowon as it has been spelled erroneously at times, of course but understandable, is in the making. Two years ago it consisted town. The settlement originally went under the name of Blueberry, because of the nearness of the Blueberry River which runs through the north of the place. There was already a place of that name in Mackenzie so to avoid any confusion in the handling of the mail particularly by Wonowon it was to be named.

Wonowon occupies a broad stretch of land, land which when dry provides solid footing but when wet and this area is wet most of the time, getting around is not easy, for the roads become a bog.

The number of camping places along the highway from Charlie Lake north are few and far between, so presumably Blueberry, as it is the first named, provided all assembling point for the Peace River Block. As the natural course of events it was to become a place for customs, immigration stations, maintenance camp. Post office telegraph and telephone services followed. Then came church and school and—inevitably.

Nor was that all. In the centre of a big game country, Blueberry naturally it was to attract, and still does, hunters from not only the provinces but from the northern United States as well. And then, of course, some one detected the presence of oil but soon settled for gas. Certainly the Peace River American oil companies have made Wonowon their gateway, centre for gas and new wells are coming in every day.

The road is now to build an imposing office building. It was to be the headquarters for the top employees, among them's a nephew who has advanced from the ranks of the days of old goes about in a car equipped with everything but a bathtub and another as the boss direct.

And the boss has a massive Texas style desk daily appears at his office with cigar in mouth, a Stetson hat pushed to the back of his head and he's a boss." He will be long remembered for the hospitality which the diamond bar has provided for the boys of the village. Later a change has been made and Wonowon has lost its benefactor. He has been promoted to another position with the company in the Southern States and his successor is Mrs. Tess Fargo pass into the hands of the Sun Oil Company).

DAY-LONG TRAFFIC

The round - the - clock traffic through Wonowon is nothing short of remarkable. The most of this is going to and from Alaska, some of it is from the Yukon, that Canadian land of gold in '98, but possibly a land of more than gold for Canada another 98 shows up on the calendar. It is noticeable that many of the Americans returning to the States to show where they have been and what they have seen travel their cars with the antlers of moose, elk or caribou, some remarkable "spreads" that any hunter might envy.

Yesterday I secured a nephew's service station and novelty shop was to provide a splendid opportunity to see the type of people who travel the road by Mileage Ts "Canadensis".

And there were many Malones to be seen, people of cargo they were handling to and from Alaska it is a place, but it was probably supplies for Alaskan stores going north, Alaskan products going south. Healthy, hearty, and sometimes noisy, there is something about such men. However, the time to see them is at night when they stop long enough to eat and swap experiences.

However all the traffic through Wonowon is not Alaska bound, parts of Canada is far from being commercial. There are many tourists and it is said the number is increasing yearly. There was her little German car and she and her little German car making her second round trip from Germany in the U. S. to the country's new 49th State. On top of her car was her pup tent and bedding, inside the car her 32 stits and a food supply. And was she afraid to travel in Alaska? "Why should I?" she asked. "Why, I'm going to learn an old body like me!"

Then there was the little old lady who was in search of the Alaska but he had different ideas about his going. As he told it, he had bought a piece of land there and so he built himself a cottage. It was a nice little cottage with curtains in the windows and a flower box filled with flowers next door to give it a homey effect—then loaded that cottage on a trailer and hit the trail north.

"By gad!" he boasted. "Here is one place where I'll not have to burn his fingers putting a roof over his head."

Wonowon has but one industry as yet. It is a sawmill staffed by distinct Indians, a branch of the Fort St. John Indian Agency.

Letter To The Editor

Would Like to See Independent Audit

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

I would like to comment on Elsmer-Dafh's letter and add a few comments of my own.

I concur with her opinion of ex-Mayor Forrester because I feel that he has been treated in the same position as most of us in that she did not know too much about the machinics or a hockey team or the therefore trusted those who were running the team and so was able to devote her attention to more serious matters; also when she was mayor the Police Area Commission was quite a small item.

It seems to me that the deficit of the hockey team has been blanched forth in the press and down the total deficit of $900,000. We have been told that $140,000 was spent on hockey salaries and expenses incurred in running a team, but we have not been told how the deficit ($140,000) was spent. Have we been told that the city has a deficit of $900,000, but what is the remaining $760 000 spent and why?

I would like to see an independent firm of auditors check the whole of the city's expenditures for the past few years and then publish a balance sheet so the public could understand.

I would like the sec ey city solicitor who would tell the council when something illegal is being executed and the justification being made. After all, Mayor Forrester is not a lawyer by trade and is not supposed to know all the ins and outs of the law. Also I would like to have the city solicitor present at council meetings so that he is then informed of the city's business.

I fail to see why Mr. K. G. Ross would like to have the mayor's job. He is not in politics for all, they get us into this mess, what is to prevent them doing it again?

The council is mainly composed of businessmen and lawyers who, it seems to me, have enough to occupy their own businesses or they would not be in business long, therefore, I think that there is only excuse for not running the city business properly for lack of time and, if this is the case, then the mayor is the only one who is a position of great responsibility and trust.

It appears to me that we really need are the firebrands and leaders, not conservatives, as no one can conduct any business successfully without any wire reference to firebrands, we need people with vision, to improve our city in many ways, e.g. east side of Moira river could be made into a park with modern stores fronting on the river; another bridge connecting Dundas St. with Highland Ave., to re-route

CLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 14th, 1930

A young bear weighing in the vicinity of 125 pounds, which was shot in the north country, attracted the attention of Provost Detectives yesterday. The animal was on display at the shop of Clarke and Miles.

Enthusiastic over the decorating facilities of the Belleville business district, six scarlet-clad alumnae of Toronto Conservatory of Music yesterday with six handsome "tropies" of the chase strapped to their automobiles. "One of the best hunting places we have ever seen" said one of the party, adding that they had shot their quota a few miles north of Bachelors lake.

Wolves or wild dogs, take your choice are again committing depredations in the rural sections of the eastern part of the country. Two pelts, one definitely a wolf, the other of uncertain origin were brought to the office of County Treasurer Harry Haggerty on Friday by residents of the northern municipalities in an effort to collect the bounty of fifteen dollers.

Rumors prevalent to the effect that the local branch of the Red Cross Society was experiencing a shortage of material for the production of socks and other garments was dispelled yesterday by Mr. L. G. Petley, its President-in-point-out that the fact that the work quarters of the society will be closed this week with the exception of one day, may have been responsible for the rumors.

30 YEARS AGO

November 14th, 1910

Mr. W. E. Gartley, well-known resident of the city, has been selected as manager of the new Belleville arena at a salary of $1,200.00 per annum. Since coming to this city Mr. Gartley has taken an active part in the curling and understands the making of ice. This will be a great asset to the city as he is the job for which he is well qualified.

Mr. L. P. Lake spent the Thanksgiving season in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Martin, Cedar Street, spent yesterday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Vandusen of Deseronto spent yesterday here.

40 YEARS AGO

November 16th, 1910

Local deer hunters have returned home from the northern woods bringing with them their full complement of the fleet footed animals.

Mr. G. T. Lawson of this city is spending a few days in Lindsay.

Mr. A. P. Miller of Glen Miller has been appointed assistant engineer on the Trent Canal. He is a returned man.

Mr. H. Guss Thrasher, K.C., M.P., is attending court in Napanee today.

The Elliott Woodworking Company, which commenced operations here in 1908 is receiving more business than was expected at the start.

50 YEARS AGO

November 14th, 1890

The question of water remaining on the pavement on Front street after a rain storm, is a matter which concerns more than one merchant. If we have Bellevile with an asphalt we look after these matters, why do they not do it?

Gentle collection would be a fine thing for this city. It is being understood that other places no larger than Belleville. The Council which met last night benefits are many. The matter was favorably considered in the city council some time ago, but the matter ended there.

Mr. W. F. Coher, late accountant with the Belleville Portland Cement Company, has received an appointment with the merged companies, known as the Canada Cement Company and will leave soon to reside in Montreal.

Believes That Mayor Is Overpaid Here

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Last Sunday afternoon, using the facilities of CJBQ, Mayor Gerald Hyde took the trouble to inform the people of Belleville that his indemnity as mayor was augmented to $2,100.

He neglected to mention that the remuneration is also payment for serving on the Public Utilities Commission. As far as I can make out this would bring his pay to $3,000 per year.

On his own admission, on civil servants in Belleville work a 40-hour week for less than $3,000 per year and I feel the Dominion government seems to feel they are adequately paid.

I would say Mayor Hyde has been overpaid and under-worked for some time.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

From now on, as you wander is what you fondly suppose to be the wilderness, you are likely to come upon a lonely tree with a ball of red paint around it, sprigh, and a little metal plate stating: "Do not cut. Department of Lands and Forests Select Tree."

In Ontario, and doubtless in the other provinces in which forestry is quite important—and that the winning of a beautiful championship for a village is purporting to be another, was won by professionals.

It is my contention that funds collected by Mass Booster Club and others would be much more wisely spent in furthering junior sports activities in this city than on amateur professionals who do not even belong to the city. I am a taxpayer, I own the house in which I live and it is in the city.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

FOOD FREEZING

Freezing (with proper wrapping) is one of the most satisfactory forms of preserving food, superior in many ways to canning.

The all practical purposes there is excellent retention of nutritional quality (including vitamin and mineral content) as well as palatability. There may be slight loss of vitamins A, C and D, but not to any significant degree.

Besides a good many readers with freezers have read guides and directions books and know pretty well what they can do. The following, however, may be a useful collection of miscellaneous foods which can be frozen and kept up to six months:

Chicken — Uncooked, fried, or in pies or casseroles.

Fish — Uncooked, fried or in fish cakes.

Vegetables — containing combinations of meat, vegetables, fish or cheese. Also most casseroles.

Beef, lamb and veal pies. Also most pies containing poultry.

Hamburgers, meat loaf, meat balls.

Many sandwiches and sandwich spreads — if made without mayonnaise.

Salads, if based on cream or cottage cheese, not mayonnaise.

Cakes, cookies, rolls, cakes.

Mixed fruits and vegetables.

Doris Tunstog, from whom much of the above is borrowed, writing in "American Hospital", points out that it is best not to freeze foods for more than three freezing. It might be added that an excellent example is pastry crust which, if frozen and uncooked, later bakes with an unusually flaky flakiness.

On the other hand, there are some strict "don'ts" on freezing:

Salad greens.

Mayonnaise mixtures.

Egg whites and yolks.

Lettuce or chopped raw vegetables, such as chopped celery, green peppers, onions, cabbage, slaw, etc.

Potatoes containing egg white, or pies with meringue tops.

Coffee cream. (Although whipped cream can be frozen).

And one more — while pork products can be frozen, they do not keep for more than two months.

Now, finally, here are dangers to guard against in freezing:

1 — Meat gets a dull, silvery color, and is soft and "slippery".

2 — Strawberries become off color and lose flavor.

3 — Strawberries become off color and lose flavor.

4 — Vegetables lose their bright color.

5 — Fruit formation on the food is a bad sign, indicating, of course, that warm, moist air has been coming in contact with it. That, of course, includes all three enemies of frozen food: warmth, moisture, and air.

6 — Poultry darkens and dries out.

7 — Fats develop a rancid odor.

Freezing is a wonderful convenience, but for the sake of your taste as well as your health, keep these principles in mind, and the comparatively simple do's and don'ts.

C. L. N.: Mastitis and mastoid role diseases.

Boil, lamb and veal pies. Also most pies containing poultry.

Hamburgers, meat loaf, meat balls.

Many sandwiches and sandwich spreads — if made without mayonnaise.

Salads, if based on cream or cottage cheese, not mayonnaise.

Cakes, cookies, rolls, cakes.

Mixed fruits and vegetables.

STORIES of FAMOUS HYMNS

by HORACE B. POWELL

There were days, long years ago, when all America rang with the songs and sermons of the Moody and Sankey revivals.

Dr. Dwight L. Moody was the preaching partner; Ira Sankey the singing evangelist. Their gospel meetings, in which many still living found their way to God and Christ, went from coast to coast and back again, and then jumped across the Atlantic to the British Isles.

Dr. Moody was famous for his sermons and one of the best of them dealt with the tale of Daniel, the Bible hero of the lion den. Every Sunday School, boy and girl knows the story which tells how Daniel defied an edict of King Darius by refusing to cease praying to God and how his faith and courage saved him from harm when Darius, trying out punishment, cast him into a den of lions.

DARE TO BE A DANIEL

Standing by a purpose true,
Heeding God's command,
Honor them, the faithful few!
All hail to Daniel's Band!

Many mighty men are lost,
Daring not to stand,
Who for God had been a host,
By joining Daniel's Band.

Many giants, great and tall,
Stalking thro' the land,
Headlong to the earth would fall,
If met by Daniel's Band.

Hold the gospel banner high!
On to victory grand!
Satan and his hosts defy,
And shout for Daniel's Band.

Dare to be a Daniel,
Dare to stand alone!
Dare to have a purpose firm!
Dare to make it known!

Whenever Dr. Moody used that Bible story, Mr. Sankey who handled the musical end of the evangelistic meetings used to bring out Philip Bliss' gospel song, "Dare To Be A Daniel!" It became one of the most popular songs in a long list of Bliss' favorites. It was written for a Sunday School class which Mr. Bliss was teaching at the time at the First Congregational Church in Chicago.

Dr. Moody used the story to point a moral and one of the best of his sermons. "Grow old along with me
The best is yet to be,
The last of life, for which the first was made."

Like Daniel, we are lured by the knowledge yet to be acquired. Jesus had in mind when He said, "Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth." The meek are those who are modest enough to realize that they do not know it all and so keep on seeking and learning.

Back in 1886 the United States Commissioner of Labor surveyed the condition of the world and declared that all the necessary railroads and canals had been built, a sufficient network of international communications established and an adequate merchant marine developed. Then he added that society should settle down and enjoy what had been accomplished because the next 50 years would see no advance comparable to that of the preceding half century. Yet at that very time when the Commissioner thought inventive progress had come to a stop, Thomas Edison was 39, Henry Ford 23, Charles P. Steinmetz 21, Madame Curie 19, Robert Millikan 18, Orville and Wilbur Wright 15, Marconi 12, and Einstein 7.

I think of all these in this atomic age when I hear men talking about the twilight of civilization and the inevitable global war that would mean the end of life as we know it. We know what future Edisons and Fords may be growing up around us!

The spirit of faith keeps building even during days of disaster and destruction. If we have the faith that was in our fathers it is supremely in Christ, we not only obey God when He calls us forth into new frontiers but we keep on doing, refusing to settle down in things that are not worth while.

Those who believe in things beyond this world are the ones who do the most to improve the world.

This is a point to remember when the Communists sneer at Christianity as offering "pie in the sky by and by." Instead of real improvement of earthly conditions, Communism boasts that it will give a better life here and now rather than the hope of heaven hereafter. But the testimony of history is that those who believe in immortality invest men with more dignity and care. To the Communist, young people are merely mills to be valued by what they produce for the state. To the Christian, young people are immortal souls of immeasurable value because Christ died for them and of infinite possibility because they live beyond this mortal life. That is why life is worth more along the Mississippi than along the Volga. That is why living conditions, as I have seen, are infinitely better in our North American cities than in Leningrad and Moscow.

John Buchan, late Governor-General of Canada, once wrote that we speak of youth as climbing the hill of the years; but when we pass middle age we speak of descending the hill of years. Then he reminds that when you are climbing a hill you can look around to get the long view, but when you are going down a hill the long view is straight ahead. The person who catches the mind of Christ sees the road of the Christian before him and even beyond the point we call death.

Who can set a limit to the human mind? Goethe finished his "Faust" when he was past 80. John Wesley, when past the four-score mark, was still preaching and down England, saying with a smile, "Tis time to live if I grow old." Herbert Hoover is still speaking wisdom.

And then there is the Great Beyond. "Therefore be ye steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain."

A Lift for Living

A Good Mind Keeps on Growing

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

The test of a good mind is whether it keeps growing. Consider the case of Winston Churchill.

In his autobiography he tells us that in the winter of 1896, when he was 22, a strong desire for learning came upon him. He felt that he was lacking in even the vaguest knowledge about many large spheres of thought. So he turned to read history, philosophy, and economics. He asked his mother for books on these subjects and for two years he devoured them.

He says: "It was a curious education, but I approached it with an empty, hungry mind and with powerful young jaws: what I got I fairly chewed." Winston Churchill's mastery of English and his sweeping grasp of history are the results of that early mental hunger.

The real test of an educated person is not the grades he gets in college, but the taste he gets for learning which will keep him studying at forty, fifty and sixty.

When does a person pass his prime? Physically, perhaps in the 30's; mentally, perhaps in the 60's. But spiritually a man never passes his prime until he begins to think the best is behind him. A person keeps on growing as long as he can say with Browning's Rabbi Ben Ezra:

"Grow old along with me
The best is yet to be,
The last of life, for which the first was made."

Like Churchill we are lured by the knowledge yet to be acquired. Jesus had in mind when He said, "Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth." The meek are those who are modest enough to realize that they do not know it all and so keep on seeking and learning.

Back in 1886 the United States Commissioner of Labor surveyed the condition of the world and declared that all the necessary railroads and canals had been built, a sufficient network of international communications established and an adequate merchant marine developed. Then he added that society should settle down and enjoy what had been accomplished because the next 50 years would see no advance comparable to that of the preceding half century. Yet at that very time when the Commissioner thought inventive progress had come to a stop, Thomas Edison was 39, Henry Ford 23, Charles P. Steinmetz 21, Madame Curie 19, Robert Millikan 19, Orville and Wilbur Wright 15, Marconi 12, and Einstein 7.

I think of all these in this

White Shrine Marks 33rd Anniversary

On Wednesday evening the IODF hall was the scene of another fraternal milestone when the Bethlehem Shrine of Jerusalem, No. 11, Belleville, celebrated its 33rd anniversary.

Guests were present from Oshawa, Kingston, Cobourg, Trenton, Tweed and Peterborough.

The birthday party took the form of a potluck supper at six o'clock. The head table, presided over by the High Priestess Nancy Keeney, with Sid. Jack Armstrong as chairman, was lovely with its silver appointments and yellow and white flowers and a decorated three-tier birthday cake as centrepiece. The long banquet tables, decked out the same gold and white colors as the head table, each plate was a gold crocheted bookmark in the form of a cross. Various toasts to the royal order responded to. Two lovely solos by Bro. Clarence Hagerman, accompanied by Sol. Izzy Hagerman, made an enjoyable banquet to a close.

At the meeting which followed the charter members were honored and each presented with a corsage of 'mums.

Community Friends Fete Young Couple

2nd SIDNEY — A pleasant evening was spent on Saturday, when neighbors, relatives and friends gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Sine, of Frankford, with a miscellaneous shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bleecker Meyers. June is a nurse in Belleville General.

Mr. and Mrs. Sine were recently married at the Baptist Church in Trenton.

Mr. Arnold Ketcheson was chairman of the occasion and he introduced Miss Ruth Curtis of Belleville, acting the happy combination of Master of Ceremonies and Auctioneer.

June and Grenville opened their parcels and thanked all for remembering them at this time before leaving all to come and see them, after their new home was finished, at R. R. 2, Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. William Alan Meagher are shown cutting the wedding cake following their marriage in St. Michael's Church, Corkery, Ontario. The bride is the former Miss Teresa Jane Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kennedy, Corkery, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Meagher, of Read, Ontario.

MEAGHER — KENNEDY

Elaborate arrangements of white Shasta daisies and pom pom chrysanthemums with white satin bows made a fitting setting in St. Michael's Church, Corkery, Ontario, for an early autumn wedding of wide interest on October 3rd at 11 a.m.

The Reverend Raymond Burke celebrated the Nuptial Mass and officiated at the double-ring ceremony when Teresa Jane Kennedy, Rev. 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kennedy, Corkery, became the bride of William Alan Meagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Meagher of Read. The Reverend John Whalen was present in the sanctuary.

The vocalist, Mrs. Patrick Kelly, Corkery, rendered appropriate hymns during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride, was radiantly attired in a white tissue gown of white French velvet featuring a bateau neckline, fitted bodice and shirred skirt panels ending in lily-points over the tissue underskirt. The bride's veil of nylon tulle studded with seed pearls and silk illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Over the past few weeks T and T has neglected passing on items of interest about the various resources of information. We spoke-ofas for those because how that many of our readers enjoy ed them, for the simple reason that everybody likes the chance to read all he or she would like to. It is our hope that we too can settle down to overcome this neglect to some extent.

Since writing last Saturday's column, the October "Monthly Letter" from the Royal Bank of Canada arrived through the mail. Our weekend thought comes from the October issue, the introductory article: "A writer about democracy and coin". If I give you a dollar and you give me a dollar, we shall each have one dollar but if I give you the idea and you give me an idea, we shall each have two ideas." The title of the letter is building a better community and T and T hope the Bank will be established this summer the bank for copies of the monthly letter, as copies of the writer had us in mind when he wrote as he has done.

It is a long time since we have referred to the UNESCO Courier but quite frankly we would be happy if the numbers of copies coming into Belleville were so numerous that we would hesitate to use it for the simple reason everyone would already know the worth. No group interested in the economic, social or cultural work of the world should be without this authentic journal. It may be secured through the Queen's Privilges.

The November issue is devoted to the International Labor Organization. The caption under a picture of corn drawing a plow is "The land is a wonderful provider". "More than 600 million workers are submitted to be employed in agriculture". Women workers will be learn that the "In economically advanced countries women have long been at work in the labor force and in 1956 (today 23-24 percent of U.S. women hold jobs). Even in the less industrialized countries they are working an increasing share of agricultural production (best example is Thailand where 49 percent are employed in productive work of some kind)". We are reminded that the conditions of these women work today bear no comparison with the "attires" conditions that forty years ago the ILO was started. "In 1919 only one country in the world administered period of maternity leave at 12 weeks. Today nearly seventy countries do as a minimum. When in 1919, the first ILO Conference adopted a convention providing for maternity protection only six countries further the ratified it but today no longer having maternity leave. Today 52 countries do so. ILO's equal pay convention has now been ratified by 30 countries. To help women worker win a position of practical equality with men, the ILO has also helped to develop vocational and technical education and has encouraged the development of social services to help working women with family responsibilities". 'Who Can Find a Virtuous Woman?'

By ALMA MASON

(The first in a series of articles on today's juvenile delinquency in relation to improper parenthood.)

In the last chapter of Proverbs we find these words: "Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies." In reading this verse one would comprehend that in the days of Solomon a woman possessed of virtue and integrity was a rarity.

Here is an excerpt from an article which appeared recently in Time Magazine, "Today, not-read the Kinsey report to realize that promiscuity, and unfaithfulness are harsh realities among the masses of the land. Everywhere is the degeneracy of home and family to a degree of shocking and startling proportions. The breakup of the home cannot but fatalist the breakup of the fellowship of and society with."

Another verse found in Proverbs—"Bring up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it." is a primordial truth upon which all teen age behaviorism may be based.

If we ignorants would but rationalise from a foundation of concise thinking instead of being perverse in judging what we term the "teen age terror" we would trace the bewildering behavior of our youth to its proper source. It is so much more comforting to search everywhere but on our own doorsteps for a solution to the problem of juvenile delinquency. The dilemma assaulting our boys and girls. If we would courageously spread the facts out in the sun and truth we would find a finger pointing directly at improper motherhood and fatherhood. We would trace an indelible batch in lack of security attended children in the home.

It is surely time that we called on God for guidance in this most deplorable and frightening problem that has ever confronted our nation and the world.

We as mothers and fathers need an old fashioned Indian quality. We need to acquire this we must stand back and look at ourselves in perspective. It is time we searched our hearts and examined our lives with provocative questions about our failure as parents; about why we have failed to stand on a common platform of understanding.

We have been entrusted with the loftiest calling; have been given the greatest responsibility ever accorded man by God. If we fulfil that trust we will have no need to we will expend terrific physical and mental and moral energy. With the souls of our children in jeopardy we will have no need to set up narrow personal dogmas. However, our output of tireless endeavor must not be confused with over-indulgence of children due to a misconception of parental love.

It is difficult to believe that the "problem of child labor still exists" — but it does. In North America the farmer knows that there is only one percent or less, but in countries where industrial development is just commencing there remains much to be done and the ILO is playing its energies to the problem.

It is with some trepidation T and T wanders off into the boggy bunting grounds of man's psychology but we have had reactions to things as, for instance, the ballet. A man we know, and a dear friend, made the assertion, attended the ballet last winter in Toronto, and remarked during one intermission a great gasfuer in a male voice, Another man we know, sitting in the same row, pointed a finger and with a laugh said, "Look, Mac, look! Look! Believe. I've got to get a picture of you at the ballet". Sheepishly the gasfuer replied, "I'm not at the ballet. We are thoroughly enjoying the basketball game on the floor". He conceded that he was grateful to Miss Leona Riggs for accomplishing what he could not do, that is be able to do — get him to the ballet. But he was not pleased with one of the executives on the industrial guild who advised us in connection with statistics was that men are showing greater interest in the ballet than ever before the opera. One Toronto barrister has become so enthusiastic that he has been to the ballet forty-five times.

"As much as I'd like to, I've never been in the Toronto Art Gallery," several Belleville art lovers admit, when questioned on the matter. "For there never seems to be enough time when we go to Toronto to shop, visit relatives or attend meetings. The Art Gallery always gets crowded out."

How true. It happens thus to most of us. Yet, what an oasis of beauty is harbored in the midst of a city's mad whirl at this very gallery. Where each room is cosined with seats for viewers to sit and drink in the particular loveliness of some paintings. Where black lettered signs "Tea and cookies — this directs one to the old part of the gallery. The Grange, to find a long white table laden with cups and saucers in readiness to refresh all visitors (sponsored by the women's committee.) Where tall windows look out upon old trees, a garden and grass.

"The section of the gallery with the fountain is where free Sunday concerts are held, usually given by pupils of the Royal Conservatory of Music", explains the friendly check girl in the cloak room. "It offers splendid opportunity to perform in public." Not could any place be found for a more perfect setting. Here, art and music are delightfully wedded.

"Lady in a Fan!" (1859) by Grant MacDonald is a picture not to be beheld. Prejudiced are we, perhaps, but Grant was one of his sister's son and as a high school student intrigued the whole student body with his clever pencil which could always sketch the prettiest girl in the class with such skillful ease. Later, Grant MacDonald's pen portraits of visiting celebrities appeared on the pages of the Montreal Gazette while staff artist of that daily paper.

Of more than passing interest to Belleville is an historical wood sculpture entitled "Family Group", done by a former Belleville villian. The sculptress is Rebecca Sisler, who attended Queen Alexandra Public School. She was a brother, Jim, living in Belleville. His wife Jean, said a few days ago, "Neither of us has seen this work since its completion, and we are most anxious to do so, for we saw it when it was just a "hunk" of wood and again when it was nicely started. Rebecca really works hard at her work in her studio home at Town Cotis (35 miles northwest of Toronto) you should see the tools she uses. Great large mallets!

LAVENT TALENT

"Rebecca didn't decide to be a sculptress until she was part way through art school, where her teachers, realizing her talent, urged her to finish in Copenhagen. This she did, by attending the Danish Royal Academy for two and a half years. After which, she toured Europe extensively to study and look upon all sculptured art possible, even spending two months on a Greek island though Jim said it do not pretend to know much about her work, we like it."

Comments the Globe and Mail (Nov. 7th): "Thes piece is very good and a welcome change from the hackneyed mannerist abstractions of recent times." Rebecca's work was "commissioned by the Art Gallery of Toronto as one of the six Canadian galleries to which the Canada Council made grants for the specific purpose of acquiring such new sculpture." This is a leading honor indeed and a thrill for Belleville friends of Miss Sisler.

Believigenites: One of Belleville's outstanding artist's portrait painting was given pride in the Maritimes recently. We speak of Mrs. Harold Robbins who, as Mrs. Harold Robbins of 22 Queen Street, maintains that painting and portrait work well with duties of a housewife and mother. "It is a matter of interest," he says, and feels every woman should have some abiding interest other than routine housework to break monotony and add more color to life. "Painting is really more than just a hobby for me. It is a way of life. I try, in order to develop it, to set aside a time, preferably the morning, for I feel the great respect for the old adage: "Neglect a day for three." Mrs. Robbins not only taught night classes in art at the Collegiate for six or seven years, but her work has been exhibited, as it recently was at the McCarthy Theatre, the first privately sident of Belleville's Arts and Crafts Society, this column would like to pay tribute to one who has kept the flame of painting bright in our community. To you, Margaret.

But how did you ever hear of my art school, "Sara in Ireland?" exclaimed Lady Autrum of the four Canadian art students from Nova Scotia, California and Ontario. The answer! Each had read her advertisement inserted in the English magazine, "Coming Events." The two from Ontario were sisters, Rudolph L. — I can be without mother's kibitzing.

Mrs. J. L. — He knows very little about life and women.

Rudolph L. — I am a bachelor of 29, looking forward to a successful business career and, eventually, a happy marriage and family life. However, I don't want to marry until I find that most extra-special girl.

My mother has other ideas. She wants to see me settled down and married at once if not sooner. She constantly nags me about different girls she wants me to meet and keeps pointing out the type I ought to look for. A lot of these girls she picks out are very nice but their own type is not my type at all.

I have dated off and on and have had an active social life ever since. I've known many girls and enjoyed myself a pretty good judge of the right one. I'm 29 and I'm not going to get involved with anyone unsuitable. So I would like to know my mother's kibitzing in this very personal matter.

Mrs. J. L. — Some mothers cling to their sons and try to prevent them from getting married. Rudy should be glad that not that type I feel that no man should marry a lovely girl and meet until he or she is happily married. Naturally I want to see my son enjoy life and I'm not so young that I can go on waiting for grandchildren.

For all Rudy talks like a man of 50 he knows very little about life and women. It's true that he has dated hundreds of girls but as I'm certain that they've really all been the same — glamorous, but not much else.

Rudy accuses me of being a busybody mother and a century behind the times. I suppose it's true. I believe in "arranged" marriages. I helped my older son and daughters find their careers and they are well-satisfied. Why not Rudy? Ah! I want is a sweet, homey girl from a good family.

The Oedipus: We can understand why, Rudolph is annoyed by his mother's kibitzing, but we think he is being a bit foolish and immature about it.

The "arranged" marriage has a very bad sound to most young people. Actually, in most cases, but there are disadvantages to them. Even if they are quite mature emotionally, young persons lack experience. If they are mentally inventurous, their ideas and values are quite flexible and that does not make a rapid and desirable today may become dust tomorrow.

Mrs. J. evidently wants to be sure that her son makes "suitable" choice and what she calls for a girl who shares some of her own values. Rudy has installed these values in her son and he cannot violently overthrow them. He must without severe personal dislocation.

We think, therefore, that Rudolph is lucky to have his mother interested in the field of him and that he ought to take advantage of the situation. In view of the fact that he shows no compulsion to accept her views, he risks nothing by letting a good look at her selections.

ETIQUETTE FOR THE DINNER GUEST

At one time or another, all of us have had the embarrassing problem of not knowing just what to do under certain circumstances. This is particularly true, I believe, when you are dining in the home of a friend.

Perhaps the proper follows a more formal mode of living than we do, and most are in a complete loss as to the correct way to conduct yourself at the dinner table. Here are a few advice to "keep your eye on your hostess when in doubt," is always a safe rule, believe me! Let's hope the following suggestions will prove helpful.

If the food is served by a maid, she will stand to your left so that you may serve yourself with your right hand. If you happen to be left-handed, it's awkward, but your only recourse is to ask your hostess with a little confusion as possible.

Always take a small portion of the food being served, even if you don't like it. By not doing so you embarrass the cook and your hostess has served something you do not care for. If insufficient, the food is passed a second time. However, still you do not want another helping, it is perfectly permissible to refuse it by simply saying "no thank you."

Many vegetables require only a fork for eating, such as asparagus and broccoli. The correct procedure when faced with the two implements is to hold the serving spoon in the left hand and slide it under the vegetable. The fork is taken in the right hand and placed on top to steady it. The food is then easily transferred to your plate without fear of its falling in your lap.

What to do when a small dessert plate, on which reposes a small dainty, a finger bowl, and a dessert knife and fork, is placed before you, is something that confronts the best of us. It's easy when you know how! First, remove the silver, placing the fork to the left of the plate, and the knife to the right. Take the doily in the fingers of your left hand, lifting the finger bowl with your right hand at the same time, and place them on the table to the left of the plate just above the tips of the dessert fork. After all this, go ahead and enjoy your dessert. You deserve it.

After you have finished, the tips of the fingers (only the tips remember) of first one hand and then the other, are dipped into the finger bowl. The fingers are then dried on the napkin which is held below the surface of the table.

It is the prerogative of the hostess to indicate that the meal is over by making the move to leave the table. A guest should never do so.

By the way, when you stand to make that move, place your napkin, unfolded, on the left of your plate and leave your chair where you have pushed it in order to get out.

Question: I am the oldest of three unmarried sisters. Is there any special rule about how we should have my cards engraved? — Miss J.L.K.

Answer: In former years the eldest sister's card was engraved simply "Miss Jane Doe." However, for the sake of clarity, the full name is used, "Miss Mary Frances Doe."

one of whom lived in Brantford, thus secretly made the necessary arrangements to attend the Irish Art School, as a loving surprise for her sister, Mrs. J. H. Gelder of Belleville, who is matron-in-chief of the O.S.D. "It was the most perfect experience I've ever had abroad," declares Mrs. Gelder, who is kindly intended to tell us about it, in an early issue of this column. We're looking forward to it, Mary.

Canadian Actress Making Good in Broadway Show

By VON MANCUSS-UNGARO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Kathryn Albertson scantily disguises her operatic training in her first Broadway show. Her curves and agility are the attributes she needs for her role as a strip teaser in the hit musical Gypsy—but she also sings.

Miss Albertson, a product of Winnipeg, is not a showgirl. She grew up in the world of the "proper" musical. Bitter Sweet and Carousel have been more her meat than the undressed roles.

The Canadian actress has a powerful voice that quickly reveals its operatic tendencies. Before coming to New York, she was a well-known performer at Melody Fair in Toronto where she played leading roles in Kiss Me Kate, Oklahoma! and Show Boat. She also has done a good deal of television and summer stock.

Since her great ambition in life is to have a leading role in a Broadway musical, Miss Albertson came to Broadway to Gypsy.

WELL-BUILT GIRL

Gypsy is not a burly - burly show, but an adaption of the life of one of the United States' most famous strippers — Gypsy Rose Lee.

Kathryn is a tall, well-built girl who is noticed in the show even though she does not have one of the starring roles. She is one of the bump - and - grind girls who work in a Kansas burlesque theatre where Gypsy Rose first got her start at striptease. She also has several other walk - on roles.

Despite the fact that her apparel looks meagre, she said her costume really includes flesh-colored bra and panties.

"It's more conservative than a bathing suit," she explained in an interview.

LONDON-BOUND

The actress is looking forward to going to London when Gypsy heads overseas. Her plans also include more TV and summer theatre work. She intends to stay in her small Broadway part in the hope it will be a springboard for a bigger—and better-dressed role.

Miss Albertson's love of show business was inherited to a large extent. Her grandmother, Grace Verner, was one of the best-known singers of the day in Canada. Miss Albertson's mother also was a concert singer.

Born in Winnipeg in 1932, the five-foot, 10-inch singer has been married and divorced once. She has a daughter, Heather, 2, who lives with her mother. That apartment is across the street from the theatre.

"It only takes me a few minutes to get dressed and go to work," said Kathryn.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

SATURDAY

Chicken Bouillion; Baked Sack Bacon with Raisin Sauce; Oven French Fries; Julienne Green Beans; Mince Pie with Cheese (see Friday); Coffee.

ANSWER:

Thank you for your kind letter which I have shortened. If you require directions for dressing and shaving and dressing the suckling, write again.

ROAST SUCKLING PIG:

Wash the dressed suckling pig and chill.

SAGE AND ONION STUFFING:

(Amount of stuffing depends on size of pig. This amount makes 1 quart.) Use enough soft breadcrumbs, mashed potatoes, 1 finely chopped medium apple, 1-2 cup chopped mild onion, 1 teaspoon sage (or reduce rosemary), 1 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, 1 tablespoon butter. Gently saute onion, sage or rosemary and pepper in butter until tender but not brown. Add all remaining ingredients. Fill gently and lightly at opening. Roast uncovered without water. Rub rack, if any, with fat. Allow 1-2 to 4 hours. During last 1-2 hour brush with butter to brown skin. Place a small red apple in pig's mouth to serve. Remove and keep warm until pan roasted sweet potatoes. I have mailed to you a copy of a recipe for Roast Duck in which I gave a method for Suckling Pig on Galantine!

MEAT PIES (Pourtieres):

3 pounds minced lean pork or veal, or chicken or (better still) a mixture of all three, 1 cup boiling water, 1-3 to 1-2 cup finely chopped onion, 1-2 to 1 spoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Simmer meat in water 5 minutes. Add onion, salt and pepper and simmer until meat is white, about 10 minutes. Cool and skim off fat. Line 3 8" pans or 4 dozen individual pans with thinly rolled flaky pastry. Divide meat evenly and place in pans. Cover with pastry and seal edges. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. until browned, about 30 minutes.

QUESTION:

. . . advise me if there is method of preserving carrots and dandelions in sealers for winter use . . . J. A. D.

ANSWER:

HOME CANNED CARROTS:

(Pressure method):

Wash and scrape young tender carrots. Cover with boiling water. Bring to boil and boil, covered, 5 minutes. Pack in hot, upright position, alternating stem and root ends. Add salt, 1-2 teaspoon to each pint with boiling water in which carrots were parboiled, leaving 1-2" headspace. Process at 10 pounds pressure allowing 30 minutes for pints and 35 minutes for quarts.

I am sorry I do not know how to can dandelions.

Differ on Need For Treaty on Energy Exports

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. Federal Power Commission Friday expressed unanimity of views on the need of a treaty between Canada and the United States to ensure a steady flow of natural gas and other energy needs across the border.

But both favored high staff liaison between the commission and the newly-formed national energy board in Canada. This liaison was recommended by Canadian-Canadian commission on energy.

Vice-Chairman William R. Connole said in an interview that he would like to see a treaty worked out between the two countries for the establishment of a joint energy commission, operating under what along the lines of the International Joint Commission dealing with boundary waters.

However, Aroras K. Koykendall, chairman of the five - man commission, said he didn't think that a treaty is necessary at this time.

"A treaty might be the ideal way of doing things but in this case it might mean adding delay in processing cases," he said in an interview.

Earlier this week the Canadian-American Committee urged that the two countries work out a treaty. The private organization is made up of 80 prominent U.S. and Canadian representatives of business, farm, labor and other fields.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

BEAUTY

Beauty is a matter of taste. Do you prefer something showy? Do big, bold subjects appeal to you? Are you satisfied with daisy little things? All this will influence your choice of the most beautiful bird to be seen in Canada.

If you want a showy bird and favor red your choice might be the migratory scarlet tanager with jet black wings and tail. An inch larger than an English sparrow, the male in spring contrast of too noticeable to flaunt itself before fashion. It would be a target. The male cardinal with its jaunty crest is entirely red but for a black face. His still larger size makes him even more easily seen; nevertheless, he does not remain at such heights as the tanager but comes down to the feeder. Do not allow the male cardinal living in southern Ontario have much opportunity to display his bird which is a very round rest-ful color.

The male Baltimore oriole is a gay orange and black which can be very striking but unfortunately he does not remain at such heights as the tanager but comes down to the feeder. Then the male blue jay will be your choice. Both sexes and all ages of this jay wear this brilliant colored costume — a white (or gray) and blue ground with a good share of brilliant blue, and black pin stripes. This large, showy, beautiful bird may be seen in flocks in Canada's southern woodlands throughout winter.

STUNNING PATTERN

Is pink your favorite color? The male rose-breasted grosbeak wears a stunning black and white patterned costume with deep pink accessories. The rose bib lies on a white shirt front, and the same pink is repeated on the under side of the wings (I am told, but only when the grosbeak flies. Unfortunately, like the tanager and oriole, we must wait for him until spring.

If the Ruby-throated Hummingbird were four times as large as he is, he certainly would make a hit. Being but 3½ inches long and moving with a rapidity too quick for our eyes, he rarely can be seen shining, bright green armor propped on a deep red throat that gleams in sunshine. Not much larger are a score of jewel-like warblers, any one of which if "blown up" might win the beauty prize.

But tastes differ. Some hearts go out to the waxings on account of their crests, and even junco lovers because of their demure dress and soft tones. Now make your choice.

The Climbing Hybrid Tea Rose

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The old fashioned climbing rose produces an abundance of bloom year after year but many of the new hybrid tea climbers are shy bloomers and have disappointed their growers.

Among the offenders are Climber Mrs. Sam McCready, Climber Mrs. Herbert, Crimson Glory and the worst offender is perhaps Dr. J. H. Nicolas.

If you are purchasing a new climbers do not consider the old Dorothy Perkins any of those family. They may have some sentimental memories but have proven prone to mildew and other diseases. For a tall fence or wall you will want a wichuraiana type such as the old Provence Dr. Van Fleet, Dr. J. H. Nicolas, deep pink, fragrant and very double or one of the new improved Blaze or Blaze imperial, and climbed to be fair satisfactory is the Gold Finch. This last perfected in Canada. There are several other good tall growing sorts of Blossom Time a delicate pink, and Orange Everglow.

PRUNE AND FEED FAIRLY HEAVILY

The climbing hybrid teas are really sports of the bush and the bloom reach more than eight or ten feet in height. The blooms have the same number of petals but are a little smaller in size. The color and perfume is retained from the parent plant. They also have the same habit of producing their chief crop of bloom in June and another burst in the fall.

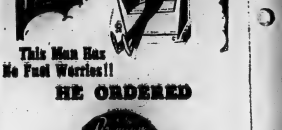
If your climbing teas do not bloom well you may have tried various cures. Vigorous growth is not the answer, nor will total lack of it insure a bumper crop of flowers, and training the canes horizontally won't get you either. A regular plan of judicious care will usually turn the trick.

The first step is in planting and the second is in feeding. This goes for all roses what ever the type. Restrict the nitrogen in the soil. This makes for fine foliage at the price of bloom. Increase the potash content of their food. Avoid heavy mulches of leaf mold or peat moss. Dig deep and fill in the lower nine inches with cold soil turned upside down. Set the roots in, having the crown two inches below the surface. Fill in with rich soil mixed with a generous quantity of humus material and one of the meal fertilizers such as bone meal.

HOW TO PRUNE

Pruning the climbing hybrid tea's — at time of planting cut off one third of the canes and tie to the trellis. Next spring cut canes down to 12 inches. Cut weak canes shorter. Tie in the shoots as they develop. Do not allow more than one or two flowers to develop the first year.

In the fall cut out the main canes and tie to fence or trellis. Shorten all laterals to about eight inches.



The following spring after all frosts are past, shorten the laterals to four to six inches.

The next year build up the frame of the fan. Plan an angle of fifteen degrees between each and do not keep too many. Cut off weak canes and shorten laterals in the fall.

From there on the aim is to replacement of old main stems as a good new break happens higher on the cane remove a growth above it. This will sen strength to the new growth which would eventually starve out the lower growth anyway. Keep the laterals short to gain an abundance of blooms.

when men are available
More and more Canadians every year are finding that it makes sense to have work done in the wintertime when skilled men and materials are available.
This applies particularly to home, plant and office improvements.
But in addition to home improvements, there are many other things that can be done to advantage during the winter. They include such things as maintenance of lawn and garden equipment, electrical appliances, outboard motors and automobiles as well as dry cleaning of drapes and rugs, and replacement of upholstery, to mention but a few.
By taking a realistic approach to winter work you also will be helping your community by creating employment during the traditional winter hill. When everybody works, everybody benefits.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"Wolfgang," handsome brown-and-silver German wire-haired retriever, knows his ducks—and he knows what to do with them.

The eighteen-months pup, believed to be the only one of his breed in Canada, is owned by Police Chief Earl Marvin of Wellington.

"Wolf" is well-trained. He will leap at least six feet in the air from a dock take-off to retrieve a stick tossed in the water.

As a retriever, says the village police officer, there is none better. And none knows this better than Chief George Pitt and Constable Allan Marvin of the Picton Police Department.

The two Prince Edward gendarmes took "Wolf" to Big Island on a duck-hunting expedition. In no time they had shot six or seven fat dinners, which "Wolf" headed in the best retriever manner.

Later they came to shore and left the boat, ducks and "Wolf" while they visited a nearby farmhouse. They were gone approximately forty minutes.

When they returned, there sat "Wolf", head cocked sideways in a "knowing" attitude. The boat was there. The ducks had disappeared.

Six fat blacks and mallards had vanished in the calm hazy air of the Big Island shoreline. No other human had come near the boat. "Wolf" would have taken care of them—or at least given tongue.

The two officers searched the surrounding area with the proverbial fine comb. But no sign of a duck, not even a feather did they find.

What because of the ducks only "Wolf" knows. They were never recovered.

Now Police Chief Marvin is in the market for a retriever to retrieve a retriever, some kind of a pooch private eye.

"SHOWING UP THE OLD MAN"

You cannot blame the youngsters for being a bit cocky, for after all it is not too many teen-ager deer-hunters, who can give advice to, or is it bucks and does? to veteran paternal nimrods.

Don McNevin ushered his usual annual yearly of a dozen hunters into his camp at Millbridge. Included, for the first time, was nineteen-year-old son Deanie. The buck was good for the McNevin party that opening day for collectively, it bagged six antlered beauties.

And the proudest triggerman in the group was—you guessed it—Don McNevin, Jr. He accounted for the first and two deer shot—his first trophies of the venison chase. Deanie was so proud he brought back the two cartridge cases which now occupy places of honor on his bedroom mantel.

Another proud young hunter, also a tyro at the sport, is 19-year-old Larry Cottrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cottrell. Larry joined his dad's party of a dozen and went a-hunting near Madoc.

Larry was given his "sentry box" on a runway, and pop and the crew had scarcely unloaded the gear when a rifle shot rang out. Investigating they discovered a proud hunter standing over a 128-pound doe—his very first.

And the youngster had the laugh on the veterans for nearly a week. Because, the story goes, nary a buck or doe was sighted in that length of time.

HUNTING SPOTTY

Department of Lands and Forests officials at Tweed said today deer hunting generally in the district was spotty, but about on an average with that of a year ago. Some hunters got good bags in the first week, while the bucks passed the nimrods cleanly in other sections.

An inch of snow blanketed the district north of Bancroft this morning, and officials said this would help "up" the kill.

HUNTING NOTES

Police Chief Earl Marvin went goose-hunting the other day. It appears there are plenty in the vicinity of Wellington. Near Gilead, a mile northeast of the village, he topped a knoll—then gasped. A flock of some 100 Canada geese rose in a whirring wave. The gendarme was so excited he pulled tightly willy-nilly, but nary a goose shed a feather . . . Joe Doxtator of Redeserville, bagged three deer in the first week . . . Ominous silence from northern deer haunts indicates that not a few city hunting parties are having no luck . . . Lands and Forests check stations for deer will open at Arnprior, Kaladar and Edorado today and will operate through Sunday. Hunter co-operation is requested . . . Vancouver limbs of the law "hunting" for Grey Cup liquor conveyors last year discovered some of the boys and gals smuggling it "whole" by loading corsages with gin via a hypodermic needle. Others carried "vials" in binocular cases . . . But three guys with "wooden legs" fooled the cops completely.

McFarlands Shake Loss Jinx On Friday Thirteenth

Hang 3-1 Loss on Bulldogs With All-Out Team Effort In Season's Best Thriller

By GEORGE M. CARVER
Sports Editor

Friday the Thirteenth is unlucky? Phooey! Ask the McFarlands and you'll get a verbal back-of-the-hand.

For the second time here this season, Lammy Lamirande tossed the leash on his snapping, snarling kennel of Windsor Bulldogs, yelled "Sic 'Em"—and watched 'em go.

But what he saw this time was different. It was not the 10-1 debacle hung on the world champions the last time they were here.

Last night the muzzle came off the Macs. This time Lamirande saw a goal-hungry victory-starved Mac pack which refused to be beaten, tie a 3-1 tin can of defeat on the tails of his panting puck pooches.

And they did it and won it the hard way. It was easily the best senior "A" battle seen here this season and up to the three-quarter mark of the third period the pendulum of victory could have swung either day.

At that time it was all tied up at one goal each, the Macs scoring in the first period and the Dogs knotting the count in the second frame. The Macs scored the winner with seven minutes to go in the third frame, and with a bouncing checking crew standing in the aisles, sunk the clincher at 19.53 when the Dogs' pull-the-goalie strategy backfired.

It was the first second victory in eleven starts. And it was the second time in the same number of outings that they scored the first goal.

They looked like the good old Mac team of Allan Cup and world tournament days. They flashed a full quintet from the opening whistle and never let up for the full sixty minutes. They had the better of the play throughout as their 31 shots on go'-' and 21 short indicates.

They matched stride for stride with the fleet Dogs, trailed them and check-for-check with the stubborn often-packed Windsor lineline crew. Bob Maniago in the Belleville nets and Head, the former Windsor star, were near-sensational at times, kicking out labelled strokes.

For a high-tempo'd battle the game was comparatively clean. Referee Gord Fevereau handing out but eight minor penalties, five to the Dogs with none of the eight being on the cheapish side. No damage was done when the teams were shorthanded.

Every man-jack of the Macs from Maniago out played fine hockey, with special accolade going to the first line of Gagnon, Bradley and Hildebrand.

The line, Gagnon especially, were a great deal accounting for six of the Macs scoring points. Gagnon and Hildebrand each had a goal and an assist with Bradley helping on both counters. Leo Smrke got the third goal with Crawford and Martin in on the play.

Speck scored the lone Windsor marker at 7.47 with Walker and Bendo assisting. Haidy and the Costello played well while Lamirande and Dietrich were the pick of the Bulldog defence corps.

Both teams missed scoring chances from close in with two special "heartbreakers" coming for the Macs when Partridge raced in, beat Head, and missed the net. Later Bart Bradley climaxed a fine passing play with his linemates and ripped a high shot at the net, the crowd roared. The light went on and Bradley tossed his stick in the air in triumph. But the referee ruled the puck had hit the top crossbar.

Gagnon brought the crowd to its feet after a minute of play in the first period when he broke through alone only to miss the net. Benoit with two, and Speck and Dietrich on Windsor marred the period's four sentences, but both defences held tightly against opposing power drives.

The Macs were carrying the brunt of the play outshooting the Dogs 13-7 in the period. Gagnon broke the scoring ice at 16.02 on a drive with Bradley and Hildebrand when he slammed his mates' passout home from corner behind Head.

The Macs poured on their power play when Dietrich was chased at 33 seconds of the second period, but couldn't beat Head. The Dogs roared back on the offensive when Benoit was gated a four minutes but again the Macs' defence tightened and held.

The teams were at full strength at the 16-minute mark when Speck spearheaded a Bulldog drive with Walker and Bendo. Walker's pass slithered across the goalmouth and Speck poked it in behind Maniago who had no chance on the play.

The third period saw the fastest hockey of the high-speed variety. The Macs and the Dogs matched stride for stride with the all-out offensive with Bradley hitting the cross-bar and Partridge missing the open net.

At full strength, the Dogs roared back giving Maniago and the Mac defence some anxious moments. Both teams ganged up and down the ice at terrific speed until the Leo Smrke goal at 19.53 again at 11.09.

The Macs' power play was stalemated while he was off but seconds after his return the Macs ganged around the Dog net with Crawford slithering a pass that never left the ice. Leo Smrke was standing near the goalmouth and neatly tipped it in to give the Macs the lead for the second time.

The Dogs buried their full of-

Says Rollins Inspiration to Winnipeg Team

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Art Chapman, coach of Vancouver Canucks of the western Hockey League, said this week Defender Al Rollins should be back in the National League.

He said he had never seen the Winnipeg Warrior goalie play so well as this year. He was an inspiration to the "Jets" on the Winnipeg team.

Rollins Friday night came up with his second shutout of the season—in a 1-0 victory against Seattle—to equal the record of Chapman's goalkeeper Hank Bassen.

Bassen had a hard time keeping Vancouver's home game record perfect as a first-up Spokane team went down to a 5-4 overtime defeat to the league-leading Canucks. Vancouver is one victory away from the WHL record set in 1953-54 of 11 straight home victories.

Edmonton Flyers moved into fourth place in the league by defeating Victoria Cougars 3-2.

MOSIENKO AT HELM

Among the 3,500 fans at Winnipeg was Montreal coach Alf Pike who resigned this week to take over New York Rangers of the NHL. Billy Mosienko did the coaching as Warriors played a tight defensive game to make a second - period goal by Ray Brunet stand up. Bob Perreault of Winnipeg within one point of the fifth-place Calgary Stampeders, were idle.

Rollins, a 32-year-old native of Vancouver, spent seven seasons in the NHL with Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks. He joined Warriors last year after one season with Calgary.

Eddie Dorohoy saved the night for Canucks with two goals, including the winner in overtime. Ray Delisle and Ray Brunet and Bruce Carmichael got singles. Al Johnson scored twice for Spokane and Murray Oliver scored for Edmonton. Art Goodwin and Ron Matthews counted for Victoria.

Scrative at the Macs during the last four minutes of the game, with their hook-way checking and Maniago held them off. Then Leo Smrke's goal at 19.53 sewed it up.

Tongue In Cheek?

Blake Says He Is Worried Over Habs-Bruins Outcome

By LAURENT CHIASSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Coach Toe Blake has his Montreal Canadiens cooling smoothly atop the National Hockey League, undefeated in their last 11 games.

But with that touch of pessimism common to athletes, successful or otherwise, he insists he's worried.

The Canadiens hook up with Boston's third-place Bruins in a home-and-home series this week-end. The teams play in Montreal Saturday night and in Boston Sunday night. Blake told reporters Friday,

"We'll have trouble with them. The Bruins are a real hungry club".

More specifically, Blake was thinking about Bronco Horvath, a young man who doesn't look much like a hockey player but reigns as the game's current scoring sensation.

The Boston centre has potted 15 goals in 16 games.

"Just how to keep Horvath from scoring is a big problem," said Blake, Any suggestions? "We've had no one who can hold him into another penalty."

Horvath got on a temper tantrum last time Boston played in Montreal and was ejected from the game in the second period by referee Eddie Powers.

While Montreal and Boston fight 2 out, second-place Detroit Red Wings meet the Rangers here on night in New York and then go to Chicago for a Sunday night date with the Black Hawks.

Toronto is host to the Hawks on Sunday night and plays in New York Sunday night.

The Bruins are the highest scoring team in the NHL at the moment with 61 goals in 16 games. But they've also allowed the most—58.

"They've just been beaten twice by heavy scores, six goals in each game, piled up against them" said Blake. "They'll come to Montreal fighting mad."

General manager Muzz Patrick will coach the Rangers in their two weekend games. Alf Pike, Winnipeg Warriors' coach, seemed to succeed the Muzz full time, is not expected to officially take over behind the bench until next Wednesday when the Rangers play in Chicago.

Cat Kicking, Rider Rushing Marks Big Four Final Duel

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The first game of the Big Four football final here today promised to be a contest between Hamilton "Tiger-Cats' superior kicking and Ottawa Rough Riders' powerful rush.

The chances of a major passing offensive by either team were considerably reduced by a forecast of bad weather.

Kickoff for the game, televised in Eastern Canada with Ottawa and Cornwall blacked out, is scheduled for 2 p.m. EST. Second game of the total - point series will be in Hamilton next Saturday.

After snow flurries Friday night, the forecast called for drizzly, foggy weather this morning, turning to more snow about noon when the temperature is expected to slip from the mid-30s to near-freezing.

The turf at Lansdowne Park was reported good, as much of the mid-field area has been covered by a tarpaulin the last few days. But it could turn sloppy if the heavy forms outsize lead as forecast.

INNUMERABLE WHALE FLAY

Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton said he will haul placement duty, leaving Lou Gordon out of sick bay if there is any indication of mud. The decision would only be made just before game time.

Ossecinski suffered a shoulder separation a few weeks ago, but if properly taped it shouldn't affect his kicking.

"If the weather is bad we'll use his reflined skill," Trimble said. "Otherwise we get inside the 30-yard line we'll try for a field goal. If we're inside the 40 we should go for a single point anyway and that will help."

Hilder'l is the goal specialist, Gary Schneider, has been sidelined with a slight shoulder injury suffered two weeks ago, but has started practising. "There was just a slight possibility he would play.

As replacements, Clair can call upon veteran Canadian Davey Weldon to punt and Jimmy Ellis or Al Parilli, Parilli also does the Ottawa kicking on third down.

Clair, however, was looking forward to help his test team take the first game of the home-and-home, total-points series.

MEYERS MISTRUSTS

"Mentally and physically I've never seen the boys better," he said. "If we get our share of the breaks and don't fumble we should take the series."

Trimble conceded Riders have the best defensive record in the league, but he would try to beat it since that is the Tiger-Cats' Golden, used mainly as a defensive half, into the right halfback post on offence.

"There'll be considerable interchange then between (Dunsa) and Bob, who'll start, and Goldston," he said.

Trimble said Goldston, one of the most punishing tacklers on defence, "maybe the best offensive back we have."

College Teams Play It Out On Ground

TORONTO (CP) — One thing is definite about today's first Canadian intercollegiate football championship.

University of British Columbia Thunderbirds and University of Western Ontario Mustangs probably would play it out largely on the ground.

Snow fall Thursday night lost the remnants of the fall over Varsity stadium here, and a dull-day rain Friday. The forecast for today was rain or drizzle in the morning, snow in the afternoon.

In any case, both teams have a preference to running plays.

The Thunderbirds have rolled down mileage during the eastern intercollegiate Senior series to their two hitherto unbeaten foes, Loyola Conacher and Macc Polistal. Conacher averaged six yards to power over eight games. Polistal four.

B.C. LIKE HEAVY

Whether they could do that well against B.C.'s bruising line was anyone's guess. But the Thunderbirds' defensive crew permitted only 70 points in 10 games, average 7½ points a game, counting Doug Mitchell, a 230-pounder on whom several pro clubs have cast covetous eyes.

B.C. coach Frank Gnup was not sure what to expect from Western.

"We've never played on a field like Varsity stadium before," he said, "he said.

Gnup was forced to move his top running halfback Jack Hosken (150 yards plus per game) to fullback when Bob Gillies, first-place injured regular Jon Mostyn. He conceded it may cost the services of the edge off the Thunderbirds' running attack "but we'll have to move better when he's at quarterback."

Kickoff time was 1 p.m. EST.

Browns, Giants Favored in Sunday Games

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's two pro football clubs, both the National Football League's longest winning streaks, defend their records against foes that allowed only 35 points in the five games each has played since the start of the season.

Both had better be just as good Sunday when the Brooklyn Dodgers of 6-3 and 7-3 in exhibition games this season.

Convener J. Devine said that he will arrange Sunday's schedule by the first of next week. It is expected that there will be changing any of the dates in the original schedule which will run until the Thanksgiving game and three extra away games for each of the teams.

The 30-game schedule will open tonight in Trenton with Trenton Colts meeting Bees and Belleville Lambert Rollins clashing with R.30 senior intermediate boys host to Picton here Monday night while Kingston goes to Peterborough.

Wolves Take Pro Loop Lead

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves took over sole possession of second place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Friday night, helped by Buffalo's roaring 10-goal rout from Trois-Rivieres.

The Wolves beat Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds 5-3 at Sudbury and got a big boost from the Lions' 5-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens.

The results put Sudbury a point in front and sent Trois-Rivieres from a last - place tie with Buffalo into fourth place, a point ahead of the Thunderbirds.

Eskys, Peg Footwear Battle Continued up to Kickoff

WINNIPEG (CP)—The battle of the footwear involving Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers was expected to continue up to kick-off time today.

It's the big game for both cities, Eskimos and the West, an Interprovincial Football Union final playoff for the Dominion and must win to stay in the best-of-three series.

A victory by Winnipeg would give the Blue Bombers two weeks of rest before tangling with the Grey Cup in Toronto with the winner of the Big Four playoffs.

Today's WIFU game, starting at 3:05 p.m., EST, was televised nationally with Winnipeg blacked out. If a third game is necessary it will be played in Winnipeg next Wednesday.

The issue is Bombers' superior footwear — a type of aluminum cleat—was felt to be a factor in the

Cobourg Joins East. Ontario Junior B Loop

The OHA Eastern Ontario Junior "B" hockey league has accepted another entry, bringing the total to eight teams, on the eve of the league opening.

Cobourg Juniors, slated to participate in the Lakeshore league, suddenly found themselves without a grouping from which to play this week.

The Eastern loop's other five clubs, Belleville, Kingston, Peterborough, Picton and Trenton, were contacted and the group of 18 starts pacing a mile in 2.17 4-5.

Jack Jeffery of Belleville has moved his pair "J M J" and "Betty Abigail" back from Connaught Park, where when "Betty" took a record of 2.12 while pacing a mile in 2.17 4-5, place shoe record out of 36 starts and "Jay" finished with a record of 1 flat. Kenneth's pacer 1 flat in 13 starts pacing a mile in 2.17 4-5.

Other Belleville horsemen with locally owned horses are "W B C" a four-year-old by Volomite Hanover, owned by Irvin Nesbitt at the Syracuse sale, with a record this year of 2.09 on a half mile track while finishing in the money, 25 out of 27 starts in 3 years, his record 2.07 1 flat 3 places and "J. L. Mac" purchased by Nesbitt at the Connaught Park, who was 9 times in the money in 13 starts with 3 firsts, 3 seconds and 3 thirds. This eight-year-old by "Safety Man" has a record of 2.09 1 flat and fourth in his last start Oct. 30, 1936, driven by Morris Bees and Hanover has his three-horse string all situated for the winter months at Picton. Bees is green trotter "Clarence Colby" and the green pacer "Bonnie Lea Mac S," a winner of 31 out of 49 starts this season with nine seconds, five thirds and only out of the money twice. This was "Jay's" first season at the races and he raced only one start away from the immediate district while pacing at the most consistent race hours in this district during the year.

John Weeks' "John De Kuyper," purchased last spring and commenced to race in the east, compiled a record of three wins, seven seconds and two thirds and seven fourths out of 30 starts, winning in a time of 2.30.

Bill Faulkner's "Captain Kid" who has been moved home to the farm for the winter, compiled a record of 10 wins, four seconds and two fifths out of 16 starts winning with a best time of 2.15 2-5, and winning approximately $500.

As interest of the general membership of the Quinte Canoe Racing and Riding Club seems to have all but died, the executive has decided to carry on with their own plans for next year's race meets. Negotiations are underway toward obtaining sponsorship for a stake race for Belleville fairgrounds will be a fairly busy training centre with all the local owned horses housed there, as well as a few from other stables shipping in.

Allan Peary has already moved his stable to the fairgrounds, the following race horses and colts stabled at the fairgrounds:

"Colonel G" by Callie G. "Betty Abigail" by Volomite Dale and "Atomic Cut"; who have all raced this season; "Cooperscliff" by Cole Hanover, "Starlight Hal," a two-year-old by "Superior Hal," a 3 year old filling colt, "Bettie Pick" by "Mighty Mathern." These expects are soon to round out his string.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Chatham victory, a 8-3 decision over Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, moved them into a tie with Belleville for first place in the standings with the Ills White Duminies.

Grid Claims Fifteen Lives In U.S. Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fifteen fatalities directly connected with football, a game originated Friday in the annual mid - season national survey conducted by a committee of the American Football Coaches Association.

The total, dating through Nov. 6, is three more than for the same period in 1935.

Dr. Floyd Eastwood, dean of student activities at the Los Angeles State College and chairman of the committee on fatalities, on injuries and fatalities, issued the report.

Seven of the deaths occurred in sandlot football, three in semi-professional, six in high school football and three in college football.

Dr. Eastwood said 13 of the 15 deaths were caused by injuries to the head and spine areas. Cause of death in the other two cases has not been determined.

The committee has been in existence since 1931. The records show, Dr. Eastwood said, only 1,337 direct fatalities and 100,000 participants in high school football and 2,185 per 100,000 in the college.

Chuvalo Thinks Durelle Won't Be So Tough

TORONTO (CP)—George Chuvalo agrees with Yvon Durelle on one aspect of their Canadian heavyweight championship fight next Tuesday night.

It won't go the 15-round limit.

But the youthful Toronto scrapper doesn't necessarily think the fight with the slugging challenger from Baie Ste. Anne, N. B., will be his toughest fight yet.

"It could be the toughest, or it could be one of the easiest," Chuvalo said Friday during a pause between workouts for the meeting at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

"Durelle is a guy who wades in. If I tag him early and down he goes, I could make it an easy fight for me."

The odds are that Durelle will be the one on his feet at the windup and they vary between 7 to 5 and 9 to 5.

Dick Dawson, Bob Rivard and Reg Mollenhauer each scored goals for the winners while Mike Miller had two. Barrie scorers for the Cubs played even hockey for getting the others.

TIPS

by JOHN WETTLAUFER

Nearly all television viewers are familiar with the interference caused by passing automobiles. This screen full of dots and dashes as well as unwelcome noise — is caused by the car's ignition system and is one of the most common forms of annoyance.

One way of combatting this problem is to move your antenna as far as possible from the street. Another trick is to keep the lead-in wire vertical wherever possible — when it is horizontal it is more likely to pick up ignition noise.

If you're non-getting full enjoyment from your television, it's time to call CIRCLE TV SERVICE, 364 Coleman St. They are experts at restoring top performance to your TV as well as finding ways to minimize outside interference. Phone WO 8-6791 (in Trenton EX 2-7669).

Champ Brown Gets Big Offers

HOUSTON (AP)—The Olympic Boxing Club of Los Angeles offered guaranteed Friday of $100,000 and $300,000 for a Feb. 22 title match involving world lightweight boxing champion Joe Brown.

George Parnassus, Los Angeles matchmaker, offered a $100,000 guarantee for Brown to meet Battling Torres of Mexico in Los Angeles should Brown successfully defend his title here Dec. 3 in a match with Dave Charnley of Britain.

"If Brown loses here to Charnley I'll guarantee a $200,000 gate for a rematch in Los Angeles," Parnassus said.

Charnley currently is ranked the No. 3 challenger in the 135-pound division. Torres is No. 4.

Right, Sophia Loren as "That Kind of Woman", having about a different kind of love from Tab Hunter in the Paramount romantic drama, opening Monday at the Belle Theatre.

Canada Outdoors

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec's autumn hunting season has been a disappointment. The experts blame weather, wolves and winter-kill.

The moose season at first appeared headed for a record year, but now probably won't rise from last year's kill of 1,900, says George (Chief) Carpenter, outdoor columnist for The Montreal Gazette.

The deer start was suspicious, then "dimmed right out." Waterfowl hunting also has been less successful.

The main reason is weather, the hunters say. Leaves did not fall until late this fall so that deer and partridge had additional camouflage. There was little or no tracking. Some what snow fell soon melted.

KNOW KILLED ANIMALS

Some seasoned hunters believe last winter's heavy snowfall killed off more moose, deer and other animals than had been suspected, said Mr. Carpenter, who writes under the pen - name of Isaac Lindsay.

Duck-hunting worsened on the waters about Montreal Island, On Lake St. Louis, a bulge in the St. Lawrence River just west of Montreal, only lesser scaup were being taken.

Blacks, which appeared in the largest numbers in several years, rafted. That gave hunters little chance at them. There was plenty of baldpate around, but they fly too high for good shooting.

Just how many animals died last winter's deep and lasting snow drifts isn't known. There wasn't enough money available this year for the provincial government to make a study at the time. There was little available to feed the animals either, Mr. Carpenter said.

Wolves, too, moved in last winter. They are running again north of Montreal after being drastically cut by a control program several years ago. It is understood hunters are being asked for another campaign against them, subject to the provincial government's budget.

AID FOR DEPARTMENT?

And, says Mr. Carpenter, there are high hopes for a better money deal for the provincial fish and game department, whose domain is the forest and its inhabitants.

Premier Sauvé is a hunter, angler and dog breeder. But, said Mr. Carpenter, Maurice Duplessis had a "blind spot" when it came to outdoor pastimes. He saw little use in them and couldn't realize that fish and game are a $100,000,000 business in Quebec.

"Naturally it follows that there will be a better attitude towards fishing and hunting," he said.

A pay raise for the civil service has already lifted morale in the fish and game department, Mr. Carpenter said. Better pay, it was hoped, would draw better biologists and technicians to the service and perhaps cut out what he described as the "deadwood" among Quebec game wardens.

Sasky Riders Coach Hunting

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union announced Friday they are accepting applications for head coaching. At the same time the club dropped negotiations with Frank Tripucka, brought in from Ottawa Rough Riders late in the season and let George Terlep was dismissed as Saskatchewan coach.

Riders offered Tripucka the coaching job several weeks ago. Sam Taylor, president of the club, said Friday that because of Tripucka's business in Bloomfield, N.J., "he would not be able to take the job on a full-time basis and we have come to the conclusion that any other arrangement would not be practical."

Taylor indicated Tripucka could still have the job if he gave his full time to it.

Revisit to Our Town Warm, Pleasant Journey by Cast

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Our Town was revisited Friday night and it is always a warm, pleasant journey.

The Thornton Wilder play I becoming the most familiar of the American theatre. The film version still appears on television, and a TV musical with Frank Sinatra is well remembered. It also is a favorite with amateur theatres everywhere.

Yet Our Town remains evergreen, as the NBC version starring Art Carney proved. It is not so much a drama as a series of observations of life and death, love and marriage. Nearly all of the observations are apt and valid.

Friday night's version was well acted and directed, except for a breathless love scene. Carney was the only big name in the cast, and the unfamiliarity of the performers made everything seem homely and credible.

A note about the commercials. It is jarring to be whisked from the play into a lengthy singing commercial by five bouncing chorus boys. But maybe the sponsor's message is meant to jar, rather than blend with the dignity of a remarkable production.

Later in the evening, NBC offered Music from Shubert's Alley. It included a lot of musical comedy tunes, most of them adequately done.

Andy Williams was encore, as reward for having brightened the dismal summer season with his replacement show. He was personable, reading his cue cards with obvious skill.

The dancing was fine and spirited, and Alfred Drake, Doretta Morrow, Ray Walston and Lisa Kirk did their familiar numbers with zest.

AT THE PARK—Marilyn Monroe is at her sexiest best as vocalist and ukulele player with an all-girl orchestra in Billy Wilder's comedy of the twenties, "Some Like It Hot", a United Artists release opening Monday at the Park Theatre. Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon are co-starred. There is more comedy on the same program with the first Belleville showing of "Lucky Jim" with Ian Carmichael as the star.

Garcia May Join Chisox

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitcher Mike Garcia, released by Cleveland Indians after 11 seasons, said Friday he has been offered a job by Chicago White Sox and probably would accept it.

Garcia said he will be in Chicago next week to discuss details with Bill Veeck, Chicago White Sox boss.

"Veeck offered more money than I got from the Indians this year," Garcia said. His salary with the Indians was a reported $20,000.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Man Has Money, Near Retirement, Plans on Moving to College Town

By THOMAS COLLINS

"I was coming to the climax of a long and pleasant career in the school business. I retire in June next at 65.

"I have never been a teacher. I was concerned with selling and supplying the equipment school need. For a time I held administrative jobs in schools, but mostly I have been a company man with briefcase who came calling.

"My company has been good and my family prudent. I have some money and when I retire my wife and I wish to settle in a Midwest college town. Life will be pleasant and without contraversy. We will be in association with the kind of people we like.

"Our basic income will be $325 a month. We own our house and we have roughly $12,000 in good common stocks. We have $7,500 in the company's employee credit union and in a special company savings plan. I have a $10,000 life insurance policy that will be paid up when I retire.

"My questions are these:

"1. Would it be best to sell or rent our present house and should we buy or rent in the college town?"

TRY RENTING FIRST

Rent first in both places for maybe a year. Then if you find the college town is really what you want you will probably live and die there. A college town has stability for older people. At the end of a year consider selling your house and buying in the new town, but not with a mortgage. Put no more money in the new house than you get from the old.

"2. Should we keep our $12,000 in stocks?"

I wouldn't, simply because you have to keep your eye on stocks — even good ones. An insured savings and loan association or bonds your broker can recommend will pay as much or more return, and they cause you less trouble. Your stocks would probably suffer less from inflation but with your income and at your age, you probably wouldn't be hurt much.

"3. Should we leave the $7,000 in the employee credit union and the company savings plan after I retire?"

If the credit union is managed by employees maybe you'd better get out because you'll no longer have a look-see at the management. As for the company savings plan, there seems no point in it unless you're getting more interest than you can get anywhere else. You're pretty much an outsider after you retire.

"4. If your answer to No. 3 is no, what would you think of buying an annuity with the $7,000 to increase our income?"

GET "OFFICIAL" POSITION

You've got more income than most retired people already, and since you will own your home there will be ample for a fine life in a college town. If you invested the $7,000 at 4 per cent you'd get about $23 a month. I would use the $7,000 to set up some sort of career in the college town: a part-time agency to sell equipment and supplies to the college, maybe a shop to cater to student needs: a lecture bureau; a secretarial service for professors and students; maybe a printing shop or anything the college community could use. This would not be for the money to be made but for the "official" position it would give is the town and the contacts it would assure with the college people and others like them. I think you would fade away if you tried to load it.

"5. What should I do about the life insurance policy?"

If your wife will not have as much as $150 a month for life if you die first — which you'll probably do — see if the life insurance company will convert your policy into something that will assure her at least $150. If she will have that amount anyway, ask the life insurance company to explain your options — there are usually several — then take your pick. But in any case provide about $2,000 ready cash for a funeral and its aftermath.

Your Car

Cold Weather Brings to Light Car's Faults

By EUGENE MILMOE

In warm weather a car may get by despite some little ignition or fuel inefficiency, but once frigid temperatures set in things are different. Then hard starting and frequent stalling begin to plague the driver. Some suffer through the winter in the mistaken belief that such troubles are minor or less inevitable during cold weather.

Usually the cause is neither complicated nor expensive to eliminate. Most often a failing or overburdened battery is at fault. A lean choke, low carburetor idle speed, water in the gas, fuel line or filter bowl, seem to be the more common troublemakers in the fuel system. Sometimes there is a slight air leak at the carburetor or manifold. This thins out the fuel mixture too much.

Plugs and points should be in A1 shape and oil must be light for easy engine cranking.

• • •

R. M. asks: "Could h a d shock absorbers cause a front wheel shimmy?"

(A) They could. More often, however, unbalanced or badly aligned wheels and incorrect tire pressures are at fault.

From T. C.: "My 1957 engine has been driven 28,300 miles. Lately it's been very sluggish and troublesome. I've tried a new carburetor, new plugs, new points and a new coil. What could be the trouble?"

(A) How about the fuel pump? A worn diaphragm or rocker arm linkage may be causing low pressure — especially if it's the original pump.

• • •

Miss J. B. writes: "As I drove home last weekend I saw that the temperature reading was at boiling and the oil pressure light was on. No oil or water was lost, however. Should I have the car examined before trying it again?"

(A) Definitely. Low or no oil pressure means inadequate lubrication and can quickly result in a burned-out engine.

• • •

S. M. asks: "Ever since I ordered a 1960 sedan I must

THE OLD PHILOSOPHERS COLUMN

FOR FOX CARTAGE AND STORAGE LTD.

AN OLD IRISH SONG?

Who hasn't sung, at some time or other, the lovely words of "I'll take you home again, Kathleen"? Maybe you, like most people, have regarded it as one of the fine old Irish songs. Well you will be surprised to know that it has no Irish associations whatever!

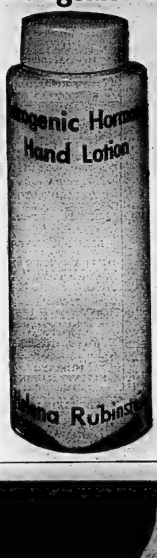
It was written over 70 years ago by an American composer, Thomas Westendorf, as a musical promise made to his wife Kathleen, that he would take her back to her home — not in Ireland, but — in Germany!

Whether Kathleen did go home, or whether she even wanted to, we sometimes wonder! Travel was difficult in those days — no luxurious airplanes, and no modern moving facilities, either. It was rough, then!

Any modern Kathleen would be tickled to bits to get a trip like that. She knows all she has to do is 'phone a Travel Agency, then Fox Cartage and Storage Ltd., and they'll do just everything. It's a fact!

Fox Cartage & Storage Limited will give you the top service you've always dreamed about, whether you're moving across the street, or to some far off city. Their trained packers know just how to protect all your treasured possessions, either for moving, or storing in one of their fireproof, spotlessly clean warehouses.

You don't have to lift even a finger on Moving Day when you entrust the job to FOX. They'll everything so much better than you could possibly do it yourself — and at such very reasonable rates, too. Get a FOX "Know-How" estimate on your next move.



You'll find Fox Cartage and Storage at: 34 Dundas St. E. Trenton, ED. 7-3565; 1378 Hammond St. Bowmanville, TE. 2-2211; 209 Front St. Picton, HU. 67-2497 (1 mile west on Petrolewa Highway) and in Picton Ex. 6 only.

Listen to our Radio Program "The Old Philosopher" on CJBQ Belleville 12:45 noon Saturdays. "FOX-FACTS" on CHUC Cobourg 8:30 a.m. Thursdays, and CHUC Cobourg 8.30 p.m.

Volcano Spews River Of Fire For Third Day

Kilauea Crater Shows Little Sign of Quieting

HONOLULU (AP) — Angry Kilauea volcano belched forth streams of searing hot lava and sent a grey pall of thick smoke high into the sky today as the eruption neared into its third day.

The 4,000-foot volcano's biggest, 1ki crater showed little sign of abating its fiery temper. Two waterfalls of liquid rock—bright red-orange in daylight—spilled from a 300 - yard rift in the crater's inner south wall into its lake some 300 to 500 feet below.

Kilauea 1ki, on the southeast side of Hawaii Island some 200 miles southeast of Honolulu, began erupting Saturday night. While-hot rocks were blasted up to 100 feet in the air before they tumbled back into the seething, wide crater.

Hawaii Visitors, Honolulu Star-Bulletin reporter, in a long dispatch describing a visit from the volcano site, said Sunday night: "One huge fountain of erupting lava is pouring out glowing streams of molten, rock into the crater lake below."

LIKE GOLDEN STREAMS

"Channels of glowing lava, which at times have been streams of 24-carat liquid gold, drop 300 feet down the inner wall of the crater. The bed of the lake is a shimmering mass of golden fire."

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin's Jerry Eaton of the volcano observatory staff said: "I have just climbed into the fiery pit Sunday for an on-the-spot survey. Wearing thick boots, gloves and protective hoods, the group walked between streams of molten lava. They stuck thermometers into liquid rock and took samples of lava for testing.

Thousands of spectators continued to flock to Kilauea to see the volcano, tying up traffic for miles when it became apparent that the latest eruptions were no threat to surrounding farm areas.

MINOR QUAKES

Minor quakes, however, continued to rumble through the volcano zone.

Kilauea 1ki, one of seven craters that make up Kilauea volcano, last erupted in 1868. Its last small - scale eruption occurred in the Kilauea volcano area in 1955.

Two Policemen Start Night Watch on Prince

NEWBURY, England (Reuters) — Two policemen this morning ended their first all-night shift under new security arrangements for 11-year-old Prince Charles at his boarding school here.

The extra dawn-to-dusk patrol, announced Sunday night by Scotland Yard, was instituted "owing to several instances of unauthorized persons loitering in the vicinity of the school during recent months."

The two policemen will patrol the school grounds, in a heavily-wooded area 50 miles west of London, during the school terms.

The daytime guard at Elstree preparatory school is Detective Reginald Gregson, who has been watching over the prince for the last two years.

FOUR OF FAMILY BOUND, GAGGED, SHOT IN HEADS

Wheat Expert, Wife, Son, Daughter Slain

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — In a farm home far off the beaten path of this vast wheat area four members of a prominent grain family have been murdered during the weekend.

Herbert Cluttter, 48, his wife, Bonnie, 45, their 16-year-old daughter, Nancy Mae, and 15-year-old son Kenyon, were bound hand and foot and gagged. All were shot dead in the head and Clutter's throat was slashed.

Police don't know who killed the Clutters. They haven't determined the motive.

Nothing in the house was in disorder. The bodies appeared to be missing. Money which had been placed in an envelope for the church lay on a bedroom dresser alongside a diamond ring.

The coroner, Dr. Robert Fenton, said Mrs. Clutter, 45, and daughter apparently were not molested sexually. He placed the time of the murders as 2 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday.

GIRLS FIND BODIES

The bodies were found a ride each Sunday to two of Nancy's schoolmates. Nancy, Susan Kidwell and Susan Kidwell, stumbled on the killings when they were driven to the Clutter home.

Clutter, a founder of the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers, was a past president of the National Wheat Growers Association and president of the Garden City Equity Exchange and a director of the Garden City Cooperative. President Eisenhower appointed him in 1956 to the advisory board of the federal farm credit board.

Nancy and Kenyon attended school in Holcomb, a village about a mile from their home. Both were honor students and Nancy last week won the school's annual citizenship award.

READY TO RETIRE

The family apparently had been preparing to retire when they were attacked. All except Kenyon were in pajamas. The bodies of Mrs. Clutter and Nancy were in separate bedrooms. Clutter and Kenyon were found in the basement.

The home is nearly a mile away from any through road. The only phone facilities close by are the family of Alfred Stoecklein, who has worked 11 years as a farm hand for the Clutters.

Stoecklein said he saw the Clutters early Saturday evening, before he and his wife and three children went to town. He said when they returned about 9:30 p.m. they retired and heard no disturbance.

8 New Cardinals Named by Pope Include 3 Italians and 2 Americans

VATICAN CITY (CP) — Eight new cardinals were named by Pope John today and the pontiff announced they would be elevated to the red hat—symbol of their high office—at a consistory next month.

The eight cardinals-designate will be created at a secret consistory on Dec. 14. A public consistory to follow will be held when they receive the red hat, Pope John said.

Pope John today also announced he had confirmed the elevation of Cardinal Cicognani, for 22 years apostolic delegate in the United States, to succeed Cardinal Tisserant as secretary of the congregation for the Eastern Catholic Church.

The new cardinals are three Italians, a Spaniard, a German, a Briton and two Americans. One of these is the archbishop of Chicago, Albert G. Meyer, and the other Most Rev. Alois Joseph Muench, Bishop of Fargo, N.D., and papal nuncio to Germany.

The new British cardinal is Msgr. William Theodore Heard of Edinburgh, British dean of the Holy Roman Rota Tribunal. Others are Agostino Bea, German Jesuit who is confessor of the pontiff; Pope Pius XII; Arcadio Larraona, Spanish secretary of the sacred congregation of religious; Archbishop Gustavo Testa, apostolic nuncio to Switzerland; Archbishop Pericle Maria Felici, 64, apostolic nuncio to France, and Archbishop Amleto Cicognani, 77, secretary of the Ecclesiastical Tribunal.

The Pope's action increases the College of Cardinals to 79 members, its largest size in the history of the church.

Today's lottery announcement put the strength of the college had fallen to 71—28 Italians and 43 non-Italians.

Pope John held his first consistory for new cardinals last December when, in a historic decision, he raised the number from 70—a maximum set nearly 400 years ago—to 75.

With the new additions, the College of Cardinals will include 31 Italians and 48 non-Italians of other countries. Of the non-Italian cardinals, the United States has representation of six is exceeded only by France's seven. Canada has two.

The consistory on Dec. 14 will be secret.

It will be followed by a colorful public consistory in St. Peter's Basilica on Dec. 17 at which the new cardinals will receive the broad-brimmed red hats, the galeros, symbolic of their rank.

Mercury Falls to New Lows As Cold Spell Hits Prairies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Arctic air mass gripping Western Canada today at the mercury tumbled to new lows in one of the severest November cold spells on record.

Only Vancouver Island, the southwestern Ontario temperatures were 30 to 40 degrees below normal. The weather office said little moderation could be expected until Wednesday.

Temperatures were near or below freezing in the rest of Ontario and southern Quebec Sunday but the forecast today was for slightly milder weather in the Maritimes, balmy weather saw the mercury as high as 60 at some points.

Snow accompanied the cold in southwestern British Columbia and Manitoba. Record daytime lows were recorded Sunday at many centres on the prairies. In Edmonton and Calgary the temperature remained below zero.

The Arctic air mass gave Vancouver its first November freezing temperatures of the year. Roads were icy and two deaths near Yale, B.C., were directly attributed to slippery roads.

Heavy sleet is believed to have contributed to the 17-car pileup that razed near Nanaimo. Two persons were killed.

A high-level air mass now over the Prairies is expected to move within 48 hours, causing some moderation in temperatures, although it will remain cold, the weather office said.

The cold spell was moving eastward and was expected to reach Windsor by noon Tuesday and Toronto by evening. Rain was moving ahead of the storm in southern Ontario.

The public weather forecaster in Toronto said the storm will keep moving east through Ottawa and Montreal, reaching these areas in another day or two.

A flow of warm air moving in on the storm's southern edge will bring milder temperatures of about 40 degrees to southern Ontario today and near 50 farther south.

Southern Ontario temperatures were no higher than 35 degrees Saturday and between 19 and 25 degrees in the north.

DENVER (AP)—The weather-battered Rocky Mountain and northern great plains states cooped with a new blizzard today. Sub - zero temperatures were charted and wind gusts up to 60 miles an hour were clocked in parts of the Dakotas, Montana and Kansas. Blowing snow reduced visibility to near zero in some localities.

Low temperatures included 22 below zero at Butte and 23 at Helena, both in southwestern Montana; 23 Lewiston, Mont., and 14 at Sheridan in northern Wyoming.

At Scott Bluff, Neb., the temperature dropped from an afternoon high of 64 to zero by midnight. The temperature fell 28 degrees in one hour before midnight.

Helena, Montana capital that took the brunt of a record storm last week, recorded a 20 - inch snow depth with about six inches of new snow.

The new storm dropped two to six inches of new snow over Montana, but all main highways remained open. Air travel was halted, but trains and buses managed to keep near schedule.

In western Montana, authorities were looking for two missing hunters, Fred Miller and Joe Kent, both 60. Miller has been on last Sunday while hunting in the Bitterroot Mountains where the area is 14 to 16 inches deep.

The snow generally had ended in Wyoming but the storm crept eastward and southward into Utah, New Mexico and Texas, western Kansas and western Nebraska.

The weather bureau said the cold front would extend from Texas to Minnesota through the central Mississippi Valley by this evening.

'Charter of Freedom' Urged By Diefenbaker at Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker ended a highly political 10-hour tour of Nova Scotia with a plea for Western nations to draw up a new "charter of freedom" to tell east and west "what freedom really means."

The prime minister, in a jovial mood, changed the flight atmosphere from that of a political tour to the Halifax Canadian Club with an earnest observation that the West is in a "struggle for the souls of men."

He said people of Africa and Asia are suspicious of the motives behind Western offers of help and for their peoples was not enough. The new charter should emphasize that "the West has no sinister motives.

ANTI-COMMUNISM

"I believe there should be a joint declaration similar in kind to the Atlantic charter which will set forth the idealism and dynamism of the West for good of the forces of freedom."

Mr. Diefenbaker added that material aid alone from the West can't feed empty stomachs with promise of political improvements."

The address was one of four the prime minister made during the visit. He also talked with local political leaders and attended two receptions.

The main purpose of the visit was to commission the navy's new destroyer escort an hour in a chilling rain. But the ceremony, not necessary, but wasted few words in addition.

"This is obviously not the time for long speeches," he said.

FAUX PAS

Veteran naval officials grinned when they noted the prime minister's background betrayed him during the welcome by a navy band escorted to the Chaudiere as "a boat." In the navy, chaudiere is only small craft are called boats.

Speaking at a convention of the Nova Scotia Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Diefenbaker described Halifax and Saint John, N.B., port officials that his government has no plans to keep the Saint Lawrence open all winter. Reports of such a scheme have been denied by officials, who time shipping officials, who time shipping officials to keep their winter shipping business.

NAPANEE-PICTON COUPLE DIE IN SUICIDE PACT

Bodies Found in Car in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (CP)—Two Canadians, a man and a woman, were found dead in each other's arms near here Saturday, apparently killed in a suicide pact.

The bodies of William Clare Joyce, 36, of Napanee and Beverly Alice Bladgley, 28, of Picton were found in a car parked in a wooded area, with a rubber exhaust hose through a window and all the windows closed.

According to sources in the Picton-Napanee area, both had been missing from their homes for about two weeks.

Both were married and had two children each, all boys of grade school age.

Joyce had worked as a car salesman in Napanee during last summer. Before that he ran an automobile business in Napanee where he still lived.

Mrs. Blakley was a housewife in Picton where her husband Robert worked in a hardware store.

Florida police said Joyce had only 81 cents in his pockets when the bodies were found. There was no baggage in the car.

After Talk Fest Gaullist Party Closes Ranks

BORDEAUX, France (AP)—President de Gaulle's Gaullist party got back in line today after a three-day meeting.

The knotty issue of Algeria at one time seemed to threaten the Gaullist party's unity. But agreement even on that issue was reached after the party's executive national congress ended.

Why Sunday night everything was back in place and the Union for the New Republic (UNR) was still intact.

Premier Michel Debre hurried from Paris to supply the final layer of mortar to the patched-up front. He had barely started speaking when the lights went out, the microphones went dead, and the vast Congress Hall was plunged into darkness. For the next 20 minutes, delegates tried to make himself heard above the noise of a storm.

Many delegates attributed the power breakdown to "nature, not Power returned just before the speech finished.

He told the 5,000 delegates that de Gaulle's plan for Algeria is "not only the best, but is no other way; that Europe cannot be built without Franco-German co-operation; that NATO can exist only if it respects the rights and interests of the Allies, especially the small ones."

Debre's Gaullist followers Sunday, who heads the UNR right wing, suffered a sharp defeat. The resolution flatly rejected self-Algeria—out of 22 submitted—that called for "the definitive integration of Algeria with France in which differents wanted. In effect it left the Algerian problem up to de Gaulle. Furthermore, only four delegates even seats on the party's 50-man central committee.

Wreck Of Plane With 42 Aboard Spotted In Gulf

No Signs of Survivors Says Line's Chief Pilot

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A U.S. Coast Guard helicopter reported today sighting bodies floating in the Gulf of Mexico amid scattered wreckage at the scene of a National Airlines plane crash. Forty-two persons were aboard.

The pilot of the helicopter, Lt.-Cmdr. Jim Durfee, did not indicate whether there were any survivors from the crash on the Miami-to-New Orleans run. The plane carried 36 passengers and a crew of six.

National's chief pilot, Capt. Charles H. Ruby, flew from Miami and found the wreckage.

Ruby said U.S. Coast Guard rescue boats were en route to the scene of the wreckage and should reach there in an hour.

The plane disappeared on a flight from Miami, Fla., to New Orleans.

The DC-7B was carrying 36 passengers and a three-man crew.

An airline spokesman said last radio contact came when the plane was 20 miles south of Chandelleur Island, 45-miles due south of St. Marks.

Those aboard included Jack Atkinson, federal aviation administration inspector, who was on the line check run. He was listed as a member of the crew.

LOST CONTACT

The airliner lost contact with the Miami control tower at 11:26 p.m. CST last night.

The crash was the second involving a National Airlines plane in six years. Another plane crashed in the gulf in 1953, taking 16 lives.

It was 12:20 a.m. CST (11:20 a.m. EST), the coast guard issued an urgent broadcast to search within 100 miles southeast of New Orleans, near Pass a Loutre at the mouth of the Mississippi River.

The coast guard's earlier report said the airliner had spotted an oil slick and life raft, but no survivors.

Ruby said, National Flight 977, vanished in a fog that enveloped the area a quarter mile from the International Airport at New Orleans. There was no indication of trouble aboard the plane, he said.

The plane already was about half an hour out of Miami when it left the Florida coast over Tampa Bay and began tracking it. The aircraft was flying at 11,000 feet over the 150-mile overwater route from Miami.

A radar station at Dauphin Island, just south of Mobile, Ala., said it was watching the plane on its screen "when it just dropped off."

The plane carried standard escape equipment for overwater flights, including life jackets for passengers and crew.

Dispatches from Zakinthos said a number of persons were injured.

Courted Girl by Tape Recordings From Radar Line, Weds in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A 35-year-old Scottsman and a 21-year-old girl from Furstenfeldbruc, Germany, were married here Sunday after a three-year courtship conducted by tape recorder.

Robert McLean, now a television company technician, and Susanna Mayhofer met in a telegrapher, were married in a tape-recorded ceremony after he had courted her from the isolated Mid-Canada radar line by sending tape recordings of his voice to Germany.

It started about three years ago when Bob's address was given to Susanna who had just returned to Europe from Toronto and wanted to perfect her English.

Then came the tape recordings. He recalled, "she was so softspoken and very pleasant."

When he moved to the North, he found they had many things in common.

Susanna says she was still mainly interested in her English studies and Bob turned out to be a help from the North: "I love you!"

Then she began to play back his old tapes and found the feeling was mutual.

Rev. George Service, the minister who married them, in a tape-recording enthusiast himself. He'll see that Bob's widowed mother in Scotland hears Susanna's parents in Germany can share the couple's happiest moments"—on tape.

Moscow Editor Has Been Fired For Oversight

MOSCOW (AP)—The editor of the newspaper Evening Moscow has been fired for major journalistic oversight — he did not get around to printing the news of the launching of the Soviet rocket that hit the moon in September.

"This serious political mistake was not accidental," said the monthly magazine Soviet Union in reporting the incident. "The editorial board of the newspaper has not displayed the necessary operativeness and sharpness in reflecting events of domestic and international life."

The dismissed editor is A. A. Fomichev. The complaint about not carrying the launching news was made at a meeting of the city committee of the Communist Party.

A study of the files shows the newspaper has been listing K. S. Kolesnikov as editor since Dec. 28. He formerly was a deputy editor.

Evening Moscow is a paper everyone in town reads for diverse news, television and theatre programs and for foreign affairs. Lively coverage of events not covered by the serious-minded government and Communist papers, Izvestia and Pravda.

Jewellery Week

Men's Gifts Have Elegant Success Look

This week is National Jewellery Week across Canada. Thousands of jewellers have been preparing for the coming Christmas season and there will be many items on the shelves of local jewellery stores which will appeal to everyone. One of the major lines to be emphasized this season will be men's jewellery.

If you want to tell some man you're really headed for the top of the heap, there's no better way this Christmas than with a gift of fine jewellery.

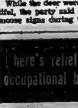
The new cuff links of textured gold or silver with perhaps the gleam of a precious or semi-precious stone provide the touch of brightness that suits in dark colors call for. They are also the kind of touch that identifies a man who thinks a lot about his appearance — for knows a woman who does.

Shining examples include those of black enamel with a textured gold plaques, lapis lazuli in a three-dimensional silver setting, curved gold bands set with rubies, and tigers'-eyes engraved on gold.

There are also reflections of Edwardian elegance in dress links banded with textured gold. And, of course, gold cuff links with the owner's initials engraved in fine script are timeless and always appeal.

DISTINCTIVE WATCHES.

New watches also serve as satisfying accessories. They are thinner and lighter than ever, and golden touches of things as distinctive lettering and patrician shapes.



Signet rings, whether stone set, signet or emblematic, quickly become personal, through their modern appearance, a hint of distinction or achievement in the wearer.

Cigaret lighters and cases are also lighter and sleeker — and also handsomer. Other gifts of functional elegance that are sure to be appreciated include gold chains and gold-filled pen and pencil sets.

All writers of men's fashion notes are agreed that men are showing more and more signs that they like to receive as well as give jewellery. It's a smart woman — and not altogether an unselfish one — who encourages them.

Marmora Street School Grads Are Honored

TRENTON — V. P. Carswell, supervising principal of Trenton public schools, urged young people to get all the education they could while their minds were still youthful and flexible, at the annual commencement exercises of grade 8 students who graduated from Marmora Street Senior Public School last term. The graduating exercises were held in Queen Elizabeth School on Thursday night, due to the fact that the auditorium in Marmora Street School has been divided into classrooms, to cope with overcrowding.

Mr. Carswell stated that figures released by the National Employment Service indicated that 70 per cent of men and boys, and 30 per cent of women and girls, applying to the service for jobs were unskilled. Employers were individuals with grade 8 or less education. The speaker went on to say that the most frequent visitor at the employment bureau was the person who told fortyfive or early 40s who had taken high paying jobs during the last war, and after the war had found themselves without adequate education to qualify for jobs where unskilled labor was wanted.

Mr. Carswell said that many young people leave school and quit with the assure a quarter's degree of independence, but, in a great many cases, realize the crippling handicap they have in later life, and try to work and study at the same time. To them the education they could have had for the asking seems like golden opportunities. He urged any students who, through circumstances, have left school, to continue their education with good readjustment.

The evening program was opened with a welcoming address by Gregory Reynolds, president of last year's student council.

ADDRESSES GRADUATES

The Rev. D. C. Cuthelland, principal, briefly to the assembly, telling the graduates to expand their interests, particularly in mental and spiritual, and urging special concentration on the latter during the years ahead.

Mr. A. S. Robson, principal of Trenton Collegiate, was the chairman for the evening. He told the group of graduates that it was a pleasure for him to wish that they continue the good habit in the classrooms and on the playing field which they had been taught in the school.

Mr. Robson presented the girls and boys who had been in the grade 8 last year with graduation certificates and pins.

Miss Susan Leavey delivered the valedictory address. She recalled many serious and humorous incidents which had happened while she and her fellow graduates were students in the Marmora Street School.

E. Warren Chase, who left the classroom at the last year to accept a teaching position in Cobourg, presented certificates and pins to members of the class who had graduate last term.

As a return courtesy, Barbara Taylor and Shirley Goodwin, presented Mr. Chase with a certificate and pin, signifying his "graduation."

Miss Margaret Cochrane and Mrs. E. R. Wood presented the girls and pins to the members of the classes they had taught last year.

Entertainment throughout the evening was provided by Donna Nicholson, Patty Fitzgibbon and Linda Webb.

Mr. R. A. Dunsmore (second from right) representing the Ontario Department of Education, cuts ribbon officially opening the South Thurlow School Area Board Douglas R. Atkins School on Elmwood Drive east of the city. Others seen in the picture taken at the main entrance of the new school are: Douglas S. McLean, board chairman, and board members Kenneth Greatrix, Douglas R. Atkins, after whom the school was named, and Arnold Mitchell.

Proudly holding school plaque for new Douglas R. Atkins School are two of its pupils, Paul Greatrix, 7, and Valerie Brown, 9. Plaque was presented to school by architects Barnett and Bleeker at official opening Saturday afternoon.

Douglas R. Atkins, long-time member of the Thurlow township school board and after whom new four roomed composite school is named, tried out student's desk as teachers Claude Hennessy and Thelma Prest look on. New school provides classroom accommodation for pupils who previously attended four other schools.

New Douglas R. Atkins School With Enrollment of 127 Pupils Opened in Thurlow Township

First composite school in the Thurlow township area, the new four-roomed Douglas R. Atkins School on Elmwood Drive east of the city was officially opened on Saturday afternoon in the presence of a large crowd of South Thurlow School Area ratepayers.

Mr. R. A. Dunsmore, representing the Ontario Department of Education, cut the ribbon to officially open the modern new school which has been in use since September. Already 12 additional decks have had to be installed to accommodate pupils. Enrollment is now 127.

Named after Douglas R. Atkins, long time member of the Thurlow School Board, the new South Thurlow Area school accommodates pupils from four former township schools which have been closed. The other is Belleville school, Marysville, taken over by the city at the time of annexation.

Mr. Dunsmore told the gathering of parents, township officials and guests that there was no better investment than good schools and good teachers to give children a good education.

"There is nothing cheaper than good schools and no better investment than good teachers for good schools," said the speaker.

DEFENDED HIGH COST

At the same time Mr. Dunsmore defended the high cost of education noting that actually only three cents out of each dollar of the national product went for education.

In comparison to this hundreds of millions of dollars were spent on luxuries.

We think nothing of spending anything up to two or three thousand dollars when turning in our car on new models every few years, but seem to resent the cost of education," he said.

The speaker said that parents were shirking some of their responsibilities of rearing their children toward the school and stressed that the trend should be in the other direction. Parents should answer their children's questions, take an interest in what they were doing at school, and provide a few tasks for the child to do at home," he said.

In conclusion, Mr. Dunsmore stressed the value of a higher education in the modern age. He said that government statistics showed that only 56 out of a 100 public complete grade 10 and only 21 of a 100 complete grade 12 in high school, while only nine out of five who start university stay long enough to graduate.

Lack of education was reflected in unemployment with one-half of all persons applying for work, having completed only grade seven in public school.

Chairman of the South Thurlow School Area Board, Mr. Douglas S. McLean, presided over the official opening ceremonies. He said the new school which has been in use since September, already 12 additional decks have had to be installed to accommodate pupils. Enrollment is now 127.

Mr. McLean introduced, but not the school boarding Douglas R. Atkins, whom the new school is named, Arnold Mitchell and Kenneth Greatrix. A fourth member, Gordon Ray, was unable to be present.

School staff members, Principal Murray Workman, Miss Thelma Prest, Miss Gayle Pitts, and Claude Hennessy, were also introduced.

SCHOOL DEDICATED

The new school was dedicated by Rev. W. Dovey, minister at Front Road United Church. Mr. Atkins presented a new flag to the school with appreciation expressed by board member A. Mitchell. Keys for the school were presented by Mr. Don Jackson, representing general contractors Hugh Murray Ltd., while Mr. Robt. Creighton, representing architects, Barnett and Bleeker, presented a bronze plaque bearing the names of board members and teachers.

Also speaking briefly at the ceremony were Mr. Arthur Cummings, former public school inspector, who had taken a leading part in planning for the new school, Mr. C. T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings East, who introduced Mr. Dunsmore and Thurlow Reeve Alf Wickett, who expressed thanks to the speaker.

Following the opening ceremonies visitors were served refreshments and invited to inspect the new school.

Resident Trips Over Footstool, Breaks Hip

FRANKFORD — Tragedy was narrowly averted in this village last week when Mr. Jack McInally on his way down town thought he heard a cry for help coming from the residence of his neighbor, Mrs. D. Vanderwort. On looking through a window he saw Mrs. Vanderwort lying on the floor of her living room. He called a doctor immediately and the elderly lady was moved by ambulance to Belleville Hospital where it was found that she had suffered a broken hip.

The previous morning she turned on her radio and in moving away from the set had tripped over the footstool and had lain helpless on the floor for more than 24 hours.

Passersby had been unable to hear her calls for help because of the radio, and her neighbors also hearing the set had not been alarmed at not seeing her about. But for the keen ears of Mr. McInally a most unfortunate and painful accident could have been much worse.

Power Failure Causes Blackout In Trenton Area

Candles came into their own in Trenton when a power failure blacked out the town for about 10 minutes early this morning.

According to a spokesman for the Ontario Hydro Commission on Dundas Street in Belleville the power failure was the result of breakdown on the 44,000 volt oil circuit breaker at the Sidney transformer, two miles north of Trenton.

The spokesman added the emergency alternate service available during such breakdowns restored power in 10 minutes.

The blackout did not affect too many households as it came at about two a.m.

Trenton Memorial Hospital, and the RCAF Station were both affected by the breakdown, but it caused little inconvenience at either place.

At the hospital, there is a manually operated power unit for use in emergencies, which is brought into use immediately.

The RCAF Station also has an auxiliary unit which cuts in — with a seven-second delay — as soon as a power failure occurs. This means the directional beacon and radio equipment can be maintained with virtually no breakdown in service.

In the event of a plane having to land, said an RCAF spokesman, due to engine failure or lack of gas an alternative flare path can be laid out within 20 minutes.

Hydro engineers are working on the circuit this morning, and have not pinpointed the exact cause of the failure. There will be no loss of power.

Frank Weir Wins Three Prizes At Winter Fair

A comparative newcomer to the professional poultry showmanship ranks, Mr. Frank Weir, 63 South Front Street, has capped three prizes in a Bantam poultry class at the Royal Winter Fair, Mr. Weir took third prize with his cock Bantam, and 3rd and 4th prizes with a pair of hens.

Mr. Weir has shown at Belleville fair for the past two years and last year won three first prizes here, but this is his first time for the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto.

Mr. Roy Messervy, of this city, who was one of the poultry judges at the Royal although not for the Bantam classes, said Mr. Weir did well in competing with old-time professionals from all across Canada.

"To win three prizes the first time out, and against professionals from all across Canada, is pretty encouraging," noted Mr. Messervy.

e Credit Crisis

has brought some strange proposals
d for money which exists in Canada an be met. That it should not be ced increase in the money supply y by Prime Minister Diefenbaker in an appearance on "The Nation's Bus-

Mr. Diefenbaker is right. Any increase in the money supply by the Bank of Canada would be inflationary unless ample evidence exists to show that the productive output of the country has increased comparably.

Nor is it surprising that the Prime Minister should not be concerned about the effect of the credit crisis on those who need to borrow money. Mr. Diefenbaker himself knows from personal experience what it is to be hard up and to find money difficult to borrow.

Whether his suggestion that the chartered banks should "rearrange their outstanding loans to the end that some large borrowers will be taking notes so that small borrowers can get more," is the proper short-term answer to the problem is one which raises many questions. What must be remembered is that most of the money out on loan by the chartered banks belongs to their scores of thousands of depositors, small and large, across the country. Funds belonging to the chartered banks which are used to loan purposes are relatively small.

The chartered banks have a responsibility to use their depositors, to people with savings accounts, to use their money as prudently as possible. What is a prudent loan to make and what is not only experienced banking people are competent to judge.

Nothing could be more unwise than for the chartered banks to be forced into lending policies based only on what might be termed political expedient. To do so would place the savings of hundreds of thousands of depositors in jeopardy.

Farm Use for Natural Gas

Since it is commonly supposed that it is Ontario's city dwellers and urban industry that will benefit from the expanding use of Alberta natural gas in this province, it is interesting to learn of farmers employing the new fuel to advantage. The story concerns the new tobacco-growing area at Colborne, near Trenton.

Soil and climate in this section are suitable for growing bright-leaf tobacco, the principal type used in Canadian cigarets. Curing the tobacco is a six-day process. The leaves are strung on racks and hung in twenty-foot square kilns, which are then sealed tight. The kilns are slowly brought to curing temperature over a two-day period; the high heat is maintained for two days, and two days are required for cooling off. The need for exact control of heat is quite apparent and it was this factor, plus a saving in fuel costs, that led farmers in the area to seek natural gas service.

About thirty miles of natural gas pipeline are already in operation, and it is reported that ninety per cent of farmers along the route have switched to natural gas from other fuels. It is understood that another advantage in using natural gas is that it reduces the farmers' cost of fire insurance premiums. This latter point was an answer to the claims heard before Alberta's natural gas reached Ontario, that there would be some extra hazard in the use of the new fuel.

Some Remedy!

President Charles de Gaulle of France dislikes the present three-power atomic club because he sees in it a possible world dictatorship some time in the future.

"In truth," he says, "France in equipping herself with a nuclear weapon will render a service to world equilibrium."

It is to be devoutly hoped that he is right, for with a fourth nation possessing the power to start a holocaust the necessity for the world preserving this equilibrium is enhanced considerably.

De Gaulle's recipe for stopping the shaking of a palsied man would apparently be to have him mount a tight-rope across Niagara.

THE HOME TOWN PAPER

By EDGAR A. GUEST

It's like a smiling, friendly face;
It's like a voice you long have known.
You see it in some distant place
And rush to claim it for your own.
The paper from your old home town
Has bridged the long and dreary miles;
And with it you can settle down
Among familiar tears and smiles.

It speaks of every friend you know,
It tells of scenes you yearn to see;
It brings back joys of long ago
And tells of joys that are to be.
And as you run its columns o'er,
Your yesterdays come flooping back;
You fancy you're at home once more,
And golden seem the letters black.

Its speech is one you understand,
It tells of grief that you can share;
It brings you, in that distant land,
Glad messages to banish care.
There, among scenes and faces strange,
This old-home paper seems to be
The faithful friend that doesn't change,
And as you run its columns o'er,

Ratepayers Assoc. Meeting Impresses

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Being a constant reader of our Ontario Intelligencer I would appreciate your seeing fit to publish my opinion and impressions of the meeting of the East Belleville Ratepayers' Association.

Being just a guest at this meeting I was deeply impressed by the large audience that attended. It showed a great spirit of interest, sincerity and intelligence. It was also surprising to hear that most of them were from the new area, who realize how important it is to have the privilege to exercise their right of expression and their opinion duly, knowing that it is better to be free than bound or misled.

It is also a great privilege to commend the East Belleville Ratepayers' Association for the action on the way the president and committee have conducted this and other meetings, also the method of selecting the candidates for the Board. Their time and energy and hard work should, and I think is, by the members of the association, be highly respected.

It is also encouraging to hear the women express their views and advise with fine educational spirit and sincerity. Here is where I think the voters of the Bay Ward can look closely in shame at themselves as they allowed their council of the past to be run in a loose and so loosely, ignoring the principles of sound policy in the use of justice and the rule book, the Municipal Act.

I am sure, or hope and trust, that these associations will continue for the good of the city. No doubt in the minds of many the future will be of this city and people of the annexed area, who are not asleep like "Old Belleville."

They realize and know it was not their mistake and that it will take work, sweat and tears, and stout hearts to face the future as this must not occur again.

Keep up the good spirit; good luck and prosperity to your association, but we are still the slaves of created circumstances.

An Onlooker.

Takes Issue With Curfew Law Criticism

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Your editorial entitled "Provincial Police" dated November 9, 1959, raised a most interesting problem in referring to Section 33 of the Child Welfare Act.

The actual reference is Section 33 sub-section (3) which reads as follows: "no boy or girl under sixteen years of age shall loiter in any public place between the hours of 9.00 o'clock in the afternoon and 6.00 o'clock in the morning of the following day or be in any place of public resort or entertainment during such hours unless accompanied by his or her parent or guardian or an adult person appointed by the parent or guardian to accompany the boy or girl."

The editorial suggests that a Boy Scout or Girl Guide could sixteen attending a Scout or Guide meeting are being out of doors after 9.00 p.m. would be in breach of the statute.

I would think no doubt this to be the case.

It would seem to me that the essential word in the statute is the word "loiter". The word loiter has been judicially described as being to travel indolently or with frequent stoppages and has connoting the idea of lingering.

I think it is not an unreasonable that Boy Scouts and Girl Guides are loitering either when attending their meetings or on their return from their meetings.

The editorial says this is a foolish law "unless English words no longer mean what they are supposed to mean and this is always a possibility when they are handled by lawyers".

Perhaps I have been unfortunate well had your editorial writer spoken to a member of that profession before writing the editorial.

Without consulting a solicitor any person could rule out the meaning of the word "loiter" and easily discern the true intent and purpose of the statute which is quite plausible one.

It does not preclude legitimate activity by children at night of the nature referred to or their return from that activity at any hour of the night.

If however most definitely strikes at children under the age of sixteen standing indolently on Front Street in Belleville.

Does your editorial writer suggest that this is a good thing?

Kenneth G. M. Ross.

Asks for Support Of City Solicitor

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

As the result of a move by some members of City Council to have him fired, the city solicitor, Mr. R. A. Pringle, has demanded that he be given a vote of confidence by Council today.)

It is not clear at this moment what motivated this move, but whatever merits it may have it is unfortunate that it should be ill-timed, and if successful would only result in further disruption at City Hall.

There can be no doubt about Mr. Pringle's ability as a solicitor, nor can there be any doubt about his knowledge of city affairs. No other solicitor in Belleville is as conversant with the problems now facing the city as he, and it would be the height of folly to lose his services at a time when the city is struggling to get out of a difficult situation.

Mr. Pringle should be given a vote of confidence and it should be unanimous.

Gives Reason For Broadcast

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I read with great surprise in your account of the efforts that one of the aldermen of the city wants to bar the Citizens of Belleville from hearing the city council meetings on the radio.

I would like to know from what reason this notice of motion was made, it is hard to believe that anyone in this city would want to suppress the news as it happens.

I wonder if the alderman believes that the press should also have the right to be present and especially this year, the importance of this city in carrying out many things of interest to the people, radio and the press and it is my firm opinion that it is the way the citizens of Belleville would like it.

If any organization or person is ashamed of what they are doing or saying, then it is time they took another look at themselves and remembered the matter all they are Canadians and Canadians fought in the Freedom of the Press and news whether it is written on paper or given by a commentator on the radio, don't we?

Hoping to find space in your newspaper for this.

Kwai Bridge Cemetery

World Veterans

"The Bridge on the River Kwai" has thrilled cinema audiences the world over. But for some of the survivors of that famous film it must have awakened many tragic memories of the comrades who died during the Pacific war while working on the infamous Burma railway.

Most of the dead men are buried not far from the site of the fatal bridge, in the Kanchanburi War Cemetery which is now a shrine for visitors. Australians and 338 whose nationality remains forever unknown. Of the latter, some 300 other victims of the Burma railway and bridge are buried in a single common grave. A memorial to them is standing nearby.

Kanchanburi is under the jurisdiction of the War Graves Commission and its grounds are maintained by 15 Thai gardeners and 4 Indonesian headgardener. Each grave bears a bronze plaque carrying the name of the soldier and his regiment, together with his regimental badge. Nearby is a large house where relatives of the fallen can sign the register, come on pilgrimage to the last resting place of the men of the River and A.

Strictly Personal Snapping Back At Snap Judgments

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We had dinner with another couple last night — a couple I have come to cherish as two of my dearest friends — and I recalled my first impression of them many years ago.

We met at a mutual party, and I was convinced that he was a fool and she was a snob. It was not until half a dozen meetings later that I realized they were both paralyzed with fear at meeting new people, and reacted with feigned stupidity in his case, and cold hauteur in hers.

Much of the time when we think we know people we know only their social defenses; the rest of the time their social defenses are hiding themselves. They are so desirous of being liked, and so fearful they will not be, that they prefer being misjudged to being proved.

This is, then, some faces are unfortunate. I don't mean they are homely or unattractive, but they carry an expression that seems aloof, or contemptuous, or bored — while the true personality is none of these things.

Teachers often always telling me, for instance, to take that look off my face. But they were so "look." It was my face. Could I help it if the outline of my soul was distorted by a defective expression?

While I am talking down an office hall, or along the street, I often a million miles away from the person I am with, and am subject to sally unrelated to the people I mean. But I never realize, at the time, that when I greet them absent mindedly, they may think I am aloof and am cutting them dead if they did not know me better.

Another fear of misjudgment is conveyed by physical characteristics that have little relation to reality. In my case, I have dark circles under my eyes. I've had them since I was a child. They are a family trait and my mother, who doesn't know what the word "dissipation" means, has had them nearly all her life.

Yet, upon meeting me for the first time, people will often think that I have spent the last few nights rolistering in some gilded tavern, when actually I have been in bed with tennis with the kids in our playroom, consuming vast quantities of milk and cookies, and retiring at 10 p.m.

I do not mean for these observations to become autobiographical, but merely to suggest how often are the ones that come to mind first. Many of my friends, and yours, have suffered from expressions or appearances over which they had no control.

Even after knowing this, I am still likely to make snap judgments about strangers — but at least I try to point out to myself them back after the strangers become more familiar.

To Your Good Health

PROLONGED THUMB SUCKING CAN HARM CHILD'S TEETH

"I've just looked over a prominent dentist's report on thumb-sucking.

It doesn't look as though he and I are very far apart in our basic beliefs. But we look at the problem from different viewpoints.

His: That thumb-sucking can be harmful to the teeth, and is a dental problem.

Mine: That thumb-sucking, most of the time, is a perfectly harmless phase of babyhood, but if prolonged, can be harmful to the teeth, and then may become a dental problem. But it usually doesn't.

I've seen photographs of children whose teeth have been pushed out of position, whose mouths have been deformed by years of thumb-sucking. I've even seen some of the child—

If an orthodontist, in 13 or 18 months, can straighten crooked teeth with braces, then it stands to reason that constant pressure from thumb-sucking many hours a day and for a period of years can push teeth out of position.

If little Susie Queue gets big feelings hurt, and sits in a corner pouting, with his thumb in his mouth, and keeps it there once a month, I don't think that calls for yanking the thumb out of his unhappy mouth.

But if little Johnny, next door, is at age 5 a familiar sight with his thumb in his mouth almost mouth and you just never see him without it, and he needs both hands for something, then little Johnny is making too good a habit out of it.

If you want my frank opinion, I don't think thumb-sucking is a problem for either doctors or dentists to get excited. I think it's a problem for parents to solve.

There's no reason for parents to be disturbed, however, by occasionally finding solace in his thumb. There's no occasion to alarm if he does it for several weeks. There's going to be no harm if it continues for several months — but in that case you're getting fair warning, and you'd better start doing something.

Don't make a federal case out of it, as the saying goes. Don't punish. The goal is to stop the thumb-sucking, not to put the fear of Papa into the child.

Going back to the dentist, he presents statistics that 3 years of age, such varied deterrants as sleeper sleeves and simple medication in the thumb have worked success fully."

I agree. Many thumb-sucking becomes an ingrained habit, it's true, of constant trouble. The casual, incidental thumb-sucking is quite common and harmless. After all, we have to hunt through thousands of children to find one "horrible example" who has forced his teeth all out of shape.

It happens, it's a sad, sad thing.

But it's up to parents to think clearly about this, and decide when a casual bit of thumb-sucking has changed into the beginning of an ingrained habit. Then get busy. "What about those 3 year olds?" And about 4 year olds and 5 year olds? Why, they're all over the place.

Most likely the cause could be tiny blood vessels near the surface which rupture easily or a slight bump. Sometimes requires cauterization by your doctor. Then, usually, he'll quickly enough start looking for one of the rarer causes.

So: Stop thumb-sucking and operate in which most breast cancers (which must first be found) are found. The lower outer quarter is the site of about half of breast cancers; the upper quarters are the site of the rest.

What about constipation? They can be relieved at both mentally and physically, by reading my booklet "The Way to Relieve Constipation." For a copy write to me in care of The Belleville Ontario Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents coin to cover handling.

Some months ago on a week, a certain coast, a woman was informed by her doctor that she had a rare and deadly disease and would die soon die. She forthwith interested her affairs and made up her mind to live each day as if it were her last day. Then she began to read the Bible in course, and when she came to the 23rd chapter of Matthew, the people who heard the words. Well acquainted with faithful servants, were astonished that their Lord should have noted their daily helpful ministry to people who were in need.

The place to be noble is where we are, and the time, right now. Great noble acts, spectacular service — these things are all very good. But quiet, daily deeds of love are the daily, unremembered acts of thoughtfulness and love.

Mr. R. A. Dunsmore (second from right) representing the Ontario Department of Education, cuts ribbon officially opening the South Thurlow School Area Board Douglas R. McLean, board chairman, and board members Kenneth Greatrix, Douglas R. Atkins, after whom the school was named, and Arnold Mitchell.

New Douglas R. Atkins School With Enrollment of 127 Pupils Opened in Thurlow Township

First composite school in the Thurlow township area, the new four-roomed Douglas R. Atkins School on Elmwood Drive east of the city was officially opened on Saturday afternoon in the presence of a large crowd of South Thurlow School Area ratepayers.

Mr. R. A. Dunsmore, representing the Ontario Department of Education, cut the ribbon to officially open the modern new school which has been in use since September. Already 12 additional desks have had to be installed to accommodate pupils. Enrollment is now 127.

Named after Douglas R. Atkins, long time member of the Thurlow School Board, the new South Thurlow Area school accommodates pupils from four former township schools which have been closed. The other township school, Bayridge, will be taken over by the city at the time of annexation.

Mr. Dunsmore told the gathering of parents, township officials and others that there was no better investment than good schools and good teachers to give children a good education.

"There is nothing cheaper than good schools and no better investment than good teachers for good schools," said the speaker.

DEFENDED HIGH COST

At the same time Mr. Dunsmore defended the high cost of education noting that it actually only three cents out of each dollar of the national product went for education.

In comparison to this hundreds of millions of dollars were spent on luxuries.

"We think nothing of spending anything up to two or three thousand dollars when turning in our car on new models every few years, but seem to resent the cost of education," he said.

The speaker said that parents were shirking some of the responsibilities of rearing their children toward the school and stressed that the trend should be in the other direction. Parents should answer their children's questions, take an interest in what they were doing at school, and provide a few tasks for the child to do at home," he said.

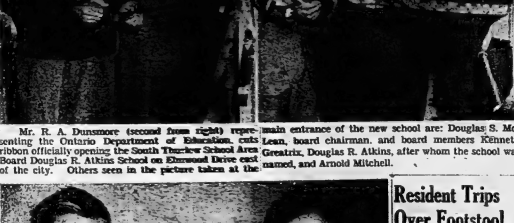
In conclusion, Mr. Dunsmore stressed the value of higher education in the modern age. He said that government statistics showed that only 56 out of a 100 pupils complete grade 10 and only 21 of a 100 complete grade 12 in high school, while only one out of five who start university stay long enough to graduate.

Lack of education was reflected in unemployment with one-half of all persons applying for work, having completed only grade seven in public school.

Chairman of the South Thurlow School Area Board, Mr. Douglas S. McLean, presided over the official opening ceremonies. He said the new school was as fire resistant as modern construction technique could achieve.

In constructing the school the board had planned for the future with roughed in plumbing and heating capable of serving an eight roomed school.

Mr. McLean introduced members of the school board, including Douglas R. Atkins after whom the new school is named, Arnold Mitchell and Kenneth Greatrix. A fourth member, Gordon Ray, was unable to be present.



School staff members, Principal Murray Workman, Miss Thelma Prest, Miss Gayle Pitts, and Claude Hennessy, were also introduced.

SCHOOL DEDICATED

The new school was dedicated by Rev. W. Dovey, minister at Front Road United Church, Mr. Atkins presented a new flag to the school with appreciation expressed by board member A. Mitchell. Keys for the school were presented by Mr. Don Jackson, representing general contractors Hugh Murray Ltd., and Mr. Robt. Creighton, representing architects, Barnett and Rieder, presented a bronze plaque bearing the names of board members and teachers.

Also speaking briefly at the ceremony were Mr. Arthur Cummings, former public school inspector, who had taken a leading part in planning for the new school, Mr. C. T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings East, who introduced Mr. Dunsmore and Thurlow Reeve Alf Wickett, who expressed thanks to the speaker.

Following the opening ceremonies visitors were served refreshments and invited to inspect the new school.

Proudly holding school plaque for new Douglas R. Atkins School is one of its pupils, Paul Greatrix, 7, and Valerie Brown, 9. Plaque was presented to school by architects Barnett and Rieder at official opening Saturday afternoon.

Power Failure Causes Blackout In Trenton Area

Candles came into their own in Trenton when a power failure blacked out the town for about 10 minutes early this morning.

According to a spokesman for the Ontario Hydro Commission on Dundas Street in Belleville, the power failure was the result of breakdown on the 44,000 volt oil circuit breaker at the Bidgood transformer, two miles north of Trenton.

The spokesman added the emergency alternate service available during such breakdowns restored power in 10 minutes.

The blackout did not affect too many households as it came at about two a.m.

Trenton Memorial Hospital, and the RCAF Station were both affected by the breakdown, but it caused little inconvenience at either place.

At the hospital, there is a manually operated power unit for use in emergencies, which is brought into use immediately.

The RCAF Station also has an auxiliary unit which cuts in — with a seven-second delay — as soon as a power failure occurs. This means the directional beacon and radio contact can be maintained with virtually no breakdown in service.

In the event of a plane having to land, said an RCAF spokesman, due to engine failure or lack of gas an alternative flare path can be laid out within 20 minutes.

Hydro engineers are working on the circuit this morning, and have not pinpointed the exact cause of the failure. There will be no loss of power.

Resident Trips Over Footstool, Breaks Hip

FRANKFORD — Tragedy was narrowly averted in the village last week when Mr. Jack McInally on his way down town thought he heard a cry for help coming from the residence of his neighbor, Mrs. D. Vandervoort. On looking through a window he saw Mrs. Vandervoort lying on the floor of her living room. He called a doctor immediately and the elderly lady was moved by ambulance to Belleville Hospital where it was found that she had suffered a broken hip.

The previous morning she turned on her radio and in moving away from the set had tripped over the footstool and had lain helpless on the floor for more than 24 hours.

Passersby had been unable to hear her calls for help because of the radio, and her neighbors also hearing the set had not been alarmed at not seeing her about. But for the keen eyes of Mr. McInally a most unfortunate and painful accident could have been much worse.

Frank Weir Wins Three Prizes At Winter Fair

A comparative newcomer to the professional poultry showmanship ranks, Mr. Frank Weir, 63 South Front Street, has copped three prizes in a Bantam poultry class at the Royal Winter Fair. Mr. Weir took third prize with his cock Bantam and 3rd and 4th prizes with a pair of hens.

Mr. Weir has shown at Belleville fair for the past two years and last year won three first prizes here, but this is his first time for the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto.

Mr. Ray Mcsweyy, of this city, was one of the poultry judges at the Royal alongst for the Bantam classes, said Mr. Weir did well in competing with old-time professionals from all across Canada.

"To win three prizes the first time out, and against professionals from all across Canada is pretty encouraging," noted Mr. Mcsweyy.

The Credit Crisis

The credit crisis has brought some strange proposals as to how the demand for money which exists in Canada at the present time can be met. That it should not be met by an unwarranted increase in the money supply has been made clear by Prime Minister Diefenbaker in a recent television appearance on "The Nation's Business."

Mr. Diefenbaker is right. Any increase in the money supply by the Bank of Canada would be inflationary unless ample evidence exists to show that the productive output of the country has increased comparably.

Nor is it surprising that the Prime Minister should be concerned about the effect of the credit crisis on those who need to borrow money. Mr. Diefenbaker himself knows from personal experience what it is to be hard up and to find money difficult to borrow.

Whether his suggestion that the chartered banks should "rearrange their outstanding loans to the end that some large borrowers will be taking less so that small borrowers can get more," is the proper short-term answer to the problem is one which raises many questions. What must be remembered is that most of the money out on loan by the chartered banks belongs to their scores of thousands of depositors, small and large, across the country. Funds belonging to the chartered banks which are used for loan purposes are relatively small.

The chartered banks have a responsibility to their depositors, to people with savings accounts, to use their money as prudently as possible. What is a prudent loan to make and what is not only experienced banking people are competent to judge.

Nothing could be more unwise than for the chartered banks to be forced to adopt lending policies based only on what might be deemed politically expedient. To do so would place the savings of hundreds of thousands of depositors in jeopardy.

Farm Use for Natural Gas

Since it is commonly supposed that it is Ontario's city dwellers and urban industry that will benefit from the expanding use of Alberta natural gas in this province, it is interesting to learn of farmers employing the new fuel to advantage. The story concerns the new tobacco-growing area at Colborne, near Trenton.

Soil and climate in this section are suitable for growing bright-leaf tobacco, the principal type used in Canadian cigarets. Curing the tobacco is a six-day process. The leaves are strung on racks and hung in twenty-foot square kilns, which are then sealed tight. The kilns are brought to curing temperature over a two-day period; the high heat is maintained for two days, and two days are consumed in cooling off. The need for exact control of heat is quite apparent, and it was this factor, plus a saving in fuel costs, that led farmers in the area to use natural gas service.

About thirty miles of natural gas pipeline are already in operation, and it is reported that about ninety per cent of farmers along the route have switched to natural gas from other fuels. It is understood that another advantage in using natural gas is that it reduces the farmers' cost of fire insurance premiums. This latter point gives an answer to the claims heard before Alberta's natural gas reached Ontario, that there would be some extra hazard in the use of the new fuel.

Some Remedy!

President Charles de Gaulle of France dislikes the present three-power atomic club because he sees in it a possible world dictatorship some time in the future.

"In truth," he says, "France in equipping herself with a nuclear weapon will render a service to world equilibrium."

It is to be devoutly hoped that he is right, for with a fourth nation possessing the power to start a holocaust the necessity for the world preserving this equilibrium is enhanced considerably.

De Gaulle's recipe for stopping the shaking of a palsied man would apparently be to have him mount a tight-rope across Niagara.

THE HOME TOWN PAPER

By EDGAR A. GUEST

It's like a smiling, friendly face;
It's like a voice you long have known;
You see it in some distant place
And rush to claim it for your own.
The paper from your old home town
Has bridged the long and dreary miles,
And with it you can settle down
Among familiar tears and smiles.

It speaks of every friend you know,
It tells of scenes you yearn to see;
It brings back joys of long ago
And tells of joys that are to be.
And as you run its columns o'er,

Your yesterdays come trooping back;
You fancy you're at home once more,
And golden seem the letters black.

Its speech is one you understand,
It tells of grief that you can share,
It brings you, in that distant land,
Glad messages to banish care.
There, among scenes and faces strange,
The old-home paper seems to be
The faithful friend that doesn't change,
A friend that you are glad to see.

Letters To The Editor

Ratepayers Assoc. Meeting Impresses

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Being a constant reader of our Ontario Intelligencer I would appreciate your seeing it in order to publish some of the impressions of the meeting of the East Belleville Ratepayers' Association.

I was just a guest at this meeting I was deeply impressed by the large audience that attended. It showed a great public spirit of interest, sincerity and intelligence. - It was also surprising to hear that most of the boys were from the new area, who realize how important it is to have the privilege to exercise their discretion and express their opinion openly, knowing that it is better to be free than be misled.

It is also a great privilege to meet with such men as the Belleville Ratepayers' Association - and others on the way the president and committee have conducted this and other meetings, also the method of presenting the case, didates for the election. Their duties are many and hard work should, and I think is, by the members of the association, to be thoroughly kept.

It was also encouraging to hear the speakers express their views and, advice with fine educational talent and sincerity, manifested clearly I think the voters of Old Belleville can look down the years ahead and see that they allowed their council of the past to be run for so long and so loosely. The proper principles of sound advice from the solicitor and the rule book of the Municipal Act.

I am sure, we hope and trust that these associations will continue for some time to come. No doubt in the near or distant future will be hard on the people of the annexed area, they are not asleep like "Old Belleville."

They will realize and know it was not their mistake and that it will take many a sweat and tears and stout hearts to face the future as this must not occur again.

Keep up the good spirit; good luck and success to your association, but you are still the slaves of created circumstances.

An Onlooker.

Takes Issue With Curfew Law Criticism

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Your editorial entitled "Provincial Curfew" of November 7th, has raised a most interesting problem in referring to Section 33 of The Child Welfare Act.

The actual reference is Section 33, sub-section. (3) which reads as follows: "no boy or girl under sixteen years of age shall loiter in any public place between the hours of 9.00 o'clock in the afternoon and 6.00 o'clock in the morning of the following day, nor be in any place of public resort or entertainment during such hours unless accompanied by his or her parent or guardian or an adult appointed by parent or guardian to accompany the boy or girl."

The editorial suggests that a Boy Scout or Girl Guide under the supervision of a Scout or Guide meeting and being out of doors after 9.00 p.m. would be in breach of the statute.

I would gravely doubt this to be the case.

It would seem to me that the word "loiter" in the statute is the word "loiter." The word loitering is defined as lingering or being to travel indolently or with frequent pauses and has the meaning of to idle away time.

I trust it is not to be suggested that Boy Scouts and Girl Guides are loitering either when attending their meetings or on their return from their meetings.

The editorial says this is a foolish law "unless English words are to mean what they are supposed to mean and this is always a possibility when they are handled by lawyers".

Perhaps it would have been well had a competent lawyer been spoken to a member of that profession before writing the editorial.

Without consulting a solicitor permit me to look up the meaning of the word "loiter" and easily discover the object intent and purpose of the statute which is a very sensible one.

It is not to prevent a boy taking activity by children at night of the nature referred to or their return from that activity at any hour of the night.

It however most definitely strikes at children under the age of sixteen standing indecently on Front Street in Belleville.

Does your editorial writer suggest that this is a good thing?

Kenneth G. M. Ross,
England.

Asks for Support Of City Solicitor

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

As the result of a move by some friends, I, the city solicitor, Mr. R. A. Pringle, am commanded that he be given a vote of confidence on Monday (today).

It is not clear at this moment what motivated this move, but whatever merits it may have it is impossible to see that it is ill-timed, and if successful would only result in further disruption at City Hall.

There can be no doubt about Mr. Pringle's ability as a solicitor, nor can there be any doubt about his knowledge of city affairs. No other solicitor in Belleville is as conversant with the problems now facing the city as he, and it would be the height of folly to lose his services at a time when the city is struggling to get out of a difficult financial situation.

Mr. Pringle should be given a vote of confidence, and it should be unanimous.

E. Guss Porter.

Gives Reason For Broadcast

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I read with great surprise in your account of city affairs that Mr. Pringle's application for leave wants to be the Citizens of Belleville from hearing the city affairs discussed at the meeting.

Although I do not know for what reason the notice of motion was made, it is hard to believe that anyone in this city would wish to suppress the news as it happens.

I cannot think the alderman believes that the press should also be barred. In the last few years and especially this year, the citizens of this city have learned of many things of interest through radio and the press and it is my firm opinion that is the way the citizens of Belleville want it.

If any organization or person is ashamed of what they are doing or saying, then I think they took another look at themselves and remember that after all they are Canadians and Canadians believe in the Freedom of the Press and news whether it is written on paper or given by a commentator on the radio, don't we?

Hoping you find space in your newspaper for this.

Kwai Bridge Cemetery

World Veteran

"The Bridge on the River Kwai" has brought sincere condolences the world over. But for Lieut. Col. Toosey of Ottawa this famous film it must have awakened many tragic memories — memories of the comrades who died during the Pacific war which ended with the atrocities of war on the infamous Burma Railway.

Most of the dead men are buried not far from the site of the fictional bridge in the Kanchanaburi War Cemetery which lies some two miles from Kanchanaburi town. There lie 3,500 British soldiers, more than 2,000 Australians and 538 men of additionally remains forever unknown. With them are 50,000 victims of the Burma railway, most of them buried in single communal graves. A fitting mortal to them is standing near-by.

Kanchanaburi is under the direction of the Deihi War Graves Commission and the cemeteries are maintained by 15 Thai gardeners and an Indonesian headgardener. Each grave bears a bronze plaque carrying the name of the soldier and his regiment, together with his regimental badge. At the head of each house where relatives of the fallen can stay when they come on pilgrimage. In the last resting place of the men of the River Kwai.

Earl of Dalhousie, who intended to settle his Highlanders there, but owing to certain financial difficulties, he changed his mind and transferred his affections to Manitoba. The township was then named Moulton by the Hon. D'Arcy Boulton, attorney-general of Upper Canada in 1829. He was born the family seat of Moulton in Lincolnshire,

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

NOVEMBER 16, 1910

On Sunday, September 10, 1939, the Dominion Government by the formal action of His Majesty's representative in Canada, declared that a "state of war existed. But one day earlier, on Saturday, September 9th, Canadians had projected themselves beyond the confines of Canada to participate in the state of affairs abroad. Ten thousand dollars was sent from England, for the relief of victims of the torpedoing of the Athenia; and doctors and nurses were rushed to meet the s.s. Flint bringing other rescued persons to Halifax.

In the British Red Cross, a vast organization of closely-knit branches, functioning automatically as day follows night, it follows disaster and emergency. Because generous as ever, it is energetic in its humanitarian calls of relief, hospitalization and similar endeavours. Also, as in the voluntary contributions of rich and poor, high and low. While it becomes peremptorily an auxiliary to the army navy and air services, it does not live on the government.

In this almost anomalous position it exists in international law as the sole accredited organization empowered to function in co-operation with the armed services, yet maintaining a strict neutrality which must be observed by combatants. Wholly voluntary, as already stated, funds from which purchases are made are also voluntary. During the last war, millions were collected, and all administered under a carefully audited system which provided hospitals at home and abroad with personnel, with the organization, equipment and materials for dental and medical services at home and abroad with comforts for soldiers and their dependents.

Snapping Back At Snap Judgments

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We had dinner with another couple last night — a couple I have come to dislike in the past few months — and I recalled my first impression of them many years ago.

We met at a small party, and I was convinced that he was a fool and she was a snob. It was not until half a dozen meetings later that I realized they were both paralyzed with fear at meeting new people, and reacted with feigned superiority in his case, and rigid hauteur in hers.

Much of the time when we think we know people, we know only their social defences; the barrier they put up against possible violation of themselves. They are so desirous of being liked that they are not really liked, but that they prefer being misjudged to being probed.

Then, too, some faces are unfortunate. I don't mean homely or unattractive, but they carry an expression that seems aloof, or bored, or haughty —while the true personality is none of these things.

We should always telling me, for instance, to take that look off my face, that it made no "look." It was my face. Could I help it if the mobility of mine was distorted by a declaration?

While walking down an office hall, or along the street, I used to pass by others without thinking about some subject totally unrelated to the people I was passing. I found out later that when I greet them absent-mindedly they are offended, and that I am cutting them dead if they did not know me well enough.

Another false impression is conveyed by physical characteristics that have no relation to reality. In my case, I have dark circles under my eyes. I've had them since a child. They are a family trait and my mother, who doesn't know what the word "dissipation" means, has had them nearly all her life.

Yet, upon seeing me for the first time, people will often think that I have spent the last night roistering in some gilded tavern, when actually I have been studying table tennis with the kids in our playroom, or reading Grimm's fairy tales, or eating milk and cookies, and retiring at 10 p.m.

This is not mean for these observations to become autobiographical, but these misconceptions are the ones that come to mind first. Many of my friends, and yours, have suffered from expressions or appearances over which they had no control.

Even after knowing this, I am still likely to make snap judgments about strangers — but at least I know I am willing to snap them back after the strangers become more familiar.

To Your Good Health

PROLONGED THUMB-SUCKING CAN HARM CHILD'S TEETH

I've just looked over a prominent dentist's report on thumb-sucking.

It doesn't look as though he and I are very much alike on basic beliefs. But we look at the problem from different viewpoints.

Mine: That thumb-sucking can be harmful to the teeth is a dental problem.

Mine: That thumb-sucking, most of the time, is a brief, harmless phase of babyhood, but if prolonged, can harm both the teeth, and then may become a mental problem. But it usually doesn't.

I've seen phosphates for children whose teeth have been pushed out of position, whose mouths have been destroyed by years of thumb-sucking. I've even seen some of the children.

If an orthodontist, in 12 or 18 months, can straighten crooked teeth with braces, then it stands to reason that steady pressure from thumb-sucking many hours a day and for a period of several years, can push teeth out of position.

That, I'll admit. But it gets his feelings hurt, and sits in a corner pouting, with his thumb in his mouth for consolation, once a month, I don't think that calls for yanking the child's thumb out of his unhappy mouth.

But if little Johnny, next door, is age 8 and continues with his thumb in his compact mouth and you just never see him otherwise, you'll needs both hands for something. Then there is making for him no good a thing out of it.

If you want my frank opinion, I'll say that thumb-sucking is a problem for either doctors or dentists to solve. I think it's a problem for parents to solve.

There's no reason for the child to be disturbed because Junior occasionally finds solace in his thumb. There's no occasion for alarm if he does it for several weeks. I begin to get alarm if it continues for several months — but in that case you're getting fair warning, and you'd better start doing something.

Don't make a federal case out of it. Don't punish. Don't punish. The goal is to stop the thumb-sucking, not to give the Fear of Papa into the child.

Going back to the dentist, he finds nothing up to 3 years of age, such varied deterrents as bitter aloes and simple medication on the thumb have worked and seems fairly safe.

I agree. When thumb-sucking becomes an ingrained habit, it's capable of causing trouble. The casual, incidental thumb-sucking is quite common and harmless. After all, we have to hunt through thousands of children to find one "horrible example" who has forced his teeth all out of place.

If it happens, it's a sad, sad run.

But it's up to parents to think clearly about this, and decide when a small bit of thumb-sucking has changed into the beginning of an ingrained habit.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The trend toward suburbia has been the chief factor in the growth of our larger cities the past ten years has included quite a few who have left the city for other and have taken advantage of the new transportation facilities to move right out into the country to perform their work in the city, holding down jobs in the city.

They buy a farm thirty miles or so from the din and fury of the city and as a result they erect a beautiful ranch type bungalow, renting the land on the farm back and buildings for a nominal sum to a real farmer. They are, that is the modern commuter.

Two them in my circle of acquaintances have, after five or six years, moved back into the city and now live in expensive downtown apartments.

It was water that beat them. Oh, to be able to go to a tap, any time of the year, and get cold pure water

Then they had well dug, and modern scientific cisterns on the roof to catch soft water. But then well water tasted funny, and in summer rain dry. The cisterns were also subject to sewage, garbage disposal, summer removal, flood and bugs.

But it was water, clear, pure water, that proved to be the basic medium of the good life these essentially civic slickers.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TREAT YOURSELF

Robert Updegraff, in one of his recent helpful books, says to those who read him: "Not all you need." To do so should lead us all into a new realization of the mind can do a little treating to itself. How easy it is to treat ourselves to something exciting and new. Something that is different, and yet something unexpected. We don't need to regret what we have done that didn't need.

Treat yourself to an event or a restaurant though that someone else may have presented to you. Treat yourself to "Not to be outdone until Christmas!" a quaint little sumptuous dinner in a new experience never before encountered.

In a beautiful letter Vachel Lindsay wrote to Mrs. Harriet Monroe, editor of Poetry, a magazine for a friend who would always show me myself inability, listen to me patiently. Receive everything I said encyclopaedically and never weary of the joke.

What a treat it would be to have a person around us to treat us through life! Perhaps we do have one without knowing it. Perhaps we find her in so many ways. All of our blessings, though, do not come to us in such a way into these blessings every day. We ought to be grateful for them. There is a popular song with a line in it suggesting that we count our blessings each day — "one by one."

Every time we present our blessings to someone else, we enrich our own. We can call this "treating yourself," and this is what it amounts to anyway. Make someone else happy is one of the most useful facts in life!

DUTY DAY BY DAY

Some months ago on the western coast, a woman was informed by her physician that she had a sad and incurable disease and would soon die. She forthwith invested one thousand dollars in a pair of fourteen-year old boys condemned to the electric chair. Then she took a long journey to see the governor of the state in which they were confined and so plead for clemency. "I want to do something," she said, "before I die."

This is certainly commendable. No one could think of such an act in any other mood but that of praise. But with all the nobility which the lady manifested, we hope it will not be regretted at last. We point out that one should not wait until his or her death date is set before planning

High Farm Production Topic at F.A.

Hastings County Federation of Agriculture held the annual meeting and banquet in the Masonic Rooms, Madoc, on Thursday evening.

Over 100 people enjoyed a turkey dinner, prepared by the ladies of the Anglican Church.

Mr. Pilden Harris, president, greeted his guests and gave a brief resume of the work being done by the county federation.

Mr. Victor Morrow, fieldman for Field Schools, led the group in a round of community singing with Mrs. R. Vanderwater at the piano.

The guest speaker, Mr. William Filden, 1st vice-president of the Federation of Agriculture, was introduced by Mr. Ketcheson. Mr. Filden, in his address, said "Canadian farmers have grown to be high producers; we now grow twice as much on same acreage under cultivation." An interesting fact stated by Mr. Filden was that only three per cent of all the land in Canada is under cultivation. Using technical knowledge, Canada and the U.S. together could produce sufficient food for the entire world.

Mr. Filden said, "We are fortunate to have soil, climate and means of coping with this area, we must move forward if this country's farm to consume more; stop producing so much, or a combination of the three."

The speaker mentioned the family farm and hopes for its perpetuation. Farmers are tending to move from the smaller to larger farms. Those on small farms are turning to other means to supplement income, but this has always been the case, Mr. Filden felt.

MAINTAIN FAMILY

"We must maintain the family farm in order to keep our rural area alive. In order to do this we must organize; perhaps we will have to quota our production."

Mr Felden felt Agriculture was entitled to a reasonable amount of assistance — in the form of support prices — or deficiency payments. The Federation leans toward support prices, in reasonable amounts. Mr. Filden felt this should be left to the commodity groups to decide through the Federation of Agriculture. We have the opportunity of making our needs felt.

He urged those present to get out and support the Federation of Agriculture at the township and county level. "In this way we can do things collectively and in time get to the place where we can derive all the benefits that other businesses have." Mr. Filden said farmers are an intelligent group of people with lots of initiative.

Mr. Filden was thanked by Mr. George Heasman.

Others bringing greetings were: Mr. Ray Cunningham, fieldman for Eastern Ontario; Mr. Sidney MacDonald, Agricultural Representative; Mr. F. Flagler of Station CJBQ and Mr. W. Morrow, Ontario Field School.

The Morrow sisters, of Stirling, and Mr. A. Kincaid of Madoc, provided musical numbers which were enjoyed by all.

Several Hurt But Not Badly In Road Mishaps

Only minor injuries were suffered in a series of auto accidents in the city, and district over the weekend which resulted in over three thousand dollars in property damage.

On 401 Highway in the Trenton area a Bowmanville mother and her three small children escaped with a shaking up when her car was in collision with another vehicle which drove onto the highway in front of her from a sideroad near the Glen Miller interchange.

Mrs. Madelios Cleland, 84 Church Street, Bowmanville, and her three children, Carol, 11, Theresa, 4, and Jack, 1, were given a check-up following the accident.

The collision is said to have occurred when Hilda Plumpton, 78 North Frank St., Belleville, drove onto the highway from a sideroad.

Provincial police at Belleville also reported a hit and run accident Saturday afternoon on the 4th concession of Thurlow, about four miles east of Corbyville, in which Peter Gilbert, Corbyville, a passenger in one of the vehicles, suffered a bump on the head.

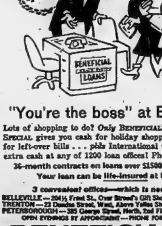
Harold James Osborne, R.R. 1, Shannonville, was turning into a driveway when his car was struck in the rear by a car driven by William Calbury, age 30, Meyers St., Belleville.

TWO RIBS BROKEN

Police said that following the accident Mr. Calbury took off over the fields and was later located in a farmer's house about a mile and a half away. In an attempt to elude police he is said to have ridden in a barn and broke two ribs when he fell from the hayloft. Mr. Calbury has been charged with drunk driving.

In the city, a three-car rear-end collision on Front Street resulted in $300 dagage to two vehicles.

Police said that a delivery truck owned by White's Meat Market and driven by Leonard Shanque, 32 Wilkin Street, had stopped. The following vehicle driven by Doug Salisbury, also came to halt. However, a third car, driven by Charles G. Sharpe of 7-A Evans St., slammed into the rear of the Salisbury car, shoving it ahead into the butcher store truck.



Saturday evening property damage amounting to close to $2,000 resulted when two cars collided at Coleman and Henry Streets.

A car driven by John Wilson, 83 East Moira Street, was northbound on Coleman St. and when attempting to turn left onto Henry Street was in collision with a southbound vehicle driven by Pervel Stalikovich, of 197 James St. Damage to the Stalikovich car amounted to about $450, and to the Wilson car about $1,400.

Joan Kimmett, 20, of 108 Everett St., passenger in the Wilson auto, suffered a lacerated lip.

Stamp Club Here Stages Annual Interclub Meet

The third annual interclub meeting of the Quinte Stamp Club brought over 90 interested philatelic followers to the Stevens Centre on Saturday afternoon and evening. Visitors attended from Toronto, Port Hope, Peterborough, Kingston, Brockville and the surrounding Quinte district.

One of the features was the appearance of an Inverted Seewaystamp, which was displayed by member John Armand of Picton. This much publicized item was viewed with more than ordinary interest by all in attendance.

General chairman of the event was Jack H. Hodgson, who opened the doors at 2 p.m. and wearily said good-night to the last visitor at 11.15 p.m. The intervening hours were spent in varied philatelic activities — inspecting the stamp displays, buying, selling and swapping stamps, in active participation in a unique philatelic quiz arranged by Anne and Don Joss and in many informal discussions between keen collectors from Eastern Ontario.

For those who had never previously attended a stamp auction, the Saturday auction, with Capt. Nick Shymke of Picton as auctioneer, must have been an interesting event. This method of disposing of duplicate material is an integral part of the hobby and assists in establishing a "fair market value" for stamps.

Competition in the exhibition was exceptionally close. Judge Al Miller of Northern Electric Stamp Club, was hard pressed to declare the winners, finally awarding first prize to Jack Hodgson, Belleville, for his display of "United Nations," second prize to Don McPhee, Trenton, for "Fiftieth Anniversary of Flight," and third prize to Paul Brown, Brockville, for a fine display of "Canada—Large Queens." During the day, other prizes were won by John Elliott of Brockville, Hugo Newman of Deseronto, and Orvan Berry of Frankford.

A delightful buffet lunch was set up under the chairman, Joel Blazer, and it would appear that everyone who had driven from any distance went his homeward way refreshed in mind and body.

Many local visitors, both juniors and adults, dropped in for a look at organized stamp collecting. They were warmly welcomed by President Dr. Alf Arthur, who extended an invitation to any of the regular club meetings. The Quinte Stamp Club meets on the second and fourth Thursday of each month at the Kiwanis Centre. Charlie Lundy, secretary, or Bob Ross, treasurer, will be happy to answer any enquiries regarding membership in the club.

Disturbed Africa Topic WMS Meet

The regular monthly meeting of Tabernacle United Church W.M.S. was held in the church parlors on November 9.

Mrs. Leland, the vice president, opened the meeting with prayer.

A rather unique sketch was given by Mrs. Eastcott and Miss Ethel Horton emphasizing how much people in Canada now live in contrast with some of those in Eastern lands. No doubt most people could spare some good clothes from their wardrobe for those less fortunate. These could be sent to the church to be placed in bale for Korea.

Mrs. May Hird charge of the Study Book entitled, "Africa Disturbed."

The African people have failed to leave the past completely and have not completely entered the present. They are changing from old to new and Canadians can help them.

Some African Christians believe they should still take part in tribal initiation ceremonies. Other African Christians believe they should have nothing to do with tribal initiation ceremonies.

Ellen Miami Moore, who believes Christians should not take part in tribal initiation ceremonies, is one of the directors of a Maternal and Child Welfare centre in Liberia, Africa.

As Africa moves across the continent shooting from old and new, decisions are being made. The most important decisions are those that will affect the character of the Africans of tomorrow.

MODERN MEDICINE

Modern medicine plays a leading part in changing Africa. Many an African doctor' medical assistant or nurse has memories of witch doctors and medicine men. Some are the sons and daughters of such men. Medicine can be a great power in bringing people to know God if the doctor and nurse use it in God's spirit.

Women's work is broadening over nearly all of Africa. Some women resist. Some men discourage. Many wonder and hesitate. But powerful new forces are at work pushing both men and women with a strength that is irresistible.

There was much good in the old Africa. There is much good in the new Africa, but if persons become no better, Africa will become no better, neither will the world.

Mrs. Slavin had charge of the worship service. Lesson was taken from I Corinthians 3.

Large Number of Semi-Ready Adults Should Be Out of School Federation Told

By GLADYS WARD

It is time fundamentally to face the fact that in our soft affluent society we are blind, not only to teen-agers and youths, but with vast banks of unemployed adults, a large number of whom should be out of the schools, where they are simply wasting the community's and their own resources, "Dr. Charlotte Whitton, O.B.E., told the Secondary School Teachers' Federation of Ontario District 23, at their annual meeting and second annual banquet held at Quinte Secondary School on Saturday morning. Seated at the head table with the guest speaker were, President John Hayman; Principal L. F. Reid of Quinte Secondary School; chairman of the Bay of Quinte High School Board' J. B. Durrant; secretary-treasurer Anne Johnson; District public relations officer John Day; Vice-President Betty Smith; President-elect George Elson; Committee chairman Elizabeth Stone; and Inspector Lester W. P. McCreary; Assistant Secretary O.S.S.T.F. W. B. Stoddart and local resident Inspector Lorne Johnston.

"Not one high secondary schools are under fire", Miss Whitton pointed out. "The fire is the spreading, costly, more and more remote youth clinics, consultant served, all - purpose operations, more complicated ways of looking at a problem when, half the time, the crowd would benefit a little more from a good pamphlet in the area which nature has provided for such an impart.

"It is time surely that we recognized that progressive education has degenerated into a cult of full recognition over a generation. Now you have youths leaving high of the first parents of the first full development of their education and accepting subjects and courses by disqualification for the very processes that meant discipline. For nearly thirty years "the child" has really been in charge of the whole of curriculum.

"Education is only a younger member of the whole family of societies in an age of evolutionary change and development and the teaching profession and the various boards has resulted in a joint effort to report this partnership to be successful we must have the ability to grow in trust and understanding".

Mr. W. B. Stoddart spoke for the provincial executive, stating that the fire, spirit and delightful friendship pervaded among 650 teachers in this district, and the growing sense of comradeship between boards and teachers would make him pleased to report this to the provincial board.

CHARLIE JOINS THE PARTY — London streetsweeper Charlie Alexander, right, who laid aside his broom Friday to attend the city's most fashionable wedding this month, shakes hands with the groom, John Dashwood, son of Britain's premier baronet, Sir John Dashwood. Charlie was invited by the bride, the former Susan Shafto, whom he had known for ten years. / She is the daughter of Countess Howe. He used to sweep streets in front of her Mayfair home. Some 500 guests, many titled, also attended the wedding and reception. (AP Wirephoto.)

MODERN MANNERS

TOUCHY POINTS OF ETIQUETTE

Should a man give up his seat to a woman when riding in a public vehicle? This is a pretty touchy subject these days, and perhaps I would be treading a safer path if I refused to testify regarding my ideas on the subject.

Not so many years ago, the man who did not give up his seat to a woman on a bus or street car was regarded as a cad and continues. Today the men who rise are few and far between. Perhaps the so-called emancipation of the female sex has something to do with it? If she demand the rights of men in the business world, why, reason the male, should not this equality work all the way? Perhaps he has something there, who knows? I certainly would not presume to argue the point.

It is to be said, however, that I have been appalled many times by seeing a frail elderly woman or a woman with a child in her arms, and even a crippled person (male or female), allowed to stand while men sit placidly reading their newspapers. Women often give up their seats on these occasions while the men still remain seated. To me, this is beyond the pale.

Another touchy subject from the male angle, is: Should be crowd other people by endeavoring to be polite and let women leave the elevator first? Personally, I think this is a case where the "ladies first" policy is overdone. It is much more sensible, and more polite when you come right down to it, for the men in the front of a crowded elevator to exit first.

Now for the question of a man's hat during an elevator ride in a crowded car. Should he keep it on, should he crowd elbows, jostle other people and crush his hat, or should he hold it over his face in an effort to observe traditional custom? This is another mistake when common sense should be followed rather than adherence to form. Better to keep his hat on than to make himself and others around him uncomfortable by his efforts to remove it. Therefore it would seem that a man should not remove his headgear when riding in a crowded elevator in a public building. It's definitely more polite, however, to remove it in the elevator of a club hotel or an apartment house. These rules apply, of course, only when women passengers are present.

In passing, we might mention another pet-ave of the male when accompanying a woman on the street, does he walk next the curb? Yes, I always, even when escorting two women.

51 Churches Represented at Cobourg Meet

FRANKFORD — Representing 51 churches in this district, the Cobourg Presbytery of the United Church of Canada met in Frankford on Thursday, with the president, the Rev. F. W. Taylor, of Colborne, in charge.

The missionary work of the church was reviewed, locally, by the Rev. H. H. Lackey of Wartworth, and internationally by Dr. H. E. D. Ashford, Toronto, secretary of the missionary and maintenance department of the United Church.

There was every indication that the ten million dollar missionary budget of the United Church for 1960 would be fully realized. The president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, the Rev. M. C. Fisher of Newcastle, addressed the Presbytery on the responsibilities and obligations of the church in the community.

GROWING LAY MOVEMENT

An outstanding feature of the all day meeting was an address by Mr. Felix Skoljan of Frankford, newly elected president of the Cobourg Presbytery, United Church AOTS Men's Clubs, who spoke on the rapidly growing lay movement among the men of the church and their contribution to the practical application of Christian principles in the world today.

Frankford United Church Women's Association served dinner in Rose Lowery hall. The Rev. D. H. Woodhouse of Port Hope United Church, and a new member of this Presbytery, thanked the ladies.

Dr. D. L. Smith of Campbellford, and other ministers spoke of the successful operation of the Sector Plan for church extension now contributing so much to the local and missionary activities of many of these churches.

Dalai Lama Took Along Large Chunk of Treasury in Epic Flight Into India

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — When the Dalai Lama made his epic flight from Tibet, it is said the invading Red Chinese discovered to their dismay that he had taken along a good chunk of the royal treasury.

The story circulated in the United Nations that the fugitive god-king and his party made off with the equivalent of 14 bullock loads of gold and that it was being used to help the cause of his exiled government.

These reports began mushrooming after the Dalai Lama's brother, Gyalo Thondup, arrived in New York several weeks ago and launched a flashy campaign to enlist support for Tibet.

Thondup checked in at a plush hotel, hired an international lawyer and a high-priced public relations firm, then began feting the press with lavish luncheons. TOOK GOLD

Asked where the funds for this came from, Thondup's aides acknowledged that the Dalai Lama had not left Lhasa empty-handed. They declined to say how much gold he took out, but hinted the amount was considerable.

Tibet has long been reported rich in gold ore. But fearing that if it were mined on a large scale it would start a gold rush from neighboring China, Tibet's lamas warned the people that digging for gold would arouse hostile spirits in the earth and bring down floods or earthquakes in retribution.

Their discovery that the treasury had been rifled is said to have spurred the enraged Chinese Reds to frenzied efforts to head off the fleeing god-king.

The Communists set up road-blocks, destroyed bridges and launched an intensive air and ground search, but their quarry eluded them and made it safely to India.

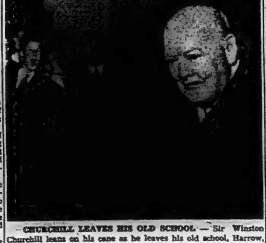
The historic flight began the evening of March 17. Accounts received later from members of the ruler's escape party gave this story of the perilous journey:

Part of the sacred capital of Lhasa was already in smoking ruins and Chinese Red troops had turned their mortars on the Dalai Lama's Norbulingka summer palace.

On the night of March 17, the Dalai Lama stepped out of Norbulingka palace wearing the drab robes of an ordinary monk. He strolled leisurely through the streets and no one challenged him.

On the outskirts of the city the 23-year-old ruler, his family and a small retinue mounted horseback. Travelling on little - used roads, they made their way to Nethang, 35 miles south of Lhasa. There they crossed the Brahmaputra river by yak-skin raft. On the south bank fresh horses awaited them.

After two days of hard riding the party was met by a squad of loyal Khamba tribesmen who took over from the Dalai Lama's personal bodyguard the job of protecting him.



On the fifth day out of Lhasa the party sighted a Chinese plane circling overhead. But it flew away, apparently without spotting the fugitives.

VAIN ATTEMPT

As the royal party neared the Indian frontier, the Chinese Reds dropped parachutists south of the Brahmaputra River in a vain attempt to cut off its escape.

On March 29 the Dalai Lama sent emissaries across the Indian-Tibetan border requesting the Indian government for asylum. Permission to enter India was quickly granted.

Brookdale F.F. Discusses Broadcast

6th SIDNEY — Eight members of Brookdale Farm Forum met on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Paul to listen to and discuss the second broadcast of the Ontario Farm Radio Forum.

The subject was "Deficiency Payments". The members were not much in favor of these but thought they might reimburse the regular producers of hogs and eggs in a small way.

Vertical integration has caused the over-production in hogs and poultry. The dropping of the subsidy and the proposed deficiency payments to only regular producers will cause the production to diminish and prices should then level off. Perhaps if the feed companies and the packing plants just look after their respective jobs of supply and purchase the farmer — producer could look after the rest.

No temperamental storm window can defeat this family minister of labour. Leaving the difficult jobs to the professionals, he looks after smaller repair jobs in his home, himself. He's a determined fellow who aims at keeping his family expenditures well within his income at all times.

The Minister of Labour at Ottawa requires millions of dollars to meet departmental expenditures, each year . . . and his department is only one of many.

Money for all departments of government comes through the Minister of Finance who gets it largely in taxes from Canadians such as you. When more money is spent than is collected in taxes, government must borrow from you . . . or else create new money. The creation of new money is one factor that leads to inflation . . . which means your dollar buys less and less.

The government has been spending more than you have been paying in taxes. To narrow the gap between income and expenditures, new taxes have been imposed.

The next step should be to reduce expenditures, or at least hold the line. Undertaking new commitments — adding new welfare or other services — will only make it that much more difficult to pay our way. Tell your M.P. at Ottawa that since you are trying to save, you expect government to do the same.

You also help when you save more by means of life insurance savings deposits, and the purchase of government bonds. Your savings help to create a SOUND dollar; and this, in turn, helps to create job security for you and more jobs for other Canadians.

Nehru Rejects Chinese Plan For Withdrawal of Troops, Submits Counter-Proposal

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today rejected Communist China's proposals for a mutual troop withdrawals along the disputed Tibetan-Indian border and for an immediate meeting with Premier Chou En-lai.

He told anxious members of India's Parliament that Chou's proposals "are not acceptable" and cannot be considered impractical.

Nehru said India has made considerable concessions, and that he is willing to talk over the border problem with Communist Chinese officials. But he said carefully organized preparations are necessary, ruling out an early Himalayan summit meeting.

Nehru said the rejection and counter-proposals were handed to the Chinese ambassador in New Delhi this morning. He declined to give details until Chou got the note.

MUST ACCEPT

Nehru's offer in the past has been to give up smaller pockets of territory in dispute along the border provided the Chinese first accepted, at least in broad principle, the McMahon Line which the Indians have always considered South-east India from Tibet.

The prime minister said today gave no indication whether there was any change in this position.

Nehru said he had received during the weekend indicated that the Communist Chinese intended to regard Indian border policemen as "armed aggressors" when they entered the Ladakh district of Kashmir Oct. 21. He called the report "a distortion of the agreed procedure" and said the government would not accept such action.

Ten policemen captured in the clash and buried by nine others later were returned to India Saturday.

PROPOSE ACTION

Nehru's remarks assembled after a two-month recess with a number of strongly worded questions about Chinese activities on the border.

The leader of the Praja Socialist party, Asoka Mehta, declared that the Praja Socialist party proposed a motion for strong action against Chinese who have encroached on more than 12,000 square miles of Ladakh which India considers hers.

Another opposition leader, Frank Anthony, proposed that the Communist party of India be banned because its "openly treasonable policies and utterances are the approval of Chinese actions and its encouragement of Chinese aggression."

Both motions were ruled out by the speaker, and a full debate was scheduled for Nov. 24.

Nehru referred also briefly to India's recent clash with Chinese troops in the Ladakh area, which India would defend Bhutan and Sikkim, two tribal states between India and Tibet.

Quebec House Opens Wed., Heavy Agenda

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec legislature opens Wednesday and during the session the government proposes to correct long-standing difficulties in the fields of education, labor and municipal administration.

The new session promises to be one of the busiest and most controversial in years.

But it will lack the color provided by Premier Maurice Duplessis, whose oratory and political strategy brought sparkle to the House in legislative sessions for more than 20 years. Mr. Duplessis died Sept. 7.

Hon. Paul Sauve, Quebec's new premier, is expected to unveil a staggering program of legislation. It is to be the fourth and concluding session of the 23th legislature, elected in 1956.

PROMISE HOT DEBATE

Hon. Paul Dozois, Liberal opposition is said to be planning some lively debates.

Expected highlights:

1. Legislation to wipe out the chronic financial difficulties of the province's universities and place annual government grants to them on a statutory basis.

2. Legislation meeting most demands of the Quebec Federation of Labor (CLC) and the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor.

3. Legislation giving municipal and school corporations new powers to set salaries of their officials, levy taxes and deal with a number of problems. At present these corporations must present private bills to the legislature before they want to make a move in these fields.

4. Legislation establishing a highway code for the province.

King Saud Wants UN Force Withdrawn From Aqaba Gulf

Saudi Arabia officially reported from the outside world today on rare occasions. Wilton Wynn, Associated Press correspondent in Cairo, was recently allowed to visit the Arabian kingdom. This is one of a series of patches, delayed in transmission.

By WILTON WYNN

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP)—King Saud wants the United Nations Emergency Force withdrawn from the Aqaba Gulf area and the restoration of the Arab ban on Israeli shipping in the gulf.

The king's political counsellor, Yusuf Yassimi, made this statement on behalf of the Saudi Arabian monarch to three American correspondents in the royal palace.

The reporters had sent the king a set of questions. After dining and talking them with Hussein, he authorized his counsellor to reply in his name.

"The question of the existence and support of Israel is the only source of misunderstanding between the Arab - Moslem world and the United States," Hussein said.

But he added, President Eisenhower had protected Saud in 1956 that no aggressor in the 1956 Suez War would be allowed to enhance any territory, and "we are still willing and urging that this promise be fulfilled."

The still new United Nations forces are still in Sharm el Sheikh to ensure the free passage of Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba," he continued. The king felt that the UN force should withdraw from Sharm el Sheikh and had written Eisenhower several times officially and privately to this effect, although not lately.

The Gulf of Aqaba is Israel's only exit to the Red Sea. Because the United Arab Republic bars Israeli shipping from the Suez Canal, it is also Israel's only direct water route to her markets in East Africa and Far East. Prior to Israeli's Sinai campaign in 1956 and the arrival of the UN forces along the gulf, U.A.R. guns on the west bank and Saudi Arabian positions on the east prevented Israeli shipping from using the Aqaba waterway.

The king, his side continued, regards Israel as being "only a part of the body of the Arab world, and "there is no medical treatment except a long cure." But he is not advocating the use of force to destroy Israel.

"We believe Israel will die out of itself," Hussein explained. "It is an island in an Arab and Moslem world, and cannot live in complete isolation."

'Chart the Seas of Space' Plea Made to NATO Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plea for the 15 NATO nations to join in an effort to "chart the seas of space" was made Sunday by Senator Henry M. Jackson, democrat of Washington.

Scientists from these North Atlantic treaty nations possess skills to greatly speed up space research, Jackson said in a report to the fifth annual NATO parliamentarian's conference, which opened today.

"Yet," he added, "this precarious scientific talent is going unused because we do not have a co-operative space program."

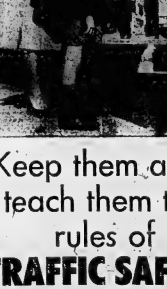
Jackson, chairman of the science and technical committee of the conference, said the free world's space effort is a "one-foot ball team with half its best players sitting on the Bench."

OFFERS PROGRAM

Jackson's report also called for three other parts to strengthen the NATO science program, both in the interest of military defence and of promoting the economic well-being of the people in members' nations.

1. A steady and substantial increase in the NATO science fellowship program, now in its first year.

2. A series of NATO oceanographic expeditions.



3. Establishment of a permanent Atlantic institute for defence studies to bring the techniques of modern science to bear on NATO defence planning.

MONTREAL (CP) — Rt. Hon. Anthony Nutting, former minister in Britain's Conservative government, said Sunday that an economic alliance of Western countries is the only way to meet the economic threat posed by Russia.

Mr. Nutting, who resigned his post because of a disagreement over the Suez policy in 1956, told a McGill student organization that Russia's new economic power is a far more serious threat to the West than her military might.

To counter it the West "must go on a political and economic offensive with an economic counterpart of NATO to direct this plan."

A merger of North American and European skills and production is not at all impossible, Mr. Nutting said.

Bitter Labor Family Squabble Will Be Settled by Ballots At Sudbury on Tuesday

SUDBURY (CP) — A bitter labor family squabble to be settled by ballot here Tuesday has implications far beyond the involved membership of Local 598 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

Whoever forms a new executive will decide the future action of the 20,000 - member national Mine - Mill union, bounced from organized labor affiliation 10 years ago on grounds the leadership was Communist-dominated.

Results will show whether Local 598, with 1,800 members, reclaimed, will continue to follow the anti - communist national leadership opposed to the national line.

The target for Thibault attacks has been Prof. Alexander Boudreau, head of the geography department of the University of Sudbury, run by the Jesuits. He has been called an unofficial spokesman for behind Mr. Gillis. Mr. Gillis and five of his slate are non-Catholic.

The Gillis meeting heard a letter read by Thibault and his famous Catholic churches and read in part as follows: "Your pastoral message for the Sault Ste. Marie of a year ago urged trade unionists to work so that democratic government could prevent union control by a small group of men.

The letter denied as "completely false" any rumors that the church was striving to run the local. Gillis candidate Lloyd Stewart, a member of the United Church of Canada, said he had been informed that Mr. Thibault had been called before Church ministers for two hours recently. Subsequently, one of the ministers had declared the choice in the forthcoming election to be between Mr. Gillis and "all the Catholic Church, Mr. Stewart said.

Young Liberals Taking Over On Campuses

HAMILTON (CP)—Young Liberals have taken over the leadership positions in most universities in the province, a conference of Ontario University Liberal Clubs was told Saturday.

James Scott of Toronto, executive director of the Ontario Liberal Association, told a meeting at McMaster University that the Young Progressive Conservative movement was slipping rapidly on the campuses.

"Before Mr. Diefenbaker took over the Conservative party leader the Liberals were low man on the totem pole on most campuses," Mr. Scott said. "Today the opposite is true. The Conservatives have slipped and we have bettered our position."

Referring to the record of the federal government, he said:

"Never in our history has so much lack of confidence produced so many costly and damaging experiments."

Device Unveiled To Give Power For Space Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new device unveiled Sunday is designed to produce power, not other heat, such as nuclear power, directly into electricity for space vehicles.

It is a step beyond the solar batteries now used in satellites that the United States has launched into orbit to feed electricity direct current at low voltage and depend on light for their useful ness.

The new device may operate while in darkness or out of sunlight, clear or heat sources aside from sunlight.

International Telephone and Telegraph Company described the device as a Zero - electricity converter. Its development was announced as the annual meeting and astronautical exposition of the American Rocket Society got under way here.

The device, company said, can be used to power transmitters, instruments or guidance equipment in space vehicles. Also, it appears that unmanned high voltages can be obtained to provide power for propelling space ships.

QUIZ SHOW POLICY

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert W. Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Company, said Thursday that TV quiz shows should not be eliminated just because "irresponsible, fast-buck operators can infiltrate" some of them. He said the harder solution "is to devise effective means of eliminating the temptation to apply them with rigor and vigilance."

Editor Receives Eight Letters Of Protest

TORONTO (CP) — The editor of the University of Toronto newspaper says he has received eight letters of protest against a front-page article on Remembrance Day which referred to the dead as "poor bewildered beasts deluded into committing the murder and mass suicide."

Sam Sigenstat, who wrote the article in The Varsity, said the letters from a university professor demanded the students' address so they could "punch their faces in."

The article refers to the words: "Take these men as your examples," carved in a memorial arch which honors graduates who died in two world wars.

"These men deserve our humble tears but the war through which they passed and for which they were trained is disgusting," the article says. The article says.

Mikoyan Will Visit Halifax

HALIFAX (CP) — The Northern overnight visit to Halifax of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan is seen in some quarters here as a possible forerunner to more extended visits by other Russian leaders.

The basis of this speculation is Mikoyan's absence of 24 hours for a stopover Tuesday on his 7,100-mile flight from Moscow to Mexico. It is said he could just as readily have stopped at Gander, Nfld., or Bermuda, a warmer weather winter resort.

Mikoyan was the original plan but the Russian leader switched to Halifax. A Soviet Embassy secretary said he doesn't know why.

Mr. Mikoyan will open a Soviet exhibition in Mexico City.

The Deputy Premier will travel in a Soviet plane, a four-engine turbo-prop Ilyushin-18. He is the second Cabinet minister to arrive in Canada, and is expected to leave early Wednesday morning.

CHOICE OF REDS

The Soviet Embassy has reserved rooms at the Lord Nelson Hotel. However, Mr. Mikoyan also has an invitation to stay at Government House, residence of Lieutenant-Governor Henry F. Flemming. A government reception is proposed at the Nova Scotian Hotel if Mr. Mikoyan agrees.

Premier Robert Stanfield expects to greet the Soviet visitor at Shearwater naval air station.

MOSCOW (AP)—Radio contact has been lost with Lunik III, the Soviet space station that took the first pictures of the dark side of the moon, The moon - circling craft has been out of touch since Oct. 4.

Prof. Leonid Sedov, Russian scientist who earlier in the year announced the launching of the international Astronautics Federation, made the disclosure in an article in the Communist party newspaper Pravda. Tass news agency said Saturday.

He said radio contact might have been lost because of a collision with a meteorite. Sedov also said the Russians had hoped to obtain more details from their space vehicle on its later travels.

Sedov was reported en route to the United States to attend a conference of the Rocket Society in Washington, D.C.

Riders Appeal Rejection of Milt Graham

OTTAWA (CP) — There were hard feelings and hot tempers on both sides after Saturday's grueling first game of the Big Four football final.

Players told grimly of flying fists and jolting elbows in the tight line play and in the boulder-and tackles. For some their best sellings were about licks they got in themselves, and their sorst the bruises they got on the receiving end.

"ROTTEN" EXPULSION

Ottawa has appealed to football commissioner Sidney Hatter the ejection from the game in the first quarter of big tackle Milt Graham for taking a few swipes at equally big Ticat Angelo Mosca.

"I felt terrible about that," said Ottawa coach Frank Clair. "Mosca plowed into Graham's defence followed what they described as some underhanded work on Mosca's part.

Clair said the ejection "wasn't explained to me and we certainly missed him."

On the other hand, Ticat players described as a bad call an official decision which gave Ottawa the ball in the first quarter on a fumble by Duane Wood in receiving Blue Parilli's punt on the Ottawa 30.

GRIP JUDGED BETTER

Gilles Archambault and Wood came out of the pileup both with their hands on the ball, but Ottawa got it by token of what officials regarded as Archambault's better grip and Ottawa went on to score their first touchdown four plays later.

About the only thing on which the teams saw eye to eye was the opinion that Riders played a better game.

But Jim Trimble, Hamilton's cool - headed coach, opined the Riders wouldn't be the better team in the next game.

Mustangs Clip Thunderbirds For Canadian College Crown

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Frank Gnup of the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds says it will take the West another five years to build up the football strength of the Eastern colleges.

This post game observation pretty well sums up Saturday's first Canadian college football championship, won 34-7 by the University of Western Ontario Mustangs.

The Thunderbirds were undefeated this year in the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Union while Mustangs finished in a first-place tie with University of Toronto Blues but represented the East because they outscored Toronto in two league games.

"It was are the best club in the West. Then you can imagine what kind of league it must be," said Gnup after his defeat.

TOOK IT EASY

Western coach John Metras, who developed second - string players for most of the last half of the second quarter, said he could easily have won by more.

"I think we would have beaten them by two touchdowns easily if I had left my first string team on the field for the whole game."

Rain and snow snow resulted in a disappointing crowd of 2,000 — less than the number of tickets sold.

The Mustangs, especially their powerful fullback Lionel Conacher, Jr., revelled in the mud at scrilly Stadium and rolled through the Thunderbirds with ease.

Conacher, climaxing a season that has made him the unofficial No. 1 draft choice of professional teams, scored four touchdowns and charged his way through the UBC line for 188 yards. All but 36 of them were gained in the first half as Metras sent in the subs in the second.

Mesc Pollimeni, Conacher's Running mate, scored the other Mustang touchdown. Bill Mitchell booted three converts and a 30-yard kickoff single.

The four UBC touchdown came in the last minute of the game when halfback Jim Cox cracked over from a yard out to finish off a scoring march of 66 yards. Dave Barker kicked the convert.

BIG STATISTICAL EDGE

The Mustangs had 26 first downs compared with UBC's 16, outrushed UBC 347 yards to 202 and outpassed them 107 yards to 39. Western kicked on two out of four and UBC on five out of seven as most prevented passing.

Conacher, 23-year-son of a late athletic great, caught one of the Mustangs' short scoring passes and galloped 64 yards for the teams final touchdown in the third quarter.

The other touchdowns by the six-foot-two 185-pounder came on four-yard and eight - yard end runs and a five-yard plunge.

Proceeds are to be divided between the student loan funds of the universities of Canada and the Canadian Paraplegic Association. Mustangs' victory gave Western the inaugural Winston Churchill Trophy.

Durelle Figures Extra Weight Will Help Him

TORONTO (CP) — Yvon Durelle, Canadian light heavyweight champion who's grown somewhat tired of trying to make the 175-pound limit, figures the extra weight will give him strength when he seeks to lift the Dominion heavyweight crown from George Chuvalo Tuesday.

The Eale Ste. Anne, N.B., fisherman said Saturday he will be at his normal weight of 188 and much stronger than he was during his two unsuccessful shots at Archie Moore's world light heavy title.

"I weakened myself by shedding too much weight to make the 175-pound limit for Moore," Durelle said. "Right now I feel much stronger and I'm in better shape."

Chuvalo, from Toronto, will climb into the Maple Leaf Gardens ring at about 210 pounds but that doesn't worry Durelle who says he's fought big men before.

Syracuse Dunks Colgate 71-0 Play Cotton Bowl

NEW YORK (AP) — Mighty Syracuse battered mighty Colgate 71-0 Saturday and promptly accepted a bid to the Cotton Bowl for New Year's Day.

Not the Orangemen might be in for a bitter disappointment. They decided to head for Dallas because they figured they could play Texas for the mythical national championship.

Less than an hour after Syracuse accepted the Cotton Bowl date, Texas went down in a humiliating 14-0 defeat at the hands of Texas Christian in the biggest of a long string of upsets in United States college football.

Syracuse defeat left Syracuse (8-0) and Southern California (9-0) as the only major undefeated teams in the country. Southern Cal downed Baylor 7-3.

Texas will can match the Cotton Bowl by beating lowly Texas A and M in their final game Nov. 26. But if Texas loses, Arkansas, which whipped Southern Methodist 13-14 will act as host.

BIG 10 UPSETS

The big 10 was thrown into a tizzy when Michigan State upended Northwestern 13-10 and Purdue dumped Wisconsin 6-4. This left Michigan State, Northwestern and Wisconsin tied for the lead with 4-2 won-lost marks.

The results revealed the possibility of Michigan State going to the Rose Bowl if Northwestern or Wisconsin should upset Michigan State to the Big 10 championship.

Penn State proceeded in the east to Syracuse, crushed Holy Cross 46-6. In the big eight, both Nebraska and Missouri retained a chance to get the second spot and go to the Orange Bowl. The Cornhuskers edged Colorado 14-3 and Missouri shut out Kansas State 26-0. Penn played at the head of the Ivy League with a 34-6 decision over Columbia.

Minor Hockey Notes

All five games played in the bantam section of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association Saturday morning resulted in low-scoring close battles.

Browns edged the Maple Leafs 3-1, Bob Skinner and Doug Hicks scored for the winners with assists going to Ken Robinson and Jimmy Pelcher. Terry Little netted the Leafs' goal with help from Rick Locke and Steve Sharpe.

Bruins blanked the Canadiens 1-0 with Peter Foley getting the shutout in the winners' net. Preston Richardson potted the lone goal with J. Ruddiman assisting.

David Hurst also got a shutout as Quint a blanked the Black Hawks 2-0. Quinte marksmen were Ted Casson, Paul Buttan and Ron Embury.

Barons took a 2-1 decision over the Red Wings. Don Adams, Wayne Wilkinson and Bob LaJoie had single goals for the winners with Harold Babcock, Walter Clair and R. MacCormack getting assists. Jim White tallied for the Wings with Richard Cook assisting.

Mace and Rangers battled to a 2-2 deadlock. Bill Leslie fired both Rangers' goals and Bob Esler had one assist. Allen Mott had a goal and assist for the Mace. Rickey Denard also scored with Joe Harvey earning one helper.

Ing the Atlantic coast conference title with a 28-35 victory.

Penn State, crushed in the east to Syracuse, crushed Holy Cross 46-6. In the big eight, both Nebraska and Missouri retained a chance to get the second spot and go to the Orange Bowl. The Cornhuskers edged Colorado 14-3 and Missouri shut out Kansas State 26-0. Penn played at the head of the Ivy League with a 34-6 decision over Columbia.

The Other Day

Ken Pinder

A navy friend gave us some background about submarines that we thought you'd find interesting. It seems that in 1853 in Russia a Bavarian inventor named Wilhelm Bauer, took three musicians under the waters of Kronstadt Harbor in a submarine for test hulls, and he had them play appropriate music for the carnalities of Emperor Alexander II of Russia, which was taking place nearby. Bauer succeeded in giving the composition the most unusual touch, because the music, seeming to come from nowhere, was clearly heard throughout the coronation ceremonies. In 1853 who could have guessed that the music was coming from beneath the water of the harbor?

Apparently the skin of the submarine was thin enough to allow sound vibrations to transmit through the shell and then through the water to reach quite clearly the ears of the throngs at the coronation.

In so many things it is the "unusual", the "something more" which makes the big difference between ordinary and the extraordinary. Frequently it is an unseen "something" that you feel only in the better results you get. That is why we always try to give you "something more" for your maximum satisfaction and economy.

The victory moved Trois-Rivieres within two points of Hull-Ottawa Canadiens and Montreal Royals, who are tied for second place a couple of points behind the Wolves. The Canadiens and Royals battled to a 1-1 standoff in Hull.

Campaign Coverage of 1960 Elections Now Under Way

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The American political conventions are more than six months away and the presidential election a year hence, but the National Broadcasting Company Sunday night began its campaign coverage.

It was a half-hour film edited - commentary show called Politics 1960 describing briefly the current activities of seven men who are acting like candidates, and discussing their potentials.

The NBC political observers in television, a political observer seems to be any fellow who mentions politics, particularly when he has an enlarged photograph of the Capitol behind him) decided the top Democratic contenders are John Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson, Hubert Humphrey, Stuart Symington and Adlai Stevenson shows "enormous strength." Only two Republicans, they say, are in the running: Richard Nixon and Nelson Rockefeller.

The program was primarily devoted to showing three men none of whom has announced his intentions—acting just as candidates usually do, shaking hands, smiling, waving and making speeches. David Brinkley, head man of the program, did mention one new modification of traditional campaigning: Dandling.

"They are dandling—not kissing—babies," said Brinkley. "It has been learned that kissing bald-headed mothers who have read Dr. Spock."

A Doll's House. Ibsen's 80-year-old classic, had a first-rate revival Sunday night on NBC's Hall of Fame. It was live, in color and was graced by such skilled performers as Julie Harris, Canadians Christopher Plummer and Hume Cronyn, and others.

The play was probably—a shocker in 1879 and it was fascinating enough as adapted for modern television by James Costigan. Time and the emancipation of women have not helped the play at all, however. Nora, the child - wife, at first seemed silly and empty-headed and needing parent-like supervision. And Torvald, by turns harsh master and romantic husband, received little sympathy or even under-

The "Saints Came Marching Home" on Saturday.

And under their Quinte Secondary mud-splattered, water-soaked arms they proudly carried the OSSSA senior "A" football championship. It has been some twenty years since the secondary school association of the Quinte district raked a mythical titular gonfalon to the top of an equally mythical flag-staff, but there it flutters today.

And perhaps the proudest man on the sidelines of the water-puddled sea of sand that was Quinte's field of honor, was Coach Jack Sisson, who guided his pigskin progress to their ninth consecutive seasonal victory! Equally proud was Gord Minier, Sisson's right hower who contributed much in a coaching sense to the fine record of the Saints.

In his six years at Quinte the popular Sisson has welded - not a few good football teams. A coaching protege of Peterborough's Bev Goulding and Queen's Frank Tindall, Jack has developed into one of the best gridiron mentors of this part of Ontario. His school, his team and his city are proud of him.

But all the credit does not go to the coach, and his department. A group of fine youngsters, not top-heavy, but with plenty of speed added, demonstrated outstanding team effort. There are no individual stars in a team like the whole the secret of the Saints' success, was, besides excellent coaching, the will to win, the desire to co-operate and the development of a fine team spirit.

Outstanding were quarterback Ron McBride and backfielders Ronnie Hull, Dennis Kerrnish and Ricky Looks. But in handing out the plaudits the hard-hitting, hard-hitting "bunch of guys" up front should not be forgotten. They were a unified group and the secret of championship whole and no one will deny them credit.

The Saints went through the current season without a defeat blemishing their record-keen. In fact, the only time of the nine-game schedule when they were behind came on Saturday when they trailed the gallant Thorahill high school squad 1-0 at half time. But it was shortlived. They ripped through for two unconverted touchdowns in a row to take a 13-1 lead at the end of the third quarter.

The post-game celebration was the finest moment for these mud-encrusted Saints. They had other fine moments too, one of them coming when they smashed one of Ontario's best secondary school squads and helped the East win the Red Feather Tournament front the west.

The Saints proved themselves worthy champions and the first to admit it will be their championship and other gridiron glories. This department adds its congratulations to those of the Quinte student body, the faculty, other Quinte district football squads and the city in general. Well done, Saints! Long may you wear your shamrock halos!

JUNIOR "B" HOCKEY

"Red" Gravelle's Belleville Lambert-Rollins junior "B" hockey squad gave plenty of notice Saturday night they will be a force to be reckoned with in the upcoming Eastern Ontario Junior "B" struggle.

Gravelle, who has been working hard under certain handicaps, to whip his squad into shape, came up with a well-balanced aggregation that trounced the Trenton squad 7-1 in their loop opener in the neighboring town on bath night.

City hockey observers who witnessed the game, liked what they saw. They liked especially the rookies of the team, who fitted well into Gravelle's scheme of things with "veterans" of former seasons.

Veterans like Gary Geyer who scored four Saturday night, Ronnie Hull and Dennis Kerrnish, Quinte football stars, Moe Hunter and Jackie Elliott spearhead the team's attack. Gravelle has four good defencemen and Gordie Parker who fills the goalie bill nicely.

The Lambert-Rollins' juniors make their hometown debut here tonight when they take on the Picton Merchants. And from past performances the Prince Edward pluggers won't be any pushovers. In a recent exhibition tilt they defeated the highly-touted Kingston Juniors,* so tonight's game should be well worth the price of admission.

There are no "imports" unless you can call a kid from Corbyville an import, on the junior roster. They are all "homebrews", some of them the senior "A" players of the future. There is nothing wrong with a homebrew team, as far as we can see, in fact they deserve not a little support of "homebrew" fans. As was said, they look like a fine young club, worthy of carrying the name of Belleville. Fans should support them. They won't be disappointed at the calibre of hockey they see for Picton, Kingston, Trenton, Cobourg and Peterborough also have fine junior squads. In fact this year's circuit looks like one of the best-balanced loops in years.

Russ Jackson Sparks Riders To Win Over Cats

Scores Both Ottawa Majors In First-Game 17-5 Victory; Ably Backed by Babe Parilli

By DON ATTFIELD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Coach Frank Clair's investment of confidence in Canadian quarterback Russ Jackson is paying off handsomely, and probably sooner than expected.

Jackson scored both Ottawa touchdowns with flashy running performances in the Rough Riders' 17-5 win Saturday over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The second half of the total-point Big Four final is slated for Hamilton next Saturday, and will be televised nationally by the CBC.

At the start of the season, while Ottawa was losing its first five games, Riders' quarterback battery was the envy of just about no one.

Now Jackson, backed up by triple-threat import Babe Parilli looked up to by individuals on Green Bay Packers, has every other coach in the league green-eyed.

YOUNG CANADIAN STAR

Jackson, 22, comes from Hamilton's McMaster University. Ottawa had third draft choice two years ago and grabbed him after others passed him up.

He's six-foot-two, 190 pounds, an honors graduate in math, and teaches high school here now.

Last year he played in the shadow of two import quarterbacks who were let go at the end of the season. Ottawa obtained veteran Frank Tripucka from Saskatchewan in a trade, but Jackson became the first-string quarterback this year and Tripucka eventually was released. Parilli backs up Jackson and does the punting.

Hamilton appeared to have the better scoring opportunities Saturday, and got close enough on three occasions to try field goals. Steve Consolati completed one for three points and missed two others for singles.

They set the ball on downs on the Ottawa 30 on another occasion.

Jackson, who guided Ottawa in the first quarter, uncorked a 35-yard aerial to Hamilton that Riders first touchdown. He ran the end on the option play he likes so well.

Ottawa didn't get close again except when Jackson slashed through in the third quarter for 37 yards to St Hamilton three. He carried across on the next play.

Clair sent Parilli in for the second quarter, but wind, rain and mud played havoc with all attempts at a passing game and Jackson played out the second half.

RIDER LINE TOPS

Ottawa's other points were scored when the hard - rushing Rider line rouged quarterback Bernie Faloney behind the goal line for two points in the first quarter; on Merv Collins' long kickoff which went for a point; Parilli's punt from 42 yards out for another; and Davey West's conversion of Jackson's second touchdown.

Ottawa took an 8-0 lead in the first quarter on Jackson's first touchdown—the convert attempt by West was blocked—and the only touch. They led 8-4 at half time after Onecshuk kicked his field goal and Steve Consolati went ahead 17-4 in the third quarter on Jackson's second touchdown and two singles.

Onecshuk closed out the scoring in the final period.

Riders gained 18 first downs and Tiats 15. Paced by fullback Dave Thelen, with 103 yards rushing, tops in the contest, and Jackson with 96 yards, Ottawa rushed for a total of 215 yards. Hamilton gained 156 yards rushing, with-Gerry McDougall running for 88 yards and Ralph Goldston for 42.

Quinte Saints Win COSSA Senior Football Crown

Defeat Thornhill High 19-1 On Watery Mud-Caked Field To Climax Unbeaten Record

By GEORGE H. CURVEY
Sports Editor

It is nearly 30 years since the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association Senior "A" football championship pennant fluttered over a Bay of Quinte gridiron.

On Saturday, mud-caked grid gladiators of the Quinte Secondary School raised the mythical bunting aloft after handing a hard-fighting Thornhill high school squad a 19-1 defeat for the district crown.

It was the ninth straight victory for the Quinte crew and the school's third COSSA championship of the season. The senior "A" and junior "A" basketball squads won their respective titles earlier in the year.

Quinte trailed 1-0 at half-time, the first time of the season they were behind. They scored two unconverted touchdowns and a rouge in the third quarter and held Thornhillit scoreless in the fourth while ripping through for another unconverted TD.

The teams played on a mud-soaked gridiron through a drizzling rain for the first half. Inches-deep .water puddles spotted the field and the players slithered and sloughed over the soggy surface. Quinte changed to new sweaters in the second half. It was hard to distinguish friend from foe.

BAD CONDITIONS

"The teams played under the worst field conditions I have ever seen", Quinte coach Jack Cassidy said. "I have never seen anything like it on TV, nor did I play under anything similar".

Naturally both coach Sisson and his co-coach Gordon Hunter were delighted with the outcome Mutter's coaching has been of some valuable assistance to the team throughout the season.

Both paid tribute to the defensive platoon of the Saints. "It played splendid football in holding the Thornhill team to a single point", was the consensus.

Alert Quinte receivers intercepted a pass sending down their passers, Thornhill after completing only one pass late up in the attack and went to the ground. Here again they failed. Quinte recked Quinte backs and a hard-tackling front line stopping the booster of the ground-gaining efforts.

Steve Wilson, Ricky Locke and Ronnie Hall galloped or plunged their way to the Quinte touchdowns while Bill Kerruish, sensational star of the Peterborough semi-final booted a tremendous 55-yard kick for a rouge. Cliff Nuttall, clever Thornhill back kicked the point for his team.

Both teams fumbled the wet slippery ball in the scoreless first quarter.

Quinte took to the ground in the second and fine plunging by the front line and running by Ricky Locke brought the ball to the Thornhill 19-yard line. Thornhill held here however and on the third down Kerruish's try for a tingle goal was blocked.

Thornhill took over and marched to the Quinte three-yard line on brilliant passing and running by Bill Stratton and Cliff Nuttall. They failed to get another first two downs and Nuttall kicked for the single as the whistle sounded to end the half.

Quinte got to the air in the third quarter, but Thornhill knocked their drive with a pass interception. The visitors getting nowhere in the air turned to the ground offensive. The heavy soggy footing slowed them down and they lost the ball on downs on the Quinte 40.

On the first play Ron McBride Quinte quarter, flipped a long pass to Ricky Locke who slurged and chugged his way thirty yards for the first major score of the game. The pass-convert play failed.

Thornhill's third-down run abstened Kerruish and Nuttall was downed behind the line of scrimmage, Quinte took over on the Thornhill 30 but lost the ball on downs on the twelve-yard line.

They stopped the visitors cold on two downs then blocked the punt and recovered the ball on the Thornhill three.

McBride tossed a reverse pass to Steve Wilson who romped across the line for the touchdown. Again the convert failed.

They got the point, however on the kickoff when Kerruish booted his tremendous punt to score a rouge and give the Saints a 13-1 lead.

Thornhill got nowwhere on two plays and the Saints blocked the punt on the visitors' 45-yard line. Quinte punted to the Thornhill five and again took over on a pass interception. The Thornhill line held and Quinte lost the ball on downs without gain.

The rash of blocked kicks and interceptions kept up in the fourth quarter. Ronnie Hall pulled down one of the rare Thornhill tosses on their 35-yard line and crashed through for a touchdown. Again the convert was missed.

The mud-plastered water-soaked youngsters battled through the rest of the game scoreless and the Saints waded ashore with their first senior COSSA championship.

QUINTE — Lewless, DeClerq, Gilbert, Crouse, Hilborn, Talbot, Follwell, Fisher, Lovelace, Gillthorpe, Bell, Smith, Locke, Oliver, Green, Hall, Reynolds, Dafoe, Kerruish, Woods, McNaught, Wood, Wilson, McBride, Hillborn.

THORNHILL — Lightfoot, McGhee, Gibson, Nagel, Charles, Voight, Hemming, Stratton, Thompson, McGee, Hunter, Younger, Iverson, Harley, Dean, Clarke, Jackson, Craig, Thompson, St. John, Howe, Bush.

Paul Payette Others To Join The Macs

Belleville McFarlands will have at least one and very likely three "new" faces in their lineup for the OHA Senior "A" hockey league fixture against the Whitby Dunlops here Tuesday night.

PAUL PAYETTE

Coach Ike Hildebrand confirmed following Sunday night's practice that Chuck Adamson will be the Macs' goalkeeper against the Dunnes, his initial start since being acquired from Milwaukee Falcons last week. But the big news was the announcement that centre Jean-Paul Payette and winger Denis Bouchard will probably make their seasonal debuts Tuesday.

Payette, one of the most popular players ever to wear a McFarland uniform, worked out with the club Sunday for the first time this year and looked as if he had been playing since the start of the season. A leading point man and playmaker with the club for three seasons, Payette showed he still had the touch in his first workout, scoring several goals and setting up his linemates for others in the inter-squad game.

Questioned following the practice, Jean-Paul said that he felt good adding that he had missed a few times this year "but not wearing this hockey equipment," he quipped.

Hildebrand disclosed that Payette had agreed to terms with the club but would be available for home games only, due to business. Payette is the manager of Leslie's Shoe Store in Picton. The coach seemed pleased with the centre ice star's performance in the practice and said that he would likely use him Tuesday, despite the fact that he would only have the benefit of one workout.

Hildebrand also announced that details of the Bouchard deal with Windsor had also been finalized. The McFarlands will receive the defenceman who played with them in the World Tournament last winter.

Hawks Pick up Three Points, Habs Clobber Boston Twice

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Until Saturday, Nov. 14, Boston Bruins operated on the theory that the best defence was a good offence, and it worked.

Today, after getting 11 goals scored on them and scoring only two, they're beginning to wonder.

Montreal Canadiens plastered them 8-1 Saturday and 4-1 Sunday, thereby taking over Boston's title as the highest-scoring team in the National Hockey League and letting Boston take over New York's unglorious title of the team most scored upon.

The Rangers salvaged a 2-2 tie with Toronto Sunday after Detroit's Terry Sawchuk, playing on one of his periodic bad nights at the Garden, shut them out 4-0 Saturday.

Sawchuk couldn't keep it up Sunday. The last - place Chicago Black Hawks, very much spoilers, shut them out 4-0 Saturday.

EIGHT-GOAL WEEKEND

The Hawks thus enjoyed one of their best weekends of the season, picking up three points—almost half their season total—on the strength of the win and a 3-3 tie with the Leafs Saturday. In Montreal Saturday, the Canadiens lost high-scoring right wing Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion when he collided with Boston's Doug Mohns and suffered a slight concussion on the leg.

Montreal returned the favor Sunday when Maurice (Rocket) Richard checked left wing John Bucyk into the boards and put him out of action with a dislocated shoulder and leg injuries.

Bucyk plays left wing on Boston's famed Pilke line and will make centre Bronco Horvath the league's leading goal and point getter. Horvath second Boston's only goal Saturday and Don Simmons second their only one Sunday.

Hens: Pocket Rocket Richard, 37, for which they will give Windsor Bulldogs the rights to defenceman Al Dewsbury along with a cash settlement. Dewsbury refused to play here this year but Hildebrand said that the Windsor club felt they could persuade him to play with them. Dewsbury worked out with the club several times, is rounding into shape, and will likely be the third lineup change for the Macs here Tuesday.

Hope is being kept alive that goalie Cordie Bell will be returning to the Mac lineup in the not-too-distant future. Bell is contacting Jacques Plante concerning the spine type mask as is used by the Montreal goalie. These masks are custom made to fit the individual's face.

Dutchies Take Over Lead With Twin Wins Over Dogs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen rallied nine goals in Ontario Hockey Association Senior A action during the weekend enabling the first-round squad to regain first place by a one-point margin over Whitby Dunlops.

The Dutchies fired two goals in the final 30 seconds of overtime at Windsor Sunday to claim a 7-6 decision over the Bulldogs, a 12 decision over the Bulldogs Saturday night and a 5-2 win in less than 24 hours over the same club Saturday night at Kitchener. The Windsorites lost 3-2.

Dunlops paced by the three-goal scoring display of forward Fred Richter, handed Chatham Maroons a 4-3 setback Saturday.

LATE-GAME RALLY

Windsor, outplayed for most of Sunday's game, came alive late in the third period to overhaul a 6-2 deficit before a crowd of 4,537 on goals by Tom Walker and Murray Costello.

The Dutchies took advantage of Windsor interference penalty to score their winning goal at 19:57 of the overtime session.

Leo Bendo at 8:01 in overtime when Bob McKnight tipped home Bob Forhan's crease pass. Bull Ellis killed goalie Jack Lucas the final seconds and Forhan scooped on the empty net. Jake Smola and Cliff Pennington scored the other Kitchener markers in the second period.

Centre Ken Laufman figured in the five Dutchmen goals in Saturday's game, scoring one and drawing four assists. Ron Forhan, Leo Bendo, Ted Maki and Bob McKnight were the other scorers.

The Dutchmen stood off a late Windsor rally that made a close game of it after the Bulldogs trailed 4-0 going into the final period. Erwin Gross, Murray Faulkner, Junior Day and Gordie Green.

Industrial Hockey League Results

Williams Brothers and Ellis Printers won the Belleville Industrial Hockey League games over the weekend to bring about a three-way tie for first place in the six-team loop.

Ellis Printers juveniles pulled the major upset by edging the highly-rated Booth TV team 4-3 on a last minute goal. Meanwhile Williams Brothers shutout Chris' Drive-In 5-0 to leave all four clubs on a one and one record after two weeks' play.

Grayden Reed scored for Ellis Printers on a play with Pug Keiter with less than a minute left in the game to give their club its 4-3 decision over Booth's. Bob Duggan, Doug Dafoe and Dick Clapp fired the other juvenile markers. Billy "the Kid" Ellis, Duke and Al Dafoe picked up single assists.

Bob Brooks, Earle Cousins and Jack Calnan triggered the Booth markers while Jack and Bob Brooks collected assists.

Williams Brothers got another strong goaltending job from Terry Green and a pair of goals by Doug Lucas to pace their 5-0 win over the Drive-In squad. Lucas also had an assist while brother Jack had a pair of helpers. Duke Doran and Bert Faulkner added single goals with assists going to Doug Murray, Faulkner, Junior Day and Gordie Green.

Goyer's second period early in the middle session as he shifted around the defence, moved and tucked it by Johnson's short side. The penalty parade started at 14:45 and carried on until game's end. Two were serving time for Trenton when Goyer scored again at 3.30 and with the second man still in the box, Ron Lavis made it a backhander at 8.06.

Trenton's Bill Ellis just missed another on a breakaway while his own team was two men short minutes later. Trenton had a pair in the sin bin again and the goalie had lost his stick when Kerruish scored Belleville's sixth just before Ellis clicked for Trenton.

Mann and Planter served major for fighting and Hunter threw ten for throwing his broken stick in this stanza which saw 12 penalties in all.

After holding Trenton off while two shy early in the third, Belleville completed the scoring, Goyer getting his fourth at 1.18, while the outplayed Lafferty's were short a pair via penalties. Later in the period the winners again survived double penalties without damage.

Twelve more penalties were tacked out in the third with Trenton's Titterson getting a fighting major for an unwarranted slash on Goyer in the final minute of play. Hull of Belleville put ten minutes for shooting the puck while play was stopped at the same time.

Juniors Defeat Trenton 7-1 In Penalty-Punctured Opener

By GARRY ALEXANDER

TRENTON — Belleville Lambert-Rollins turned in a strong two-way team performance, long on speed and by their unanimous decision, to open the 1959-60 OHA Eastern Ontario senior "B" hockey season with a 7-1 victory over Trenton Lafferty Bees here Saturday night.

The new, bustling edition of the Lambert-Rollins will make its home debut at Memorial Arena tonight in an 8.30 fixture against Picton Merchants.

The L-R's rolled to a 2-0 lead in the first period, made it 6-1 in the middle heat and added the only marker of the final twenty minutes. Trenton play was the first with every man in the lineup doing his share. Goalie Gord Parker, one of the six rookies used turned in a strong game in the early and had no chance on the one goal that was scored against him. The other new men, defencemen Ted Kennedy and Gary Reid and forwards Gary Whibley, Bill Moe Hunter and Don Forsythe carried their share of the duties.

Centre Gary Goyer, a veteran craftsman around the net, led the scoring parade with four goals and one assist. The other goals were divided among Moe Hunter, Whibley and Forsythe with Jackie Elliott gathered four assists and Goyer and Bill Mann two each, hitting the post at least three times. Jerry Mann, Ralph Planter and Bill Hunter collected single assists.

Jimmy Lafferty gave Parker's counterpart bid at 19.59 of the second period. A clearing attempt by Belleville defenceman Bill Elliott pads and he waited in alone to beat Parker and the latter had a long burner.

Penalties were numerous, 27 being handed out in all by referees LeRoy Wannamaker and Jack Hawley. Trenton drew the bulk of the 34 minutes while the winners had 13, good for 65 while in the box.

Belleville took advantage of extra manpower on three times while Lafferty's were two men short and on one occasion, were reprieved. But on the other hand the visitors held Trenton at bay for a minute and a half while they were playing four men to six.

Goyer bagged his first on a rebound at 1.13 to open the scoring in the quiet first period. Hunter made it 2-0 at 11.58 when goalie Johnson of Trenton and Johnson in the Trenton cage tangled with Moe Hunter and pulling him down, Hunter banged the loose puck back several lengths behind Trenton drives.

Goyer's second goal early in the middle session as he shifted around the defence, moved and tucked it by Johnson's short side. The penalty parade started at 14.45 and carried on until game's end. Two were serving time for Trenton when Goyer scored again at 3.30 and with the second man still in the box, Ron Lavis made it a backhander at 8.06.

Marlies, Majors Win Over Cubs, Flyers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros edged Barrie Flyers 4-3 while St. Michael's Majors defeated host and Hamilton Tiger Cubs 5-0 Sunday in games in their senior "A" circuit at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens to a total of a week.

Ontario Hockey Association Junior A play Saturday night saw St. C. A. beat Peterboro and Guelph Biltmores battle to a 5-5 tie. But the game in Guelph was marred slightly in the third period when St. Catharines defenceman Terry Pett struck and attacked a local hockey fan who had been sitting behind the TeePee bench.

McGuire was given a game misconduct and the fan was ejected.

The victory for the Majors, their fifth in six starts this season, moved them back into a first-place tie with Peterborough Petes, who have played two more games. Marlboros and Barrie are in fourth place, two points behind the leaders, and Hamilton one point out of the cellar. Tee-Pees are in last place.

Women and the Outdoor Sports

All too many years ago, I was born in a small town in central Pennsylvania. Always having been naturally fond of fishing and shooting, it followed that my day-light hours that were not spent in school were spent in the fields, woods and streams of the area.

One thing was impressed upon me early in life. It was this — the outdoor sports, shooting and fishing, were a man's world, free of encroachment on the part of women. Just as in those days a barroom and a barber shop were inviolate, so were shooting and fishing. It was a fine thing.

But the prohibition era and three world wars have had a lasting effect on the behavior of society. Women no longer are the fragile and timid creatures they were in the nineties. Today the members of the distaff side are very much in evidence in the outdoors.

Not without a certain amount of consternation have I watched the storming of the bastion of the old outdoor sports by the lady-folks. At first they went about things entirely wrong. In fishing boats and on the trout streams they had to have their hooks baited and the fish removed from the hooks.

They were all too ready to scream about such things as grass snakes or a loose belligerent mink or two on the floor of the boat. They had to be helped across riffles in trout streams, over fences, in and out of boats. In short, they were a confounded nuisance and many shooting and fishing clubs passed rules, barring women from the club premises.

BY TRIAL AND ERROR

Then gradually, the younger generations, recognizing the shortcomings of their predecessors, became more self-sufficient. To be sure, they were far from proficient in the use of the tools of the trade — guns and fishing rods — but they were learning. More important, they were learning the hard way, by trial and error combined with much practice.

No longer do these youngsters ask their menfolks for help. If a hook needs baiting, they bait it. A reel, snarled with a backlash, is brought to rights by the user, not one of her gentlemen friends. The gals get into and out of boats under their own power. And if they can't keep up in the hunting field, next time they stay home, and they know it. So they keep pace with the party and don't complain.

While writing this, three gals are brought to mind. One, who takes naturally to sports, persuaded her husband to take her to the skeet range. Three years later she was state champion. I taught her how to use a fly rod and it wasn't long before she was catching trout at least with the best of us. Never is she a hindrance. On the rail marsh or in the dove field she will bet you two ways that she will use fewer shells and kill more birds than you do. Moreover, most of the time she wins these bets.

Another gal I met but briefly — one trip to the bluefish grounds off Sea Bright New Jersey. She showed up in worn dungarees, a leaking rowing shirt, boatders and a salty captain's cap pulled down tight over brown curls. Over her arm she carried a Navy pea jacket.

Not once during the day did she ask for help. She baited her own hooks and landed her own fish. She helped spread the foul-smelling chum of ground mossbunker and menhaden, and when the clutch began to slip on the trip home, she fixed it! That's right, the girl friend, up to her elbows in engine grease and not caring two whoops. She can go along on my boat any time.

LEARNING FAST

Another is the wife of one of our regular crew, the members which shoot and fish together year after year. While she is fairly new at the outdoor sports, she is learning fast. She is not a screamer and she does not look for help.

This one is a big girl, five-ten, 180. I guess. With those long legs of hers she can really get over the ground. While walking the corn rows for dove, she did more than hold her own with the best of them, and in the woods through the snows of December, she is just as good. She has learned to shoot a rifle and already has killed four deer.

Down in the Florida Keys she wears a cast-off shirt, once her husband's, and a pair of best-up khaki pants which he has outgrown. A pair of topsiders and a big bandana complete the costume. In the boat she minds her own business and doesn't bother the pros. Moreover, she has the God-given grace to keep her mouth shut unless she has some thing important to say.

At the end of the day she comes home, face shiny, smelling of fish gurry and good, honest sweat, pony tail over one ear, dirtrepudiable. Half an hour later she emerges from shower and dressing room looking like one of Dior's models. Gals like that can go along every time.

As I say, the ranks of the dirty old wielders are predicting some pretty able contenders in the outdoors — witness Mrs. M. B. Mileman of New York City, who went shark fishing with Frank Mundus, the shark specialist of Long Island, and came back with three world's records. Time for menfolks to look to their laurels.

Browns Crush Redskins 31-17; Giants Beaten

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland Browns crushed Washington Redskins 31-17 Sunday and moved into a first-place tie with New York Giants in the eastern conference of the National Football League.

The Giants dropped a 14-6 decision to pittsburgh Steelers. Now both the Giants and Browns show 6-3 won-lost records.

The western conference race also tightened up when Chicago Bears trounced San Francisco 49ers 14-3 and the defending champion Baltimore Colts edged Green Bay Packers 28-24.

That left the 49ers still in first place with a 6-2 record, but their lead was cut one full game.

Philadelphia Eagles whipped Chicago Cardinals 27-17 and Detroit Lions vanquished Los Angeles Rams 23-17.

Bobby Mitchell raced for three of Brown's touchdowns.

Bobby Layne tossed for two Pittsburgh touchdowns, the second with just a minute and 20 seconds left to play. Pat Summerall accounted for all Giants' points with three field goals.

The Steelers' defence held the 49ers touchdown-less for the first time this season. The Bears intercepted five passes.

Johnny Unitas passed for three touchdowns in the Colts' triumph over the Packers and ran his string to 23 of games in which he has passed for at least one touchdown. Jim Taylor scored all three Packers' touchdowns.

In the Eagles-Cards game, both Philadelphia's Bobby Walston and Chicago's Carl Brettschneider—were tossed out for brawling.

John Henry Johnson, who sat out a game suspension for misconduct, was booted at first by the 32,271 Detroit fans but was cheered before the first period was over.

Seattle Takes Three in Four; Canucks Lose

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seattle Totems of the Western Hockey League registered their third win in four starts during their current prairie tour by defeating Winnipeg Warriors 4-2 Sunday. The win lifted Seattle to second place eight points behind Vancouver Canucks.

The Canucks accepted their first defeat of the season from Spokane in Sunday's other game when the Comets dumped them 4-2. It was the third meeting in three nights between the clubs. Vancouver took the Saturday game 5-4 — the same score by which they won Friday.

KYLE'S LADS WIN

In the other Saturday game, Calgary Stampeders—playing at home to coach Gus Kyle's tune of There'll Be Some Changes Made —went into overtime to edge Victoria Cougars 3-2 and move into fourth place with 16 points, one ahead of Edmonton Flyers.

Marc Boileau, Pat Ginnell, Bill MacFarland and Tom McVie shared Seattle's scoring at Winnipeg. Warriors' Ray Brunet went the length of the rink to open the scoring and Dick Lamoureux added one in the third. Spokane's Leo Amadio collected a pair and Bill Burega scored the other Sunday. Ching Johnson completed Canucks' downfall. Eddie Dorohoy and Les Colwill were the Vancouver marksmen.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—W. D. Direct poured on the speed in the stretch and coasted home easily to win the $10,000 American Pacing Classic consolation Saturday in 1:59 3-5. The winner returned $8.60. Lumber Bill was second and Widower Creed third.

SPECTATORS HURT

MACAO (AP) — More than a dozen spectators suffered minor injuries when a wooden bridge collapsed over the track Sunday during the first lap of the Macao auto Grand Prix on this Portuguese island hugging the Chinese mainland. Ron Hardwick of Hong Kong, driving a Jaguar, won the 228-mile, 60 - lap race in three hours, 35 minutes.

Indians Win Seven Straight In American

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It may be a little far-fetched, but isn't it about time somebody suggested that New York provide its Springfield Indians farm team intact to the National Hockey League and send the Rangers down to replace the Indians in the American League.

The Indians are doing far better in their league than the Rangers are in the major circuit. The Indians, undefeated in their last seven games, top the AHL with 12 victories, three defeats and one tie. The Rangers are fifth in the NHL with a 3-10-4 mark.

The Indians turned back their closest rivals in weekend games. They whipped Providence Reds 4-2 Saturday and beat Rochester Americans 3-1 Sunday night.

Rochester defeated Cleveland Barons 3-1 Saturday but lost the rumpe - up spot Sunday when Providence handed Quebec Aces a 5-3 setback. Hershey Bears blanked Quebec 3-0 Saturday and Cleveland rode roughshod over Buffalo Bisons 6-2 Sunday night.

TWO FOR PIDGENEY

Harry Pidgeny led Springfield Saturday with two third - period goals. Kent Douglas and Bill McCreary set singles. Rudy Pasqualabo and Danny Polifrani tallied for Providence.

Floyd Smith's 10th and 11th goals of the season and Marcel Paille's brilliant goaltending paced Springfield to victory over Rochester. Ari Stratton got the other one. The Rochester goal came from Pat Hannigan.

Paille made 25 stops, many of them on breakaways and from close range. Goaltender Ed Chadwick turned away 32 shots for Rochester.

Rochester scored twice within 25 seconds of the final period to defeat Cleveland. Hank Ciesla broke a tie and Claude Rousseau added the qclincher. Cec Hoekstra assisted the other Rochester goal. Don Hogan batted in a rebound for Cleveland.

The Quinte Reports

News of Your Local Sea Cadet Corps

(A Member of the Belleville United Appeal)

During the past week the Sea Cadets had three parades. Tuesday's regular parade at the Armouries was devoted to drill practice for the corps participation in the Remembrance Day ceremonies. The Honor Guard for the Cenotaph was prepared to its task by the ship's supply officer, Midshipman R. Davis.

Wednesday morning, of course, the "Quinte" paraded to the Cenotaph for the ceremonies. Many kind remarks were to be heard concerning the good show put on by the Honor Guard.

Thursday's parade at the barracks on South Front Street saw a sports period following the break after classes in communal. Cadets are requested to bring along a pair of gym or running shoes to Tuesday parades from now on. Basketball, volleyball, floor hockey, and other games will be on the list for schedule.

Target practice for those members of the "Quinte" who have not yet qualified for their Marksmen badges will start next week. One of the corps' senior sticksmen will be appointed as assistant range officer in the near future to assist in range work and instruction.

On this Thursday's parade C. C. Hill, RCN, assistant area officer, will be present to inspect the Sea Cadets. A good turnout is expected for this occasion.

There is an opportunity for more boys to join the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets. Any lads interested who are between the ages of 14 and 18 in good health may join the "Quinte" with their parents' consent. Parades are held at the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment's Armouries at Bridge and Pinnacle streets on Tuesday evenings and on Thursday evening parades are held at the Sea Cadet barracks on South Front Street just north of the Imperial Oil docks. All parades start at 7.15 p.m. and end at about 9.00 to 9.30 p.m. Prospective cadets are invited to come to either of these parades as guests of the to see what Sea Cadets do on either night.

KILLED BY AMERICANS

PADERBORN, West Germany (Reuters)—The public prosecutor said here Saturday that 13 German soldiers found shot to death toward the end of the war near here had been killed by American troops. The dead soldiers were found April 19, 1945, with shot wounds in their necks and heads, near a spot where American troops had held some German prisoners. Because of a lack of further details the investigation now has been closed, the prosecutor said.

Firemen Protest Being Used as Traffic Officers

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—The city of New Westminster has run into difficulties trying to solve its traffic problems.

Faced with increasing peak-hour congestion, the city council recently decided to use firemen as part-time traffic policemen.

But, although elementary training of the firemen under what Mayor Herb Wood calls a "mutual aid program" brought on by economic necessity has begun, the firemen don't like it.

After several unsuccessful protests, they are considering legal action to prevent what a union spokesman called "gambling with life and property."

Officials of local 256 of the International Association of Fire Fighters will meet with union lawyers to decide what action to take. An application for an injunction restraining the city from using the firemen for traffic control has been suggested.

The firemen claim the move is not within the city's jurisdiction under terms of their agreement.

TO AID TRAFFIC CONTROL

Mayor Wood suggested the move last month in an attempt to relieve increasing traffic congestion in this port city of 32,000 on the Fraser River, 12 miles from Vancouver.

Meanwhile, firemen have been instructed by the union to carry out tbh city's orders. Each day since last Thursday, one fireman has been assigned to watch a police constable directing traffic.

Last week there were eleven injuries on, traffic control. Police Chief Charles Mackie would not say how soon they will be actually directing traffic.

About 20 cars in the city's No. 1 fire hall eventually will be involved. New Westminster's fire-fighting force totals 63.

In case of an emergency, police squad cars will pick up the firemen and return them to the fire hall.

New Westminster won't be the first municipality to have firemen doubling as policemen. In Edmonton, a suburb of Calgary, a 13-man combined police and firefighting force has been operating for about three years without protest from the men.

No Indication Dispute Will Boil Into Major Warfare

By STEWART MACLEOD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Despite the serious implications of the India-China border wrangling, there appears to be no indication that the dispute will boil into major warfare.

If Red China's Premier Chou En-lai intended fulfilling large-scale territorial ambitions, foreign observers say, he would reasonably be expected to assemble invasion forces near the disputed areas. This hasn't been done.

If, on the other hand, the Chinese were after a few miles of the disputed frontier, the terrain—jungle and mountains—seems barely worth the effort. India's Prime Minister Nehru is the first to admit it.

On the face of it, the aggravating Chinese action along the McMahon line—accepted by India as the frontier—appear to be based on little more than arrogance. With Nehru maintaining a firm but philosophical approach to the threat, and Khrushchev adopting the unusual role of peacemaker, a blowup should be averted.

Relations between China and India began deteriorating sharply last March when Chinese troops invaded Tibet and the Dalai Lama took sanctuary across the Indian border. Nehru, who has always shown a high degree of tolerance toward his Chinese neighbors, eventually condemned their actions. Then border skirmishes broke out between Indian and Chinese troops and the flow of protests between Delhi and Peking turned into a flood.

Some observers feel the Tibet issue led Chou to this meeting of Nehru. There have been other suggestions that the Chinese premier wanted only to attract world attention while Khrushchev was stealing headlines with his American tour. Another opinion is that Chou really wants the extra victory—diplomatic term: "a few mountains" — and at the same time test Indian resistance.

Khrushchev may be truly sincere in his efforts to get differences settled. Russia has been giving India extensive economic assistance to combat Western aid, and when American arms were sold to Pakistan, Khrushchev was reported to have offered Russian weapons to India.

If the offer were accepted—there has been no indication from Nehru that it will be—it could mean that Chinese border patrols would be staring at Russian guns. At a time when Khrushchev is anxious to maintain cosy relations with Peking, such implications could be disastrous.

Anyway, Khrushchev would never want India driven any closer to the Western camp, ironically, was the country that sponsored a proposal to have Red China admitted to the United Nations. Losing this support could only be construed as a Communist setback.

Because of this, it's surprising China risked the dispute.

Just Normal Day For Prince on 11th Birthday

NEWBURY, England (Reuters) — Prince Charles, the shaggy - headed schoolboy who probably will be king one day, woke in his dormitory school dormitory Saturday to an 11th birthday that was, officially, just like any other school day.

"It's just a normal school day, with no changes in the routine at all," a school official said.
